Henry (Three Crown) Armstrong became Henry (Two Crown) Armstrong when it was announced that the ring's perpetual motion machine would renounce his rights to the featherweight crown he won from Petey Sarron. It had been expected that Armstrong would not try to make the low weight again, but concentrate on the lightweight and welterweight titles. He defends the latter November 2 against Ceferino Garcia.

Tanners Drop Playoff Berth To Elgin

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Sept. 14.—Elgin advanced to the finals of the town softball league play-offs when they defeated the Tanners 5 to 2 last night. It was the third and deciding game, each team having won once and Elgin winning the right to meet the Outlaws. It was one of the best played games of the season with both outfits playing great ball.

Elgin scored all their 5 runs in the fourth innings. J. Preston was safe when he forced Metcalfe at second. He scored on J. Richardson's double. M. Scott walked. R. Scott was safe on an error, J. Richardson scoring. M. Scott and R. Scott both scored on E. Preston's double, who later scored on a passed ball.

The Tanners scored their 2 runs in the last of the fourth when Thompson singled and scored on Hahn's double. McCoy singled to send Hahn in with the final Tanners' run.

J. Richardson pitched a nice game for Elgin as he limited the Tanners to 7 hits. He struck out one and walked none. He was aided greatly in the seventh innings when E. Preston took C. Scriver's liner to double M. Scriver off first for the final out of the game.

Hahn for the Tanners, also pitched good ball, giving Elgin 7 hits. He had 2 strikeouts and passed 2 batters. A. G. Scriver to Thompson to M. Scriver double play in the fourth was the fielding feature for the Tanners.

Metcalfe and J. Richardson, each with 2 hits in 3 times at bat topped the Elgin clouters. For the Tanners, Hahn and M. Scriver, each with 2 hits, led the batters.

The teams:

At a snap meeting of the games committee last night it was decided to carry on the men's club double competition, but all other games will get the preference. This was brought about by the indifference of the players in this competition and also the lateness of the season. So if you are in the singles or the leads and seconds, skips or vice-skips competition play those first and then take a chance on the club doubles.

The draw for the play-offs in the leads', seconds, skips', vice-skips' competitions will be made to-day and play will commence on Thursday evening. All players interested are reminded to keep this date open as no postponements will be allowed.

And if you are stil in the club singles or novice singles get your games played at once.

On Friday night we will have a mixed tournament, with the draw from the board at 7.30 p.m.—25c fee will be charged. So come on out. The time is slowly but surely passing.

The winner, identified by a tiny piece of white thread dangling from a hind leg, roared over a half-mile course here yesterday to win against four other speedy drones.

PETERBOROUGH'S fast travelling lacrosse squad showed their class at Woodbridge Tuesday night when they grabbed off the first game of their O. A. L. A. senior B. playoff series with the third placers of the other section by 19 to 9. The Randle outfit should wind up the series handily here on Friday night when the second game will be played, although last night's fixture was not nearly so easy as the score sounds. As a matter of fact it was only a garrison finish in the last period that enabled the Petes to win by such a margin for at the end of the third session they were in front only by two goals, leading 11 to 9 and it was anybody's game at that stage. The series, incidentally will not be decided on games, not goals, and the Petes in spite of their big margin last night still have to win here Friday to keep the series from going into a third battle, which under the arrangements would have to be played on a neutral field.

* * * * * *

THE public will doubtless have noticed that the prices for these playoff games have been slightly raised. This has been made necessary by reason of the fact that the O. A. L. A. steps into the picture in these fixtures and takes 15 per cent of the gross gates. This cut comes out of all three games of a series, if it is necessary to play a third game, while the teams have each to make two trips and do their financing on one gate and a split of the third one, a good arrangement for the governing body but not so hot from the viewpoint of the clubs. As a mater of fact the Peterborough club, despite good support this season, have not made money. Expenses have been heavy for the Petes have had to contribute toward the expense of the East York and Long Branch teams in travelling here and in addition have had to purchase the land on which the lacrosse box is situated while there has been no grant from the city this season. The result is, lacrosse officials declare that without raised prices for the games in the playoffs the club will end the season in the red.

THE first real casualty of the football season came last night during a lively workout of Peterborough's senior O. R. F. U. club at Exhibition Park when Ross Pulkinghorn, hard-hitting lineman was cut over the eye by a cleat and received a gash that required five stitches to close. The practice was one of the most strenuous of the season and Coach Irwin had a big squad at work. Shields, former Hamilton player who has been working on the line, was shifted to the back field last night and the way he performed back there was one of the big features of the drill. The squad will journey to Cobourg on Saturday for a practice game with the Lakeshore intermediates.

OSHAWA Varcoes and the Point Anne team had two close games in the intermediate A series of the O. A. S. A. each winning one, before they met here Tuesday in a sudden death fixture to decide Eastern Ontario honors but there was nothing particularly exciting about the third game. Varcoes took the lead in the first inning, added to it in the second and put the game on ice with a three-run attack in the sixth frame. The cement crew lacked fight and Johnny Bawden has pitched a lot better ball games than he tossed in there yesterday. The general opinion of Peterborough fans who saw the game was that the Westclox team should still be in the running. They had their chance however, and let it slip so the only graceful thing now is to wish the Varcoes luck in their fight for Ontario honors. Felicitations are extended Manager George Campbell, the Oshawa scribe-pilot who spent a noisy and excited hour on the third base coaching line during yesterday's battle.

Not Ready By Saturday

PRESIDENT MAX SWANSTON of the Central Ontario League received word this morning from Bert Smith of the T. A. B. A. that the Toronto organization will not be able to have a winner by Saturday and therefore the series with the T. A. B. A. and the Petes will not start on that date. The last straw in this ridiculous round robin arrangement came last night when Danforth Aces and Bright's played a scoreless tie and thus did nothing to clean up the situation. The whole Toronto playoff scheme is a joke, especially when they held it up while a bunch of the players went wandering over to Chicago to play soft ball marathons while the T. A. B. A. officials sat by and did nothing to speed up the schedule The delay is not giving the Petes a break at all, especially at this season of the year when darkness comes early and night practices are almost impossible.

* * * * * *

P. C. I., last year's intermediate champions, may have lost a lot of players by graduation but the football spirit is still thoroughly alive around the school, judging by the big squad of candidates for the senior and junior teams that answered the first call for practice yesterday. Half a hundred hopefuls were on the job when the roll was called and Coaches Bamforth of the senior squad and David of the juniors lost no time in putting the aspirants to work. They were given some stiff physical exercises and drilled hard enough to make the newcomers realize that football is a serious business the way P. C. I. play it. Coach Bamforth had a number of big boys lined up with the seniors and is hopeful of developing a fast-moving, hard-hitting team out of the material available.

MURNEY GREEN, Indian catcher with the Point Anne softball team and a former outfielder with the Belleville Central Ontario Leaguers had a hit in yesterday's game with Oshawa Varcoes here that was one for the book. He met one of Whitely's fast ones on the nose and drove it right back at the Oshawa pitcher. The ball carromed off Whitely's shins and bounded over to the third base line where it struck Atkinson, Oshawa third baseman, in the face and then rolled into foul territory. Somebody in the press box suggested that the blow should be scored as a double play.

* * * * * *

DANIELS, centre fielder for the Oshawa Varcoes who defeated the Point Anne team here yesterday, is a football player of note and a little bird informs this column that yesterday might be his last appearance of the season with the Oshawa crew. At any rate he is due to make an appearance in Montreal shortly where he lines up with the Cubs, the Big Four club in the metropolis. And that will not be regarded as good news by Alex Ponton, coach of the Balmy Beach outfit who has been counting on Daniels to fill a position at outside wing for the Beachers and will likely tear his hair when he finds him located in Montreal.

Want Six-Man Stuff

COACH Bill Irwin of the Peterborough senior football squad reports that great interest is being shown by local youngsters in six-man rugby and a large number of boys are anxious to get a chance to play the game. The six-man stuff is great training for footballers, developing potential material and if Peterborough is to stay on the rugby map permanently, the formation of a number of six-man teams for the kids is a development that should be sought and encouraged. Irwin is willing to assist in every way possible in the organization and coaching of such teams if there are any individuals or organizations interested enough in rugby to sponsor six-man clubs. It is a great chance to do something constructive in the building up of football here.

FANS who travelled to Woodbridge last night to see the first game of the lacrosse playoffs came home talking about a spectacular goal that Ira Dundas scored. The veteran winger threaded his way down the field through all opposition, worked his way out of a corner, went round the net, dashed out in front and slammed the rubber past the bewildered Franklin. They also report that Red Dallin made a great job of back-checking in covering the dangerous Kingdon, Woodbridge's most potent scoring threat.

* * * * * *

LAST night's lacrosse game at Woodbridge was a peculiar one in a number of respects. Although the Petes finally won by a city block there were stages when the chances for a Woodbridge victory looked bright. The villagers came out in the second period with the score 4 to 2 against them and before the invaders knew what was going on they rattled home four fast goals and were leading 6 to 4. The Petes came on again and evened things up but until well on into the third period the teams battled along all sewed up. Finally, however, the Randle crew got going and they wound up by scoring the last ten goals.

Bob Lamb Cards One Under To Pace Field

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 14 (CP). —Bob Lamb—of Toronto's Lambton Club Lambs—paced the field as the final 36 holes of the Canadian professional Golfers' Association championship began today, but it might easily have been his chubby brother Willie out in front.

Willie, who has won the P.G.A. title three times, is professional at Lambton and Bob is his assistant. With an important tournament on at Lambton this week, only one member of the family could come here to seek the P.G.A. crown at Cataraqui club. Willie, as boss, told Bob to come.

Bob showed his gratitude by putting together sparkling scores of 69 and 70 yesterday in the first two rounds, to gain a one-stroke lead over Gordon Brydson of Mississauga, who scored 70-70—140, and a two-stroke advantage over the defending champion, Stan Horne of Ottawa, who had 71-70—141.

Lamb and Brydson were the only two among the 34 contestants to touch par for the two rounds—140—but close on Horne's heels was Bobby Gray, Jr., of Toronto, who shot a sub-par 69 in the morning but needed a 74 in the afternoon. Dick Green, Cataraqui pro, was next with 70-75—145.

Moreland And Turnesa Only Pair To Break Oakmont's Par; Somerville, Thompson Make Grade

By Judson Bailey
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

OAKMONT, Pa., Sept. 14 (AP).—"Needling" began today at the ordeal of Oakmont as 64 survivors of qualifying play in the national amateur golf championship gave up trying to break through the invincible fortress of par and started slicing their own number.

With two quick death rounds of 18-hole match play in the program, the field will quarter itself to 16 by nightfall.

The golfing gang which uncovered only two scores of less than par 72 two days of blasting—one 70 and one 71 yesterday—had new problems in the psychological factors of man against man and the hard bitten veterans of match play set a grim grin of determination.

A sleeper in the person of Gus Moreland, a Texan transplanted to Peoria, Ill., led the qualifying parade with a 76-70—146 while the gallery and other contestants were busy watching the first day's mushroom heroes.

Trailing him alone was little Willie Turnesa of New York city, as familiar with Oakmont's intracies as anyone in the tournament. He had a 71 and failed by two throws to tie for medalist honors because of the burden of a 77 chalked up in Monday's literally stormy session.

Luther is Forced Out

The first round couplings established few noteworthy engagements other than sending the two Canadians—C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville, a one-time champion, and Joe Thompson—against each other in an intra-mural scrap that had no alternative but to reduce the Dominion threat to one immediately.

Somerville, only Canadian to win the United States tourney—he captured it at Baltimore in 1932—qualified yesterday when he shot a 75 for a 36-hole qualifying round score of 154. Thompson, putting together a 36 and a 38 on the second day of qualifying play, finished one stroke ahead of Sandy.

Martin Luther of Fort Erie, Ont., only other Canadian competing, failed to qualify when he took an 82 for a 36-hole total of 165. Brigadier-General A. C. Critchley, the London sports promoter who was born in Calgary and holds the Belgian and Dutch open titles, also went to the sidelines when his 81 yesterday boosted his qualifying round total to 163.

EASTERN ONTARIO SOFTBALL TITLE WON BY OSHAWA VARCOES

Oshawa Varcoes Win By 7-3 Over Point Anne

Scribe Campbell's Oshawa Varcoes cleaned up the Eastern Ontario honors in the intermediate A series of the O.A.S.A. at Riverside Park Tuesday afternoon when they handily defeated Point Anne 7 runs to 3 in the third and deciding game of their series. The Oshawa softballers were unquestionably the better team on the day's play and the issue never seemed to be in doubt after they had scored four runs in the first two frames.

Roy Covert, former local player, was a big factor in the Oshawa victory. Besides playing a bang-up game in the field and starting a fast double play he slammed out four hits in five trips to the plate and one was a clean cut homer. Generaux, Point Anne centre fielder was the only batter to give Whitely much trouble, collecting a homer and two singles and scoring two of his team's three runs. Running catches by Genereaux and by Young in left field for Oshawa were fielding features.

Got Good Start

Point Anne got a good start when Genereaux, the first batter of the game got a clean homer to centre field and Murray followed with a single but the attack bogged down then.

Varcoes took the lead in their half and were lucky to do so. Atkinson and Covert opened with singles and Kitchen walked to fill the bases but Bawden got Thompson on a pop to Gaulin and struck out Whitely and should have been out of the hole when Daniels rolled to Sero. The shortstop however fumbled and Atkinson scored. Then Young drew a pass, forcing in Covert with the second run of the inning. Wallace lined into Bawden's hands to end the fram.

The winners came back with another pair in the second. Sero fumbled Atkinson's tap and Covert got his second hit. Singles by Kitchen and Thompson sent the two markers across.

There was no further scoring until the sixth when Varcoes cinched the game by registering three times. With one gone Lefty Wallace singled off Bawden's shins. Hall flied to centre but Atkinson doubled to right and fast running by Wallace enabled him to score from first. Covert promptly rapped a long homer to right centre and two more runs were in.

Point Anne carved a little off the lead in the seventh when Loft got on on a low throw to first, was sacrificed to second and scored on Whitehead's single to left. Whitehead was doubled up a moment after when Bawden rolled to Covert.

In the eighth Genereaux singled to short for his third hit and advanced on an infield out and a steal to score on Green's single. It was the last run of the ball game.

Riggs' Defeats May Keep Budge Amateur

By Gayle Talbot
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept 14 (A.P.). — The double tennis defeat of Bobby Riggs within a week's time makes it doubtful now that Donald Budge will turn professional this winter.

Sentiment around the clubhouse to-day, as the United States singles championships resumed after a day's loss to rain, was that the amateur nabobs would be able to induce their meal ticket to continue with the old firm.

Up to the time Riggs began getting smacked around, first by Jack Bromwich of Australia in the Davis Cup matches and then by Gilbert Hunt, the feeling had been that Budge had done his full duty in bringing the Davis Cup back to the United States, and that he could become an outright professional with a free conscience.

Now, though, it is obvious that Don's departure would leave the United States without a hope of beating Australia in the next Davis Cup challenge round, and, even worse, would deprive the great tennis citadels here and at Wimbledon of their only real drawing card.

It is whispered the English officials have told their United States confederates to promise Budge practically anything his heart might desire, next summer, if he only will remain amateur. The All-England Tennis Club at Wimbledon, it might be explained, is big business, with debenture holders and everything. The profits have been satisfying for many years. With both Budge and Mrs. Helen Wills Moody missing next summer, there would be little laughter in the board room.

That is why Budge is going around these days with a far-off look in his eyes, and possibly why his tennis continues to be spotty. He still says he has received no professional offers, but the pros give that one the raised eyebrow. Budge's intimates say he simply can't make up his mind.

It is estimated that Budge, playing as an amateur and living an elegant life and being presented meals in foreign lands, is able to bank at lease $10,000 a year. This represents his salary as technical adviser to a sporting goods firm and a few odds and ends.

On the other hand, Budge can glance at the group who went professional before him, and experience doubt. Ellsworth Vines and Fred Perry have banked some money but most of the others are broke and looking for jobs.

A Fancy Effort, But He Is Out By Plenty

Plenty of dust is kicked up as George McQuinn, first baseman with St. Louis Browns, slides into home plate on his back, only to be greeted by Bill Dickey and the ball. McQuinn, who not so long ago set a season's mark by hitting safely in 34 consecutive games, makes his sliding efforts artistic, if not scoring, successes. In this spread-eagle attempt, Mr. Dickey has quite a margin to work on, that portion of white at the LEFT representing the plate and George's objective.

Yanks Beat Indians 7-1 With Ease Only 5 Games Off Flag As Tigers Aid By Taking Sox 9-3

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

The New York Yankees, who, as everybody knows, are about to win the American League championship for the third straight year and the 10th time in their history, should reach the clinching point this week unless too many games are rained out.

Nothing but rain, apparently, can stop them. They made the task of pushing Cleveland Indians further out of the picture look ridiculously easy yesterday when they walloped the Tribe 7-1 to open their final western tour. At the same time, Detroit Tigers knocked off the second-place Boston Red Sox, 9-3, to place the Yanks within five games of the flag.

New York now is 16 full games in front of Boston and has 19 games to play against 21 for the Red Sox. Cleveland trails by another half game.

If the Yanks whip the Tribe again today, the best Cleveland can get is a tie for first. If Boston also should lose again, New York would need to win only three of its last 18 contests to make it a certainty. Starting Thursday the Red Sox and Indians tangle with second place at stake. There's every reason to believe one or both will be knocked entirely out of the pennant picture there.

Ruffing's 21st Win

Yesterday's notable Yankee achievement was Red Ruffing's eight-hit flinging for his 21st victory of the season. It marked the first time in his 13 major league seasons that he has won more than 20 games. His mound rival, Denny Galehouse, made it soft for him by blowing up in the fourth, when the New Yorkers got four runs on only two hits.

A six-run fourth inning enabled Detroit to bring about Boston's downfall as Vernon Kennedy checked the Red Hose with eight hits.

The Boston Bees beat the second-place Chicago Cubs, 5-2, as Jim Turner gave up only four singles and Elbie Fletcher rapped out two singles, a double and triple. The defeat was softened by the fact that Manager Gabby Hartnett caught for the first time since he broke a thumb Aug. 15, but it left the Cubs four games behind the leaders.

Washington and the Chicago White Sox broke even in a doubleheader that completed yesterday's doings. Ken Chase, giving six hits and eight walks, pitched the Senators to a 7-1 opening victory but Thornton Lee bested Pete Appleton in the closing mound duel and Chicago won 3-2.

Toronto Teams Fail To Score

TORONTO, Sept. 14. — Battling to a runless deadlock after seven innings of clever baseball, Danforth Aces and Brights A.C. supplied the outstanding game of the year last night at Viaduct Park in the T.A.B.A. senior playoffs. The last inning was played in semi-darkness.

From start to finish the game was replete with action, from petty squabbling to a near fistic display between players and base umpire Gartner during the seventh inning preceded by another minor shove-around act in the sixth involving players from both teams.

Second Baseman Earl Surphliss of Danforth Aces was hoisted from the game by Umpire Gartner in the seventh frame for disputing too vigorously the latter's decision on baserunner Wilkinson and that started the fireworks with practically all of the Danforth players crowding around the official.

Twice Brights had chances to score, leaving the bases filled in the third and sixth innings. Only in the last inning did the Aces actually have anything like a scoring chance, when they left two stranded, the winning run being on third base when pinch-hitter Eddie King fanned.

Yesterday's Stars

(By the Associated Press.)

Jim Turner and Elbie Fletcher, Bees — Turner limited Cubs to four singles and Fletcher collected triple, double, two singles to lead the Bees to a 5-2 victory.

Fred Walker and Vern Kennedy, Tigers—Walker clouted homer and single to lead attack as Kennedy stopped Red Sox, with eight hits, 9-3.

Ken Chase, Senators, and Thornton Lee, White Sox—Chase limited Sox to six hits in first game of the double bill; Lee scattered nine hits to take the nightcap for the Sox.

Cricket Results

SCARBOROUGH, England, Sept. 14.—H. D. G. Leveson-Gower's eleven yesterday defeated the Australian cricketers by ten wickets in their final game in England. It was the first loss suffered by an Australian team in this country, apart from test competition, for 17 years.

The Antipodeans, captained by Stanley McCabe in the absence of the injured Don Bradman, were dismissed for a meagre second-innings total of 102, after compiling 306 runs in their first turn at the wickets. The strong English eleven, which included many test players, obtained 363 and 46 for no wickets.

W. W. Armstrong's touring team of 1921 was the last side to have its colors lowered, going under to A. C. MacLaren's eleven at Eastbourne. The Australians have not been defeated by an English county since 1912.

The tour concludes this week. The Aussies leave for Ireland, and on Thursday oppose Gentlemen of Ireland at Dublin.

William Bowes, Yorkshire, whose fast bowling was one of the chief factors in the Australians' defeat in the fifth Test match last month, took five wickets for 42 runs yesterday.

W. A. Brown and J. H. Fingleton, the invaders' opening batsmen, made a stand for the first wicket, the former carrying his bat for 38. Fingleton had a painstaking 20.

Clavel Badcock was dismissed before he had scored, and McCabe and Sidney Barnes, other powerful hitters, each scored a single.

Catholic Workers Ask Labor Court

THETFORD MINES, Que., Sept. 14 (CP).—Demands for a Quebec labor court and for better working conditions in the province's huge textile industry were to the forefront today as the National Federation of Catholic Workers entered the final day of its 17th annual congress.

In a series of extensive demands, the 400 delegates to the convention in this eastern township's asbestos centre approved a resolution appealing for Federal and Provincial assistance in their drive to improve the lot of Quebec laborers.

Joint action by Ottawa and Quebec was sought in a resolution seeking to have three textile companies brought "to reason" in the matter of treatment of their employees. Named in the resolution were Dominion Textile Company and two affiliated concerns, Drummondville Cotton Company and Montreal Cottons, Limited.

Establishment of a labor court to deal with labor litigation in the province was recommended in another group of resolutions, among which was one urging retention of Quebec's anti-Communist "padlock law."

Grandmothers Honored By Havelock W.I.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Sept. 14.—Grandmothers' Day was celebrated by the Havelock Branch, Women's Institute at their regular September meeting, yesterday afternoon, and a number of grandmothers were guests for the occasion, with Mrs. John Armstrong, president in the chair.

The cemetery improvement committee for the month of August reported on progress made, and the Institute authorized purchase of a quantity of grass seed to be used on the unsodded plots.

A special short course in needlecraft is to be held in the town hall during the week of Sept. 26-30, from 9 to 11 a.m. and from 2 to 4 p.m. each day. A fee of 25 cents will be charged each member, the fee for non-members wishing to attend being 50 cents.

There was no relief report. Mrs. R. F. Covert presented the report of the sick visiting committee.

The roll call was well responded to with the name of a flower from "Grandmother's flower garden."

Mrs. Rachel Young representative of the Children's Shelter in Peterborough was introduced to the members by the president and spoke for several minutes.

The Institute decided to hold their annual tag day next Saturday, Sept. 17th. Canvassers were appointed as follows: east end, Mrs. F. Wrightly and Mrs. H. Gordon; centre, Mrs. W. Rice and Mrs. Taylor; west end, Mrs. Bedford and another to be seelcted.

Splendid Program

Following the usual routine business, a very enjoyable program was presented by convenors Mrs. J. Bedford and Mrs. W. Johnson, commencing with several community songs, "Blest be the tie that binds," "Bring back my bonnie to me," and "When you and I were young, Maggie."

A novel "Darning" competition was keenly contested and after much deliberation the judges, Messrs. T. P. Lancaster, E. J. Leeson, and H. B. Puffer selected Mrs. Clare Price, secretary of the institute, as the winner.

A special prize was awarded to Mrs. James Watson, Sr., of town, the oldest great grandmother present. Mrs. Watson as her contribution to the program gave a reading entitled "A thought for today."

Another reading was given by Mrs. J. Bedford, entitled "Things money can't buy," and "current events" a regular feature were interestingly described by Mrs. H. W. Roche.

Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the program with Miss Ina Morrison, convenor, assisted by Mrs. W. Johnson, Mrs. Joseph Little, Mrs. Livingstone, Mrs. S. Ellis, Mrs. J. Bedford, and Mrs. R McMullen.

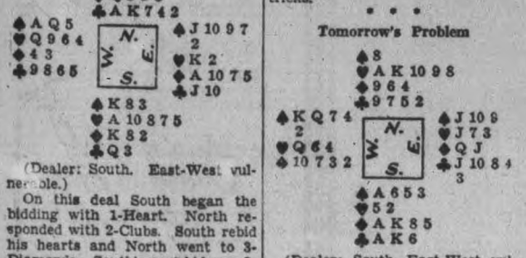
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

BORDERLINE HANDS

WHENEVER a player makes an opening bid on a doubtful hand, he takes a chance. His partner may follow with other calls for which he has ample strength, but not enough to make up for the shadyness of the first hand. As a consequence, the side may get inordinately high and take a bad beating. The brave who take such chances reap their occasional rewards from them, but also must be prepared to expect occasional reverses.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

On this deal South began the bidding with 1-Heart. North responded with 2-Clubs. South rebid his hearts and North went to 3-Diamonds. South's next bid was 3-No Trumps, where the contract was played.

North's diamond bid was probably made with the hope that his partner could get into No Trump. He did, but it was a very disastrous contract.

West opened with the club 5, which South won with the Q. He next laid down the diamond K, which East took immediately with the A to return the spade J. South debated a long time as to whether to sacrifice his K or not. If he held off one round, the opponents would have been limited to three spade tricks, but when he went up with the K, West overtook with the A, cashed the Q and had the 5 to return to his partner. The defenders held South to exactly six tricks.

• • •

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

SLAY SHEEP KILLER

THORBURN, N.S.—(CP). — Two Pictou County men, Jim and Jack MacLeod, killed a 450-pound bear near here after it had ravaged sheep herds. The animal was slain when it returned to carcasses of sheep which it had killed.

CHAMBERLAIN, HITLER IN CONFERENCE

Nazis Charge Czech Army Moving

Annexation Demand Is Featured Over Chamberlain

BERLIN, Sept. 15 (AP). — DNB, official German news agency, reported today in a dispatch from Neugersdorf, Saxony, near the Czechoslovak border, that military preparations in Northern Czechoslovakia were alarmingly on the increase.

The dispatch said the Czechoslovak state police and gendarmerie had been greatly augmented and that additional classes of army reserves had been called to the colors.

The population of the northern border regions, DNB reported, was in a panic.

(In Prague government authorities, replying to questions concerning troop movements along the frontier, said there was no exceptional military activity).

The proclamation of Konrad Henlein, Sudeten German leader, demanding annexation of the Sudeten regions by Germany, received greater prominence in the German press than even the visit of Prime Minister Chamberlain to Berchtesgaden.

Foreign diplomats expressed belief the proclamation was timed to confront Mr. Chamberlain with a new situation.

MOSCOW, Sept. 15.—(AP).—The Soviety army newspaper Red Star declared to-day that Prime Minister Chamberlain's policy was "not only to make an agreement with an aggressor but also to help liquidate a democratic State (Czechoslovakia) in the centre of Europe."

The government newspaper Izvestia and the Communist party newspaper Pravda reported briefly, with no comment, Mr. Chamberlain's decision to see Hitler.

The Prime Minister, Red Star said, is "using Czechoslovakia as a counter change in striking a bargain with Hitler."

New Zealand With Britain.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Sept. 15 (CP-Reuter's).—Prime Minister Michael Savage tersely defined New Zealand's attitude in the European crisis today as follows:

"Wherever Britain is, we must be."

The Wellington Evening Post said

Lakefield Witnesses Identify Mary Donnelly As Girl Who Tried To Change Money

Fort William, Ont., Sept. 15.

THE BODY of Foster Ralph, 21-year-old Fort William youth, was found today at the foot of Black River falls. He had been missing since Sept. 4.

Ralph left Schreiber, about 120 miles east of Fort William, to take pictures at the falls. It is believed he in some manner fell into the water and was drowned.

Bushmen, Indians and a plane took part in the search for Ralph and Fort William city council raised a $600 fund to press the search.

Australia may take special measures to protect its prosperity against the recession outside.

OTTAWA, Sept. 15—(CP).—Oscar Campbell, on trial for robbing the Bank of Nova Scotia at Richmond, Ont., occupied an apartment in Ottawa last April under the name of Robert Forbes, Thomas Low, a Crown witness, told the court today.

He identified Campbell as the man who rented the apartment and said it was vacated toward the end of May.

David McCall of Windsor, who said he was an automobile salesman in Ottawa last May told of selling Campbell, then known as Forbes, an automobile. Miss E. Carss of the Automobile License Bureau said a motor car license had been issued to Robert Forbes on May 4.

$200 in Small Bills

John A. Davidson, teller of the Royal Bank of Canada at Lakefield, Ont., said a woman had come to the bank to exchange $200 in small bills for notes of larger denominations. The bills were dirty and old and after a conversation with the manager the woman left without obtaining the exchange.

He said Mary Donnelly, charged with being an accessory after the fact in the robbery, was the woman who brought in the soiled bills.

Miss Donnelly was also identified as the woman who came to the Lakefield bank by John McKerchar, the manager. One of the bills was an old large-sized two dollar note. It was unusual for so many soiled bills to be presented by one person.

Miss Donnelly was also identified by Donald Campbell, accountant in the Lakefield bank, as the woman who sought to exchange bills. He said she ran down the street after she left and G. B. Moore, another bank employee, followed her.

"Then I got a revolver from the bank and the manager brought out another gun," he said. "With another man I got into a truck."

He then went out the main highway.

Mr. Moore, the ledgerkeeper, said he followed the woman and saw her get into an automobile bearing the license number 550U8.

Car Markers Hidden

Gilbert Palmer, operator of a boat livery at Lakefield said a man whose name he did not recall rented a boat to be sent to the "Preston Farm" on July 14. When he delivered the boat at the farm he noticed two cars, one bearing the license number 550U8. The other was partly covered with a tarpaulin which hid the markers. In the doorway of a cottage he saw Mary Donnelly and some days later he saw her again in the bank at Lakefield.

Mrs. Marion Preston of Selwyn, five miles from Lakefield, said she rented a cottage on July 12 to Mr. and Mrs. "Forbes" whom she now recognized as Oscar Campbell and Mary Donnelly. Another man called "Don," was also present. Two other men came later, one of whom she believed was "Mr. Forbes' brother." Later, she said, she had identified Lloyd Campbell, brother of Oscar, as one of the men who visited the cottage.

Chamberlain Peace Flight Eases Strain In Britain

LONDON, Sept. 15.—(CP Cable.)—Britons uttered a collective sigh of relief to-day as Prime Minister Chamberlain's plane sped to Germany.

The hopes and prayers of the people accompanied the Prime Minister on his historic mission. The feeling was widespread that the outlook was definitely brighter with the direct action of Mr. Chamberlain in meeting Chancellor Hitler for a heart-to-heart talk.

The public, whose nerves have been strained toward the snapping point by the tension of recent days, relaxed and awaited the outcome of the meeting between the Prime Minister and the Fuehrer.

As the plane bearing Mr. Chamberlain sped high over London, the roar of its engines sounded a hopeful note in the ears of the capital citizens. Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, observed at the airport: "What a fine morning! Perhaps it is a good omen."

Strube, in his cartoon in the Daily Express, neatly depicted the situation: "An ark tossing on the "sea of high tension" on which there is a cabin with the door numbered 10

London, Sept. 15. (C. P.).

MRS. NEVILLE CHAMBERLAIN prayed in Westminster Abbey today for success of her husband's journey to Berchtesgaden to save the peace of the world.

The Prime Minister's wife unobtrusively joined kneeling worshippers around the tomb of the unknown warrior—the symbol of millions of dead in a cataclysm of which Mr. Chamberlain was trying to prevent a repetition.

Earlier she had walked alone in St. James's Park, where she usually accompanies her husband on his morning stroll. Also alone, she walked to the Abbey, leaving outside the brilliant autumn sunshine and the road of traffic, to join a hundred worshippers praying like herself for her husband and peace.

Compulsory vacations with pay are said to have slowed business in France during the summer.

Geneva, Sept. 15 (AP).

DIPLOMATS of 50 nations split sharply today over the wisdom of Prime Minister Chamberlain's visit to Berchtesgaden to see Chancellor Hitler.

They all agreed the result would mean a long stride toward peace or war but they differed over the direction.

Most of them called it a bold move. Win or lose, they said, Mr. Chamberlain's visit meant France and Great Britain had tossed their cards onto the table and Hitler's hand was called.

Some of the diplomats here for the league assembly condemned the trip to see Hitler as "humiliating." This group considered Hitler's stock had been boosted tremendously and that Great Britain's prestige would be weakened throughout Eastern and North Africa and the Near East.

Others said Hitler could not fail to understand that this must be Chamberlain's last effort for peace. If Hitler rebuffs it, they argued, it would mean he was ready for war to gain his ends; but if he is not ready, Chamberlain has opened the door to an honorable way out of a dangerous bluff.

New York, Sept. 14. (A.P.).

MEMBERS of the International Association of Fortune Tellers meeting yesterday in third annual convention, prophesied Chancellor Hitler would lose his power this year, "due to some great catastrophe which shall befall him."

Premier's Flight Boldest Move Of Times

LONDON, Sept. 15—(AP).—Prime Minister Chamberlain, in the boldest diplomatic move of modern history flew to Berchtesgaden today for conversations with Chancellor Hitler of Germany which may preserve the peace of the world.

It was the first time in his life that the 69-year-old premier had flown, and he headed through rain and fog over parts of France and Germany.

"I am going to see the German chancellor because the situation seems to me to be one in which discussions between him and myself may have useful consequences.

"The Fuehrer's reply to my suggestion encourages me to hope that my visit to him will not be without results."

Has U. S. Support

Having announced yesterday his decision to go to Hitler, the premier quickly won the praise of British press, of the French who shared responsibility for the trip, of Premier Mackenzie King of Canada, and of Italy, whose press was more cordial than to any British statesman since coolness arose between the countries over the Ethiopian war. Germany, too, was pleased. Some quarters said the United States ambassador, Joseph P. Kennedy, had conveyed to Chamberlain a feeling

France Hopeful Of Berghof Talk

Hundreds of thousands of men standing to their arms on France's frontiers and their uneasy loved ones at home awaited the outcome of this climatic conference between the two statesmen at Berghof.

There was the firm conviction that all that could be done had already been done to assure the defence of French borders should the worst come. The outcome depended entirely on the talk in the Bavarian chalet where the British Prime Minister and the German Fuehrer will meet face to face for the first time.

All Frenchmen, each in his own way, prepared to pray for divine intervention in the fate-laden hours for a decision which will spare this land and all other countries the the horrors of another war.

Catholics, Protestants, and Jews all announced special services for peace.

The fact Hitler immediately accepted Mr. Chamberlain's bid for a personal interview was in itself viewed as the most favorable possible augury.

In diplomatic circles there has for some time been conjecture as to whether the Fuehrer's immediate advisers—particularly Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop—were keeping him fully informed on Great Britain's and France's attitudes toward the Czechoslovak issue.

It is certain Mr. Chamberlain will leave no room for doubt in the German Chancellor's mind that Anglo-French policy is as firm as it is conciliatory.

Chancellor Accords Premier Cordial Welcome At His Alpine Retreat

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany, Sept. 15 (AP).—Prime Minister Chamberlain came to Chancellor Hitler at his home today in a precedent-breaking personal effort to keep Europe out of war.

In the rain, Hitler welcomed at the entrance of his mountain retreat the British statesman who dashed from London by plane and train to speak for the British people on the Czechoslovak crisis.

His confident appearance imparted anything but a gloomy outlook to the tremendous task he faced in his confidence with Hitler.

The rain which had fallen intermittently during the day poured down as Mr. Chamberlain moved slowly along the station platform. He was surrounded by groups of German officials, S.S. (Blackshirt) Elite Guards, and police.

Populace Heils Premier On Arrival

Despite the downpour, Mr. Chamberlain did not bother to raise the rolled umbrella he carried over his arm.

He doffed his black felt hat as a crowd of thousands, mostly under umbrellas, "heiled" again and again.

Originally Mr. Chamberlain had planned to fly from Munich to Freilassing Airfield near Berchtesgaden, but inclement weather forced a change in plans and the party took a train from Munich, where Mr. Chamberlain landed by airplane from London.

Entire Party Dines With Dictator

Before getting down to business, the Fuehrer invited the Prime Minister to have tea in the great hall. The entire Chamberlain and Hitler entourages participated.

Nazi officials gathered here were still pleased over the unexpected turn in the situation as a result of Mr. Chamberlain's dramatic appeal for a personal audience with Hitler. They were unwilling, however, even to guess what proposals Mr. Chamberlain might have brought to end the crisis.

As Mr. Chamberlain drove up the steep, super-highway, he was said to have praised the beautiful scenery. He also expressed surprise at the ease with which the cars climbed the steep road, which rises from Berchtesgaden's 1,500 feet to the villa's 3,300 feet.

Adolf Comes Out To Greet Visitors

The Fuehrer stood in the broad door of the villa as the cars approached. Then he walked down the steps and greeted his guests with cordial handshakes.

During tea Mr. Chamberlain admired the Alpine view through a huge window of the great hall. The statesmen then got down to arrange the formalities of the program for the British delegation's stay.

Trades Labor Congress Shies Off Contentious Debate On Unity

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Sept. 15—(CP).—A long expected debate on unity in the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada failed to materialize to-day as the Congress adopted a proposal that the executive be instructed to continue its efforts to maintain harmony within the international trade union movement in Canada.

The resolution carried with only a handful opposing and there was only one speaker, Sam Lawrence of Hamilton, who urged support of the resolution.

Canadian labor thus avoided a split over the presence in the Congress of Committee for Industrial Organization unions whose corresponding unions in the United States had their charters revoked by the American Federation of Labor.

Carl Berg of Edmonton, chairman of the Resolutions Committee submitted the resolution which covered 46 other resolutions on internal unity.

At Ottawa last year the Congress decided to maintain the status and allow the executive to mediate the dispute between the A.F. of L. and C.I.O.

The resolution declared "the door to agreement between the A.F. of L. and C.I.O. still remained open.

It proposed the executive be instructed to continue its efforts to maintain harmony within the international trade union movement in Canada "in compliance with the decision of the Ottawa Convention."

"Be it further resolved that we call on our executive to exert every effort to the end that we may again have a unified Labor movement on the North American Continent; to explore every possible avenue to lend the fullest support to all moves in this direction."

Talks With Hitler

Duce Says Hitler Wouldn't Take Czechs As A Gift

ROME, Sept. 15—(AP)—Italian assurance was given today that Chancellor Hitler would not take the Czech population of Czechoslovakia even as "a gift."

This was interpreted by some diplomats as an indirect offer of Germany to guarantee the Czechs integrity of their new frontier if they give up the Sudeten German areas to the Reich.

The assurance, embodied in an open letter to Viscount Runciman, British unofficial mediator of the Sudeten dispute, published in Premier Mussolini's Milan newspaper, Il Popolo D'Italia, was understood to have been written by Mussolini himself.

The letter was given a quasi-official character when it also was issued as a government communique.

"The writer of this letter is in a position to tell you—confidentially—that were he to be offered the 3,500,000 Czechs (there are about 10,000,000 Czechs and Slovaks in Czechoslovakia), Hitler would decline such a gift politely but resolutely," the letter said.

This could scarcely be given any other interpretation, diplomats said, than that Hitler had assured Mussolini he did not want the "Bohemia of tomorrow" and Mussolini had "confidentially" transmitted the assurance to Lord Runciman.

The letter also advocated restoration of territories of Hungarians and Poles within Czechoslovakia to

Henlein Calls On Hitler To Take Over

Chief Says Sudetens Want To Return To Home In Reich

PRAGUE, Sept. 15. — (AP).—Sudeten Leader Konrad Henlein issued a proclamation to-day demanding annexation of the Sudeten German regions of Czechoslovakia to Germany.

The proclamation, which was addressed to Sudeten Germans and Germans in the Reich, declared "it is definitely impossible for Sudeten Germans and Czechs to live in the same state."

"The Sudeten Germans want to return to our home in the Reich," it said, complaining that self-determination had been denied them in 1919.

"The Sudeten Germans have never renounced the right of self-determination. God bless us in our just fight."

Strike Called, Business Ends

Shortly after the proclamation was transmitted a general strike was called at Reichenberg, fourth largest industrial centre in the country and six miles from the German frontier.

Reports received in Prague said all stores were closed and all business activities halted. There were no editions of evening newspapers.

Thousands of Sudetens in Reichenberg gathered in the streets after hearing Henlein's proclamation and shouted demands that Sudeten territory be united with Germany. Martial law had not been imposed in Reichenberg.

The proclamation was broadcast through Germany and was transmitted to the Czechoslovak government by Henlein.

It was issued at Eger, near the German frontier, just a few hours before Britain's prime minister, Nevile Chamberlain, was to talk with Chancellor Hitler of Germany on the Sudeten crisis.

It assailed methods used by the Czechoslovak government in efforts to crush disorders which have caused at least 23 deaths in Sudeten areas in the past three days.

The proclamation declared:

"My compatriots, as a man whom you trust and conscious of my responsibility, I proclaim to the whole world that the use of machine guns, armored cars and tanks against defenceless Sudeten Germans has reached the highest point of Czech oppression.

Unable to Live Together.

"Thereby the Czech people have

Cobb Hits 350 MPH Record, Eyston To Run Again

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Sept. 15 (AP)—Wealthy John Cobb of London usurped the world's automobile speed throne today with a mark of 350.2 miles per hour.

Cobb smashed the record of 345.49 miles per hour established here August 27 by Capt. George E. T. Eyston, retired British army officer.

Cobb, a new man at high-speed racing, flashed through the measured mile at 353.29 going north and 347.16 on the southward run.

Eyston's average for the north run was 347.49 and for the south 343.54.

Eyston To Try Again.

Eyston has announced he will run tomorrow, thereby continuing their costly and hazardous duel at speeds in the six miles a minute class. The former officer watched his record fall while flying along the course.

Cobb was jubilant. His aides disclosed he would remain here with his "Railton" and make more runs if Eyston regains the record.

"I just kept going faster and faster until it seemed the car

WASHINGTON.—Great Britain has taken the first legal steps for the purchase of 400 airplanes in the United States. The state department announce dto-day that arms export licenses totalling $1,152,293 in value had been issued Great Britain in August. This compared with only $11,500 in July and provided in part for the export of 200 observation planes and 200 training planes ordered from American manufacturers.

PRAGUE.—Martial law was proclaimed tonight in three more Sudeten districts, bringing to 16 the total number now under military rule. Reichenberg, Kumburk, and Slyknov are the three new areas subjected to the emergency regime. Reichenberg is one of Czechoslovakia's largest Sudeten cities. It is the centre of the Bohemian textile industry.

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 15. —(C.P.).—Thrown from his bicycle yesterday when an automobile skidded on slippery street car rails, swung across the street and came in contact with his machine, Alfred Weston, 29, died last night in hospital.

Dr. C. J. McCabe, coronor, has been assigned to investigate.

Paris wants fewer stocking shades.

Toronto, Sept. 15. (C.P.).

AFTER a chase through North Toronto Streets shortly after midnight, two citizens, one a former rugby player, captured two holdup suspects and turned them over to police of North Toronto Division.

The men are charged with the holdup of Charles Foster and his wife at the rear of the Foster home, as the couple drove into their double garage. The arrest of the men was effected by D. E. McGuigge, former player on the University of Toronto football squad, and H. A. Maguire, who pursued the men by car and then on foot to make the capture.

Mr. Foster said approximately $100 and some change was taken from him in the garage, together with a small sum of money in his wife's purse and her wrist watch. "We found the small change and the wrist watch in the garage later. Evidently they just wanted the large bills, or were so nervous that they dropped the watch and change in leaving," he said.

Police say that most of the money reported stolen was recovered following the arrest of the men. The couple gave their names as Ben Lofky, 21, and Mike Laweskie, 25. They were charged with armed robbery. Police siad a fully loaded revolver was found in the rear of the car used by the two suspects.

High German Nazis Exult As Britain's Premier Flies To Consult Fuehrer

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany, Sept. 15 (AP). — World hopes of averting war rested in the momentous meeting today of two men comparable in power but unlike in almost everything else.

One is Prime Minister Chamberlain, whose journey to this Alpine town was a dramatic climax to one of the strangest personal stories in the history of British government.

His host is Chancellor Hitler, one-time corporal who leads re-armed Germany and calls himself the protector of 3,500,000 German-speaking people in neighboring Czechoslovakia.

Troubles involving these Sudeten German Nazi proteges and having in them the germs of war brought about Mr. Chamberlain's sudden decision to fly here.

The crisis was months old. It threatened war last May when Czechoslovak municipal elections were held. It became more tense last Monday when Hitler proclaimed himself ready to help the Sudeten Germans get their rights. It nearly reached the breaking point yesterday when Czechs and Sudetens fought and killed each other on Sudeten soil.

There were many possibilities as to which lines their interview might take.

The old conjecture about a four-power pact of Italy and Germany with Great Britain and France was revived. Another was some sort of German-British understanding, which Hitler has long desired.

Autonomy demands or desires for union with Germany of the Sudeten Germans and Germany's foreign relations were the main topics, although in London it was said Mr. Chamberlain left with no precise formula.

Germany Tickled.

Berlin and London, each in its own way, agreed the interview could not be one-sided. Diplomats were divided on points such as the wisdom and prestige involved. Germany was proud that the Prime Minister of Great Britain asked to come here.

Joachim Von Ribbentrop, Hitler's Foreign Minister, was quoted as saying the personal meeting of the two statesmen might lead to a solution of the Sudeten German question as well as to an understanding between the German and British nations.

In London it was said Mr. Chamberlain wanted to buy peace, but not at any price.

There are few parallels in history to the circumstances under which Mr. Chamberlain suddenly telegraphed his simply-worded request for an invitation to drop in on Hitler.

And there have been diplomatic conferences in many strange places, but perhaps none before on a Bavarian Alp, in a glorified Alpine chalet, except the fateful Hitler conference with Kurt Von Schuschnigg that preceded Germany's annexation of Austria March 13.

Berchtesgaden is 12 miles south of Salzburg and 186 miles south of Prague, storm centre of the crisis. It is a resort town of 5,000 nestling in high mountains that are snow covered much of the year.

Unusual Men.

That is the unusual scene. The men, too, are unusual. Mr. Chamberlain is thought of as a genius at doing important things at unusual times. He spent the best part of his youth on an island in the Bahamas. He did not marry until he was 42. He did not enter the House of Commons until he was 50. And, now, at 69, he determined to enter an airplane for the first time in his life to make one of the boldest diplomatic moves on modern history.

Mr. Chamberlain took over the Prime Ministry May 28, 1937. He was known as "the safest man in England." His political record, his high wing collar, his religious faith and his dry, humorless voice all suggested peace and safety.

In his first speech as Prime Minister, Mr. Chamberlain said, "I place strong reliance upon personal contact between influential statesmen."

Soon thereafter he wrote a personal letter to Premier Mussolini of Italy in the hope of improving An-

The Mule Wins

MILTON, Wash., Sept. 15. —(A.P.)—Milton's new republican committeeman, Boston Curtis, won office here without the sign of a campaign. He collected his 51 votes without the sign of a platform. Boston Curtis, a mule, was entered in Washington's blanket primary election by Kenneth Simmons, democratic mayor of Milton, who saw to it that Boston's hoofprint was attached to the filing notice and himself signed as witness. Simmons said he wanted to demonstrate his belief many voters know not whom they support.

Their Bargainers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15. —(A.P.) —The United States National Labor Relations Board today certified the United Auto Workers Union, a committee for industrial organization affiliate, as exclusive bargaining agency for approximately 6,000 employees of the Hudson Motor Car Company, Detroit. The board said the comparison showed the union had 70 per cent of hourly paid production employees of the Hudson Plant.

the manner of Prime Minister Chamberlain's visit as a "peaceful bird to the sanctuary of Berchtesgaden should be a saving of face for the leader who feels the eyes of Germany and of the whole world are on him."

Flight Hailed in Africa.

CAPE TOWN, Sept. 15 (CP-Reuter's). — Prime Minister Chamberlain's visit to Chancellor Hitler was welcomed in South Africa today. The news was broadcast throughout the Union. Political leaders paid tribute to the Prime Minister's courage in refusing to accept defeat over a solution of the Czech problem.

The Cape Times said Mr. Chamberlain's decision and Hitler's acquiescence offer the best hope for a far-reaching settlement that has yet appeared on the horizon.

The Natal Mercury declared the Prime Minister had undertaken the most important task in his long and honorable public career.

The Rand Daily Mail termed the visit a desperate measure designed to meet a desperate emergency.

Climax of His Career

CANBERRA, Australia, Sept. 15 (CP-Reuters)—Prime Minister Joseph Lyons today described Prime Minister Chamberlain's visit to Germany as "a dramatic and courageous move and a culmination of his great services for peace."

"This unprecedented move by the British prime minister has stirred the whole world," Mr. Lyons added.

The Australian prime minister disclosed he had cabled Mr. Chamberlain expressing warm admiration of his decision to visit Chancellor Hitler and assuring him of the Australian government's support of his policy and actions in the cause of peace.

Funds Roll To U.S.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP)— Henry Morgenthau, Secretary of the United States Treasury, disclosed today that the European crisis has caused the "largest flight to the dollar in history."

The treasury secretary declined to estimate the amount of foreign funds sent to the United States for safe keeping but figures on recent treasury gold acquisitions indicate several hundred million dollars of foreign funds have arrived here in the last few weeks.

"There is no reason for alarm over this movement. If people want to send money here for refuge, we are glad to accommodate them," Morgenthau said.

The secretary said he was in constant touch by transatlantic telephone and cable with the financial authorities of Great Britain, France, Belgium, Switzerland and the Netherlands.

LONDON, Sept. 11—(CP Cable). —Parliament may be reassembled within 10 days as a result of Prime Minister Chamberlain's peace mission to Berchtesgaden. The purpose of the special session would be to hear the premier report personally on the results of his epic trip today to confer with Chancellor Hitler.

Captain Edward A. Fitzroy, speaker of the House of Commons, called at No. 10 Downing street today to confer with Sir John Simon, acting for the Premier in his absence, and it was understood they made tentative arrangements to reconvene the Commons.

Parliament recessed July 1, until Nov. 1.

If the members of parliament are called to London, exact date of the special session likely will be set when the date of Mr. Chamberlain's return from Germany is know.

Alarming Lloyd's Action

LONDON, Sept. 11 (AP).—Lloyds underwriters decided today to give 48 hours' notice of the termination of all war risk insurance contracts. All past contracts contained provision for such notice.

The notice is effective at midnight tonight.

that he had the moral support of United States.

When the Premier slipped from his 10 Downing Street residence only authorized persons were permitted in the little street because reports Communists planned to demonstrate against his flight to see the Nazi leader.

The Communists prepared leaflets proclaiming "Chamberlain should fly to Benes (Czechoslovak president) not to Hitler," but only a few demonstrators appeared. They scattered the leaflets in Whitehall, from which Downing Street leads.

If He Fails?

If the Prime Minister fails through this meeting to secure some agreement to resolve the Sudeten question it generally was believed by veteran observers here that Great Britain would feel it necessary to prepare for any eventuality in Central Europe.

The premier was understood to have the backing of the Socialist and Liberal opposition to his Conservative government, and the unanimous support of the cabinet.

It was believed in some quarters he might convene parliament upon his return home to give a complete report. Parliament would not reconvene normally until Nov. 1.

As head of the German state and the premier of democratic Britain conferred, the King summoned his foreign secretary and other ministers of the cabinet.

There was hope in government circles that the Sudeten rioting along the western and northern Czech frontiers next to Germany would not continue to develop and mar the Berchtesgaden talks.

Czech Troops Ordered To Stop Riots

Special Execution Court Set Up As Fighting Goes On

PRAGUE, Sept. 15.—(AP)—The Czechoslovak government dispatched more troops and tanks today to suppress disorders among its Sudeten German minority in towns along the western and northern frontiers touching Germany.

The army and the gendarmerie were ordered to act with all the force necessary to stop shooting affrays in which at least 23 persons have been killed in the past three days.

The figure of 23 was fixed by the government, which is publishing its tabulations only after careful investigation. It appeared certain that many lives were lost, and many more wounded in the fighting along the 125-mile Sudeten border.

The Daily Express (Independent) termed jingoes "those who will criticize him and say of him that the last man who made that journey to Hitler was Von Schuschnigg."

"These people are the jingoes of the land who walked up and down spreading foolish rumors and false stories, frequently telling us that war was inevitable," the Express added.

The Yorkshire Post (Conservative) said "those who feel that the British Prime Minister's visit will be misunderstood by the Nazi mentality and interpreted as a sign of weakness and deference would do well to reflect that the factor of overriding importance is that Germany shall be left under no misapprehension whatever as to the British attitude towards the Czech crisis."

"It would be a supreme tragedy if war occurred through any German failure to comprehend our position," the Yorkshire Post added, "and the meeting between the head of the British Government and the head of the German state will set to rest any fear of such a misunderstanding."

The Press Views.

Here are some more typical press comments:

The Manchester Guardian (Liberal): "He will be aware that there are those in Germany who may regard his visit as a sign of weakness but he will have it in his own hands to show it is not so and that this country remains firm in its intentions and that his motive is simply a supreme effort to find a way to peace that can be honorably accepted."

The Liverpool Post (Liberal): "It was a fine inspiration and yet what will strike many people after the first impact of the news is the appropriateness and naturalness of Mr. Chamberlain's action."

The Birmingham Post (Conservative): "His visit to Berchtesgaden is Great Britain's last effort to avert another great war."

George Lansbury, Britain's aging peace-maker, said Mr. Chamberlain had made a magnificent gesture. "Everybody throughout the world must welcome Mr. Chamberlain's courageous step," he declared.

Papers told the news in flaring headlines of the biggest type, the News Chronicle running a three-line streamer and the Daily Express a two-liner. Even the Times used a double column head, which is reserved for major occasions.

Early editions of the evening papers splashed pictures of the smiling Prime Minister on the steps of the airliner and of the stern-faced King in his car leaving Euston Station after returning from Scotland.

couldn't stand more," he said. "My vision was blurred. I could hardly see anything at all.

"It's a relief when you pass out of the mile and you can let up on the throttle. It's a comfortable feeling."

Cobb said he had the car at full throttle.

"She's got more speed though. The car dragged just a little. I'd have been faster, I believe, if the track had been firmer."

He ran under almost perfect weather conditions. The air was still and there wasn't a cloud in the sky.

The black and aluminum-colored racer, thundering through the mile at a clip until recently believed impossible, was timed at 10.19 seconds for the north mile compared with Eyston's 10.36, and at 10.37 for the return sprint, compared with Eyston's 10.48.

Cobb also shattered the kilometre record with an average of 350.07 miles per hour, compared with Eyston's mark of 345.21.

ers around the tomb of the unknown demonstrated before the whole world that it is definitely impossible for Sudeten Germans and Czechs to live in the same state. The experience of 20 years of oppression and above all the party sacrifices of the past few days make it my duty to declare:

"1. In the year 1919 we were denied the promised right of self-determination and against our wills were forced into the Czech state.

"2. Without at any time renouncing our right for self-determination, we have attempted, by giving frequent sacrifices, to find a proper place in the Czech state.

"3. All our efforts to persuade the Czech peoples and its responsible leaders to make honorable and just compromises have failed because of their irreconciliability.

"In this hour of Sudeten German extremity I direct to you, the German people and the entire civilized world:

"We wish to live as free German men! We want to work at peace in our homes! We want to return to our home in the Reich! God bless us in our just fight!"

The cabinet immediately began to study the proclamation at Prague and indicated an aswer would be given, possibly this afternoon.

Meanwhile, the government dispatched more troops and tanks to suppress disorders in the Sudeten regions, the death toll of which was not yet fully known.

Stock Market Is In Easier Frame

TORONTO, Sept. 15 — (CP). — Nervous tension over the European situation relieved somewhat by Premier Chamberlain's conference with Hitler, the stock market was in an easier frame of mind to-day and the active buying gave prices a substantial lift from Wednesday's close. All Toronto Exchange indices were up 2 to 4 points as the gong sounded the end of to-day's market. Aggregate tournover of a million shares or less was well down from yesterday's 1,568,000.

The market opened sharply higher, in harmony with improved sentiment in London, New York and other European centres.

Forced selling from weakened margin accounts were absorbed at the expense of part of the initial gains but towards noon the market straightened away to a steady course. In the last hour the tone still further improved on a good run of buying and the close was around the top prices for the day.

Base Metal Gains.

Leading base metals came through with gains ranging up to 3⅛ points. Smelters had the large gain and Noranda followed with more than 2 points, and Nickel and Hudson Bay were up 1 to 2 points. Gains of 20 to 40 cents were showing finally for Waite-Amulet, Ventures, Pend Oreille and Falconbridge. Eldorado and Mining Corporation were strong spots in the silvers.

Gains of 25 to 50 cents were collected by the medium-price golds, including Bralorne, Pamour, Kerr-Addison, Uchi, Macleod-Cockshutt and Wright-Hargreaves and gains of 5 to 20 ran through the rest of the group.

All industrial groups advanced with the general trend and gains of 1 to 3 points were posted among the higher-price issues. Brazilian Ford A, Walkers Common, Dominion Bridge, The Canadian Car issues, Massey-Harris pfd., Abitibi pfd. and some of the other Steels recovered 1 to 2 points of their recent losses. Royalite, up 5 points, was the strongest of the Western Oils.

The early gain, which amounted to as much as four points in some prominent issues, had been reduced to half or less by the final hour. But war-fevered speculation, soothed overnight by revival of hope for maintenance of peace, died away to a thin trickle of orders, contrasting with the excited rush to sell which topped prices in the preceding two sessions.

Transactions ran at the rate of about 1,200,000 shares for the full session, less than half yesterday's fast trading pace.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 15 (C.P.). — Winnipeg wheat futures under general liquidation early to-day following yesterday's five cent advances fell 3⅜ cents before again turning upward. At the close prices were 2⅜ to 2⅞ cents lower, October 64, November 64, and December 63½ to ¾, and May 67.

On easement of tension in the European political situation swept all wheat markets down two to four cents at the start to-day, but Winnipeg prices recovered due to fairly good mill buying and outside support.

Improvement in cash wheat demand was reported, with No. 2 Northern grade changing hands at a fractionally better price. Nos. 2 and 3 Durums spreads were one cent better near the close.

Coarse grain dealings were spasmodic with most grains following wheat. Bottom prices were 1 to 2¼ cents down, with recoveries noted in late stages.

their fatherlands, if they desire, but it was less clear on disposition of Slovak and Ruthenian regions.

Praise Chamberlain.

If the letter represents Hitler's plan, diplomats said, it might involve his giving an "eternal promise" of frontier integrity to the Czechs similar to the one he has given Italy.

The letter published as news came of Prime Minister Chamberlain's visit to Hitler. The British leader's decision to go to Germany was highly praised by the press.

The authoritative Fascist editor, Virginio Gayda, asserted in Il Giornale D'Italia that the visit showed Mr. Chamberlain "refused to abandon himself to the currents of intriguing demagogy and revolutionary bellicosity, but decided personally to clarify the ends of the conflict and the reality of the problem."

"Chamberlain has intervened with his initiative, truly worthy of a statesman of high European conscience," said Popolo Di Roma.

The paper interpreted the trip to mean the Prime Minister was convinced the Czech crisis must be settled not with Prague but with Chancellor Hitler.

The letter to Lord Runciman held to this thesis, that President Benes of Czechoslovakia "has lost the race" and that the "game here (presumably war to maintain the republic) is not worth the candle."

A Czechoslovak nation does not now exist, the letter contended, because "membersof the Czechoslovak family are of diverse races and cannot bear each other."

The little republic established by the Great War peace would fall apart if not held together by force, it continued, and proposed the plebiscites so that the Germans, Magyars, Poles and Slovaks could be enclosed within frontiers "traced by the hand of God and the blood of men."

Increase Shown In Givings In United Church

The Peterborough Presbytery of the United Church met in Lakefield on Tuesday with the Rev. M. C. Parr of George Street, presiding. Increased giving to the missionary and maintenance found were reported. Contributions from the whole church for the first eight months of the current year are up $3,008.46, from the Bay of Quinte Conference $2,146.94, and from the Peterborough Presbytery $1,200.55.

October 5 was the date set for the "Quarter Million Fellowship Crusade" at which time a big missionary rally will be held with the Rev. T. T. Fairchney of Tien Sin, China, and Dr. McKinnon of Cariboo, B.C., the principal speakers.

The Christian education committee sponsored the workers' institute which was held in Knox Church on Wednesday. The institute was for the purpose of bringing inspiration and instruction to all leaders in the church and community.

The Presbytery agreed to place Wesley mission under the supervision of Rev. H. Wilkinson of Bridgenorth while K. R. Stewart will supply the Sunday School services from Albert College.

J. G. Keefer, Norwood, was appointed Presbytery representative to the conference executive.

Rev. Dr. E. W. Young in the Worship period emphasized that prayer was the basis of all success of the work of the church.

Evangeline and social service committee reported:

1. In view of the conditions in Europe we recommend that special intercessory prayer be offered in all our churches next Sunday.

2. Noting, in the long, the increased circulation of devotional helps, we commande the use of the booklet, "The Upper Room"; Bible Reading Fellowship and the dovotional sections of "The New Outlook."

3. Having before us a four-page report on Evangelism from Edmonton Presbytery, we recommend the securing of sufficient copies for each member of the Presbytery and that one hour be set aside for discussion on the subject at next Presbytery.

4. We rejoice in the action of the Federal Government in amending the Criminal Code making all slot machines illegal excepting those vending merchandise.

5. While rejoicing in the upward curve of employment we again assent to the endorsation of Unemployment insurance and urge our people to help create public opinion seeking legslative action.

6. A letter from Mr. A. Elliott, M.L.A., re Industrial Relations Act, will be presented to each member of Presbytery.

A memorial to the central council from the George Street United Church Sunday School was received and will be sent on to the council. The memorial asked that Sunday Schools throughout the county be permitted to purchase their supplies by the month rather than the quarter as the attendance drop off in the summer months and the oficers find themselves with more papers than are required.

A Scholarship Student

Miss Agnes Cameron, of Keene, who was a pupil of Peterborough Collegiate Institute for two years of secondary school work, and Jarvis Collegiate Institute in Toronto for the last three years, has this year won a James Harris Scholarship in French and German of the value of $125, with free tuition and a total possible value of $625. Miss Cameron, who is 17 years of age, interrupted her collegiate course after Form III. with two years' travel in Europe. She was a pensionnaire in College Sevigne in Paris and later attended lectures in the Auslander Kurs at the University of Munich, Germany. At the end of this month Miss Cameron will pursue her studies at University College in Toronto.

Bible Society Talk Enjoyed At Cavan

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAVAN, Sept. 15.—On Sunday night a representative of the British and Foreign Bible Society occupied the pulpit of Cavan United Church. Rev. A. L. Siscoe of St. Andrew's Church, Millbrook, read the Scriptures and offered prayer.

Mrs. R. M. Howden, secretary-treasurer of Cavan Bible Society, read a report of its work for the past year, showing $37 had been sent to Toronto.

The officers of the society were re-elected on the motion of Mr. R. Matchett.

The pastor, Rev. J. R. Trumpour, introduced the speaker, the Rev. Mr. Alnott, who brought greetings from the directors of the society and gave an interesting address on the society's work.

Japan plans a new defence program.

So He Went Himself

Britain has had a good many capable diplomats travelling through Europe in recent weeks, and their mission has been the same always—trying to find some way of preventing a European war.

When things looked bad, black and dangerous Premier Chamberlain decided he would go himself to Germany and talk directly with Chancellor Hitler. And he would take a plane and get there just as quickly as he could.

Britain does not want a war; Premier Chamberlain does not want war, and the one thing which seems to have stood solidly between Europe and war has been the persistence of the British Government that there shall be no war.

The fact that Premier Chamberlain decided to go himself to Germany is no reflection upon the calibre and training of his colleagues who had gone before. It would be much the same as a man who when hearing of calamity in his neighborhood would not be content with sending what help he could — but he would want to go himself. Not only Britain but the peace-loving section of the world can profoundly thank God for the presence and outlook of Premier Chamberlain.

He Took To The Ditch

The man who drives a passenger car does not as a rule think much of the truck or its driver. Especially if it is a big truck. The thing seems to take up so much of the road; it is apt to be so long that it is hard to pass; it goes very slowly before it reaches the top of a hill. So the passenger car driver has no special reason to grow enthusiastic over the trucker.

Traffic Officer Callander had occasion to investigate a smash near New Hamburg (No. 7 Highway) and he had something to say about the driver of a truck. He said he had presence of mind and a willingness to sacrifice himself in order to save another driver.

This way: A woman was driving a car coming toward the truck when her car started to slide on a wet road. It moved over directly in front of the truck, and then it was that the truck driver deliberately took to the ditch which was a good five-foot one. The truck was damaged but no one was injured. The truck driver had prevented a head-on crash. So there's one truck driver who appears to have earned a place on the honor roll.

The Time To Think Well

If there is one thing which people ought to do above all else in a time of world trouble it is to think sanely and well. We noticed where some official in London had said that the stress and uncertainty of going through a period of war threat such as has been facing the world within recent weeks was a time when tempers were apt to snap from tension and fatigue. That feeling, if made vocal, would be expressed this way: "Rather than have this go on day after day let's have the row now and be over with it." He was quite sure that wars could well be started in that way, and he was just as certain that in times of extreme trial was when people should be determined to retain their power to think well and speak wisely.

It is probably a good thing that the stock markets of the world are not the measure by which public thought and action is to be judged. For days they have been crazy and they show no evidence of returning sanity. Fear grips the people, and it is stark penetrating fear. There is no hope left, and things will be worse. There is no value or substance in anything and the only thing to do is fold up and run for shelter. It is plain mob movement in which clear thinking and courageous action and any degree of confidence has no part at all. And above all else it is dangerous.

Playing On Vanity

They are still going ahead with beauty contests, and at Atlantic City the other day they had an assortment of contestants who had been shipped in from all over United States. Of course there was to be one finally selected by the judges and she was to be called "Miss America for 1938."

In the final show all the beauties were grouped around the winner—all but one. "Miss California" had walked out because she didn't win. She knew she should have won; every person she had met had told her the same thing, so she came to the conclusion she had been insulted.

And we read that quite a crowd gathered to see the final performance. Poor simple deluded people, helping along an old contest that has been going on for years and has never yet produced anything worth while.

Promoters of such events play upon the vanity of the girls in the first place so they will be willing to parade themselves before all and sundry who care to stop and pay the prize to gaze at them. Then they are judged, measured, weighed and assorted much the same as judges might go over live stock.

There are no points registered for intelligence, for accomplishment, for beauty of spirit, for kindness, sympathy or any such thing.

One might have entertained the hope that such a parade would wear itself out because people would grow sick of it.

Picking Mushrooms

An Examiner reader wants to know something about mushrooms. The note of inquiry states: "Would you please publish a few rules which one could follow in order to make sure of gathering the proper kind of growth? I found large puff balls in a pasture field and in the same district there are a number of mushrooms growing, but I am not certain of them. That is why I would like to receive something in the way of rules or directions which would enable one to make a proper selection."

That is perhaps a reasonable request, but it is one about which this paper hesitates to make reply, and when we have explained that feeling we believe our correspondent will agree that we have selected the proper course.

Finding a puff ball is perfectly safe; one could not possibly go wrong there and it would be right enough to eat as much as one desired. The reason why the Examiner does not wish to publish available material telling how to distinguish between that which is good and that which is rank poison is that it is taking too great a responsibility. There would be the possibility always that if one were to start out trying to follow the directions there would be a mistake made.

One of the most ardent mushroom pickers we ever encountered was a doctor and he was somewhat of a botanist and outdoor man as well. His rule was that he knew the ones which were safe and he took only those; he admitted too that for one who had no knowledge of such matters it was much better to leave mushrooms alone, and his belief was that the only good plan was to make trips with some person who did know the right ones to gather. That is why the Examiner prefers not to publish what might be looked upon as directions, and which might possibly lead some person to make a mistake. We do not wish to lose a trusting reader.

The City Of Prague

There is some confusion regarding the spelling of the capital city of Czechoslovakia. Often enough we have it Prague; the Bohemian spelling is Praha and the German Prag.

Although it is the capital of Czechoslovakia now it was formerly the capital city of Bohemia. It is old and interesting and a place where one from this country can have the feeling of actually being in a foreign land. Such a feeling does not come in Paris, Vienna or Berlin where construction of streets and the customs of the people are not distantly removed from that to which we are accustomed in this country.

But Prague is different. The signs which one encounters on the streets are different; the letters are not even familiar. The streets are old and they are narrow; they run into obscure courts ranged about which may be humble homes or stores equally humble. If there is something in the window of a store in the business section which catches the fancy then the attendant will come out on the street and open the window from the outside and take the article out.

Attending a dinner tendered to Canadian newspaper people in Prague several years ago we recall that the interpreter who is always present on such occasions was silent after several of the Canadians speaking the English language had participated in the after-dinner pleasantries. Inquiry was made as to why the interpreter did not repeat it in the language of Prague, and the answer was that all the people there understood English, and there were about 120 from the municipal bodies and the foreign department of the government. It was explained that in government service and business life it was necessary to speak the language of the Czechs and the Slovaks, as well as English, French, Italian, Spanish and German, and it was quite common for one to have a fairly good working knowledge of Russian.

The university was founded in Prague in 1348 and had at one time 10,000 students—and Columbus did not discover America until 1492. The Cathedral, the building of which began in 1344, is on a site of a former building erected by S. Wenceslaus in 935. The history of the much-troubled Prague of today stretches back to the point where it is more readily computed in terms of centuries. War and seige it has known in plenty. Frederick the Great with his army of Prussians took Prague in 1757 but not until the attacking army and the defending Austrians had each lost a full 10,000 men. Prague is a trouble seat today, but it has been that for centuries.

Wealth, But Not Influence

William Randolph Hearst, owner of 23 newspapers in United States, decided some days ago to have an editorial utterance saying Hitler was wrong. He bought good space in other newspapers to have this editorial reproduced and he paid good money for that. The strange things is that the changed attitude of Hearst did not arouse much speculation or comment.

The one thing which appears to have touched more space writers into action is the step taken by Hearst to deal with his vast newspaper and magazine empire in the future, for besides his 23 newspapers he also publishes 14 mazazines. There was a time when he had 28 daily newspapers, but five of them were losing so much money that he resorted to amalgamation or abandonment.

Hearst is now 74, and it said that apart from Henry Ford he has had the greatest income in United States. Ford used his income as new capital for his business; Heart spent his. And now at 74 he is minded to put his affairs in such shape that the process of liquidation may be made possible. Those who understand values and the possibility of finding buyers say Hearst has put in thousands of dollars where it will never be possible to take out a hundred. The barons of other generations were small fellows compared to William Randolph Hearst. On his San Simeon estate of 270,000 acres in California there are four castles. There is another estate of 900,000 acres in Mexico. His real estate in New York has a book value of $38,000,000. As a collector of fixings and furnishings he has travelled far and bought what caught his fancy. It is related he once purchased a Spanish abbey, paid a large sum for it, paid for to have it taken to pieces and crated and shipped to United States. Since then he has never seen it. As things go it is agreed Hearst should be worth $220,000,000 and the business of the trust will be to see if any great amount can be preserved.

Time was when his New York Journal alone was sending him in cash $25,000 per week. He started out with millions and he made more of them. A form of ruthless sensationalism has been his chief stock in trade. The combined circulation of his papers has been enormous. And still is. The one thing he lacks today is influence. Admission of that was made by Hearst himself when he considered it necessary to purchase space in United States papers to draw attention to the fact that he had produced an editorial saying that Hitler was wrong. And after he had done that no person seems to have been impressed.

NOTE AND COMMENT

If you have an idle four-cylinder car it is possible to get a license for the thing good until the end of next March for $1—no oil or gas included.

England probably is burdened with the debt of war and war preparation, but it was possible for Arsenal football team to pay $68,800 for one particularly good football player.

There was a cucumber left at the Examiner office which was 14 inches long, although the handier way of reckoning in a newspaper plant is to say it was seven columns wide.

Little Edmonton girl has nine grandparents and great-grandparents and we imagine there is one child that will have a lot of difficulty growing up without being spoiled.

The stork, according to vital statistics just issued, has been only working part time in Toronto during the past year. Compared to the Montreal birth rate the Queen City figures would look even more meagre.

At the opening of the fall assizes in Windsor the claim was made that the jury system of the British Empire is the very bulwark of freedom and democracy. That is worth remembering for at the moment democracy is a bit hard pressed to put its hands on any good bulwarks.

Arthur Township Council (Wellington Co.) decided to pay 50 per cent. of the cost of poison bait used by farmers in fighting the army worm. They could well enough have paid the whole thing because when a farmer is fighting the army worm on his own premises he is also conducting a battle which is of aid to the whole community.

STOCK

¶ John Thomas bought some mining stock, and on it turned his trusty lock, yes, he took quite a lot; he knew not where the mine was sunk, if it was real or just plain junk, if it held gold or not.

¶ John Thomas waited for a year, no news or tidings reached his ear, he felt that he was stuck; he took a loss and sold it quick, was sure he'd turned a proper trick, and felt he was in luck.

¶ John Thomas boasted of it too, he knew the proper thing to do, he'd cut his wisdom teeth; if he'd held on he'd lost it all, before the days of early fall, he chuckled with relief.

¶ John Thomas got some word today, the mine was ready now to pay, and everything looked good; they say that now they have no fears, the gold they have will last for years, just like a gold mine should.

¶ The lot on which he took a loss, because he thought it junk and gross, just wrinkled stuff and stale; has more than doubled up in price, as hard to get as summer ice, and there is none for sale.

¶ John Thomas says each time he'll sell, then things start moving fairly well, and prices mount with glee; but when he goes and buys some stock, the thing begins to shake and rock—goes flat as it can be.

Today's Chances For Young Folk

Dominion Bureau of Statistics

A STUDY of the earnings of Canadian wage-earners in the last three decennial census years indicates that the average young person on reaching the age of 20 in 1911 had earned twice as much as those reaching 20 in 1931. In the latter year the average accumulated earnings of a person's 'teens were equal to slightly less than one year's earnings of an adult male; in 1921 they had been the equivalent of 1.4 adult years, and in 1911 had equalled two. The actual accumulated earnings of young people on reaching their twentieth birthday under conditions of 1931 were $892, a sum sufficient to have supported them for two years at the rate of $37 per month. It might be said that they were independent on reaching the age of 18 in 1931, the age of 17 in 1921, and 16 in 1911.

A comparison of school attendance records in the same three censuses shows that the average child spent two more years at school in 1931 than in 1911. Whereas the child attended school for 6.58 full years under conditions of 1911 (10 months' attendance being taken as a full year), he spent 7.58 years at school in 1921, and 8.55 years in 1931. The same two-year increase is evident in the census records of the number of children attending school for some time during the census years; the average child under conditions of 1911 was enrolled in school for 7.96 years, for 9.13 years in 1921, and 9.89 years in 1931. Thus, the two years of added dependency as revealed by earnings were spent in school.

In 1911, the age for leaving school was 14.38, the age for achieving economic independence 16 years. The former rose to 16.25 in 1931, the latter to 18 years. Thus, there has been a continuous gap of approximately 1.75 years between the age of leaving school and the age when the young person is able to earn enough to support himself. School records of age of pupils in the years since 1931 indicate that the long-term trend is not yet broken. Pupils are remaining in school up to still older ages. If the tendency continues unchecked, young people will in a few years be dependent on parents at the age of 20.

THE loss of independence has taken place entirely among young men and boys. Girls have actually gained in earnings, while young men up to the age of 25 have lost 25 p.c. since 1911 and 27.5 p.c. between 1921 and 1931.

The loss of the male youth is only partially the result of being replaced in gainful occupations by girls and young women of the same age, females under 25 years of age accounting for only 6 p.c. of the 27.5 p.c. loss during the decade 1921-31, and 7 p.c. of the 35 p.c. loss for the twenty-year period. A greater part of the loss was apparently due to women over 25 years of age who obtained their jobs before the young men were old enough to work and have not relinquished them. These older women began at a higher salary than young girls do now and, during the decade 1921-31, were earning from two to five times as much as the younger ones.

Social effects of the increased dependency are suggested by the unusual fall in the marriage rate among the young people between 20 and 24 years of age (20 p.c. for men and 13 p.c. for women) as well as in the 100 p.c. increase in the illegitimate birth-rate from 1921 to 1931.

The reduction in the earnings of young men of ages 20-24 between 1921 and 1931 was almost double the reduction for those in the 25-64 years age group, $233 as compared with $127. The earnings of the average woman in the younger age group went down $87 a year, while the woman in the older age group gained $53 over the decade. The loss in the wages of the younger women was offset in part by the greater relative number of young women gainfully occupied, i.e., individuals worked for less but the group as a whole gained.

The drop in average wages for all ages between 1921 and 1931 was probably not a real loss since they fell only 12 p.c., while prices fell 18 p.c. Earners on the whoe were probably better off, except for the youngest and oldest workers.

THE development of large-scale enterprise has increased the proportion of wage-earners to independent workers. In 1911 only 60 p.c. of the gainfully occupied were wage-earners, but 80 p.c. of the new positions created since then have been in this category, with the result that the young men have been forced into the labour market where they have been obliged to compete with women and girls for office jobs and with more mature native and immigrant adults for heavier work. Girls and immigrants have obtained more than their share of wage-earning and salaried positions.

An attempt is made to gain a conception of the actual number of boys and young men of ages 15-24 lacking gainful occupation in 1936. The combined percentage of those without work due either to loss of employment or to never having been gainfully occupied appears to be over 16 p.c.; in round numbers, this group approximates 155,000, or one and one-half times the supply of new workers coming of age annually. Since nearly all of this group are non-farm boys, the average length of idleness for boys living in the city appears to be about two years.

Besides these there is the large number occupied on the home farm without making money. About 70 p.c. of farm workers are not receiving wages. These and many who are in school waiting for jobs have to be considered as possible applicants for new positions.

Letters To The Editor

Correspondents Discuss Various Topics

NO COMPLAINTS

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—I have forwarded this letter to R. M. Glover and you may publish it in The Examiner:

I have been requested by the president and committee of the Rangers' Band to answer your letter in The Examiner of the 10th inst.

Let me say first of all, we were perfectly satisfied with the price and arrangements. We got what we asked for, and are therefore in the dark as to who is writing these letters. Believe me, they are no friends of mine.

I have either played with or conducted the band at the Exhibition nearly every year since the war, and have always had the most cordial relations and co-operation from the Exhibition Board, and I am very sorry this has occurred.

Please let me assure you and the members of your board that the committee of the band know nothing about these letters, and have no reason at all to criticize our treatment by the Exhibition Board.

NO MEETING.

Editor Examiner:

Sir: The Peterborough Utilities Commission was requested by a resolution of the City Council passed on the 6th day of September 1938 to pay over to the Council of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough $5,000.00 surplus requires to pay to the council by statute from money earned from waterworks revenue.

The object of this request was to obtain the money to build the bridge north of the Quaker Oats so that people could go to and from this side of the river to Ashburnham and not be forced to go up to Smith Street or down to Hunter Street.

Between five hundred and one thousand people are served by this bridge in this area, and as winter comes on, it is important that it be built so that they will have the use of it before that season is here. In addition to that, it would furnish a good deal of employment which is badly needed now. However, the Utilities Commission, have not met, and apparently this matter is going to stand until the regular meeting of the Utilities Commission is called some time next month, and in the meantime, men are walking up and down the streets out of work, and the people of Ashburnham cannot use the foot bridge which has been closed up and locked.

One would think that these three gentlemen of the commission could in fifteen minutes settle the whole thing by telephoning a call for a short meeting.

G. N. GORDON.

• The World Looks to Britain

(Time and Tide, London Review).

WHAT does Hitler want? Always the same thing— Napoleonic conquest. His immediate objective is to detach "Sudentenland" from Czechoslovakia. This can be achieved if the Sudeten Germans get home rule in the full sense of the word. Having achieved this, Hitler's next objective will be reached with the greatest ease—namely, the union of the "Sudetenland" with the Reich, or a new "Anchluss." Hitler would then be established inside the present frontiers of Czechoslovakia, precisely where those frontiers form the strongest defensive barrier—INSIDE the Czech "Maginot Line," so to speak. Czechoslovakia would then be entirely defenceless; she would rapidly, indeed, almost automatically, become a vassel State. And what next? The way to the Danubian area would be thrown open, Germany would have access to Rumanian oil and grain, and in a very short time a Pan-German hegemony would be established over all Eastern and South-Eastern Europe. (Russia would, in all likelihood, be forced into association with Germany). And what then? Germany would face the Western Powers with immensely augmented resources. She herself would be almost invulnerable, while able to attack them in the most vulnerable places— the Mediterranean, the North Sea, and elsewhere.

THAT is why a settlement of the dispute between the Czechs and the Sudeten Germans, a settlement that will be peaceful and yet compatible with the continued existence of the Czechoslovak State, is something to be prayed for most ardently. Not only the independence of Czechoslovakia, but the ultimate independence of Great Britain and France are in question. It is clear that to hand the "Sudetenland" over to Germany is not a settlement at all; it would give Germany the initial victory that would enable her to occupy new strategic positions and make a European war not less, but more certain, precisely because it would make final victory easier for her.

All decent people must have the intensest wish that the Czechs, against whom savage hatred is being whipped up in the German press and wireless, should be spared bondage, oppression and outrage that would make even the appalling Viennese tragedy seem mild by comparison. But it is not merely for the sake of the Czech independence that Lord Runciman was sent to Prague and that the British Government are now making a stand, but for the sake of our own country and our own freedom and independence. It is therefore most surprising to find so usually well-informed a journal as the New Statesman and Nation putting forward a suggestion (which not even the Daily Mail has stood for) that if the Czechs and the Sudeten Germans fail to agree, the crisis be settled by frontier revision. The slightest knowledge of the realities—or, if that knowledge is absent, a glance at the many of Czechoslovakia — will show that "frontier rectification" would establish the German INSIDE the Czech "Maginot Line," would make Hitler master of the Danubian area, would bring his dream of world domination one great stride nearer, and would be incomparably the biggest victory yet achieved by Nazism and the greatest defeat suffered by democracy. And the defeat would be irretrievable.

THERE is a danger of a European war because Hitler's demand for complete home rule on behalf of the Sudeten Germans is a STRATEGIC demand. That demand is itself a challenge to Europe— to the Western Powers no less than to Czechoslovakia. It is as though Hitler were to say: "Let me win my Battle of the Marne without fighting"—so that he may fight the decisive battle with immeasurably greater resources, under far better strategic conditions, and with a far more favorable chance of final victory.

There is only one thing that ultimately stands in Hitler's way —the diplomacy and the power of Great Britain. That diplomacy has been exercised with skill and realism during the last few weeks, and that power has been displayed with the utmost restraint, although sufficiently for the occasion.

The crisis may lift or it may thicken. Decisions that will save the peace or begin the war may come very soon. All the free and menaced countries of the world look to Great Britan. Their hope is in her. It is the only hope.

FOOTBALL POOLS.

(Detroit Free Press).

THE United States has its policy number racket.

Great Britain has its football pools.

The amount of money these pools take out of the people every year has recently come into the public print through an interesting incident.

The British Football League has just turned down, as a matter of principle an offer by pool promoters to contribute 5,000 pounds (approximately $25,000) a year to the League's fund for needy players.

The League refused to mix football and gambling by accepting "tainted money" even for a meritorious cause.

The Manchester Guardian Weekly, applauding the League's decision, states that the promoters offer was a bit niggardly, as they spend $500,000 a year in advertising and their annual income from bets on the outcome of football games in the United Kingdom is now reckoned as somewhere in the neighborhood of 50,000,000 pounds, approximately a quarter of a billion dollars, a year.

JAPAN, WHITHER.

(The Argonaut).

WHETHER Japan captures Hankow or not, it can make little difference from a military standpoint to either Japan or China. The city has no military value. Its capture by the Japanese would merely serve to bolster failing war sentiment at home. Moreover, the longer the "China incident" continues the worse it looks for Japan. Competent military experts assert that if the Japanese attempt after capturing Hankow to halt and consolidate their victories, they will need at least 2,000,000 men as an army of occupation, in order to maintain anything like a semblance of control. Such an army is entirely beyond the economic resources of Japan without considering the huge standing armies necessary to hold Korea and Manchukuo in line, especially in view of recent Russian developments. Consequently, the few remaining "Elder Statesmen" in Tokio are looking with increasing concern toward China, where the very fate of the Empire is even now at stake — with the odds all against Japan.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

PRAISE ye the Lord: for it is good to sing praises unto our God; for it is pleasant; and praise is comely.

The Lord doth build up Jerusalem: he gathereth together the broken in heart, and bindeth up their wounds. He telleth the number of the stars; he calleth them all by their names.

There is none holy as the Lord: for there is none beside thee: neither is there any rock like our God. Talk no more so exceeding proudly let not arrogance come out of your mouth: for the Lord is a God of knowledge, and by him actions are weighed. — I Samuel ii. 2, 3.

O the depth of the riches both of the wisdom and knowledge of God! how unsearchable are his judgments, and his ways past finding out!

For who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counsellor? .... For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen.—Rom. xi, 33, 34, 36.

PUNISHING POLICE.

(Chicago Daily News).

"THE policeman's lot," it has been said, "is not a happy one."

Particularly is this true if he happens to be a conscientious arm of the law in a metropolis like New York or Chicago. Suppose that, by diligent performance of duty the officer advances to the rank of plainclothes man on the racketeer or gambling squad, and in company with his squad, knocks off a slip joint operated by the syndicate. What happens?

John Curry, deposed Tammany leader, told what happens, in his testimony in the trial of James J. Hines. After the raid, Mr. Dutch Schultz, or whoever happens to front for the local syndicate, emits a squawk to Mr. Hines or his prototype. And Mr. Hines sees the head of the reigning political machine.

"These here coppers ought to be transferred for the good of the service," says the front man, handling over his list.

"How many of these requests did you get in a year?" asked Prosecutor Dewey, A. (by Mr. Curry) — Oh. Between 25 and 30.

Q.—Did Hines make these requests? A.—Yes.

Q.— Did you ever inquire into the reason for the changes? A.—Never.

And so the offending dicks are reduced to the rank of harness bulls, for the good of the service, and set to pounding beats out in Hegewisch or the Bronx. They get their uniforms out of the mothballs and buy new arch-supporters shoes. Now they have opportunity to commune with Nature out in the vast open spaces of the stillborn 9,929 subdivisions. With their pay reduced by $240 a year, the pavement pounders can revel in the joys of the simple life.

A Bit of Nonsense

Andrew Meiklejohn Of Centreville Celebrates His 90th Birthday

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CENTREVILLE, Sept. 14. — On Sunday, September 11th near relatives of Andrew Meiklejohn gathered at the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Johnson, at Centreville in the township of South Monaghan to honor the occasion of his 90th birthday anniversary.

Mr. Meiklejohn was born in Rawdon township, county of Hastings, on September 11, 1848, of Scottish parentage.

James Heiklejohn, the father of Andrew, had nine children, of whom three sons and one daughter are still living. They are Lindsay at Stirling, John of Campbellford, Andrew of Centreville and Sarah of Seattle.

Like his father he has been a farmer most of his life. Retiring from farming several years ago, he resided in Campbellford prior to his coming to Centreville to live with his daughter. His wife died 25 years ago in the autumn of 1913. Their children are one son, Lindsay Meiklejohn, owner of a farm and oil refinery at Wainwright, Alberta, Mrs. O. B. Johnson, Centreville, and Mrs. W. R. Mather of Toronto.

For nearly one hundred years the Meiklejohn family has been widely and favorably known throughout the township of Rawdon and Seymour. They took an active part in municipal affairs and also in the educational, social and religious life of the community.

Some Radical Changes.

Mr. Meiklejohn has seen many changes since he was a boy in the manner of living, and methods of travelling. He readily recalls the first coal oil lamps brought into his home. The making of tallow candles was one of the ordinary duties of the household as was also the carding and weaving of wool for blankets and clothing. The big fireplace with its crane and other facilities for cooking is a memory of nearly a century ago. When he was a boy a great deal of the country was brush and roads were very rough. Wheat was taken to the grist mill and flour brought home for bread. All harvesting was done with the cradle and scythe and the grain was raked and bound into sheafs by hand.

Logging and stumping bees were common. In the fall and early winter the neighbors would have bees husking corn and pearing apples, after which the evening would be spent in song singing and dancing.

One of the sources of ready cash in the early days of his life was the making of potash. The settlers burned the timber and from the ashes made a leach that was boiled down to its residue of potash, which was sold in Belleville. It was largely used in making soap. Grain was threshed by a machine driven by a five team horse power.

In his boyhood days many people walked four or five miles to church on Sunday, while others rode in a wagon or double carriage. Many men had oxen with which to carry on the work of the farm. There was no rural mail or daily newspaper. People had to go to the post office for their weekly paper and letters.

Still Reads Well.

In spite of his advanced age, Mr. Meiklejohn is quite vigorous. His clear eyes with which he can see to read without glasses, and his tall erect figure indicate the vitality sustained by good habits that have borne him so long through life.

Possessing a winning personality, a cultured mind and a retentive memory, he has always been an inspiration of cheerfulness and kindliness and his 90th birthday finds him enjoying good health and interested in the world and its doings.

Possibly no previous celebration of his birthday afforded him more delight than that of this year. Many birthday gifts from his relatives and friends were gratefully received.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Mather, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Mather, Toronto, Mr and Mrs. Ken Mather of Ottawa, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Watson and one brother, John Meiklejohn of Campbellford.

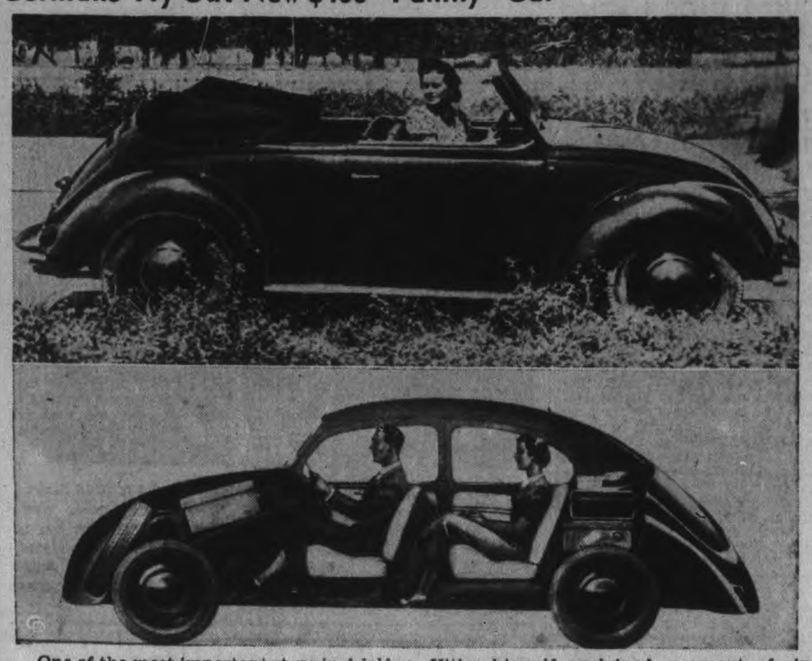
Letters of congratulation were received from Wainwright, Alberta, Ouill Lake, Sask., Millbrook, Ann Arbor, Michigan; Campbellford and many in the community.

500 Pounds Marihuana Found Growing In Tweed District

Tweed, Sept. 15.
(Examiner Correspondence)

OVER 500 pounds of the deadly Marihuana weed was destroyed by Chief Hayes Tuesday afternoon along Highway No. 7 and 37. The weed is growing wild unknown to citizens. Chief Hayes was out all the morning and found enough to load his car. It was pulled and set in a jar. A thorough search was made and will continue to be made. The farmer had no idea of its nature.

Germans Try Out New $400 "Family" Car



One of the most important steps in Adolf Hitler's program of making Germany a self-supporting and sustaining nation is this "Volkswagen" or "strength-through-joy" car. Having the engine in the rear and plenty of passenger room, the streamlined car is built to sell for around $400, or, as Hitler himself explained, payment of six reichsmarks ($2.40) per week, if purchased on the instalment plan. Engineers credit the car with being able to ride 35 miles on the gallon and 60,000 miles without needing mechanical repairs. The cutaway diagram gives an excellent idea of the roominess of the new car.

Waiving Her Right Costly To Mrs. Dodge

PONTIAC, Mich., Sept. 15 (CP).—Probate hearing on the will of Daniel G. Dodge, son of the late founder of the automobile fortune, will be held October 10, it was announced today by the family attorney.

The will, filed for probate September 12, left $250,000 to his widow, the former Laurine McDonald, daughter of the Manitoulin Island, Ont., tug-boat captain. Young Dodge drowned August 15 in Georgian Bay after he had been injured in a dynamite explosion at the summer lodge where he and his bride were passing their honeymoon.

It was explained today by the family attorney that Dodge's will was dated July 25, prior to his marriage, and that according to a prenuptial agreement, the former Miss McDonald waived widow's rights. It had been reported previously she would share largely in the estate.

Yanks Stadium Enlarged For Big Series

NEW YORK, Sept. 15. — Ed. Barrow, at the Yankee office, is taking reservations for World's Series tickets. Has been accepting them, "unofficially," since September 2. Ed apologizes that while it seems somewhat precipitate to take orders before the mathematical certainty has been achieved, he faces the most arduous job of ticket selling any club has encountered in the history of baseball. Besides, the Yankees are in, even if Ed doesn't say it for publication.

With the right field grand stand addition available for a classic for the first time, the Stadium will have some 70,000 or more seats for the jousts with the champions of the National League. Selling out a park like that for three games is tough work, even if the Yankees do draw the rich Saturday and Sunday dates.

Tickets again will be sold in blocks of three. It just cannot be done any other way, and with the series split between New York and Pittsburgh, Chicago or Cincinnati, the management looks for no great difficulty in getting rid of the reserved accommodations.

Contrary to general belief, the problem in New York is not that of selling the $5.50 and $6.60 seats. It involves the unreserved $3.30 seats, for which the patron must stand in line. New Yorkers do not believe that a man with three-thirty in his jeans for a ball game, even for a World's Series, should not be able to buy his ticket in advance. And so the $3.30 seats often show big holes if the day is not ideal. They will not take any chance standing in queues.

It has been suggested that the entire Stadium, except the bleachers, be reserved, but Barrow holds this would invite trouble from the scalping gentry. He believes, in all sincerity, that the preesnt arrangement is for the best interests of the fans.

Week-end Crowds Sure to Set Mark.

The Saturday and Sunday contests in the Stadium are sure to set new World's Series attendance and financial records.

At present, the record for a single game is 66,669, with a take of $240,-591, for the October 4 battle of the 1936 series between the Yankees and the Giants. Though without a seventh game, this classic, with the aid of $100,000 for the air rights, set a new mark of $1,304,399.

Whether the radio rights are to be sold again has not been disclosed. Last year the Ford people bought the privilege again for $100,-000, but as strikes held up their production, they decided to relinquish the option, without asking for their money back. It is possible that another sponsor will take over the game this time. But, sponsor or no sponsor, the Series will go on the air, anyway, as it did last year.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By FRED CRAIG

LACROSSE fans should not be fooled by that big score in the first playoff game at Woodbridge Tuesday night when the Petes won 19 to 9. That sounds like a real shellacking and it was on end but the game was no pushover for the winners who over the greater part of the distance found themselves facing lively opposition. In fact, if the Woodbridge attackers had not grown a little selfish in the third session, and refused to pass to team mates in a better scoring position the Petes might have found themselves on the short end of the score at the close of that period, instead of two goals up. The Woodbridge team is fast and clever and they have to be watched all the way for the moment there is any letup in the checking they cut loose with a lot of speed and run in goals at a surprising rate. The Petes have to win here Friday to take the round, as games rather than goals count. The game is scheduled to get under way at 8.30 o'clock and rates one of the biggest crowds of the year to see what should be a lightning fast, clever and clean exhibition.

THE result of the first playoff games in the Senior B series were interesting because of the fact that all four teams from Group No. I were successful in defeating their opponents from Group No. 2 It was not so surprising that the Petes, the leaders in Group I should win from Woodbridge who finished third in the other group or that Brooklin, the second place team in the first group should triumph over Mount Hamilton, the fourth team in the second group. But it was a real upset to have Brampton who finished third tie a defeat on Inglewood-Caledon, leaders of Group No. 2 and to have Orangeville, second place outfit in that group trimmed by East Yorks, who finished fourth in the first group. Incidentally the second game in all three of these series is being played to-night, the Woodbridge-Peterborough fixture being the only one scheduled for Friday.

THERE will be an interesting softball game at Keene at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon when the Keene team, winners of the Eastern Ontario honors by virtue of the default of the Deseronto club in the second game of their series, will clash with Collingwood in the semi-final round of the intermediate "C" playoffs in the O.B.S.A. championship series. Keene has a strong softball aggregation and they are confident of winning out from Collingwood and climbing into the O. A. S. A. finals. In Don McCarthy, the Otonabee boys have a clever pitcher and in the power that is represented by the six batters on the club who have been hitting at a clip of .400 or better they should prove lively opposition for the Shipbuilders. Incidenally Keene has now one of the best softball parks in the whole district and the semi-final game will be played under ideal conditions.

Take a Bow, Coach

HERE is a nice little tribute the Toronto Telegram pays to Bill Irwin, newly appointed coach of the Peterborough Senior O. R. F. U. squad: —Although a loss to Balmy Beach, the announcement that Bill Irwin, one-time Beaches player, has been named coach of the Peterborough entry in the O. R. F. U. was pleasing to the east-enders. Bill has always been a popular performer on the Beaches Club, and his team-mates of other years are happy to see him get a chance to handle a club. Prior to his departure from the Balmy Beach Club, Irwin was line coach with Alex. Ponton's crew, and he will take the post of playing coach with the Petes. His many years of experience as a player in the Ontario Union should aid him in the new job, and it is hoped there will be a reasonably high class of talent with which to mould a team. Curly Krug, one-time Queen's backfield star, will act as Irwin's assistant.

* * * * * *

Says Fred Jackson in the Toronto Star:—Met up with Percy Bond, time president of the Ontario Hockey association and a right good one, too, we might add Percy was not doing so well, but was living in hopes celebrated his birthday at the track Monday by cashing every ticket he picked up, and if that's a hunch for the talent to plunge heavily on their birthdays, they're welcome to it."

* * * * * *

OSHAWA juniors, who won the Lakeshore Junior O .B. A. A. group this season are billed to meet the Niagara Falls juniors at Oshawa on Saturday in the first game of the final series for the Ontario title and local fans will wish them luck. Very little is known in the east as to the ability of the Kataract Kids but the opinion here is that they will have to be strong to defeat Oshawa with High Pockets McCabe on the mound. We have a hunch that if this 6½ footer who has a whale of a lot of stuff and style remains around Oshawa, he will give future Peterborough Central Ontario League clubs lots of trouble for the kid is a sure-fire senior prospect. The way he is going now he can't miss and he would be even better handled by an experienced catcher.

* * * * * *

THE rain last night was not allowed to interfere with the workout of the Peterborough senior rugby club and Coach Bill Irwin drove a big squad through a hard workout, in preparation for Saturday's game at Cobourg with the Lakeshore intermediates. The Petes will take a big squad down for that exhibition fixture in order to get a line on the available material in action. Bob Doll was out at last night's drill and showed that he could thrown a wet ball almost as accurately as a dry one.

* * * * * *

THE setup for the O. B. A. A. senior playoffs so far as the Petes are concerned now calls for them to meet th Toronto winners in Toronto next Wednesday with the second game in Peterborough a week from Saturday. Just who the Toronto title-holders will be has not been yet decided, although Danforth Aces have the edge. They play the G. and W. team tonight and meet Bright's at the Maple Leaf stadium and on the result of these two games hinges the T. A. B. A. championship Aces can settle the argument by taking both games and Peterborough executive and players are pulling for them to come through and bring this silly round robin series to an end.

* * * * * *

TO make matters worse for the O. B. A. A. playoffs old Jupe Pluvius took a dive right into midst of the situation yesterday and two important senior games were rained out. Niagara Falls and Hamilton Dominion who had each won a game were to have settled their seriee with a third game could not stage the battle because of the rain and Stratford and Windsor who couldn't play last Saturday because of a downpour ran into more rough weather yesterday and a result will have to wait until Saturday to make a third attempt to get their series started.

* * * * * *

THE weakest feature about this long delay in getting a Toronto winner is the fact that the T. A. B. A. playoffs were stalled to allow a bunch of players to engage in a softball tournament at Chicago. If hard ball players want to play the other brand that is their business but they hold up important hard ball games as a result then it becomes the business of the baseball governing body—in this case the T. A. B. A. If the officials of that organization had put their foot down and notified their clubs that the playoff schedule had to be carried out as laid down regardless of softball or anything else, the present trouble would never have got to first base and Peterbrough fans would be looking forward to seeing a game here Saturday with the Toronto winners.

SPORTING GOULASH:—Senior lacrossers will practice tonight at 7 o'clock in final preparation for Friday's game with Woodbridge ....Buffalo Fro-Joys may be back here Saturday for another battle with the Petes who have to keep in shape for the play-offs next week ....Nobody ever figured that if Sandy Somerville were eliminated from the American amateur it would be another Canadian, Thompson of Hamilton, who would do the trick....Dominion Chess Champion Fox who has just successfully defended his title is well known here as a former member of the C. G. E. test department....New York Giants took two games from the Pirates yesterday and are just 3½ games out of first place. That All New York world series is still a possibility.... Peterborough cricket club winds up its season Saturday. The club has had a fair year. Start 'er rolling', lads.

Peterboro Lacrosse Team Must Win Friday's Game To Capture Series

Lacrosse fans should not forget that although the Petes had a wide margin of victory on end in Tuesday night's game with Woodbridge they still have to win here Friday night to grab off the series as games not goals count. And Tuesday's game was not nearly so one-sided as the final score would seem to indicate.

As a matter of fact the pace set by the Woodbridge team in the early stages of that game had the Peterborough team sliding around in their seats for the Group 2 third-placers came out in the second period two goals down and then cut loose with an attack that for the time being swept the Petes off their feet. Four goals slapped into the twine behind Red Creighton in a row before the invaders could get things under control again and for a while after that flurry the two teams split goals.

It was not, indeed, until the third period was nearly over that the Petes began to show in front and they only had a two-goal margin going into the final session. The big Peterborough score in that frame can be explained by the fact that Franklin, the Woodbridge goalie was injured as the period opened and the disaster took the fight out of the team.

Two Clubs Claim Team Better Than Last Year

Just to keep Pete's senior rugby squad from easing up in their practice drills here are a couple of bulletins from opposition headquarters, claiming that Sarnia and Balmy Beach respectively are stronger than last season.

Says the Sarnia Observer in regard to the Imperials:

Unless all signs fail Art Massucci will throw a team with more fight, experience and speed than ever into the 1938 senior O.R.F.U. fray. The Ashtabula mentor has all his 1937 main cogs and some of the most promising young material in many years to back them up.

Some idea of the class of the 1938 rookies may be gleaned from the fact that they were good enough to crowd Len Rutter, Gord Eveland and Dick Oulmet of last year's team off the roster.

New players likely to stick it and be out there when the Thanksgiving Day whistle blows are London's George Hungerford, Windsor's Tony Golab and Sarnia's Jimmy Shanks, Bill Schultz and Ivan Andrews are beginning to look like fixtures and Auk Beattie, the Wallaceburg husky is still with the troops despite a report to the contrary. The squad is one player over strength now and will likely stay that way for the time being.

Beaches Strong.

And the Globe and Mail has this to say about Balmy Beach:

Although a drizzling rain made conditions far from pleasant, Alex Ponton whipped his Balmy Beach squad through a rugged scrimmage session at Broadview "Y" field last night in preparation for the game with Dundas Intermediates on Saturday. . . . And the Balmiesc impressed with their speedy extensions and hard tackling. . . The latter department of their game is going to be a real forte with the old gold and blue this season. . . . Glen Salter, a newcomer from Oshawa, who packs 190 pounds, attracted so much attention in his first time out that Ponton hurriedly got his signature on a certificate right after practice. . . . The big blond end player is a terrific tackler, and was anxiously sought by Montreal Nationals. . . He should more than make up for the loss of Danny Daniels. . . . The fine line play of Gord Downard and Bruce Barron, the continued improvement of the giant 6 foot 4 inches tall Susie Turner of softball pitching fame, were other bright spots of a dismal atmospheric night. . . The Beaches are a much stronger club than last year and worthy of any man's team. . . Against Dundas, Syd Reynolds, Bob Reid, Paul McGarry, Bert Harris and Johnny Hogan, who is troubled with an infected tooth, will likely do their playing up and down the bench because of lack of condition and injuries.

A New Technique In Golfing

Some kind of a moral victory for hay fever was scored when Maurice J. McCarthy, ABOVE, of Cincinnati, went round the Oakmont golf course, near Pittsburg, in 72, to lead the field in the first half of the 36-hole, qualifying round of the U.S. amateur championships. Maurice went round between rain storms wearing a hay fever filter over his nose.

Corbett-Sullivan Bout Prediction By A Cub Reporter Is Revived

MONTREAL, Sept. 15 (CP).—Back in the nineties, there was a fight critic who was right. He was really a drama critic in Concord, N.H., but he turned fight prophet when he saw James J. Corbett in a sparring exhibition between the acts of the melodrama he was reviewing.

James J. was just another young fellow then, and the mighty John L. Sullivan was in his prime . . . But we'll listen to Marc T. McNeil for the rest of the story from his column, "Casual Close-Ups," in today's Gazette:

"Anyway, the cub reporter met Corbett, James J. was considerate, affable and very kind to the young newspaperman. In those days, there was "a moon on every telegraph pole for that cub," and it was a case of hero worship at first sight, and the reporter went back to the paper and, in his own words, wrote a "most florid" story about Corbett. In it, he included an assertion to this effect, "Corbett is a pioneer of a new-type pugilism and should he meet Sullivan he would beat him in 20 rounds.

"To his editor, this was so much wild theorizing by an inexperienced reporter, and in any event rank heresay. Having read the report, he said; 'look here, you're crazy with the heat,' and the story was 'canned.' But when Corbett was later matched to fight Sullivan for the title at New Orleans in September, 1892, The Chronicle Evening Minitor revived the story and ran it in advance of the bout. The cub reporter was proved wrong. He had said Corbett would beat Sullivan in 20 rounds. It took Corbett 21 rounds to knock out the Boston strong boy."

The story came out at the National Boxing Association convention that ended here yesterday. For the cub was E. A. Howes, dean of the faculty of agriculture at the University of Alberta in Edmonton, who was at the meeting as chairman of the Western Canada boxing and Wrestling Federation.

SPORT SPICE

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 (AP)—How about a little United States football dope, readers?....Notre Dame is in for one of its toughest seasons.... Don't be surprised if the Irish drop five or six games....Clemson in the south has a veteran line and no less than 20 capable ball carriers.... Teams on the Tiger sked had better hoist storm warnings....

John Carliss, a sophomore down at West Virginia, is hot....George Stirnweiss, North Carolina's ace quarterback, probably will be the outstanding performer in the Southern Conference .... Pitt's starting backfield should be better than Notre Dame's Four Horsemen of 14 years ago....Dartmouth is the crew to watch in the east although Prof. Lou Little at Columbia has a few tricks he hasn't pulled out of his hat yet....

Virginia Tech is thinking of changing the school colors to green and black—the former to represent the material and the latter because it's the most appropriate for mourning....In the southwest, it will be Rice and Texas Christian....Things don't look so promising at Minnesota, but they'll probably spread-eagle the field, at that.

Odds and ends: The Messrs. Marathon Golfer Off Again On 4-Day 576-Hole Coast-Coast Finale

Chicago, Sept. 15 (AP)

THE END of marathon golf was forecast today by the fellow who started the epidemic as he packed up to leave for California and the start of a 576-hole, four-day, coast-to-coast finale.

J. Smith Ferebee, broker, plans to play 144 holes a day on four successive days. Aided by an air-conditioned airline sleeper plane, he will play over courses in eight cities—72 holes on each of two courses in different cities each day.

Reuben Trane, La Crosse, Wis., sportsman, chartered the plane and at stake will be the half interest in his Virginia plantation Ferebee won from another broker, Fred Tuerck, Aug. 5 by playing 144 holes dawn to dusk. If Ferebee does the trick, he wins nothing.

Planning to start Sept. 25, Ferebee's schedule listed daily rounds at Los Angeles and Phoenix, Ariz.; Kansas City and St. Louis; Milwaukee and Chicago, and Philadelphia and New York.

Giants Pinch Pirates' Flag Bubble Taking Double Win 3-0, 10-3; Cubs Defeat Bees 6-3 In Protest

They put a blowout patch on the Pittsburg Pirates' pennant bubble today and tried to get it to take off again in what is hilariously referred to these days as the National League "race."

Those forgotten New York Giants, featuring a patched-up infield and a pitching staff relying on sore wings, all blew the bubble to bits yesterday by taking both ends of a double-header from the "choked up" Pirates.

Thus was continued the happy custom of never allowing a dull moment in this daffy senior circuit chase, for the Chicago Cubs, by whipping Boston's Bees, climbed to within 2½ games of the top, and the Giants moved to a third-place tie with Cincinnati's Reds, who split a twin bill with Brooklyn.

Terrible Bill Terry gave up on the flag three weeks ago and then changed his mind and cut the Giants back in. The terrific Terriers have rolled up their sleeves, deciding there is everything to win and nothing to lose.

As a result of the silly set of developments yesterday, the race looks something like this:

	Won	Lost	Pct.	Games to play
Pittsburg ..	77	56	.579	21
Chicago ...	76	60	.559	18
Cincinnati .	75	61	.551	18
New York .	75	61	.551	18

Lead Totters.

Of course, the Pirates, boasting a lead, are still the boys to beat, but they can't stay up there if they go through many more days like yesterday. Prince Hal Schumacher, sore arm and all, "sinker-balled" them to defeat, 3-0, in the first game. In the nightcap, the Giants just sent a seven-run blast over in the second inning and coasted in at 10-3.

A homer by Gabby Hartnett with the bases loaded gave the Cubs a 6-3 margin over the Bees, but the Bostons disputed the hit as being just a foul ball and finished the game under protest.

Ernie Lombardi lashed two four-baggers and the Reds dropped the Dodgers, 8-4, in a doubleheader nightcap after Brooklyn won the opener, 6-2. Duckey Medwick hit a pair of round-trippers as the Cardinals crushed the Phillies, 12-9 and 3-2.

The American League race saw the Yankees' final game of the year with Cleveland rained out, but the Yanks, nevertheless, advanced to a spot where they need only four wins to clinch the pennant. Boston's second-place Red Sox belted the Tigers, 9-2, behind Joe Heving. In the only other game that escaped the weatherman, the Athletics nipped the Browns, 4-3, on Wally Moses' ninth-inning homer, to climb out of the cellar.

Horseshoe Tourney Being Sponsored

TORONTO, Sept. 15.—In spite of the fact that the art of horseshoe pitching has been in the doldrums for the past few seasons, the sport has made a great comeback this year and, with the Oakwood Horse Shoe Club sponsoring the Ontario championships at their grounds next Saturday afternoon, interest is at its peak.

The Oakwood Horse Shoe Club, just formed in July of this year, is now the largest club in Toronto and district, and the club, under the leadership of Ted Steadman, deserves a lot of credit for the success achieved. The season will climax with the Ontario tourney. Lefty Ferris, the present Dominion champion, is among the entrants.

There are entries for "B" class four-man teams, "B" doubles, draw partners; also class "A" singles and "A" doubles, draw partners, beginning at 1.30 p.m. The club is situated at 481 Oakwood Avenue.

Horne Wins 3rd Canadian P.G.A. Title

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 15 (CP).—Pink-cheeked Stan Horne, idol of the caddies from whose ranks he rose, is Canada's best competitive golfer until someone comes along to match his remarkable three-year record.

The young Ottawa Hunt Club star won his third successive Canadian professional golfers' association championship yesterday—and won it the hard way with a last-round spurt. Trailing the leaders from the start of the 72-hole medal event, he came in with a 68 on the last 18 holes for a total of 284, one stroke better than his playing partner, Robert T. Gray, Jr., of Toronto Scarboro.

Down the stretch Horne and Gray battled almost stroke for stroke and the Ottawan won at Cataraqui club's final green with a 10-foot putt. Gray sank a three footer for a par 70 to finish a stroke ahead of Jules Huot of Kent, Quebec, leader among the early finishers. In 1937 Horne won the title on his home course edging out Gray by two strokes.

Kansas City Wins First Playoff

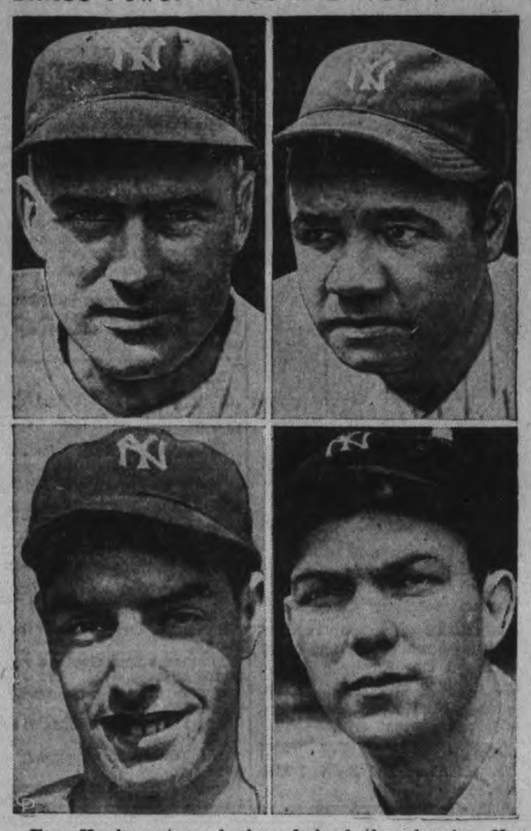
KANSAS CITY, Sept. 15 (AP).—The American Association season isn't all done until the Shaughnessy playoffs are over and Kansas City may yet ease the pain of the experts who picked them to top the league.

From their tenacity last night against Indianapolis—they came through in the ninth to tie and in the tenth to win their first playoff game—the Blues were rate more than an outside chance to have the league championship when the firing is over.

Bill Matheson's third hit of the game, a single, drove in the winning run in the 10th with two out. Thus did the Blues win, 3-2.

At St. Paul, in a free scoring game, the Saints, who finished on top at the end of the regular schedule, squared their semi-final series with Milwaukee at one game apiece by batting out a 9-7 victory.

Yankee Power – 1928 and 1938



Four Yankees, two of whom helped the slugging New York crew to their third straight pennant 10 years ago and two who are doing the same thing this year. Top, LEFT, is Earl Combs, a standby in the outfield for over a decade and beside him the very symbol of Yankee power, the man who changed baseball from a pitcher's to a batter's game, Babe Ruth, as he appeared in his fence-busting days. Carrying on the Yankee tradition are Joe DiMaggio, only in his third season in the majors, but acclaimed the finest all-round outfielder in the league. Joe is at the lower LEFT, while at the RIGHT the finest catcher the Yankees ever had, Bill Dickey, clutch hitter de luxe.

1938 New York Yankees Classed As Ruppert's Greatest Team

By SID MERCER
(Central Press Canadian Sports Writer.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The Yankees of 1928 are about to lose their rating as the best team that represented New York in the American League.

The Yankees of 1938 are piling up the evidence to support the contention that they are a smoother, smarter and more powerful aggregation than the last of the great teams commanded by the late Miller Huggins.

Arguments on this subject are now raging. There are many Yankee fans who will never be persuaded that the Yankees in the glamorous days of Babe Ruth in his prime, and Lou Gehrig coming to his peak will ever be surpassed. When Ruth quit, they said the mould of the greatest Yankee teams was broken.

On the other side is Ed Barrow, who had a hand in building those teams, and Joe McCarthy, who has managed three pennant winners and world's champions in the last seven years.

Barrow believes the current organization is the best ever.

"I don't know so much about the old Yankee champions," says McCarthy, "but this is the best team I have ever handled."

Your correspondent has for some time insisted that the present Yankee ensemble has more to commend it than its predecessors. For a long time Barrow held out for his dandies of ten years ago, but the performance since late in June furnished the convincer for him. Even Colonel Jake Ruppert, who revels in his baseball memories, is almost ready to give in.

1—It is the best defensive Yankee team, both in pitching and fielding.

2—The flow of power is smoother. Ruth and Gehrig were home run menaces. Any man in the present lineup is likely to hit a homer and that includes a couple of the pitchers.

3—The home run power is greater because more evenly distributed. Five men between them have accounted for 150 homers so far.

4—No other Yankee team ever maintained over a long stretch so high an average of runs driven in.

5—No other Yankee team has ever maintained a winning pace of .800 or thereabouts for a stretch of more than two months.

7—With Hoag in the lineup the best throwing outfield is presented. Ruth was a good outfielder and a good thrower in his prime but never as good on either count as Henrich.

8—Gordon improves with experience and even with Gehrig up the infield is as tight as any of its predecessors.

9—There are no cliques on this team; no players hard to handle; no prima donnas and very little of the playboy element. Gordon and Crosetti are the sparkplugs. Youthful talent is constantly freshening the team.

10—Dickey is the outstanding catcher of all Yankee teams. Handles pitchers smoothly and in a pinch is the most dangerous batter in the league.

11—Four starting pitchers who have lost but few games since the team started its rush late in June. And the best relief pitcher in baseball, Johnny Murphy.

12—Strongest in reserves with Glenn and Jorgens to aid Dickey behind the bat and Dahlgren and Knickerbocker as infield reserves. Knickerbocker can play second or short; Dahlgren first or third. Hoag and Powell can be swung into the outfield against left handed pitching.

Frisch Exits, Paul Dean Re-enters

Frankie Frisch, LEFT, who a few hours later was through as manager of St. Louis Cardinals, chats with Paul Dean, before the latter went in against Pittsburg's league-leading Pirates and turned them back, 6-4. It was no big event for Frisch, as just before the game it was announced he had been released as manager of the team he had guided since 1933. But for the younger of the clan Dean, it was a glorious event, marking his comeback from the Texas League, where he had been sent when he lost his effectiveness in the majors.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Wally Moses, Athletics — Hit homer in ninth to beat Browns 4-3.

Hal Schumacker and Harry Danning, Giants—Schumacher blanked Pirates 3-0 with seven hits in opener; Danning's homer and single drove in four runs in nightcap.

Gabby Harnett, Cubs—Hit homer with bases loaded in 6-3 win over Bees.

Ducky Medwick and Morton Cooper, Cardinals — Medwick hit homer in each game of double victory over Phils; Cooper pitched three-hitter in nightcap.

Ernie Koy, Dodgers and Ernie Lombardi, Reds—Koy's two doubles drove in three runs in 6-2 opener win—Lombardi whacked two homers to win nightcap 8-4.

Foreign Tennis Aces Uneasy On War Outlook

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept. 15 (AP).—European competitors, visibly uneasy, were spending more time around the press box asking for the latest "war" news from Europe than in watching the matches as the United States national tennis championships reached the quarter-final stage today.

Except for a pair of Australians, Jack Bromwich and Harry Hopman, all invaders had been eliminated in the men's title hunt. But the defeated British, French and Yugoslav delegates still were around, wondering if they would receive calls to hurry home and not to go on west for the Pacific coast events.

Henner Henkel was the only German sitting in the players' stand. He was ordered to return home a fortnight ago, after the German Davis Cup team lost to the Australians in the inter-zone final, but he has lingered here as a spectator. Friends of the popular young player are worried at his apparent disobedience of orders.

Top difference in the tournament today was centred on the quarter-final tilt between Gene Mako and Gilbert Hunt, Jr., two unseeded young men with big ideas. Mako, who knocked off Franjo Puncec of Yugoslavia in his previous match, says he will play his famous doubles mate, Don Budge, in Sunday's final. Hunt is the Washington mathematics teacher who defeated Bobby Riggs on Monday.

The other men's duel was between Bromwich and Joe Hunt, young American Davis Cup team alternate, with Bromwich a decided favorite on the strength of his crushing three-set defeat of Frankie Parker two days ago.

TELLING ON GEHRINGER

DETROIT—(CP).—Charley Gehringer, elected by fans as the most popular second baseman, is known as the Silent Man. It has just been disclosed that he once won an oratorical contest in high school.

Thompson Ousts Sandy Somerville Goes Into Third Round Play

OAKMONT, Pa., Sept. 15 (AP).—Canada's hopes for a second Dominion winner in the United States amateur golf championship today rested in the capable hands of little Joe Thompson of Hamilton, Ont., who meets Walter Blevins of Kansas City in today's third match-play round.

Joe, hotter than a firecracker as he paced around Oakmont's treacherous, rain-swept layout, defeated his fellow countryman and several times Canadian champion, C. Ross (Sandy) Somerville of London, Ont., in the first round of match play yesterday.

Sandy, who in 1932 became the only Canadian to win the tourney, was defeated one up as Thompson outsteadied him and fired a 78 to Somerville's 79. In the second round the little giant killer from Hamilton fought his way from behind to defeat Freddie Haas, Jr., of New Orleans, 1937 Canadian amateur champion, one up after 19 holes.

As the title race entered the third round today, Johnny Goodman seemed to be the one for Thompson and 14 others in this narrowed field to beat. His game was back with him and his bracket all washed out of sharpshooters who rated a good chance to beat him even in dangerous 18-hole matches.

He qualified comfortably with 154 and hustled to a pair of 4 and 3 victories yesterday with such fine golf against the pelting rain that he was over par but one shot on each round on what is rated as one of the five toughest golf courses in the world.

Remember When—

(By The Canadian Press.)

Frank Chance, one-third of the famous Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance infield of the Chicago Cubs, died at Los Angeles 13 years ago to-day. He managed the Cubs from 1906 to 1912, was succeeded by Johnny Evers who stayed one year. Joe Tinker held managership reins in 1916.

Bears After Wings To Even Series

TORONTO, Sept. 15 (CP).—Weather permitting, four international league clubs mix tonight in their chase for the governor's cup and a place in the little world series.

Newark Bears, who finished the regular season well out in front, will try to even the count with Rochester Red Wings who took the first game Tuesday 3-2.

In Syracuse the Chiefs hoped rain would stay off long enough to permit their second encounter with Buffalo Bisons from whom they took a 3-2 beating in the opener. Both games were washed out yesterday.

School Fairs Held, Apsley, South Burleigh

Everett Bolton, S.S. 3, Burleigh, won the Eaton Trophy for the highest number of points at the South Burleigh Rural School Fair on Monday afternoon. Second prize went to Douglas Dunford and Irene Stone was third.

The fair was the first to be held in Peterborough County, was highly successful, according to Frank Paterson, Peterborough County agricultural representative, who was in charge; together with Leo Copp, Public School Inspector.

Winners at the Apsley Rural School Fair, held on Tuesday, have not yet been determined. A clerical error in the names of two contestants will have to be rectified before any award can be made.

High praise for the work of Leo Copp was given by Mr. Paterson. "He is one of the most efficient school inspectors I have ever worked with," he said.

A new loud speaker system is being used at all the county's fairs. It was built and is operated by Mr. Copp, makes the work of administration much easier, Mr. Paterson said. It is portable, needs no commercial electric current in order to operate.

This year's fairs boast several new competitions which have attracted the fancy of youngsters. One is a first-aid demonstration by teams of three girls, each girl demonstrating one stated bandage — arm tourniquet, chin and head bandage for broken jawbone, a broken forearm splint and bandage. Another competition is an oral picture interpretation. Pupils are shown paintings or copies of paintings and are given ten minutes in which to prepare an oral statement of the contents of the picture and any other information they might have about it. First prize is a suitable picture. A third new feature is a test in general knowledge.

Belgian Croesus

One of Europe's richest men, Baron Jean Elipain, of Brussels, Belgium is shown as he attended a party at the governor's palace in San Juan, Puerto Rico, during his yachting tour through the Antilles. The baron, you will recall, last year married Rozelle Rowland, of the Bronx, New York who was appearing in European night clubs as the "Golden Girl," clad in a coat of gold paint.

RHEUMATIC PAIN AGES YOU

A pitiful sight to see him looking years older than he really is. But in most cases this is unnecessary. What causes Rheumatic twinges? Damp, Cold? No. The weather only aggravates what is already there. The cause of Rheumatic ailments, Neuritis, Lumbago, Sciatica, is often Uric Acid in your system. Uric Acid forms crystals—hard, sharp, very painful. Uric Acid is caused by congested waste matter that poisons your body. And within that poisoned body is a sluggish liver.

Now Fynnon Salt helps stimulate the liver. The combination of Sodium, Potassium and the elements of Lithium in Fynnon Salt works through your system to clear out poisons and help dissolve Uric Acid crystals. With the cause of the trouble removed you are soon fit again. Large bottle of Fynnon Salt, 75c at all druggists'.

West Plans Rust-Resistent Wheat For Bigger 1939 Harvest

WINNIPEG, Sept. 15 — (CP). — Prairie agriculturists are planning for the 1939 wheat crop even before completion of this year's harvest. The program aims at more extensive seeding of rust-resistant wheat, a determined anti-grasshopper campaign and widespread Prairie farm rehabilitation administration activities.

One of the most important factors in ensuring a good crop next year lies in seeding rust-resistant wheat in areas susceptible to rust. Alberta was not affected materially by rust this year, but in Manitoba and more particularly Saskatchewan the damage was considerable.

Rust-resistant wheats, Thatcher, Apex and Renown, were used extensively in Saskatchewan this year for the first time, seeding some 2,000,000 acres of the estimated 13,900,000 acre in wheat. Production was estimated at 30,000,000 bushels.

Value of the new varieties is indicated in the Saskatchewan wheat pool estimate of average yields per acres in the province: Rust-resistant, 17.4 bushels; other bread wheats, 10.2 bushels; durums, 12.3 bushels.

Enough for Seed.

In Manitoba, where Thatcher has been used extensively since 1936, the estimated 1,600,000 acres of the 2,800,000 wheat acreage produced approximately 30,000,000 bushels. Alberta rust-resistant production was about 1,000,000 bushels.

Total production of some 60,000,000 bushels of rust-resistant wheat in the Prairie Provinces ensures an adequate supply for seed next year for the first time.

Provincial Governments are formulating plans for distribution of the seed and already the Canadian Wheat Board has authorized elevator companies to exchange rust-resistant varieties for non-resistant grain at Wheat Board prices. Last year Thatcher sold for seed at a premium, farmers generally paying $1.50 a bushel.

Prof. Manley Champlin of University of Saskatchewan, who helped develop apex wheat, says experts generally expect 1939 will be the first year the rust menace will not have been felt to any great extent in Western Canada.

Unofficial estimates place grasshopper ramage, largely in Saskatchewan, at from 10,000,000 to 30,000,000 bushels this year. Proposals for an international anti-grasshopper campaign are supported by Hon. J. G. Taggart, Saskatchewan Minister of Agriculture, and K. M. King, Dominion Entomologist at Saskatoon.

Most Damage Controllable.

Mr. King said an international campaign could control nine-tenths of the damage in Saskatchewan. Hon. D. L. Campbell, Manitoba Agriculture Minister said tillage and poison control were entirely sucessful in Manitoba this year but damage was caused by hopper invasion from United States.

Departments of Agriculture are advising farmers as to proper control measures, recommending fall plowing to a depth of five inches and early spring cultivation of 1938 summer fallow.

The Prairie farm re-habilitation administration program includes promotion of farming systems that will afford greater economic security, water development for fullest utilization of surface water and land utilization where areas of inferior soil are being removed from crop production and community pastures established.

Forty-seven district experimental sub-stations are demonstrating and testing methods of utilizing moisture and controlling soil drift. Tree planting and re-grassing are in the program.

George Spence, P. F. R. A. director estimates that by the end of 1938 more than 7,000 individual dugouts stock watering and irrigation dams will be completed in the three prairie provinces.

Women's dresses are being made in England of spun aluminum as fine and soft as silk.

Beauties Seek Crown

Maine to sunny California" is the burden of a song very popular in the domain of Uncle Sam. Well this bevy of beauties come from just those widely-separated points. They are part of a bumper crop of pretty maidens gathered at Atlantic City, N.J., for the annual beauty contest which ends in selection of Miss America, 1938.

Fuel Board Urged

TORONTO, Sept. 15 — (CP). — Creation of a Provincial Fuel Board was urged last night by a meeting f about 100 Toronto coal dealers.

Unless government protection was provided against price cutting and use of inferior coal, the government wage schedule for the coal industry could not be met, it was contended.

Janetville W.I. Busy With Fair Plans

JANETVILLE, Sept. 15 — Mrs. Byron Hyland was hostess for the September meeting of the Women's Institute which was held in the club rooms on Thursday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Charles Deyell, was in the chair.

A gratifying report was given by the treasurer, Mrs. George Wilson. Several members thanked the society for sunshine boxes received during illness. A communication was received from Miss eVrna Bainbridge of the department in Toronto, announcing a short course in 'Fruits for Food and Flavour' which will be held in Lindsay on October 28 and November 25. For this Mrs. P. Hamilton and Mrs. H. Johnston were appointed local leaders.

An invitation from Victoria W.I. of Blackstock to enter an Institute exhibit at the Blackstock Fair on October 4 and 5 was accepted and the committee in charge of the local exhibits was named as follows: Mrs. W. Campbell, Mrs. B. Heaslip and Mrs. C. Deyell.

A demonstration was held of exhibits to be entered at Lindsay Fair and Mrs. Deyell, Mrs. M. Armstrong, Mrs. H. Johnston and Mrs. W. Sanderson were appointed to make final arrangements.

The roll call was responded to by a 'Beautiful Thought in Poetry,' and the flower collection was received.

Plans were made for the October meeting to which Nestleton and Reaboro Institutes will be invited. The meeting will be held in the United church when a 'special demonstration' will be one of the interesting features of the afternoon.

After the closing exercises a tasty lunch, including salads, was served by the hostesses in charge.

Ex-Warden Percy Stinson and Mrs. Stinson and family, of Millbrook, and the former's mother, Mrs. Albert Stinson, attended a re-union of the Stinson family at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Johnston on Sunday.

Miss Elva Capstick of Peterborough and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hagan and son Terry of Stoney Creek, were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Capstick over the holiday.

Dr. and Mrs. John Oswald of Edmonton, Alta., and their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Campbell Oswald of New York, called on Misses Margaret and Sara Johnston recently. Janetville and district will be interested to know that Dr. John is the son of the late Rev. David Oswald who was a former pastor of the Presbyterian church here.

Mistrial Ordered In Hines Case

Family Tent Life Leads Into Court

TORONTO, Sept. 15 — (CP). — A flimsy tent constructed of odd pieces of cloth and linoleum and used to house a husband, his wife and seven children, brought Harry Hartwick into magistrate court today.

The case in which Hartwick was charged with "unlawfully using tents for habitation" was adjourned one week to allow investigation of the plight of the family, said to be on relief.

A police officer testified Hartwick had made no effort to obtain a house and "thinks the relief authorities should go out and get him one."

Prague U.S. Legation Builds Bomb Cellar

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15 (AP).—A bomb-proof cement and steel shelter is being built under a wing of the United States Legation in Prague, Czechoslovakia.

It was authorized by the State Department after the Czech Government had given its approval.

The Legation is undergoing a partial reconstruction, and the bomb-proof shelter—replacing a wine cellar—was included without much additional cost. An appropriation of $600 has been made for it.

Many of the 5,000 United States nationals living in Czechoslovakia have inquired of the Legation whether they could use the shelter in case of aerial attack. Minster Wilbur Carr, however, has been forced to tell them the Embassy staff and families will about fill the refuge.

'Roof' For Weather Is Discovered

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Sept. 15.—(CP).—A "roof" for the weather, discovered just under the stratosphere, was described to the fourth international congress for applied mechanics here today.

The roof is made of huge streaks of air, shaped like fish-hooks. One hook may be a third of the breadth of Canada. Twenty or thirty of them may be detected on one day, roofing North America from the Rockies to the Atlantic.

On special maps they resemble a mass of snakes, partly coiled. They appear to be the controls for the mixing bowl beneath them, the whirls of air which are "lows: or storms, when revolving in one direction, and "highs" or fair, in the other.

Their detection and their part in making the weather was reported by Dr. C. G. A. Rosby of Massachusetts institute of technology. They were found by airplanes and weather sounding balloons.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Sept. 15 —(AP).—One man was killed and two others were wounded to-day in a fight between boatmen and striking workers at a shrimp cannery.

Christopher Clarisch, 43-year-old Labor leader, was charged with the fatal shooting of Jim Cole, 55, a boatman for the Rice Brothers Shrimp Cannery at Aransas Pass, nearby coast town. Clarisch suffered a slashed wrist and face lacerations. J. B. Music, another boatman, was shot in the side.

The clash occurred when boatmen gathered at the cannery to stop picketing. About 250 shrimp peelers struck yesterday demanding higher pay.

6 Lakefielders Called In Ottawa Case

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 15.—Mr. J. W. McKercher, manager of the Royal Bank, Lakefield; Mr. D. Campbell, accountant; Mr. John Davison, teller, and Mr. Godfrey Moore, ledgerkeeper, have been in Ottawa since Monday, September 12. They were called there to act as crown witnesses at the trial of Oscar Campbell and Mary Rodgers, who are charged in connection with the armed robbery of the Richmond bank in July last. Mr. Gilbert Palmer and Constable W. G. Hendren of Lakefield are also present at the trial as witnesses.

United W.M.S.

The members of the Women's Missionary Society of Lakefield United Church spent a most enjoyable afternoon on Friday last at the summer home of Mrs. E. J. Millage, Kawartha Park, where the regular September meeting of the Society was held.

With the hostess presiding at the organ, the devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. George Spence, Mrs. S. Pearson and Mrs. J. A. Porter.

The secretary, Mrs. G. E. Renwick, having disposed of the roll call and minutes; Mrs. W. W. Yale took the chair for the business session.

It was followed by a reading given by Mrs. E. Milburn, entitled "The Church as My Church," and was followed by three short articles on "Giving," which was read by Mrs. R. Bullock, Mrs. E. Orr, and Mrs. Deck, respectively. Mrs. Deck also read Edgar Guest's poem on "Courage."

Mrs. J. A. Porter led in prayer for churches in other lands.

A sumptuous lunch was served. Then came the exploring of the grounds, an intriguing drive through the woods, and home.

The New Rector.

"Our aim in all our work should be to keep faith with those who carried the torch before us, and to catch something of their splendid spirit," Rev. H. R. Howden, newly-appointed rector of St. John's Anglican Church, Lakefield, told his parishioners. "What we need, as we begin our work in St. John's Church, Lakefield, together, is the same love of God and His church, which the builders of this church had in their hearts," Rev. Mr. Howden concluded.

Mr. Howden spoke at a reception which was held by the members of St. John's Anglican Church in the Parish Hall here on Tuesday evening, in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Howden.

The reception, which was held from 8 to 10 p.m. on Tuesday evening took the form of an informal congregational gathering where members of the congregation met and mingled with their new pastor, his wife, and Rev. Howden's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Howden of Peteborough.

Magistrate O. A. Langley, who has been a member of the parish for many years, extended words of welcome to Rev. and Mrs. Howden, on behalf of the congregation. He said he felt the congregation had made a splendid choice when they chose Rev. Howden as their rector, because of his high scholastic as well as personal qualifications.

"I have been thinking this evening of the past, of the men and women who, several generations ago, labored and struggled to make possible this beautiful, old structure in which we are now gathered together. I cannot but feel that a great deal of love and devotion went into this work, And, as I think of our present task, it seems to me that our aim in all our work should be to keep faith with those who have carried the torch before us, and to catch something of their splendid spirit. We are bound to have difficulties, but they will not be as great as those which the builders of this church faced.

vided by martial law at Eger, Sudeten stronghold where officers encountered machine-gun fire as they tried to capture a sniper in Victoria Hotel.

The courts were empowered to impose death sentences to be executed within two hours. Both Eger and Schwaderbach, where bitter fighting took place yesterday, were quiet save for military patrols early this morning.

The temper of the Sudeten district next to Germany was high, as extremists among the 3,500,000 Sudeten population kept up their clamor for union for Germany.

Lists of casualties in numerous clashes were appearing in newspapers.

No More Negotiating.

Sudeten-Czechoslovak negotiations for peaceful settlement had broken down. The attitude of Germany seemed, in the Government view, more menacing. Konrad Henlein, the Sudeten leader, angered by the deaths of his party members, was in no mood to re-open the discussions.

The mission of Viscount Runciman, unoffical British negotiator, seemed for the moment to have been frustrated in its efforts to bring the disputants back to the council table.

The meeting between Adolf Hitler and Prime Minister Chamberlain at Berchtesgaden, it was felt here, might hold out an 11th hour hope for peace. But officials of Prague wondered whether more sacrifices on the part of Czechoslovakia might be asked as a result of the conversations.

Among the Czech population and in Government circles there appeared the stiffest opposition to any concession which would affect national security.

The Czechs recalled that their mountain salient often has been called a "fortress built by God," and military authorities pointed out that the present natural frontier—the same as the borders of the ancient Bohemian kingdom—was the most feasible for defence against any aggression from the West (Germany).

"The last obstacle to a German thrust to the East," military experts called the Sudeten range.

"Once an invader is past the mountains it is just a goosestep to the Black Sea," said one officer.

The Government also opposed with determination any plebiscite in the Sudeten region to allow the Germanic population to vote on secession to Germany.

In the municipal elections last spring Sudeten German party candidates swept the German districts with large majorities. It was also pointed out that it would be impossible to grant a plebiscite without first making constitutional changes.

Fighting the Worst Yet

Yesterday's fighting with machine-guns, hand grenades and tanks, besides rifles and pistols, was severest at Eger and Schwaderbach.

Sudeten headquarters also told of a battle at Haberspirk with from 10 to 15 Czech gendarmes dead and probably a similar number of Sudetens. But the government denied this report and said all was quiet after "warm" fighting. Four were killed, the government said.

The government was concerned because it said there were indications an organized rebellion had been attempted with arms that probably had been brought from "abroad."

At Schwaderbach the government said the action was against 2,000 Sudetens who moved in from German soil and launched a successful attack upon the gendarmerie station.

Late last night the authorities announced the reoccupation of the town. The Sudetens had retired into Germany, it was said, however, taking 40 captured Czech gendarmes with them.

Government reports did not give definite figures on casualties in the action, but private reports said 11 died.

Czechoslovak police told of occupying the Sudeten Germany party regional headquarters at Eger, three miles from the German line, and capturing a quantity of arms and machine-guns of German manufacture after a battle with machine-guns and armored cars.

(A correspondent for Reuters News Agency, telegraphing to London said he had seen the battle and that six persons, including a woman, were killed in the four-hour street fight that ended early today.

(Two Sudeten German newspapermen were among the killed. The scene was "like a town in wartime," he said, with the Sudetens being hunted from house to house after having been routed from their hotel.)

Government figures divided the total casualties n three days of fighting as follows: 13 Czechoslovaks, policemen and soldiers; 10 Sudetens. Wounded were said to total 75.

glo-Italian relations. Next he sent Viscount Halifax to see Hitler, although Anthony Eden was then Foreign Secretary.

Hitler's Career a Contrast.

Point for point, Hitler's career presents a contrast to Chamberlain's, especially in the fact that few details of the German Fueher's life have massed world-wide publicity.

His birth, schooling, youth and impoverished attempts to become an artist—all in Austria—were obscure and humble. He was a corporal and dispatch carrier in the Great War.

But from youth he had strong political convictions from which grew, slowly at first but with overwhelming speed later, the National Socialist Party and its domination of all Germany.

He became Chancellor in 1933. Since then he and his party have lived in a white light of publicity with sensation following sensation—the Reichstag fire, Germany's rearmament, remilitarization of the Rhineland, scrapping of the Versailles Treaty, abandonment of the League of Nations membership, annexation of Austria, "protectorship" over Germans outside Germany.

Hitler is 49. He likes to talk and crate. His sharp dark eyes flash or brood in quick succession. He is shorter than Chamberlain, and built heavier. He wears the brown uniform of his party with highly polished boots. By reputation he is mobile, imaginative, poetically inclined.

High government circles were astonished at Mr. Chamberlain's move but appreciated the 11th-hour attempt to settle the Sudeten German quesion.

German newspapers displayed Chamberlain's and Hitler's exchange of telegrams in boldface type beside accounts of "further murders in Czechoslovakia."

Hitler's mouthpiece, the Voelkischer Beobachter, said: "In this hour it seems as if, outside the Central European area, despite all incitements and despite primitive instincts for power, a better judgment begins to dawn."

Rotary Carnival At Campbellford

CAMPBEELFORD, Sept. 15. — Receipts of the Rotary Carnival exceeded those of last year according to officials of that organization whose annual Carnival attracted many people to Campbellford on Tuesday evening. President Harold Neal expressed keen satisfaction at the splendid response made by citizens to this annual drive, saying that the augmented funds would go a long way in the club's work on behalf of the underprivileged children. Bearing adequate testimony to the work of Rotarians was the exhibition given by a Peterborough girl whose dancing provided at attraction for all. Crippled since birth, Lenore Gordon, 12, chose this method of showing her appreciation to Rotarians through whose financial assistance the use of her limbs was restored.

Unrelenting War Against Communism Urged By Quebec Catholic Workers

Thetford Mines, Que., Sept. 15. (C.P.). AN unrelenting war by the Quebec Government against Communism is sought by the National Federation of Catholic Workers.

Concluding their 17th Annual Congress here last night, leaders of large Catholic French-Canadian Labor Organizations pressed for continued action by Premier Maurice Duplessis and his Union Nationale Government against the spread of "red" propaganda in Quebec.

Another proposal suggesting adoption by Ottawa of a measure similar to Quebec's "padlock law" was tabled for further study by the Federation Executive after Secretary Gerard Picard of Quebec said the motion was "perhaps untimely."

Free Lumberjack After Year III

MONTREAL, Sept. 15—(CP). — Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure today ordered Alfred Chagnon, 34-year-old lumberjack convicted last winter of attempted murder, returned to his parents at Mont Laurier, Que., in the Laurentian hills.

Weak from long illness, Chagnon wept as he leaned on crutches in the prisoner's dock and heard the judge free him with a sentence of "time in jail."

Chagnon was found guilty of trying to shoot Dr. Gustave Roy, Mont Laurier physician whom he blamed for failure of a fractured leg to heal properly, last October. He had been too ill since his trial last February to appear for sentence.

"You have spent nearly a year in custody," the judge said today. "I consider that justice will be served by returning you to your parents."

Chagnon told the court the revolver he pointed at the doctor was not in working order and that he just wanted to "frighten" the physician.

Workmen's Compensation Act Described By John Harold Greatest Social Legislation

Compensation Board Head Addresses Meeting In Collegiate Auditorium

Workmen's Compensation Act was lauded as the greatest piece of social legislation in the history of the province by John Harold, chairman of the Compensation Board addressing upwards of 400 safety first representatives from local industries and factory heads at a meeting in the Collegiate Auditorium Wednesday night.

The speaker paid tribute to the late Justice Meredith who in his wisdom emphasized the guiding principle of the act which is aimed at the avoidance of litigation and the bringing of swift justice to injured workmen and their dependants in the case of death. "Justice Meredith was a remarkable man and the Act as it stands today with but little change from the original is a great memorial to his genius," said Mr. Harold.

Aim To Prevent Accidents

"I feel at home talking to you tonight because we are one big family united for a comman purpose, namely the preventing of accidents said Mr. Harold. One can't help but appreciate the value of accident prevention associations when one looks over the claims as they come into the office, and see how distressing they are, then realizes that many such accidents will be prevented in the future by the educational work of your associations. It is very gratifying to hear that the Westclox plant has again passed a year without a single lost time accident.

I often feel too, he added, that we are overwhelmed by the responsibilities of our task. We are not always right, but we want to be. I can assure you that no worker who wanted a hearing was ever refused nor will they be in the future. Commonsense and sympathy are paramount in our minds when we tackle every claim. Time and again the Board has reconsidered cases. We try always to deal justly with all claims and to follow out the principle of the act in avoiding litigation, and I must remind you that under the act there are a great deal more awards made than would be if the process of law was followed.

Act Said Ideal

The speaker quoted prominent labor heads in the United States who at different times had emphatically declared that the Ontario Act was ideal. He made a comparison between the Ontario Act and one which was introduced in South Africa and handled through insurance companies, with government control. In the latter case one and a half million dollars was collected from industries and of this forty-five per cent was taken by the insurance companies to cover costs of administering the act. In Ontario ninety-five per cent of the money collected in assessments is paid out in awards and medical costs. "We are fortunate indeed in having the benefit of such an act," he said.

Twenty-four thousand employers pay assessments in Ontario and the Act is expanding all the time, the speaker explained. There is a staff of 160 people in the offices, 3,000 letters and 1,000 cheques are mailed every day and there are more than ten thousand drawing pensions at the present time.

Death of Woman Found Due Natural Causes

Harriet Reid, 71, died a natural death according to the findings of Dr. E. R. Frankish, medico-legal expert of the Attorney-General's Department, who performed an autopsy here last evening.

"Miss Reid died of natural causes," said the doctor, "and there is absolutely nothing to indicate otherwise," he added.

Dr. Frankish arrived in the city Wednesday afternoon, following a telephone communication between Dr. Herbert N. Young, coroner, who had noticed bruises on the head and hands of Miss Reid when he viewed the body in a local undertaking establishment. It was learned unofficially that a distant relative had first noticed the marks and contacted Dr. Young.

Post Mortem Marks.

Dr. Frankish in his remarks explained the bruises on the hands were post mortem marks, that is, marks which appear naturally in places on the skin after death. The bruise on the head was one which the woman might easily have inflicted herself while tossing in a bed and was not severe by any means.

Miss Reid has been a patient at the Ontario Mental Hospital in Whitby since October 14th, 1937, and her death took place there on Sunday last. Prior to that time she had been a resident at Anson House for many years. The obituary notice first run in this paper on September 12th recorded that Miss Reid had died at the Anson House, which was incorrect.

R. 6, Peterborough reported this morning that a car backing away from the platform at the C.P. R. station had collided with his car, doing minor damage. He did not know the name of the other driver. Britain Assured Dominions Will Back Her

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Sept. 15—(CP).—The United Kingdom is assured of the support of all the Dominions in case of any general conflagration, delegates to the British Commonwealth Relations conference declared today as discussion centred on the crisis in Europe.

British delegates to the unofficial and private conference were anxious to know what Britain could expect from the Dominions. Complete support of Australia and New Zealand would be forthcoming from those commonwealth countries, their representatives said.

Canadian delegates felt Canada could not remain neutral while South African and Irish delegates considered circumstances would force them into any world war on the side of Britain.

Opinion among the delegates differed as to whether South Africa and Ireland actually now had the right to neutrality if the United Kingdom became engaged in war. The fact they had not publicly informed foreign countries of such a change in their status was considered important in light of the rules of international law.

In a discussion of United States' relations with Britain, delegates agreed Britain has no plans or preparations which envisage the United States in any opposing combination of nations.

Several obstacles were seen, however, to closer co-operation between the United States and the United Kingdom and the British commonwealth. These included the United States tradition of isolation, the war debts question, sectional antipathy to England, suspicion of the foreign policy of the British national government, anti-American feeling and expression among Britishers and refusal of the British government to believe the American people would necessarily support the United States administration.

Suggested measures of co-operation were an arbitration treaty, settlement of war debts and a better British information service in the United States.

Chief To Be Held Responsible For Conduct Of Officers At Their Balls Or Functions

Attention of Council Called To Lack Of Proper Accommodations

Any sign of liquor at policemen's balls or other functions in future will cost Chief of Police Samuel Newhall and whoever else may be concerned their positions on the force, the police commission warned yesterday afternoon.

By the following resolutions passed at a special meeting the commission wound up the recent judicial inquiry into the city's police force and Chief of Police Samuel Newhall:

"That the chief constable be informed that this board holds him responsible for the conduct of members of the police force at their balls or other functions and that any repetition of previous conduct such as was brought out at the investigation held by His Honor Judge Deroche will be considered grounds for dismissal of himself and others involved.

"That the chief constable be informed that this board considers it his duty to see that confiscated liquor is disposed of as required by the Liquor Control Act when confiscation orders are made; and that the Crown Attorney be asked to call the attention of the magistrates who try cases under the Liquor Control Act to the necessity for making orders for confiscation of liquor and also to the necessity for such orders regarding seized slot machines and similar devices.

"That the attention of the city council be called to the need for additional accommodation in the police offices in order that their work can be carried on in a satisfactory manner, and that it be suggested that a representative of the council meet this board to consider the matter."

Judge Sheldon Smoke, Mayor James Hamilton, and Magistrate E. A. Gee heard Clerk S. Armstrong read Judge Deroche's findings on the evidence submitted to the inquiry before making any decision on a course of action. "In the Vincent matter I am inclined to believe that Judge Deroche gave the Chief all the benefit of the doubt in saying it was an error in judgment," Judge Smoke commented in the course of a discussion that followed. Magistrate Gee agreed with him.

Still discussing the Vincent episode, Judge Smoke said he did not see that the commission could do other than accept Judge Deroche's findings. "Is there anything we can do?" asked Mayor Hamilton. "Apparently not," was the answer. Mayor Hamilton wanted to know if Chief Newhall could not be instructed never to reduce charges again, but both members of the bar were agreed such action could not be taken.

The commission found charges in regard to Max Vincent, the policemen's ball, disposal of liquor, and lack of accommodation to be the most serious aspects for consideration. In regard to Constable William Clark's age—he was 38 when he joined the force—Judge Smoke said, "It was well known to the members of the police commission that Clark was over the age limit of 30 years but his qualifications were such that the extra age of eight years was not sufficient to make any difference in his case. My recollection is that if there had been a pension system in force it might have been a different thing, but there was not."

Disposal of liquor in the police station is the responsibility of the Chief of Police; said Judge Smoke. "In the evidence I see that he places the blame on Puffer. But he (Chief Newhall) should be made to understand that it is his responsibility."

The Chief Constable is responsible for the conduct of his officers at the policemen's ball and should know that the reputation of the city is suffering, was Judge Smoke's opinion.

WANGARATTA, Australia—(CP)—A councillor brought a wireless set to a meeting here and the third England-Australia test cricket match was "aired" while town business was being covered.

Duck Hunters Out As Dawn Breaks For First Hunt

WHILE Sudeten Germans and Czechoslovakians were busy this morning taking pot shots at one another with rifles and machine guns, marksmen in this district were out with the break of dawn shooting at other marks, with shotguns, and with less serious consequences.

For the duck shooting season opened today in this district and most of Peterborough's sportsmen crawled out of bed long before the first streak of light had lifted over the horizon. The season opened in the territory north of Highway No. 7 and hunters reported on their return that this season is going to be a good one for duck hunters.

Most returned with at least, two ducks to show for their trouble, few reached the quota of twelve for a single day. Black ducks were found to be most common.

Blame Is Laid On Magistrates

"Apparently the fault is with the magistrates rather than with our police," said Judge Sheldon Smoke Wednesday. He was speaking with regard to liquor which had lain about the police station for some time and much of which had disappeared.

The commission received a letter from Ald. G. N. Gordon, who pointed out that no orders for destruction of gambling devices now held at the station or liquor that has been seized, have been given by the Magistrates. No member of the commission could answer Mayor Hamilton when he asked why such orders were not given. Particularly did he wish that slot and slug machines be destroyed, since they occupy so much space and are no longer permitted to be installed.

When Chile Crushed Nazi

Federal troops are shown sniping at rebels in the Workmen's Insurance Bank (seen in background) at Santiago, Chile, during the short-lived uprising of National Socialist (Nazi) students and Labor followers of General Carlos Ibanez, former Chilean president-dictator. Federal troops used artillery to crush the revolt after a "state of siege" had been proclaimed. Thirty persons were killed and many injured before order was restored. General Ibanez was placed under arrest.

Playing With $97,000 Costs Year In Jail

MONTREAL, Sept. 15 — (CP). — Judge Jules Desmarais sentenced Allan A. Jones, 31-year-old brokerage clerk, today to one year in jail on a charge of conspiring with three other employees of Jenks, Gwynne and Company, New York stock brokerage firm, to steal $97,000.

Jones pleaded guilty to manipulating accounts and "playing" the stock market with money belonging to clients and to the company. He later testified at preliminary hearings of charges against the other three.

Charles A. Ashton and Ralph D. Tyler await jury trial next month on a similar charge, while Charles Deguise will be tried by a judge of the court of sessions.

FINED OLD TAXI

Does YOUR System Make Excess Acid?

Acid Indigestion, Colds, Headaches, Bilious Attacks, Constipation OFTEN START THIS WAY

Some people are what are known a acid-makers. They can't help it—and often they don't know it. The results of an excess of acid may seem just like ordinary stomach trouble — but they can't be put right by ordinary stomach remedies! Excess acid may be the reason why you wake up flat, sour, bleary-eyed, bilious — and the reason why fierce purgatives only leave you in the grip of a weakening habit and the same old symptoms.

But there's one thing that acid can't face. That's the neutralizing power of Vange Salts, the alkaline remedy with the natural mineral spa action. A teaspoonful in warm water surges through your system just like the medicinal spring water far away in England where Vange Salts come from. Excess acid is neutralized quickly, painlessly. Your blood is purified of poisons. Your sore stomach walls are soothed. And that mass of hard, poisonous waste matter lying in your intestines is softened gently, naturally, and passed out of your body. Then do you feel good! It's marvellous! But the most marvellous thing is that Vange Salts are only 60 cents a tin! At your druggist now—but if you're wise, on your bathroom shelf tonight!

A well dressed young man in a grey suit and about 20 years of age snatched a purse from Mary Coughlin, 20 High street, as she walked along Bethune street about eight-thirty last night and escaped. The purse contained about two dollars in change and a fountain pen.

According to the report Miss Coughlin was walking south on Bethune street, near King when the young man walked up behind her, snatched the white purse from under her arm and rushed in between two houses, disappearing. He did not show any violence. Miss Coughlin notified residents at 263 Bethune street who phoned police. The latter combed the district both on foot and in the police cruiser but were unable to find anyone meeting the description.

This is the first purse snatching case reported in the city this year and it is worth noticing that all other similar cases reported during the past three years have been in the same locality. Last fall two women successfully thwarted attempts to grab their purses on Aylmer street just south of King, and prior to that there was a successful theft of a purse on Bethune street.

Trent River Drops Its Fowl Supper

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TRENT RIVER, Sept. 15.—The Ladies' Aid held its September meeting last Wednesday in the church with an attendance of 25. The president, Mrs. Thomas J. Brown, was in charge.

The members decided to withdraw the annual fowl supper this year and will try to raise amounts through donations from the members equivalent to proceeds of the supper. A number of members made their contributions the day of the meeting. A bill from the parsonage committee was ordered paid. Cards sent to the sick were acknowledged. After business was dispersed with a quilting was held in the church dining hall and a ten cent lunch was served.

Orderly Runs Wild

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(A. P.)—Charles Callahan, an orderly of the Brooklyn Insane Hospital, was under arrest today charged with stealing an ambulance—freighted with two bodies consigned to the morgue. He was arrested last night at the end of a wild careening drive that terrified motorists and bystanders along 12 miles of Brookly Streets.

French Are Confident Their Famed Gaginot Line Will Hold

Confident that the famed Maginot line would check any possible invasion at the Franco-Prussian border, the French high command is pouring thousands of troops into the underground system of forts. Observers estimate that there are at least 2,000,000 men under arms facing the German frontier. Considering the Swiss border as one of the most likely points of attack, French troops are engaged in concentrated war manoeuvres at that point. A French machine-gun crew is shown, ABOVE, waiting for the "enemy." This crew, and hundreds of others like it, are now tensely awaiting developments as war clouds hover over Czechoslovakia. Bristling bayonets form an impressive background, BELOW, as French poilus march to take up their positions along the troubled borders.

WILLIAAM JAMES SCOTT

NORWOOD, Sept. 15.—A life long and highly esteemed resident of this community passed away at his home recently in the person of William James Scott, in his 73rd year

Deceased, though in poor health for some time, had been about the house as usual until about three weeks ago when he was suddenly seized wih a stroke of paralysis while visiting in Port Hope with his daughter, Mrs. Leo Cann. He was a son of the late Abraham Scott and Mrs. Scott, nee Mary Mackey, who were among the pioneer residents of Asphodel township. He spent his entire life in this township. The late Mr. Scott was born on the "Scott" homstead farm now occupied by Maxwell Brown and formerly by his brother, the late R. A. Scott.

Forty-three years ago, October, 1895, he married Luella Jane Buck, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Buck. For over a quarter century they lived on their own farm in Asphodel and owing to ill health retired 16 years ago to live on the Hastings road.

Of a kindly and quiet disposition, he was held in highest regard by everyone and was friend to all. He leaves a wide circle of friends in both communities where he lived, who mourn the loss of one who held a warm place in their hearts.

The late Mr. Scott was a member of Norwood United church and the former Methodist church. He served on the official board as trustee of the church for many years, though the last years he was unable to take an active part. He was deeply interested in the good and welfare of the community.

He was an ardent orangeman since a young man, being a member of the Belmont Orange Lodge No. 277, and an honorary member since 1936. He took a prominent part having been primary master, secretary for ten years, district master and county master for two years. Although he had taken no active part in the last few years, his interest was strong in the society. The members of L.O.L. No. 277, Belmont, were joined by members of other lodges for a very impressive service at the graveside. He was also a member of the Black Preceptory R.B.P. 311 at Norwood also trustee and secretary-treasurer for nine years of Donegal public school.

Besides his wife he is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Howard J Ford (May), Norwood; Mrs. Leo Cann (Verna), Port Hope and Miss Evelyn Scott of Peterborough. One sister, the late Mrs. Maxwell Brown (Maggie), predeceased him a number of years ago and his brother, the late R. A. Scott, over a year ago.

A large number of relatives, friends and neighbors gathered at the family residence to participate at the funeral service conducted by the Rev. M. I. Robinson assisted by Rev. J. U. McIntosh. The hymns read were "Abide With Me" and "Now the Labourers' Task is O'er." Interment was made at Norwood cemetery.

MORE ABOUT—

Compensation Act

Responsibility On Board

"If a worker in certain lines of business is injured and his employer has not been covered by compensation, the Board must pay the claim if application is made according to the Act, he said, and went on to show that the Act places the responsibility for assessing all such employers on the Board, thus giving workman protection even when their employer might be dodging the paying of his assessment as set forth in the Compensation Act.

We are empowered to penalize employers who by indifference or ignorance neglect accident hazards, but I cannot understand the viewpoint of any employer who would deliberately neglect to correct any hazard that endangers the health or safety of his employees. He loses money by so doing and I cannot conceive how any employer can be successful if he neglects accident prevention," he declared. The speaker also explained that the Board must always consider the employer in their administration so as not to work a hardship on him, and perhaps force him out of business by unduly large assessment.

Acts As Judge And Jury

J. H. Vernor, manager of the Western Clock Company and past president of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association introduced the speaker. He paid tribute to Mr. Harold's qualities as a business man and as a keen student of human nature and outlined a few of the responsibilities which rested on the shoulders of the three men comprising the Board.

"The Board acts as judge and jury on all claims and administrates trust funds totalling over 25 millions of dollars," said Mr. Vernor, the earnings from which maintains the widows and orphans of those killed or maimed in industry. The money is raised by assessing the industries on the basis of past accidents. They are charged with the promotion of accident prevention work and numerous other duties. He expressed pleasure at seeing so many women in the audience.

Central Ontario Branch

The meeting was arranged by the executive of the newly formed Central Ontario branch of the Industrial Accident Prevention Association, which includes the counties of Victoria, Haliburton, Durham, Ontario, Peterborough, Hastings, Lennox-Addington, Northumberland and Prince Edward and the president, W. L. Ferguson of the Brinton Carpet Company was chairman at the meeting. He first introduced R. B. Morley, general manager of the I.A.P.A. who explained reason for such meetings as was being held.

"Industrial Accident Prevention Associations were formed in the belief that it is better to prevent an accident than pay out compensation money," said Mr. Morley. "Money does not begin to compensate for loss of life or limb but it helps those maimed or the dependents. We intend to hold several meetings where suggestions and ideas will be exchanged and fewer accidents are certain to result. We hope to bring accident prevention work out into the open, discuss it at meetings so that you may take the ideas back into the shop and put them into use.

Besides those already mentioned there were on the platform T. Norman Dean, statistician on the Compensation Board, D. G. H. Melton, secretary of the Central Ontario organization, and two old friends of the chief speaker who had known him in Paris before they moved to Peterborough. These two were Judge Sheldon Smoke and the Rev. George S. Easton.

A warm vote of thanks to the chief speaker of the evening Mr. Harold was voiced by G. A. Gillespie and seconded by J. J. Turner, and the audience showed marked appreciation of the speech in their response. They also warmly applauded Maurice Park who sang "The March of the Cameron Men" with Martin Chenhall, A.R.C.O. at the piano.

YOU GET WHAT YOU LIKE and LIKE WHAT YOU GET

If your Child Can't Build Up As He Should:—

If your child presents a problem like the one above, by all means get acquainted with Ovaltine. For the addition of this remarkable food-drink to his daily diet may mark a turning point in his life—as it has done in so many similar cases.

For example, one delighted mother, Mrs. Agnes Phillips, writes:—"My two boys were frail and underweight. Then two months ago I began giving them Ovaltine—and I wish you could see them now. In those two months, my youngest boy went from 49 to 65 pounds. And his older brother went from 60 to 76 pounds. You may be sure I'll never be without Ovaltine in my house after this."

This letter deals, of course, with one individual experience. We cannot predict that the same results will follow in every case when Ovaltine is given. But, this letter is so typical of thousands received, that we feel a fair trial of Ovaltine is justified for every child who is slow in building up and tends to be underweight.

You simply give Ovaltine mixed with milk—either hot or cold—and children love its delicious taste. Get a large-sized tin today—and accept free offer at right!

THE NEXT day Betsy seemed much better. But Noel still felt that Julian should see her. She hadn't any idea how she would manage it as yet, but consoled herself with the thought that a way would present itself. If she had to, she would wait until midnight when she was sure the household would be asleep, then slip down the back stairs with the child.

When Sunday came, Betsy was so much better, Noel decided it would be safe to leave her for a little while. There were many things Noel had in mind to do. But she didn't intend to stay away from eBtsy long. She planned to be back with her by 7 that evening. She also decided that she wouldn't wait any longer to take her to Julian's office. This would be as good a chance as she would have to telephone Julian that she was coming, and to make arrangements to have a taxi waiting not too near the house. She thought by 10 the household would be asleep. But if not, she would wait longer.

Since reading the announcement of Julian's engagement, Noel had tried to keep from thinking of him. But it was hard to do. People who dream wake up, she told herself stoically. She had lost. Ruth Chester had won. If she (Noel) hadn't been prepared to face this fact, she should have been. She certainly had had sufficient forewarning. But always when the thought of Julian came, she was conscious of a hard knot of pain in her heart, and that the foolish tears were close behind her eyes.

At half past 3 Noel took a cab and went out to Jimmy's house. The door was opened by a heavy set, dark-browned woman in a neat house dress. Jimmy's mother, of course. Noel was glad Jimmy wasn't there. She hadn't any idea how his mother would take what she had come here to tell her, and was relieved that Jimmy wouldn't be a witness to the conversation.

In answer to Noel's request to see her for a moment, Mrs. Delevan said she couldn't imagine why, in a rather curt voice.

"A matter of business," Noel said, and plugged right straight to the point. "You exacted a promise from your son that he should never marry until after your death," she began.

The woman stiffened. "And what is that to you?" she demanded coldly.

"Just this. I'm here to find out if you would release Jimmy from his promise if you were guaranteed a sum of money which would make it possible for you to live luxuriously, say in a nice hotel, for the rest of you life."

Jimmy's mother stared at her "Are you crazy?"

"I'm quite sane," Noel said with a smile. "I'll give you the check now. You'll find you can cash it. The only condition is that you tell Jimmy he can marry when he pleases and any girl he pleases. You can name the amount."

Mrs. Delevan still stared at Noel as if she believed she had recently escaped from an asylum for the insane, but she wasn't the type of woman to skip any bets. So she said promptly, "Ten thousand dollars."

"I'll make it $20,000," Noel said. She took a checkbook and fountain pen from her bag, and wrote out the check.

Then she said, "Remember you are to release Jimmy from his promise at once."

The next place Noel went was to Maida's, who lived a few blocks from Mrs. Blarsom's on Court street.

The house was a tenement, badly in need of paint and repairs. It was an awful place, and appeared to be leaning to one side, threatening to collapse at any moment from sheer weariness and neglect.

Noel climbed two flights of rickety stairs, hearing babies cry, voices raised in quarrels amid the clatter of pots and pans, and the squeak of a cheap radio.

Maida came to the door. "Why, Noel!" she exclaimed in surprise. She was interrupted by a rather shrill voice: "Mom, mom, that's the lady what give me the tenner."

Noel recognized the little boy who sold papers on the corner from the Garwood house. She smiled, "Why, you're Joey," she said. "I didn't know you were Maida's son."

Maida was looking at Noel timidly, a flush on her thin face. "You hadn't ought to have given him so much money, Noel, though we sure did need it. You see, Nick fired me. I just got so tired, didn't have any pep, I guess."

"Don't you worry about that," Noel comforted her. Then she told her that she and Joey were to get ready for a month's vacation somewhere in the country. Any place she wanted to go. She pulled out her checkbook, while little Joey danced around in high glee. "The country—oh, mom, can you believe that?"

"But, Noel, can you—I mean ought you—I can't let you do it," she finished unhappily, her eyes hungrily on the check.

"You can't help yourself," Noel told her happily. Then went on to say that when Maida and Joey came back, there'd be a nice school for Joey and a little home somewhere with a garden perhaps and maybe a cow or two and some chickens. And Joey would have his bicycle and there'd be some money coming in every month, and all their hard times would be over.

Maida was crying now, timidly, heart-breakingly. "Honestly, Noel, I—don't know what to say. How can you do all this when you—you're poor too?"

"Maybe I've come into a fortune," Noel told her as she left. She felt as if she had come into a fortune for the first time in her life. Noel decided as she walked up Court and turned down a cross street to get to Madison.

When she was nearing the Medical Arts which she had to pass on her way to get a bus out to Belvedere, she suddenly found herself facing Ruth Chester. This was the first time she had seen her when she was not in her uniform. She was wearing a summer frock of raspberry red organdy and a white felt hat trimmed in the same color of velvet ribbon was pulled down low over her dark curls. There was something about this color which seemed to give her hair and eyes a sort of rich purplish light. There wasn't any doubt about it—Ruth Chester was beautiful.

To Noel's surprise, she saw that Ruth was slowing up—that she intended to stop. Then they were standing there together in front of the Medical Arts. However, Ruth just looked at Noel in silence, a light of triumph in her eyes.

Finally Noel said, trying to keep her voice light, "I hear congratulations are in order?"

Ruth Chester smiled. "I suppose you'll go to Europe and join your friends now, won't you? Most people know who you are anyway."

"Oh, I don't know," Noel answered nonchalantly and would have passed on, but the nurse stopped her. "I told you Julian Paige would never marry you," she said with a sort of angry emphasis. "He was interested in you slightly, but you never had a chance in the world. That's the one thing Julian would never do—marry a rich girl. You've no idea how many society girls have been after him."

"I have an idea," Noel said coldly, and added, "also a few working girls as well.' With that, she walked on.

Noel supposed Ruth Chester was going to Julian's office. They probably expected to have dinner together. Well, let them. Julian had made his choice, hadn't he? But anyway, Noel stopped and telephoned Julian, telling him that she was bringing the child to him tonight. He promised her that he would wait until she came. His voice sounded queerly restrained, Noel thought. And she wondered if it was only her imagination.

She went back to the Garwood house then. Betsy seemed as well as she had been. But Noel thought this might be her very best chance to take her to Julian, so she went on with her plans.

The minutes seemed to drag by, but at last it was 10, and the house was still. Noel knew the taxi would be waiting. So she awakened the sleeping child, put a light wrap around her and they started down the backstairs.

But just before they reached the street, Noel was seized and blindfolded. She heard a little cry from Betsy—then nothing more.

The Fixer

LEBANON, O., Sept. 15.—(A. P.).—Principal J. C. Vain of the Lebanon High School told his wife not to bother calling the plumber—he would fix the clogged drain himself. He inserted a wire. It stuck. He removed the drain pipe cap and inserted his finger. The finger stuck, too. An hour later a plumber released him. Then the plumber fixed the drain pipe.

Women Who Marry Their Opportunities Instead of Their Preferences Are The Ones Who Are Unhappy—Girls Should Be Allowed to Propose if They Want To

DEAR MISS DIX—Has a woman the same right to propose matrimony to the one she wants for a mate as a man has? Why should a girl have to sit around and wait for some boy to happen to notice her instead of going out after him and getting him if she can? Why haven't women the right to pick out their husbands just as men pick out their wives? I have asked a lot of girls what they think about this and some say "No," they would never propose to a boy, but these very girls have used all sorts of wiles and flattery to catch the attention of boys. So why haven't they the courage to pop the question and finish up what they have started?

INQUISITIVE GIRL.

ANSWER:

I don't know. Perhaps it is because women are more afraid of Mrs. Grundy than they are of anything else on earth. For nothing but a convention prevents them from taking an active instead of a passing part in courtship and proposing to the men they want for husbands instead of taking what they can get.

I do not think that there is anything else so strange as that women have fought for political freedom until they got it; they have fought for a right to an education until they got it; they have fought for a right to go ino the business and professional world on equal terms with men, but they have never raised a finger to fight for the greatest right of all—the right to choose their mates. And, compared with the right to select the kind of a man you want for a husband and the father of your children, the right to vote, or take a college degree, or hold down a job is a poor right, indeed.

I believe that nothing would do more to do away with divorce and promote the general happiness in marriage than for women to be just as free to propose marriage to men as men are to women. I believe that women are wiser in love than men are, and that there would be fewer foolish marriages if they did the picking.

This is proved by the fact that women are not influenced by a man's looks as men are by women's. Very few girls would marry brainless little jelly beans just because they had Greek profiles and permanently waved hair, yet every day we see men marrying Dumb Doras just because they have pretty faces.

Nor would we see the sorry spectacle of many rich old women buying boy husbands, nor widows with half a dozen young children picking out boys in their teens to be suitable stepfathers for them. Yet men commit these matrimonial blunders every day.

Furthermore, if every woman got the man she wanted she would be happy and contented, and a contented wife is a good wife. She is on her tiptoes to please her husband and is satisfied with what he can give her. It is the women who have married their opportunities instead of their preferences who are the peevish, discontented wives who take out on their unfortunate husbands their frustration and disappointment.

I am strong for women popping the question, and I urge them to go to it and to use all their salesmanship, just as men do in similar cases, to make the men they want see what good wives they would make and what a good thing they will miss if they don't marry them. We will have more and better marriages when women propose.

* * * * * * *

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a young man of 23, a university graduate with a good job. All my friends are either married or are going to be married soon and they virtually kill themselves trying to rush me into marriage, but I am not ready for it. In business I have learned that success depends on cutting your risk as much as possible, and I intend to do the same thing in marriage by not considering a girl under 23, as my observation is that girls before that are dumb and childish. I also feel that I am myself ignorant and babyish and that I will be at least 30 years old before I am ready financially, emotionally and intellectually to marry. In the light of your experience and knowledge, do you not think I am wise in waiting until I am 30 and then marrying a girl over 23?

J. W. L.

ANSWER:

I think you are a second Solomon and that there would be very few unhappy marriages if all men and women did as you say, "cut the risk" of marriage by waiting until they are ready for it.

For what is at the bottom of marital discord? Quarrels between husbands and wives who married when they were so young that they did not know what they wanted in a husband or wife and who find when they are grown up that they bore each other to extinction because they have not a taste or thought in common.

What's the reason there are so many men who are sore and disgruntled over having to support families, and so many women who are complaining about being tied down by their children and the drudgery of housework? It is the boys and girls who married before they had had their play-time, before they were ready to settle down and who are begrudging their lost freedom. It is the young couples who married before they had enough money to support a home on and who are so nerve-wracked by trying to make ends meet that they have come virtually to hate each other.

And what starts both wives and husbands to philandering? Isn't it the men and women who have lost their taste for those they married when they were kids and who are seeking the companionship that their adult minds and hearts crave?

By the time a man is 30 and a woman is 23 they have come to themselves; they are what they are going to be; they know what they want in a husband or wife; they are ready to settle down. And when they marry they have a far better chance of happiness than they would have had if they had married when they were younger.

The Stars Say . . .

For Friday, September 16.

A rather contradictory state of affairs is read from the ruling sidereal operations, with some promise of progress and the removal of old obstructions or congestions. But these may be accompanied by subtle, secretive or undercover transactions which may call for special shrewdness or wise manipulation. The mind will be found equal to such menacing situations. A change or journey may benefit or assist to stabilize doubtful predicaments.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year in which much may depend on their own clever and sagacious grasp of affairs, which seem beset by intrigue, collusion, deceit, or subtlety. The mentality should be found able to cope with such "sharp" or secretive traps, and old friends may be ready to co-operate.

A child born on this day may have a quick and able intellect, and may desire to explore unusual avenues of study and research, conferring with its elders on such exploits into the curious and perhaps fantastic.

GOODNIGHT STORY

By MAX TRELL

Little Dinah had taken her toy house out into the garden and set it on a low table. Then she opened the box which she had also brought out with her. And inside the box was all the toy furniture.

Hanid, the little girl's shadow (for the shadows of little girls have names, too), stood quietly at her feet watching her. Every time the little girl moved, her shadow moved in exactly the same way.

By and by Knarf came along. He was the shadow of the little girl's brother.

"H'mm!....mighty fine house you have here," he remarked. He stood looking at it admiringly with his "Knarf! You can't do that!"

"You can't do that, Knarf!" Hanid quickly said. "It's not for rent. No one can live in it. It's a toy house."

"But I like it. It's just the right size for me."

"Oh, I can make myself the right size without any trouble. Look!" With that the shadow boy pulled himself together until he was the size of a little pencil. Then he gave a hop, and hopped into the first room of the house.

Will Get Into Trouble.

Knarf didn't pay any attention to what she said. He just stood in the middle of the room and looked carefully at the furniture which the little girl had just put in. There were lots of pieces: An ice box, a stove, a sink, a pantry with shelves for pots and pans and dish closet. Then he went up to the bedroom.

"I feel a little tired," he said. "I'll just lie down in this bed and take a nap."

So he stretched himself out on the little bed and closed his eyes.

"Knarf. You can't do that! It isn't your bed!" he heard Hanid saying. But he just smiled. He was on th point of falling fast asleep when—thump! The bed was overturned and he rolled right out of the house. The next moment the little girl took all the furniture out and put it back in the box. The beautiful house was empty. The little girl had finished playing, you see.

Poor Knarf!

South Cavan Rural School Fair Has Nine Schools Participating

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Sept. 15. — The twenty-seventh annual South Cavan Rural School Fair, the second in this season's list for Durham County, which was held at Millbrook on Tuesday, met with the same measure of success which is always accorded this event; exhibits being, as usual, high in quality, and the attendance of parents and friends satisfactory, considering the fact that little advertising of the fair date was done in advance.

The parade of the individual schools, which opened the afternoons program, was a colorful affair, the bright caps and sashes worn and the gay banners carried, together with the precision in marching as the central oval was circled twice, bringing repeated bursts of applause from the grand stand. The schools participating, with their teachers were: Millbrook Public School, No. 11, Principal B. B. Dawson, Misses Jean L. Burnham and Betty Montgomery; Whitfield's No. 8. Lists of the boys from whom Erban Oats may be obtained, 25 bushels of which grain for seed had been given to an equal number of boys last year, and who now have 1,500 to 2,000 bushels for sale, were handed out by Mr. Summers to the adult farmers as they went into the building to see the exhibits indoors; also of the boys who have been given 50 bushels of Cartier Oats, a bushel to each boy this year, and who may now have a few bushels to dispose of, the variety having proved an excellent one for yield and growth. This work has been done in connection with the Boys' Seed Judging Competition, and has given good results.

Eaton Trophy, a handsome silver plate, and with two valuable books as second and third awards, for the pupils having highest standing in total number of points at the Fair, will be given out at the end of the School Fair Circuit, when a thorough check-up of all figures has been made. Widow Suicides

Underground Telephone Centre

The danger of a European war is being brought home to peaceful Switzerland as French troops stage manoeuvres and strengthen their defences on the Franco-Swiss border. The French high command considers this point most likely to be attacked should war break out over the German-Czech dispute. An underground telephone centre is shown here. Note the relief operators sleeping in the foreground.

Congress Unity Be Discussed

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Sept. 15.—(A. P.). —Delegates to the Convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada assembled today for what was expected to be the most important session of their meeting. Question of unity was the main item of the agenda.

Forty-six resolutions urging Congress unity have been submitted to the resolutions committee for action. No one was sure at the start of proceedings whether the committee would frame a single covering resolution or whether they would all be ruled unconstitutional.

The unity resolutions hinge around presence in the Congress of Committee for Industrial Organization Unions whose corresponding unions in the United States had their charters revoked at last year's American Federation of Labor Convention in Denver. Most of the unions in the Congress are A. F. of L. affiliates but there are about as many delegates here from C. I. O. Unions as those with A. F. of L. attachments.

The executive council report, tabled Monday, placed on this year's convention the task of dealing with the question. At Ottawa last year, the Congress decided to maintain the status quo and offer to mediate the A. F. of L.—C. I. O. dispute.

Shortly afterward the American C. I. O. Unions' charters were revoked but the situation in Canada has been unchanged since then.

Delegates who earlier in the week could see nothing but a bitter clash were not so sure now there would be one. Their optimism is based on the loud applause evoked by every mention of untiy.

37-Inch Mushroom

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Sept. 15 (CP)—Add this to your list of believe-it-or-not items: A mushroom 37 inches in diameter, found on Frank Silcox' farm at Iona. To prove the umbrella-like vegetable was no myth, it was placed on exhibition here.

Midway Secured Campbellford Fair

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 15.—Announcement was made, at a meeting of the Seymour Agricultural Society at which final arrangements were completed for the Fall Fair on September 28 and 29, that officials had been successful in their negotiations to have a midway at the fair. Appreciation of the Fair Board was expressed to N. A. McColl who it was made known was offering a silver cup to the owner of the best foal exhibited in the Foal Club.

It was also announced that a Kiltie Band would be in attendance at the fair to add to the long list of attractions already arranged and which it was felt would make this year's attendance climb above previous figures.

Further improvements and alterations being made to accommodations for showing horses were left with the property committee.

Need Bigger Jail

COCHRANE, Ont., Sept. 15. — (CP).—Reports that the district jail at Haileybury is seriously overcrowded have revived rumors that the province will consider erecting a second district prison here. Last week-end Haileybury jail had 119 prisoners in 32 cells.

Searching For Key

There's something symbolic about this photo, showing Viscount Halifax, British foreign minister, searching for the right key to the door of the foreign office when he arrived for a discussion on the German-Czech situation. The viscount, as well as other masterminds of British diplomacy, have been seeking the magic key to unlock the door of lasting peace in Europe. But so far without success.

Hunter—Mintz

A quiet September wedding was solemnized in the Pentecostal Mission at Gooderham, Rev. G. A. Chambers of Peterborough officiating, when Gladys Violet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mintz, was united in marriage to Alderidge John, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hunter of Gooderham. The wedding march was played by Mrs. S. S. Hadley, and the church was decorated with evergreens, dahlias and gladioli.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was becoming.y gowned in white crepe and net. Her veil was caught with orange blossoms, and she carried a bouquet of American beauty roses and fern.

She was attended by her sister Dorothy, of Peterborough, and the groomsman was Ronald Hunter, brother of the groom. Miss Dorothy Mintz wore a dress of navy sheer.

After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hunter. The bride's mother wore a brown flowered ensemble, and the groom's mother wore blue crepe.

Huycke—Fitchett

WARKWORTH, Sept. 15.— A very pretty wedding took place on September 10 at 2.30 o'clock in Morganston United Church when Mary Bernice, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Fitchett of Morganston, became the bride of Edward Huycke, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Huycke of Warkworth. The church was beautifully decorated with autumn flowers and evergreens. Rev. M. L. Hinton officiated. Miss Helen Darling played the wedding march.

The bride, whose father gave her in marriage, looked lovely in a graceful gown of pink silk net over satin with a finger-tip veil. She carried a bouquet of pink and white roses.

Miss Edith Huycke, cousin of the bride, was her only attendant. She was gowned in blue net over taffeta with a coronet of pink flowers and and shoulder veil, and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Blair Huycke, cousin of the groom, was groomsman, and the ushers were Harold Fitchett, brother of the bride, and Glen Carr.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where about sixty guests were served a dainty luncheon by eight waitresses: Marion Huycke, Clara Huycke, Mrs. Glenn Carr, Marguerite Fitchett, Clara Findall, Doreen Sharpe, and Marjorie and Muriel Gooderich.

The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful necklace and lovely gifts were presented to the other attendants.

Later, the bride and groom left for a motor trip to Ottawa and points north, the bride travelling in a dress of navy sheer, with coat, hat and accessories to match. On their return they will reside on a farm near Warkworth.

You Eat Silver And Like It!

Did you know that when you eat the little round silver sweet the confectioner uses to decorate cakes you are actually eating pure silver? asks a writer in a London daily newspaper.

Silver is melted into ingots, rolled by machinery to an extreme thinness, then beaten till it is as delicate as a cobweb.

The silver "leaves" are trimmed square, and it is these trimmings which look like "silver paper" that are used quite safely for coating sweetmeats.

College Clothes

The clothes for school or college are simpler in appearance than those of "outside life." It is wise for the college girl to postpone stocking up on her wardrobe until she is in college and learns what the other girls are wearing, for college clothes are a bit different from those worn in the home town, perhaps more casual ,perhaps more classical.

In this day of ready-made, it is possible to buy to advantage at the college shops which cater to college girls of medium and low budgets and offer acceptable garments at attractive prices. Most college girls would prefer two "cute" and cheap dresses to one such quality dress as mother might select.

New English Flower

Yorkshire, England, has developed a flower unlike any other in the world. It is an accidental cross between a dahlia and a scabious and has the characteristics of both. It was first seen three years ago in Mr. Frank Atkinson's garden at Pateley Bridge, and since then the blooms have increased in size and splendor till now this new flower is singularly fine.

It is very large and has bright red petals surrounding a centre of tightly packed miniature trumpets with yellow stamens. It grows about 18 inches high. About 100 plants have been reared from the original freak flower.

Beauty Hints

Using two shades of powder is no more expensive than using one, as two boxes last twice as long.

Several beauty parlors are advising clients to dust a light shade over a darker one. It gives a nice transparent look to the skin, which can't be achieved with one powder.

Healthy hair looks better and sets better. If yours is dull and dry looking, or perhaps too oily, you'll be repaid a thousandfold if you treat it to regular brushing.

Use a stiff bristled brush and start from the nape of the neck and brush upwards to the crown rhythmically. Continue this upward movement all round until the scalp tingles.

Teeth And Diet

Of 3,463,948 elementary school children in England and Wales whose teeth were examined in 1936 no fewer than 2,425,299 were found to require dental treatment.

More than half a million permanent teeth were extracted, and more than 1,000,000 were filled. The figures represented an increase on those for the previous year.

Teeth to be kept in condition, must be given plenty of work to do, says Sir Leonard Hill, the eminent medical authority, commenting on the above facts. This calls for a regular supply of hard, crunchy foods which strengthen and cleanse the teeth and aid digestion. Further, children must, from the earliest stages, eat food, containing an adequate amount of bone-forming and "growth" vitamins.

Do You Know?

You can prevent the pricking of your fingers when mending gloves if you first put the finger into a thimble and then into the glove? Gloves of leather or skin should be mended with cotton threat, never with silk?

✧ ✧ ✧

If you wear old cotton gloves with the fingers cut off when you iron it will keep your hands free of callouses, and prevent some of the heat from getting to your hands?

✧ ✧ ✧

A few drops of oil of lavender in a basin of steaming hot water in the room where fish is cooked will remove the odor?

Pearls To Match Her Name

On Princess Margaret's eighth birthday recently the King gave her three fine pearls chosen by himself. For the past three years he has given his daughter pearls as a birthday gift—two or three each year.

The pearls he selects are all carefully graduated. His idea is that they shall all be kept by the Princess, so that by the time she is 18 she will have a fine string of matched pearls.

He has promised her that when she reaches 18 he will have the pearls properly strung for her and fitted with a diamond clasp.

Margaret means "a pearl" in language of names.

Lipsticks to Cartridge Cases

MELBOURNE, Australia. — Australian women need no longer feel that lipstick is a useless luxury. The Minister of Defense, Mr. Thorby, has told them that they are helping to maintain a value defense auxiliary. A factory which now manufactures brass lipstick containers will be converted for the production of cartridge cases in the event of a war time emergency.

Mr. Thorby was answering critics who complained that the government was proceeding with a hush-hush policy in organizing secondary industry for the production of war material. He quoted the lipstick-cartridge plan as only one example of what was being done.

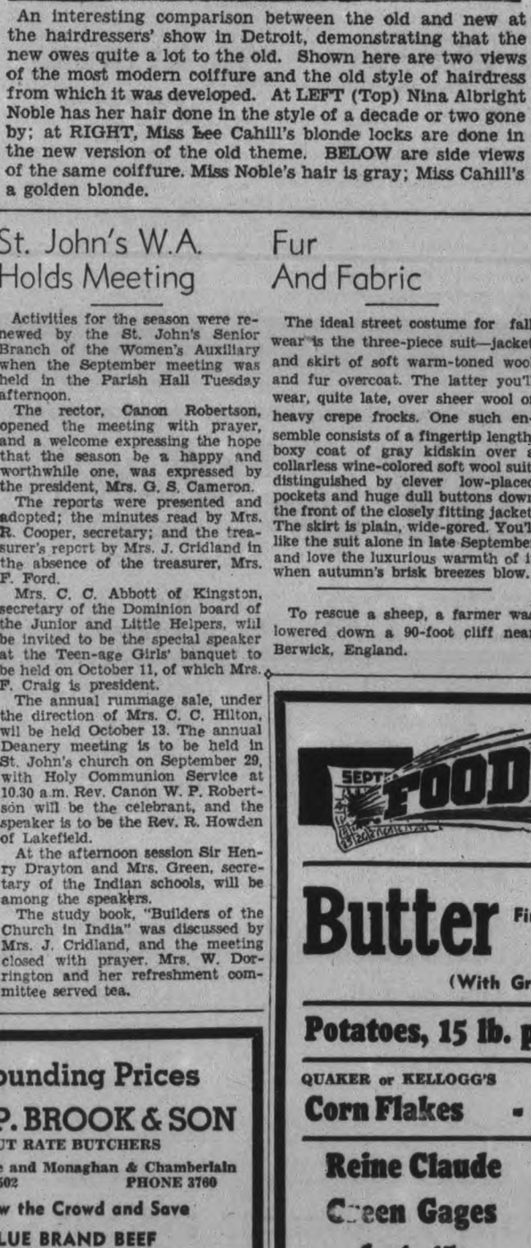
Hairdressers Produce New Coiffure



An interesting comparison between the old and new at the hairdressers' show in Detroit, demonstrating that the new owes quite a lot to the old. Shown here are two views of the most modern coiffure and the old style of hairdress from which it was developed. At LEFT (Top) Nina Albright Noble has her hair done in the style of a decade or two gone by; at RIGHT, Miss Lee Cahill's blonde locks are done in the new version of the old theme. BELOW are side views of the same coiffure. Miss Noble's hair is gray; Miss Cahill's a golden blonde.

St. John's W.A. Holds Meeting

Activities for the season were renewed by the St. John's Senior Branch of the Women's Auxiliary when the September meeting was held in the Parish Hall Tuesday afternoon.

The rector, Canon Robertson, opened the meeting with prayer, and a welcome expressing the hope that the season be a happy and worthwhile one, was expressed by the president, Mrs. G. S. Cameron.

The reports were presented and adopted; the minutes read by Mrs. R. Cooper, secretary; and the treasurer's report by Mrs. J. Cridland in the absence of the treasurer, Mrs. F. Ford.

Mrs. C. C. Abbott of Kingston, secretary of the Dominion board of the Junior and Little Helpers, will be invited to be the special speaker at the Teen-age Girls' banquet to be held on October 11, of which Mrs. F. Craig is president.

The annual rummage sale, under the direction of Mrs. C. C. Hilton, wil be held October 13. The annual Deanery meeting is to be held in St. John's church on September 29, with Holy Communion Service at 10.30 a.m. Rev. Canon W. P. Robertson will be the celebrant, and the speaker is to be the Rev. R. Howden of Lakefield.

At the afternoon session Sir Henry Drayton and Mrs. Green, secretary of the Indian schools, will be among the speakers.

The study book, "Builders of the Church in India" was discussed by Mrs. J. Cridland, and the meeting closed with prayer. Mrs. W. Dorrington and her refreshment committee served tea.

Fur And Fabric

The ideal street costume for fall wear is the three-piece suit—jacket and skirt of soft warm-toned wool and fur overcoat. The latter you'll wear, quite late, over sheer wool or heavy crepe frocks. One such ensemble consists of a fingertip length, boxy coat of gray kidskin over a collarless wine-colored soft wool suit, distinguished by clever low-placed pockets and huge dull buttons down the front of the closely fitting jacket. The skirt is plain, wide-gored. You'll like the suit alone in late September and love the luxurious warmth of it when autumn's brisk breezes blow.

Work of Y.W.C.A. Showing Progress

ELGIN HOUSE, Ont., Sept. 15. (C.P.). — Heartened by reports of progress of the work of the Young Women's Christian Association throughout the world, delegates to the international conference of the Y.W.C.A. conducted business sessions on Thursday.

On Wednesday night delegates from Great Britain, the Scandinavian countries, India, China, and the United States told of work being done in their respective countries. Mrs. Arthur Grenfell said that the British Government is greatly aiding the Y.W.C.A. through its "physical fitness" campaign.

The association is doing a splendid job in China, according to Mrs. Huang, in the refugee camps, crowded with victims of the Japanese invasion. Y.W.C.A. workers are conducting lessons for Chinese children and sponsoring vocational pastimes for adults.

India now has 137 branches of the organization and the gathering of young women of many religious sects is proving an aid in breaking down religious barriers and racial prejudice, according to the report of Miss Sosa Matthews, an Indian student, who is taking a study course in Geneva.

The United States report, given by Mrs. Arthur Kimball, told of continued expansion. New stress was being placed on leadership during times of economic stress.

Fraternal greetings were given by Miss Elsie McIntosh for the International Federation of Professional and Business Women; Dr. Margaret T. Addison for International University Women, and by Mrs. D. Dengate for the Religious Education Council of Canada.

His Temple Fashion Bits

His temple is the wayside,
Across the pastures green;
His great cathedral rises
On silent hill serene.
In solitary forest,
His sacred altar waits,
And solace offers all who pass
Within the secret gates.

No dome or walls encompass
His ancient edifice,
His sanctuary has no doors,
The earth and sky suffice.
His shrine stands by the roadside
His font where rivers wind,
For He has made His temple
For every man to find.

WOMEN'S WORK AND INTERESTS

Selected Dinners for Guests During Month of September

(By MARY MOORE)

IF I HAD belonged to that sturdy era when a family of 12 or 14 was commonplace instead of a "believe-it-or-not" wonder, maybe the influx of guests I expect to arrive this week-end could all be taken in my stride—in all there will be 14 of us, and I have counted the napkins for dinner, and the place mats and napkins for breakfasts, and cups and glasses for all meals at least twice to make sure our resources will stretch that far.

That is why my mind is on company meals—we are going to have Brunswick Stew and cucumber and celery and head lettuce in our salad bowl, small rye rolls, unsalted butter, cantaloupe and homemade ice cream—you can see that much of it was decided on because of ease of preparing and serving. None of it is sensational, but I hope it will be found good by them.

Lima Beans in butter
Roquefort Stuffed Celery.
Maple Nut Ice Cream (bought or homemade). Coffee.

The Clam and Tomato Broth you must try—mix the juice from a can of clams, with 1 can of tomato juice (11 oz.), season with celery salt, pepper and butter, and heat in top of double boiler. One-quarter of a bay leaf, or ¼ teaspoon sweet basil may be added for flavor and strained out. Please try it, and use the drained clams for a salad or cocktail.

Ham Baked in Whole Milk (or Cream).

Have the butcher slice some ham 1½ inches thick for you, leaving a nice rim of fat on the edge. Saute the ham lightly on both sides and season it with a little brown sugar into which has been mixed ¼ teaspoon mustard. Lay the slice in a baking dish and cover with whole milk (or thin cream if you have it). Bake in a slow over of 325 deg. Fahr. for about 2 hours, covered, or until ham is very tender. The sauce will be quite thick when the ham is done. It might be necessary to add a little more milk—but do not overdo this or the sauce will be too thin to be effective when serving. Serve mustard pickles with this.

Casserole of Sweet Potatoes and Apples.

Wash, boil, peel and slice 6 large sweet potatoes. Arrange a layer of these potatoes in the bottom of a buttered casserole, over these put a layer of sliced tart apples, dot all with butter, sprinkle with brown sugar (using 2/3 cup in all) and sprinkle faintly with mace. Continue with these layers giving them the sugar and butter treatment each time. Mix ½ cup water with ½ cup honey and pour over when potatoes and apples are added. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. covered until apples are tender. Some like to put sliced marshmallows over all, but I do not like this.

Informal Supper for Guests.

Fruit Cup of Melon Balls in Lime or Grapefruit Juice.
Sweetbread Souffle.
Bowl of Salad Greens. Hot Biscuits.
Banbury Tarts. Canadian Cream Cheese. Coffee.

Sweetbread Souffle.

Soak a pair of sweetbreads in cold water one hour, drain and cover with water again, add 2 tablespoons vinegar and bring slowly to boiling point, and boil 10 minutes, then plunge in cold water to chill them quickly. Trim membrance from the sweetbreads and cut into ½-inch dice. Make a cream sauce of 3 tablespoons butter, add 3 tablespoons flour, and when blended 1½ cups whole milk (or thin cream) and stir until thick—add ¾ teaspoon salt and 3 well-beaten yolks. Beat the three whites stiff, and add the sweetbreads to the sauce and fold in the whites. Immediately turn into buttered casserole, and stand casserole in large pan containing warm water and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. until set—about 40 minutes.

Banbury Tarts.

Using either Sultanas or seeded Valencias or Lexias (raisins) prepare 1 cup and mix with 1 cup sugar, the juice and grated rind of 1 lemon, 4 tablespoons cracker crumbs (very fine), and 1 well-beaten egg. Make rich plain paste and chill well. Roll out fairly thin and cut into 4-inch squares or rounds. Put a spoonful of the raisin mixture in the centre and fold over, after wetting edges with water,—press edges together with a fork. Brush the tarts with cream and bake at 450 deg. Fahr. Cut slit in top of tart before baking to prevent cracking at joint.

An Economical Dinner for a Large Crowd (10 or 12).

Baked Leg of Mutton. Caper or Onion Gravy.
Fluffy Mashed Potatoes OR Boiled Rice
Vegetable Marrow Rings with Cheese.
Cabbage and Sweet Green Pepper Slaw.
One Crust Harvest Apple Pie Hot Tea.

Mutton can be had so reasonably I think Canadian cooks should use it oftener—I use it and we all like it immensely. Cut off some of the excess fat, but leave a ½-inch layer where you can. Flour the fat well, and sprinkle with salt and paprika, and place in oven of 350 deg. Fahr. uncovered for 20 minutes, then cover and bake about 3 hours at 325 deg. Fahr. Mutton and lamb must be cooked slowly and thoroughly.

When done, remove some of the fate from the pan to make the sauce. If capers are used, make a cream sauce (see above under Sweetbread Souffle) using some of the fat in place of butter, and add ¼ cup capers and juice and reheat. If onions are used, saute them for five minutes in the mutton fat then add to a cream sauce,—½ cup finely sliced onions are enough.

We hope you like these—and do be sure to clip the cookery page from last week's paper so that when you want to do your pickles you have the recipe on hand.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

"Of all the griefs that harass the distress'd,
Sure the most bitter is a scornful jest,
Fate never wounds more deep the generous heart,
Than when a blockhead's insult points the dart."

Dear Friends:

And that is just what those who use sarcasm are—blockheads, for the darts of sarcasm are many times two-edged, hurting the one it is aimed at, and the one who aims also.

Sarcasm gives a person away, showing they are unsure of themselves, that they think everyone is taking a crack at them even in the most innocent conversation.

It shows that they have taken every little hurt that came along as a personal affront, and that "they can't take it." So they start handing it out in belittling remarks, half fun and half earnest.

It shows lack of education, small-mindedness, a leaning towards coarseness. It's so easy to belittle anyone, but why think you are a big person when you do it?

And it is generally used where a person can do so little about it, like being in a crowd and not wanting to make a scene, yet if resentment is shown, they are accused of not being able to take a joke.

I would rather a person hit me, than use sarcasm on me. If they do hit, I can hit back. But in sarcasm there is enough of truth (maybe just a little bit, but a bit) to make this that is said sting and burn, and assume the proportions of a large blemish.

It has its uses, for a word of sarcasm can take the wind out of the sails of a too cocky person. But as a daily exercise it will make more enemies than any other thing.

Some take the weakness of another and with a small jibe or two, lower them to the dust. Don't they realize we all have our weaknesses and their stick out all over them?

Some use it as a form of truth-telling, elevating themselves (or so they think) by hurting another. But it's funny they never seem to tell a kind truth.

Some use it in "getting back" for some fancied slight they think they have received. They are too cowardly to bring the thing out into the open and clear the air, so they use this underhand way of doing things.

The dictionary tells us: "Sarcasm. A bitter, cutting remark, usually ironical, expressing scorn or contempt." And it can often be used in a very sweet way, but it hurts just as much.

And it can be done in a joking manner, leaving the one it is aimed at utterly defenceless. It causes more resentment than out and out enmity. You can fight your enemy, but it is hard to fight your friends.

So, examine yourself and see if you have contracted this despicable habit. If you have, put it away from you as you would the devil, for it is one of his weapons.

It will kill love, destroy friendships, leave you lonely, keep you from many enjoyments if you ever use it. It is the tool of a coward, for the brave refuse to have anything to do with it.

Surely when there are so many kind things we could say, sarcasm should never have a footing with us. And, if you cannot say a kind thing, surely you could keep still.

One thing you can be sure of. Use it and it will be used against you, for it is a thing quickly copied, yet sometimes it is the only cure in having a dose of your own medicine.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

Enquiry Column

Conducted by
Mrs. MARY MOORE

QUESTION.—Woe is me. Someone has borrowed the Hickey Nut Cake recipe and forgotten to return it. All typed and done up in one of those trick envelopes and everything. May I have it again?

The family has taken quite a yearning for grape juice. I have never done any, and would appreciate so much any information you may have on the subject. What to avoid and so forth. I don't know where I got the idea, but I have always thought it rather tricky to do, and difficult to keep.

About the Chokolade Platzchen. My friend found the original recipe. Unwittingly her sister had carefully pasted it in their favorite cook book. However they read it to me over the 'phone and I notice that it says to beat the egg whites until frothy, then add the sugar and beat the egg whites until stiff. The second one says, beat the egg whites stiff and then fold in the sugar. I am afraid I am not yet experienced enough to know whether this would make much difference in the finished product. Can you tell me just offhand, without trying it? Thanking you, as ever.—E.

Answer.—Thanks for the letter. It is a long time since this recipe was in the paper, so I do not mind repeating it in the least.

Emem's Hickory Nut Cake.

One-half cup butter, or ¼ cup butter and ¼ cup other neutral shortening, 1 cup sifted sugar, 3 egg yolks, 1 cup nut meats (hickory, black walnut or English walnut are preferable, although peanuts, almonds and pecans have been used successfully). 2 cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ cup milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 2 stiffly beaten egg whites.

Cream the butter until it is fluffy. Add sugar, gradually, creaming all the time. Then add yolks of eggs which have been well beaten, and nuts. Sift cake flour before measuring and add to it the baking powder and salt and sift them together twice. Add flour mixture, small amounts at a time to the butter mixture, alternately with the milk, cutting it into the mixture with the edge of the mixing spoon to retain as much of the air as possible. Add vanilla. Then fold in stiffly beaten whites of eggs carefully to retain their air.

Butter and flour very lightly a tube pan and pour in mixture. Bake in over of 350 deg. Fahr, for 45 minutes.

Butter Frosting.

One-quarter cup butter, ½ teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons heavy cream, confectioners sugar. Cream butter until of consistency of whipped cream, add cream and vanilla, and then sugar until of right consistency to spread and keep its shape.

Grape juice is not hard to keep or make—that is if you observe the sterlization rules.

Grape Juice.

Wash the grapes on their stems, then remove from stems wash. Drain excess water from grapes and to each 10 lbs. put 1 cup water in bottom of preserving kettle—this is to keep grapes from scorching until they make their own juice. Stirring often, let them come to boiling point and boil until stones and pulp and skins separate and mixture is quiet juicy. Strain through strong jelly bags—it is best to do this overnight. Measure juice, and to each four cups juice add 1 cup sugar. Heat to boiling point, bottle in sterile bottles, cork with sterile corks and dip in wax or parrifin (if paraffin is used, dip the tops when they are hot, AND when they are cold.

When served this should be diluted with twice the amount of water or ice. Bottles and corks and funnel and pinchers for lifting corks or tops from boiling water must be boiled 20 minutes.

The meringue for the Chokolade Platzchen will be more stable if sugar is added half way through beating process.

We hope this information is what you want, and that you will write again soon; your letters are always a pleasant interlude.

Question.—You helped me so much with a recipe last May that I have come again, as you said I could.

In the page of July 9, I think there was a recipe for pickles which called for small cucumbers and other vegetables. They were cooked in alum water for 10 minutes. I saved the paper as I do all others when I see an item that interests me (there are many), but somehow I have lost only that one. I'd like to do a pickle that will stay crisp and be sweet pickles like the ones we buy—I've only made sour ones so far, but they get kind of limp. Also could you help me with a plain sweet relish? You sent me a mustard relish recipe in May to use up my salted cucumbers. I made it, and it was at once a great favorite. I made it up this week with fresh cucumbers and it is not the same at all. It seemed flat and tasted of raw cucumbers, so I added a little salt to each jar. I hope it will be O.K. What do you think?—G.L.

Answer.—Thank you for your letter. Kindly see the page entitled "Pickle Chapter," which appeared last week, for recipe for sweet pickles with cucumbers and other vegetables.

The reclaimed salted cucumbers would have an entirely different flavor than raw cucumbers prepared the same way to which additional salt was added. They will not taste the same—but you may have discovered another nice pickle by accident. If you want to repeat the salted cucumbers relish like you had last year, you need only do some down in salt and leave them a couple of months—when the pickle season is over there will be so much more time to do them too.

Try the Picalilili (or Chow Chow) for a sweet relish—also the Corn Relish, we can recommend both of them.

We hope you like them and that you will write again.

Tested Favorite Recipes

(By MARY MOORE)

O. O. McIntyre's daily New York column was one of the pleasures of my life and when he died suddenly one bright ray of sunshine was forever denied me—as it was to thousands of his admirers. He told us he used to go to a restaurant on Broadway because he loved its Apple Sauce Cake. This recipe is so simple, so economical, so good, and will keep for two weeks.

Superior Apple Sauce Cake
(Eggless)

One cup brown sugar, ½ cup good shortening (or butter if you prefer it), 1½ cups unsweetened apple sauce, 2½ cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, ½ teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon grated nutmeg (freshly grated whole nutmeg is best), 1 teaspoon almond flavoring (lemon or vanilla will do), ½ cup seeded raisins (these may be omitted if desired), ¾ cup molasses.

Cream the shortening in the mixing bowl, and sift in the sugar slowly, while beating. Sift the flour, nutmeg, soda and salt together, then sift into the shortening mixture, cutting it in between alternate additions of the apple sauce. Then add the flavoring and raisins (if used) and pour into buttered and floured loaf pan and bake at 350 deg. Fahr. for 45 to 55 minutes. Do not cut the cake until it is 24 hours old as it needs time to "ripen." It is rather moist.

Citron, cherries, currants may be added in place of raisins or in addition to raisins.

IN MEMORIAM

WILSON.—In memory of a loving husband and father, Robert William Wilson, who departed this life, September 15, 1937.

The blow was great, the shock severe,
We little thought the end was near.
And only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.
More each day we miss you, father;
Friends may think the wound is healed,
But they little know the sorrow
That lies within our hearts concealed.
—Ever remembered by his loving Wife and Family.

WILSON.—In loving memory of Mr. Robert Wilson, who departed this life a year ago to-day, September 15, 1937.

Our kind and loving father,
We think of you to-day,
And recall the happy hours,
'Ere the day you passed away.
Never shall your memory fade,
And although we miss you so,
We are waiting till we, also,
Leave this world of strife and woe.
—Ever remembered by Mr. and Mrs. Orville Wilson, and Grandson, Jack.

Essie Hanover Wins Futurity

READING, Pa., Sept. 15.—Essie Hanover, a bay mare from the Hanover, Pa., Farms, Wednesday won the $4,600 Reading Fair Futurity for 3-year-old trotters, called by many the "Little Hambletonian" of Grand Circuit racing.

Driven by John Thomas, winner of the $40,000 Hambletonian at Goshen, N.Y., Essie Hanover won the two heats before rain washed out a scheduled third heat. The judges decided not to have the third heat today and awarded the race to Essie Hanover.

Yanks Best Even Mack Claims

The present edition of the Yankees have been termed the greatest club of history by no less authority than the 75-year-old Connie Mack. Coming from a man who played in the National League with such strong clubs as Anson's old Chicago White Stockings and the Baltimore Orioles and who managed some of the greatest teams in the American League, the Athletic World's Champions of 1910, 1911 and 1913, also the only club ever to win over 100 victories three years in succession, the Athletic pennant-winners of 1929, 1930 and 1931, this perhaps is the highest praise ever accorded the Ruppert-McCarthy machine.

"When these Yankees are in shape, no club in the world can beat them," said Mack. "They're a wonderful team, a really wonderful club. They've got brilliant individual stars and perfect team play. And, they're smart, too.

"It's something new for me to say a thing like this, but I'm telling you the present Yankees are the greatest team in the history of baseball. I've been in the major leagues since 1886 and there never has been anything like them."

Then Connie gave expression to an opinion that may bring concern to his fellow club owners, when he added: "They ought to go on and win pennants four or five more years in a row. I don't see what there is to stop them. Somebody may come along, of course, but right now I don't see from where."

Cricket Notes

On Saturday at Nicholls Oval the Peterborough Club will play their last scheduled home match against Toc H, Toronto. The club will have their best available team in the field and hope to avenge the defeat they sustained from the visiors in Toronto on July 23 when Toc H won by 61 to 45. The following have been selected to play: F. Dyer, Capt., J. Lawrence, Rev. G. F. Kelly, G. Langhorne, J. Chambers, J. H. Bell, T. Williams, L Gould, A. B. Burrows, B. Boothroyd and G. Caird. Start at 2 o'clock. Anyone unable to play please phone Frank Dyer, 2850M.

With reference to the Whitaker's-Oshawa match which should have been played here last Saturday, it appears that Oshawa was engaged in a playoff game, not in a "friendly trict league and not in a "friendly game" as stated. As they lost that match they have to play St. Clair his Saturday, to decide who is to be relegated to a lower division. But they should have notified Whitakers.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB. MARTIN

After playing three quarters of the first game in a drizzling rain, and the last quarter in a heavy drizzle the first, last and only open mixed tournament of the season, as far as the Peterborough Bowling club is concerned was finally called off at 7 p.m. and another open tournament goes on record as being "rained out."

For the sixth time this season our open and twilight tournaments have either been rained out completely or enough rain came to cause the games to be held up for a few hours. This condition started in on May 24th and has kept it up regularly ever since.

Rinks came from Port Hope, Oshawa, Cobourg, Lindsay and Peterborough and had all the earmarks of a good tournament.

Over at Cannington, 12 pairs from the district made up their doubles tournament with four pair coming from Peterborough. R. Bacon and C. Lawrence took second place — each a sweater coat.

Tonight, weather permitting, we commence the playoffs in the Leads, Seconds and the Skips-Vices competition. Below is the draw:

Leads and Seconds

G. Fee vs. Rev. G. Easton.
C. Mowry vs. G. Duncan.

Finals to be played on Monday evening.

Skips-Vices

E. L. Sackville vs. R. Dyer. .. .. Winner to play K. Sloane.
G. Gimblett vs. J. J. Howden.

Semi-finals to be played Monday night with the finals on Tuesday night.

To make up for the rained out tournament last night, the committee is holding a 25c mixed tournament tomorrow night. The draw will be from the board at 7.30 p.m. The time is getting on, so make this one a real tournament.

The final game of the schedule in group 2 will also be played tonight when F. Braun's rink meets R. Bacon. This will wind up the men's schedule for the season.

We have received no report on the Stirling or Hastings tournament

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

READ HIS MIND

AS SOON as a defender sees the dummy, he should try to figure out the way he would play the hand if he were the declarer. That is, basing his hypothetical scheme on what he believes the declarer probably holds, judging from the bidding. He may thus, in effect, read the declarer's mind and so manage to figure out moves that will thwart him.

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

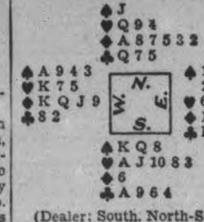
The bidding on this deal began with a call of 1-Diamond by South, to which North responded with 1-Heart. South's next bid was 2-No Trump and after 3-Hearts by North, South went to 3-No Trump.

West led the spade 4 against this contract and South allowed East's 9 to hold the trick. East continued with the J and the 10. South won the latter. He could then see seven tricks only and decided his best chance to obtain the extra two was to lead a heart and duck, with the hope that only one trick need be lost in that suit.

His plan was the correct one, but West upset declarer's hopes completely by placing the heart Q on the 2. This forced South to play the K, for West at that time held two set up spades and could not be allowed to hold the trick. The club 2 to the K was declarer's next play, and his second heart led to the dummy. He knew the contract was hopeless without the hearts, so finessed the 10, with the result that he took no more heart tricks.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

How should South play for 4-Hearts after the lead of the diamond K?

Lonely Hand-Logger Remains Important Cog In B.C.'s Lumber Industry

Gets Forest Wealth From Lonely Areas Where No Big Companies

By JOHN B. TOMPKINS
Central Press Canadian Correspondent

VANCOUVER, B.C., Sept. 15. — Mythical Paul Bunyan, mighty man of the northwest woods, would have frowned with impatience at the hard-working, plodding and lonely hand-loggers who today form an important part of the extensive $50,000,000-a-year British Columbia logging industry. From Vancouver to Prince Rupert the great payrolls of the coast area are interwined with the fate of little floating villages tucked away in the sheltered inlets of the rugged coastline, amid towering fir covered peaks—the source of millions of feet of massive logs for the hungry maws of west coast mills.

The villages, that rise and fall on the ebb and flow of Pacific ocean tides, range from rude "shake" shacks of the lone logger to small towns of upwards of a dozen homes and families. Equipment varies from the axe, bucksaw, jack and peevey of the individual logger to the Diesel-driven donkeys, high-lead cables and full crew of hook-tenders, rigging-slingers, engineers and whistle-punks.

Like the god of the western woods Paul Bunyan, the hand-logger's working territory is unlimited. Millions of feet of timber are accessible to the individual or crew of hand-loggers between the Straits of Juan de Fuca and the Portland canal in remote spots where "big-company" operation would be unprofitable. As the going becomes difficult, tugs are called. Homes, equipment and men are simply towed to some new unexploited fjord, another inlet whose wooded walls have yet to echo to the hoarse cry: "Timber!"

"Lone Wolf" Type

Basically the hand-logger is the British Columbia version of the rugged individualist the lone wolf of the timber limits. Far from being the robust rollicking movie type of lumberjack popularized by Hollywood, the British Columbia hand-logger is more often a man who enjoys most his own company, a homely philosopher lost with his wife in the great unspoiled hinterland.

While all manner of mechanical contrivances make the modern methods of the larger operators possible, the hand-logger depends only on muscle and the law of gravity to put the stately timber into the "salt chuck."

On the other hand, the operations on Malaspina Inlet, some 100 miles as the crow flies north of Vancouver, are typical of the larger operations where construction of logging railroads is impossible and the lusty toot of heavy-duty trucks will never be heard. There the floating village has a population of over twenty. Facilities include running water—piped from nearby creeks—and mail service when provisions are needed. Mechanical saws and the scream of the donky's whistle announce to all and sundry that here, where even Paul Bunyan with his Big Blue Ox would have thought twice, new dollars are being taken from the British Columbia woods, new cash for the city that still looks to the woods for its bread and butter—Vancouver.

One-Day Strike Ends

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Sept. 15. — (AP).— Settlement of a one-day strike of the United Automobile Workers of America sent 1,200 employees back to work to-day at the Briggs Indiana Corporation factory, which supplies automobile bodies to the local Plymouth assembly plant. Norman Gillard, president of the Committee for Industrial Organization Council, said company officials last night agreed to adjust about 100 union grievances.

Czechoslovakia And Its Set-up

Statesmen fear war may start in Czechoslovakia, a tiny republic created by treaties of the Great War.

Here are some of the facts:

Czechoslovakia was formed in 1918 from parts of Bohemia, Moravia, Silesia, Slovakia and Ruthenia which before the war were under the Austro-Hungarian Empire.

Population: 15,000,000 including nearly 9,000,000 Czechoslovaks, 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans so named because of the Sudetic mountains among which they live; smaller groups of Poles, Magyars, Ruthenians, and other minorities.

Area: 54,000 square miles. The Sudeten Germans live in perhaps 1-20th of this area; the Sudeten regions form the border with Germany.

The Sudeten Germans wanted to become a part of Austria at the end of the war. Now extremists among them want to join Germany. The formal demand of the Sudeten German party is for independence in local government at least.

The Czechoslovak government vows it is willing to grant all reasonable demands. It has offered to establish local cantonal governments. Three would be German-dominated and include about 2,000,000 of the 3,500,000 Sudetens.

The Czechoslovak government refused to relinquish control of foreign affairs, financial and military policy.

Not Enough.

Chancellor Hitler of Germany annexed Austria on March 13 after declaring on February 20 that Germany would protect German peoples who were unable "to secure along the borders the rights to general, human, political and ideological freedom."

He said on Monday night that Germany would aid the Sudetens if they needed help to gain these "rights." He admonished the Czech government to reach an understanding with the Sudetens.

The Czechs fear Germany may try to annex at least the Sudeten area as she did Austria. The Czechs are determined to fight should that occur. Czech allies are France and Soviet Russia, and Great Britain has indicated she very likely would be involved if France got into a war.

Germany counts as her particular friends Italy and Japan, and the three are linked in an accord to fight against world Communism.

Strategic Chinese Hill Falls To Japs

SHANGHAI, Sept. 15—(AP). — Artillery and air bombardments and repeated infantry assaults removed two obstacles today to the Japanese advance on Hankow, Provisional Chinese capital.

Chinese admitted loss of Fukinshan, strategic hill on the Anhwei-Hupeh provincial border about 110 miles east of Hankow, during a Japanese attack in which, the Chinese said, the Japanese lost 4,000 killed.

The Chinese confirmed also that the invaders captured Sikuling Hill, commanding the Singtze-Telan highway on the west shore of Lake Poyang, after 12 assaults.

Girl 12, Confesses To Slaying Father

WASHINGTON, Pa., Sept. 15. — (AP).—The case of 12-year-old Irene Giricz, who pleaded guilty to the murder of her father without a visible flicker of emotion, rested with the Washington County court today.

The girl was taken before Alderman H. H. Stuart from the juvenile detention home yesterday for arraignment on a charge of killing Steve Giricz, 53-year-old coal miner from nearby Centreville.

Stuart said he explained the charge and the pleading to the child; that a plea of guilty meant she fired the shot through the back of Giricz' head as he sat at breakfast last Aug. 25 and that a plea of "not guilty" meant that she did not kill him.

Then, he said, the seventh grade schoolgirl answered in a firm voice: "I'm guilty."

Bane said the child accused her father of violating her three years ago. He said Mrs. Giricz learned of the violation when the child talked in her sleep and that "things were so unpleasant" in the home that Irene finally decided to kill her father. The girl is held without bail.

CHAMBERLAIN BRINGS HITLER'S TERMS

Hitler Wants Full Say Over Czechs

After Munition Works; Sudeten Cession Taken For Granted

BERLIN, Sept. 16. — (AP).—Chancellor Hitler was said to-day to have demanded both cession to Germany of Czechoslovakia's Sudeten area and binding assurances that Czechoslovakia's foreign policy should be in harmony with that of Germany.

This information was volunteered by a man who talked to High Chancellery officials of Berchtesgaden, where Hitler received Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain yesterady.

Bow To Germany.

Another German demand, this source said, was that after German absorption of the Czechoslovak Sudeten area, what is left of that republic should fit itself into Germany's economic system, at least to the extent that Czechoslovakia did not hinder realization of German economic aims.

Germany, for instance, must have the decisive word to say on the output of Great Skoda munitions works at Pilsen and the destination of this output, the source said.

The question of union of the Sudeten area with Germany, this informant said, is not even regarded as an issue by Hitler.

It was said to have been Hitler's starting point in discussions, with all other questions, such as procedure under which the change could be affected without war, growing out of it.

Mr. Chamberlain, it was said, apparently came prepared to concede some form of "anschluss."

What Does France Think?

Whether Britain and France were prepared to support Hitler's virtual demand for a German protectorate over Czechoslovakia was believed to have been the question which prompted Mr. Chamberlain's sudden return to London.

In the newspapers, column upon column described in vivid words how Czechoslovaks were "maltreating" Germans. Screaming headlines in large type declared that "Czechs are running amok in Sudetenland like Bolshevists in Spain," or "mis-

Hostile Jersey Crowd Denounces Hitler, Seizes Hall, Routs Bundists

Elizabeth, N.J., Sept. 16. (A.P.) ROUTED by a hostile crowd that jammed a meeting hall and chocked all paths leading to it, the German American Bund today denounced such tactics as "gagging of free speech" and set about planning another rally.

Opponents of the bund, estimated by police at 1,000 in number, seized Eintracht Hall where the bund had advertised a meeting last night, while another 2,000 blocked the entrance. Bund leaders called off the meeting, planned as an organization gathering, after a conference with Police Chief Frank Brennan.

The anti-bundists began to appear more than three hours before the scheduled meeting. Other hundreds massed about, picketing, chanting "The Star-Spangled Banner" and shouted against Hitler and Fascism.

Campbell Denies Taking Part In Richmond Bank Robbery; Admits Breaking Out Of Jail

Does Not Even Know Where Richmond Is He Tells His Counsel

OTTAWA, Sept. 16—(CP).—Taking the stand in his own defence at his trial on a charge of armed robbery of $12,000 from the Richmond, Ont., branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, Oscar Campbell, 41, of Toronto, said to-day, "I never even heard of the village of Richmond, and I was not one of the men who entered the bank."

Campbell said he had never been near Richmond. "I don't even know yet where it is," he told defence counsel Joseph Sedgwick, who called him to the stand when Crown Attorney Raoul Mercier announced the Crown's case rested.

"Do you know anything of the holdup?" asked Mr. Sedgwick.

He said the first time he knew he was wanted for the robbery was when he was arrested July 31 at a cottage between Manotick and Kars.

In Trouble Before.

Campbell admitted he had been in trouble before with police of the United States and Canada and had served time in prison. In April, 1933, he was sentenced in Toronto to three years in Kingston Penitentiary for shopbreaking. He told the court he never at any time used an offensive weapon in the commission of a crime, had never committed armed robbery or staged a holdup.

In February, 1938, he said he gave himself up to the Charleston, West Virginia, police because he was wanted in Montreal as a suspect in a murder charge. He said a coroner's jury exonerated him, but he was picked up in Buffalo for third degree burglary. On this count he was found guilty and faced a term of 15 years to life," although he was never sentenced.

"Why not?" asked his counsel.

"I broke out," the accused replied.

"By yourself?"

"No, with another man."

Liver Near Selwyn.

After breaking jail, Campbell said he came to Ottawa and rented an apartment on Laurier Avenue in the name of Forbes. He stayed there until May 28, and then went to a cottage near Manotick, where he remained until July 12, when he left for the Peterborough district, renting a cottage at Selwyn.

At this point Mary Donnelly,

$100,000 Stamp Theft Charged To Couple

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 — (AP) — Accused of the theft of rare stamps valued at $100,000 from Captain G. W. Nowell-Esticke, millionaire stamp dealer, Francis Greulich, 35, and his statuesque brunette wife, Anne, were charged to-day with grand larceny.

The thefts were alleged to have extended over a period of five or six years. Mrs. Greulich was said by the police to have had a free hand in helping to run Nowell-Esticke's business since he employed her 14 years ago.

Her husband, officers added, had worked for the dealer for several years until 1737 and subsequently himself went into the rare stamp busines, building up a national reputation as a collector and dealer.

Nowell-Esticke is a former British army officer.

Tossing Beggar Clothes Woman Falls Three Stories, Dies

Montreal, Sept. 17. (CP). AN act of charity cost Mrs. Napoleon Boucher, 67 her life. Witnesses at the inquest today said she leaned over a third-story balcony to toss a sack of clothing to a beggar, when the rail broke and she fell. Mrs. Boucher died a few minutes later.

London Officials Gloomy Over Conference

LONDON, Sept. 16—(CP Cable)—Many quarters in London began taking a gloomy view of the results of Prime Minister Chamberlain's conference with Chancellor Hitler a few hours before the Prime Minister's return from Berchtesgaden to-day.

1—A plebiscite in Czechoslovakia under his own control;

2—Immediate cession of Sudetanland to Germany.

Until Mr. Chamberlain returns official quarters will have no reports of his conversations with the Fuehrer. But that does not prevent a flood of rumors, reports, and speculation.

It is understood Premier Edouard Daladier of France has informed the British Government he is ready to come to London if that is desirable. So far, he has not been invited officially.

One disturbing factor, as seen here, was the attitude of the German press this morning in renewing violent attacks on the Czech government almost to the point of excluding from the front pages Mr. Chamberlain's sudden departure.

The British Cabinet will meet soon after the Prime Minister's return from Berchtesgaden, but an exact hour has not been set.

Sets New Record

John Cobb, English fur broker, shattered the speed record of Capt George Eyston when he drove his Railton racer over the salt beds of Utah at a speed of 350.20 miles an hour. Eyston, however, set a new record to-day of 357 m.p.h.

War Situation In Lap Of Gods Says Runciman

LONDON, Sept. 16.—(C.P.-Havas)—"The situation is very delicate; it is on the knees of the Gods," Viscount Runciman said late today on his arrival by plane from Prague.

An Urgent Call.

PRAGUE, Sept. 16. —(C. P.-Havas). —Before leaving by air for London today, Viscount Runciman, unoffical mediator in the Czech dispute, disclosed he had been summoned urgently by Prime Minister Chamberlain.

"After his interview at Berchtesgaden, Mr. Chamberlain asked me to come to see him urgently," Lord Runciman said. "It is impossible for me at the moment to add anything to that.

"Will you come back to Prague?"

"I certainly hope to return," Lord Runciman replied, "but where and when, it is impossible for me to tell you. Everything will depend upon the international negotiations in progress."

"What are your impressions of your stay in Prague?"

"Sometimes they were good, sometimes bad."

"What is the balance, as a whole?"

"The good outweighed the bad," he replied.

Lady Runciman, who is remaining here, said, "I am glad the weather is good all along the way for my husband is receiving today his baptism of the air."

Like Mr. Chamberlain, whose flight to Munich yesterday was the first in his life, Lord Runciman was making his first airplane trip.

PARIS, Sept. 16—(AP)—Premier Edouard Daladier was reported today to be planning a week-end flight to London to confer on Prime Minister Chamberlain's efforts to solve the European crisis in person-

Says Dictator Will Meet Him Half Way "To Spare Old Man Long Journey," Talk With Hitler Frank But Friendly

LONDON, Sept. 16 (CP-Havas).—A Cabinet meeting was called for 11 a.m. tomorrow, immediately upon Prime Minister Chamberlain's return today from Germany.

LONDON, Sept. 16 (CP).—A four-page letter from the King, written in His Majesty's own handwriting, was handed to Prime Minister Chamberlain on his arrival at Heston Airport today after conferring with Chancellor Hitler in Bavaria. The Prime Minister read it immediately.

BUDAPEST, Sept. 16 (AP).—A reliable informant said today that Hungary had protested sharply to Czechoslovakia against what was termed Czechoslovak mobilization along the Hungarian frontier. It was said the Hungarian Government probably would take measures to meet the situation.

WARSAW, Joland, Sept. 16 (AP). — The officially-inspired newspaper Kurjer Paranny said today the Polish minority in Czechoslovakia demands for itself whatever the Sudeten Germans get from their conflict with the Czechoslovak Government.

LONDON, Sept. 16 (AP).—Prime Minister Chamberlain arrived at Heston Airport at 5.29 p.m. (12.29 p.m. E.D.T.) today, bringing back from Germany Chancellor Hitler's terms for European peace.

A crowd that jammed the roofs of the airport and surged against its gates cheered as the Prime Minister stepped from the airliner.

Mr. Chamberlain said to those who greeted him:

"I have come back rather more quickly than I expected after a journey which, if I had not been so pre-occupied, I should have found thoroughly enjoyable."

The Prime Minister had boarded the plane at Munich after a motor trip from Berchtesgaden. The flight to London was broken by a 22-minute halt at Cologne, where Mr. Chamberlain had tea.

Long Frank But Friendly Talk

"Yesterday afternoon I had a long talk with Herr Hitler," the Prime Minister said at Heston. "It was a frank talk, but it was a friendly one.

"I feel satisfied now that each of us fully understands what is in the mind of the other.

"You won't, of course, expect me to discuss now what will be the result of that talk. All I have got now is for discussion with my colleagues, and I would advise you not to accept prematurely any unauthorized report of what took place in the conversation."

"I shall be discussing these talks tonight with my colleagues and others—especially Lord Runciman (unofficial British mediator in Czechoslovakia).

"Later on, perhaps in a few days, I am going to have another talk with Herr Hitler. Only this time he has told me it is his intention to come half way to meet me."

There were other cheers and laughter when Mr. Chamberlain, explaining Hitler's offer to meet him "half way" at the next conference, said:

"He wishes to spare an old man another such a long journey."

Baldwin Not On Board.

Although Heston airport officials had said before Mr. Chamberlain's arrival that Earl Baldwin, his predecessor, had bearded the plane at Cologne, Lord Baldwin was not aboard.

Apparently there had been no meeting of Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Baldwin at Cologne, although the latter was reported in that vicinity on holiday.

Britain Guesses As Premier Fights Off War

LONDON, Sept. 16. —(C.P. Cable). —The public today adopted a wait-and-see attitude towards the European crisis as Prime Minister Chamberlain returned from his flying visit to Chancellor Hitler.

The impression in Berchtesgaden after Prime Minister's departure was that it would be permature either to form a final judgment on the meeting or attempt to forecast developments.

One commentator summed up the position by looking out of an hotel window at Berchtesgaden at the rain-shrouded mountain and remarking: "the clouds have not yet lifted."

Nothing could be learned in London concerning the nature of the talks. The crux of the problem remained how to meet the Sudeten demands without impairing the integrity of Czechoslovakia.

In this connecton the Manchester Guardion(Liberal) said that "when one thinks of the intolerable price of war in lives and misery, it would be dirt cheap to pay the cost of transplanting the Sudetens into German if there were enough common sense in the world to do it and Germany would consent."

Other papers were perplexed and anxious but not entirely pessimistic regarding the latest turn in the situation.

Just a Pawn in Hitler's Game.

The Yorkshire Post (Conservative) commented that "the Sudeten Germans and their grievances, real or imaginary, are no more than a pawn in the Nazi game."

"Herr Hitler wishes to annex them not for their own sake but in order to deprive Czechoslovakia of its strategic frontier," the paper added. "That being done, his plan is to undermine the integrity of the State and prevent it from being an obstacle to Germany's eastward expansion. That is the scheme which Mr. Chamberlain will find it neces-

Next Parley Site Rhine Beauty Spot

It was roughly 30 miles downstream from Koblenz and 25 miles upstream from Cologne.

Hitler often has spent days in Godesberg, a centre from which he could review Nazi activities in the Rhineland. From there he started on his fateful airplane journey to quell mutiny in the ranks of storm troopers which resulted in the "purge" of June 30, 1934.

The Rhein hotel, which Hitler uses as headquarters, has 75 bedrooms and its garden restaurant overlooks the Rhine.

Czechs Quash Sudeten Nazi Party

Order Sudeten Chief's Troops Dissolved; Runciman Leaves

PRAGUE, Sept. 16.—(AP).—Premier Milan Hodza's office announced to-night that the Sudeten German party had been dissolved by the Czechoslovak government.

Previously informed sources said the government had decided on suppression of the storm troops of the Sudeten leader, Konrad Henlein, who had fled into Germany following issuance of a warrant for his arrest on charges of treason. At the same time, the regional government of the province of Bohemia ordered a 24-hour time limit in which all residents of 63 provincial political districts must surrender all arms and munitions they may have stored in secret places.

A Government Plea.

The government-controlled German language radio broadcast this appeal to the people:

"Foreign wire-pullers are seeking from a safe ambush to drive Sudeten Germandom into civil war and into a most serious catastrophe.

"Whoever unchains civil war acts against the interests and life of the people. No problem is so complicated that it cannot be solved by arrangement.

"The German problem in Czechoslovakia will be solved if good will on both sides is present."

The attitude of the Slovak Peoples' party, which had insisted on autonomy, suddenly has veered in favor of the Prague government. The followers of the late Rev. Andreas Hlinka, Slovak autonomy leader who died August 16, have ceased cooperating with the Henleinists.

As a result of a conference of leading Slovak Peoples' party members with President Benes it is understood they are willing to back the government coalition and try to swing Hungarian and Polish malcontent minorities also to its support.

Runciman Leaves.

Accompanied by his aide, F. T. A. Ashton-Gwatkin, Lord Runciman left Prague by regular commercial airliner.

Czechoslovak circles derived some satisfaction from the fact that Lady Runciman and the rest of the British mission remained at Prague, an indication that Lord Runciman would return.

Report from the Sudeten region told of one new incident, details of which were not confirmed immediately in official quarters. Sudeten Germans were said to have demonstrated at Bezegrun, near Falkenau, resulting in a clash with police and Czech troops. Two or three soldiers were said to have been killed.

Several other minor demonstrations were reported from scattered districts, but semi-official accounts

No C.C.F. Opposition For Hon. N. O. Hipel

GALT, Ont., Sept. 16.—(C. P.)—Oliver Cromwell, chairman of the South Waterloo Council announced today the Canadian Commonwealth Federation would not oppose Hon. N. O. Hipel, Provincial Labor Minister, seeking re-election October 6. He said that since Mr. Hipel was given a majority last year and having been elected to fill any position in the Legislature for a term of five years, they felt a by-election was unnecessary and furthermore felt the election act should be amended so as to make such elections unnecessary in the future.

As for the Federal by-election, he said the C. C. F. would contest this with John Mitchell of Tamilton as their candidate. Date of this election necessitated by the death of A. Edwards has not been set.

Horse And Trainer To Swim Golden Gate For Two Tons Of Hay

San Francisco, Sept .16. A(P) A QUESTION no one seems ever to have thought of before —whether or not a horse can swim the Golden Gate—will be settled here on Sunday.

William F. Bennett, theatrical agency man, disclosed yesterday what he said was a sporting proposition between Ritchie Roberts, horse owner and trainer, and sportsman William Hyne, by the terms of which a Roberts-trained horse will attempt to swim and, incidentally, gain himself one or two tons of hay.

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah ,Sept. 16.—(AP).—The world's automobile speed record tumbled here again to-day as Capt. George E .T. Eyston regained the title John R. Cobb usurped yesterday. The new mark is 357.50 miles per hour.

Eyston ,retired British army officer, drove his powerful "Thunderbolt" through the mile at 356.44 miles per hour on the north run and returned at 358.57 to displace Cobb's record of 350.20.

Eyston, who hoisted his own average from 311.42 to 345.49 Aug. 29 only to see the achievement excelled by his compatriot, obviously held back until the chips were down.

How long their costly six-miles-a-minute duel will continue is a matter of conjecture as Cobb has already anncunced his intentions of running again.

Eyston, black from brake dust and exhaust smoke, smiled boyishly when informed he had once more ascended the coveted world speed throne.

A crowd of about 5,000 persons, largest ever to assemble on the dry lake bed on the Utah-Nevada border, cheered wildly.

Several airplanes hovered overhead during the run.

Foreign Gold

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—An unprecedented flood of foreign gold—$35,000,000—came into the United States Sept. 15, the treasury said today.

In the first two weeeks of this month the United States treasury purchased $276,028,315 worth of the yellow metal, or an average of nearly $20,000,000 per day.

Americans Refused Blarney Stone Will Make 2 Tons Of Replicas

CORK, Eire, Sept. 16 (C.P.). — Americans disappointed by the failure of a syndicate to induce Sir George Colthurst, owner of Blarney Castle, to allow the famous Blarney Stone to be shipped to the United States on loan, may console themselves with the next best thing.

Two wooden crates, each containing a ton of limestone from a Blarney quarry, have been shipped from Cork to Los Angeles to the order of John Bodger, a resident of Hollywood. It is stated here that the stones are to be made into tiny replicas of the famous Blarney Stone itself.

Sir George's objection to granting a lease of the Blarney Stone was that he could not be sure of getting it back at the end of the proposed seven-year period. Thousands of tourists visit the castle here each year to kiss it so that they may be endowed with the supposed "gift of the gab."

Built in 15th Century.

The greater portion of the castle in which the Blarney Stone itself is fixed was built in the 15th century by McCarthy Laidir (Strong McCarthy), Lord of the Muskerry.

Origin of the term "Blarney" is traced to the delusive promises and evasive speeches of Cormac Dermot McCarthy, a descendant, when requested, according to a compact, to surrender the castle to the Lord President, Sir George Carew.

Churches Issue Call For Prayers To Avert New War

Toronto, Sept. 16. (C.P.). A JOINT call to prayer for the peace of Europe is being issued by the heads of the protestant churches in Canada today.

The call is issued to the churches of Canada by Most Rev. Derwyn T. Owen, Primate of the Church of England in Canada, Rt. Rev. Dr. Peter Bryce, moderator of the United Church of Canada, and Rev. Dr. H. H. Bingham, president of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec. The Presbyterian Church in Canada is also joining in the appeal.

Epidemic Of Simcoe Cattle Rustling Starts Truck Check—Jails Six

BARRIE, Ont., Sept. 16—(CP). —Provincial police patrol cars, operated by a special night crew, have been instructed to check all trucks and trailers on highways in Simcoe County in an effort to check cattle "rustling," it was learned here today.

Sergeant Richard Cox today issued a warning to district farmers to check their pasturing herds immediately and report any deficiencies. Six men have already been arrested, charged with cattle theft in Tiny township, between Elmvale and Penetanguishene.

Toronto abattoirs are checked when theft reports are received but usually without results. Some of the cattle have been traced to Elmvale butcher shops and others found in district pasture fields.

The six men under arrest are Albert Landrigan, Penetanguishene; Edmund Desjardin, Midland; Cena Desjardin, Penetanguishene; Gerard Legault, Penetanguishene; Joseph Cadeau, Tiny township and Charles Houden, Elmvale. All have been remanded to appear in Midland Sept. 22.

Believe Premier Blocked In Goal To Obtain His Guarantee Of Peace

Return Expected Tuesday For New Session; Hitler Reported Adamant On Independence For Sudetens

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany, Sept. 16 (AP).—Prime Minister Chamberlain left for home today without having obtained a guarantee of peace which he came here to seek from Chancellor Hitler.

The way was paved, however, for a further conversation between the two, possibly next Tuesday at Godesberg, near Cologne, about Germany's and Czechoslovakia's dispute over minority rights.

To the extent that the parley was scheduled to continue, the situation was regarded as hopeful, if not particularly bright. No great enthusiasm was expressed in circles close to Hitler and Chamberlain.

Hitler failed to appear to speed the parting guest from his hotel. He remained in his mountain retreat eight miles from this Alpine town.

Chamberlain Smiles As He Leaves

Mr. Chamberlain appeared well despite the air sickness he experienced yesterday on the flight from London—the first in his 69 years—and there was a cheerful smile on his face, if not in his heart.

It had rained all night but as the Prime Minister was about to enter his automobile for the drive to Munich, where a plane was waiting to take him to London for conferences with the Cabinet, the sun was struggling to break through the clouds.

Joachim Von Ribbentrop, the German Foreign Minister, turned to Mr. Chamberlain and said, "The sun is going to shine on your trip."

The British statesman smiled and replied, "I hope the sun will shine."

Von Ribbentrop accompanied Mr. Chamberlain as far as Munich, and expected to return here for a conference with Hitler, presumably on the results of the Foreign Minister's chat with the Prime Minister.

Both Parties Silent On Outcome

Both German and British officials refused bluntly to disclose the nature of the conversation between Hitler and Chamberlain last night. The impression prevailed among observers, however, that the Nazi Fuehrer was standing pat in supporting the demand of Czechoslovakia's Sudeten German minority for union with Germany.

There appeared to be a question as to how this might be achieved. It was understood this was the problem Mr. Chamberlain had to lay before his Cabinet before being able to continue his discussions with Hitler.

As far as could be gathered unofficially there was much "take" and little "give" in Hitler's position. He was said to want a peaceful solution of the dispute with Czechoslovakia but that solution must give the Sudeten Germans the independence they seek.

British backing for this position obviously would have tremendous influence on Czechoslovakia and her ally, France. Presumably Mr. Chamberlain will discuss with his Cabinet whether Great Britain should ask Czechoslovakia to pay the price for European peace.

Solution One Of Sacrifice By Czechs?

Some observers here felt that if European peace grew out of the conference it might be promised on the sacrifice of some Sudeten territory by Czechoslovakia to Germany. The areas affected in that event would be those on the German-Czechoslovak border inhabited by German Nazis who are clamoring to join Germany.

However, nobody except those participating in the conference and their close associates knew what the Premier would submit to his colleagues.

(The Prague Government said proposals already made to the Sudeten Germans, providing certain rights in language, municipal positions, police forces, and local government for that minority, were final concessions).

Non-Arable Prairie Land To Be Pastured

WINNIPEG, Sept. 16.—(C. P.).—George Spence, director of Prairie farm rehabilitation administration, today corrected an erroneous report by the Canadian Press and explained plans for establishing community pastures and reserve areas in the Prairie Provinces.

Mr. Spence said there are some 60,000,000 acres of land within the open plains area of the three Prairie Provinces, 25 per cent of which is either marginal or non-arable. It is the intention under the P. F. R. A. plan to remove from cultivation in time a large portion of these marginal and non-arable lands and turn them back to grazing through establishment of community pastures and reserve areas.

The Canadian Press reported erroneously that 60,000,000 acres of lands and the use of these pastures production and turned back to grazing.

The community pastures will be administered for the benefit of the remaining adjacent settlers who, by reason of a combination of better lands and the use of these patsures and water development to enable them to grow winter feed, will be rehabilitated and permanently established, Mr. Spence said.

Canadian Girl Lauded In Criticized Play

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—(CP).—A play about American gangsters, written by two English playwrights and starring a Canadian actress opened the New York theatre season last night.

And that's about all the critics had to say today about "Come Across," a piece by Guy Beauchamp and Michael Pertwee which played successfully in London last year.

Not all were as bitter as Richard Watts, Jr., of the Herald Tribune who decided that "the only thing worse than a bad play by an English playwright was a bad play by two English playwrights," but none were enthusiastic.

The play is about a gangster who goes to hospital in London to have a bullet removed, has the doctor's son kidnapped and held as hostage for the success of the operation and ends up by being murdered on the operating table.

Of Miss Helen Trenholme of Montreal, who takes the role of the gangster's nurse, the Herald Tribune said: "She is usual, a pretty and persuasive ingenue and she manages the role attractively."

The Times found Miss Trenholme "decorative."

ery of Sudeten refugees simply staggering."

The general tenor was: The Czechoslovak house is afire; if Prime Minister Chamberlain wishes to be a fireman he should hurry home to get a fire extinguisher.

The fate of Konrad Henlein (Sudeten German leader who fled from arrest in Czechoslovakia on a charge of treason) aroused much interest in Berlin. Authoritative spokesmen insisted he was safe in Germany, but denied knowledge of his whereabouts.

Average German Wants Peace.

This correspondent spent several hours to-day talking to average citizens on Berlin's sctreets—such as a barber, a chemical worker, a masseur, a building contractor, an electrician, and a travelling salesman.

One and all, they expressed disappointment that the official communique from Berchtesgaden had been so meagre, stating only that there had been a "frank exchange of views" and that "a new conversation takes place within a few days." All had pinned their hopes on Mr. Chamberlain, for the average German still remembers the Great War too vividly to desire armed conflict.

Three questions were asked:

"Will Chamberlain really return? Why did he leave so quickly when he was prepared to stay until Saturday? Why doesn't the communique end with the usual phase that agreement on the points at issue had been reached?"

Berlin Optiomistic.

A more optimistic hope for favorable settlement of the fate of Czechoslovakia's Sudeten German minority because of talks between the British Premier and Germany's Chancellor prevailed in Berlin political and diplomatic circles to-day.

Reports of the conversations at Chancellor Hitler's Berchtesgaden retreat reaching here early this morning apparently caused the change from last night's gloomy atmosphere.

Generally well-informed circles said that the Chancellor had pointed out to Prime Minister Chamberlain the necessity of settling the Sudeten problem once and for all.

These circles said also that the latest developments in the Sudeten regions of Czechoslovakia—fighting, the demand of Sudeten Leader Konrad Henlein for annexation of the Czech German areas by Germany, and the Czech Government's decision to charge him with treason—had strengthened the Fuehrer's demand that if France and Great Britain were willing to do anything to preserve peace it must be done quickly.

No Plebiscite.

The belief was expressed here that the Czech actions definitely had ruled out any chance of a plebiscite, by which the Sudetens could vote to go under Nazi rule; but, despite this, it was felt here that the way had been opened for definite steps to resolve the matter finally to a decision.

A far different feeling prevailed last night.

Chancellor Hitler's newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, referred to Czechoslovakia's martial law enforcement in Sudeten land as an "open declaration of war on the German people," and continued that in view of the many Sudeten victims, "it would be irresponsible of us to stand by idle any longer, without putting a stop to the uproar."

The paper said establishment of the military rule would have justified Germany's intervention long ago, but gave no inkling of the form of any such intervention.

Despite the fiery newspaper language, the average German held to the hope the Hitler-Chamberlain meeting might mark the beginning of dispersal of long-threatening war clouds.

Mr. Chamberlain's dicision to return to London from Berchtesgaden after only one conference with Hitler yesterday was described in semi-official circles as an unexpected shock. The only hopeful sign they could see was a German announcement that a new interview between the statesmen was expected, perhaps next week.

Semi-official circles declared the only reason Mr. Chamberlain could have interrupted his trip—which was expected here to last at least until Saturday—must have been that Hitler made demands so extreme that the Prime Minister could not answer them without consulting his own government and that of France.

These demands were considered here to be a plebiscite in the Sudeten German districts of Czechoslovakia and its annexation to Germany. While some observers saw the possibility that Great Britain and France might agree, only a few saw any hopes of getting an agreement from the Prague government.

Prague Standing Firm.

Information reaching Paris from Prague indicated the Czech government was sticking by its statement that it could not be pressed for any further concessions to the Sudeten Germans. This seemed to be borne out by the Czechoslovak government's uncompromising police measures in the Sudeten area.

The fact that demands of Konrad Henlein, Sudeten German party leader, for union of Sudetenland with Germany were first published by the official German news agency and German radio stations at almost the same time that Mr. Chamberlain was landing in Germany did little to re-assure the French that Hitler desired to negotiate a solution.

charged with being an accessory after the fact in connection with the holdup, and who is out on bail, was excluded from the courtroom.

Continuing, Campbell said that after leaving Selwyn July 22 or 24 he went to Toronto and stayed for a time with Harold Priaulx, who is a material witness in the trial. He met Miss Donnelly, who, he said, had $1,000 or $1,200 on her. He said he also met his brother, Melville, who was selling vending machines at $40 to $50 each. About 100 of the machines had been contracted for in Ottawa, the accused said. Melville had the exclusive rights for distributing these machines throughout Canada, and the accused said he had an interest in the business, assisting financially to the extent of $900.

"Melville later gave me $1,400," Oscar Campbell said. "I last saw him on July 31, the day I was arrested. He had been at Manotick the day before."

Campbell told Mr. Sedgwick he usually had about $1,000 on his person and always tried to carry his money in bills of large denominations.

"Where were you on July 18?" defence counsel asked.

"In Toronto."

"When did you leave Toronto?"

"On July 19. I arrived at Selwyn about 4 o'clock in the afternoon."

"You went directly from Toronto to Selwyn?"

"Yes."

Besides Campbell, the defence called two other witnesses, one of them Frederick Mann of Ottawa, a former member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

During part of the summer, Mann said he had as neighbors at a camp near Kars Mr. and Mrs. Ford, who he now knew as Oscar Campbell and Mary Donnelly. He had often gone fishing with Campbell.

"Was there anything suspicious about his actions?" asked Mr. Sedgwick.

"No."

Mann told Crown Attorney Mercier in cross-examination that Oscar Campbell said to him on the day of the arrest: "If you have given me away, you better dig your hole. I'll get you."

It was expected the case will go to the jury late today.

Taken For Brother

Sgt. R. P. Labelle outlined the investigation of the robbery and identified a can containing pieces of charred paper which he had turned over to a consulting chemist in Ottawa. He also identified cartridges he said he had found in Campbell's coat pocket.

After an argument between counsel Mr. Justice McTague allowed the production of licence plates found in a cottage allegedly occupied by the accused near Kars, Ont., subject to the objections of Mr. Sedgwick. W. E. Foley of Peterborough testified the plates had been stolen at Peterborough on July 14.

Identifies Campbell.

Frank Hickman of Kars, Ont., identified Oscar Campbell, as the man who rented a cottage near Kars from his father last May under the name of "Ford."

Mary Donnelly, and a man named "Don" were with "Ford" after the cottage became occupied.

On July 11, Hickman sad, "Ford" told him he was going away on a trip and would not return for a week. "Ford" returned July 31. On that day "Mr. and Mrs. Ford," with three other persons, drove into the cottage property and were met by police, who arrested them.

Harold Proulx of Toronto, a material witness, said he had known Campbell for three or four years, and was aware that the accused had bought an automobile, equipped with a supercharger and radio, in Toronto for $850. The money for the car was paid by Mary Donnelly, he added.

"Where would she get $850?" asked Crown Attorney Raoul Mercier.

"I've always known her to have money," said Proulx.

Stock Markets Continue In Nervous State

TORONTO, Sept. 16—(CP)—The stock market was able to extract little comfort from the European developments of the last few hours and in the general state of nervousness shares were offered down for substantial losses. Indices of the mining groups and the industrials lost 2 to 4 points and the western oils wereoff more than a point. Selling was not as heavy as in other recent sessions however and the aggregate turnover was around three-quarters of a million shares.

The market was weak from the start and after a sizeable dip the tone improved a little in the second hour and through the noon period the action was decidedly slow. A draggy market continued until well into the final hour when trading picked up on a new decline which carried the price level down to its low point for the day.

Losses of 15 to 35 cents were showing at the close for Pamour, Little Long Lac, Macassa, Pickle Crow, Central Patricia, Preston, Uchi, and Northern Empire. Dome and McIntyre declined a point to 1½ and Buffalo-Ankerite and Hollinger weakened fractions.

Reduce Early Losses.

Senior base metal shares reduced their early losses. Smelters reduced a 3 point loss to 1 and Noranda and International Nickel weakened about a point each. Hudson Bay held to the up side. Losses ranged up to 50 cents for Ventures, Waite-Amulet, Sudbury Basin ad Falconbridge.

Practically all industrial groups closed down and individual losses expanded to 2 to 4 points among the weakest. Massey-Harris Pfd. National Steel Car and Dominion Bridge dropped 2 to 4 points and Fanny Farmer, Walkers Common, Ford A, Distillers-Seagrams and a majority of the cheaper steels closed down ½ to a point. Foods, papers and building shades followed the downward course.

On Wall Sereet

Waiting a clue to Europe's immediate destiny, Wall Street essayed a cautious step forward after giving up in the forenoon part of yesterday's wide gains.

The earily losses, ranging to 2 or 3 points in numerous shares, had been reduced to fractions for the most part near the final hour. Wall Street still seemed uneasy over the question of war or peace in Europe and traders trod warily on the buying side till they cauld get a clearer idea of the outcome of negotiations behind the scenes in Germany and England.

Transactions ran at the rate of about 800,000 shares for the day, the smallest since the markets became extremely agitated over peace prospects after Hitler's Nuremberg speech last Monday.

sary to grapple with and oppose.

The Western Mail of Cardiff (Conservative) said:

"Until the situation is clarified, anxiety will naturally remain, but not pessimism . . . One thing, however, is clear. Mr. Chamberlain's high mission, heroically undertaken in the cause of humanity, has stirred the imagination of the world as no event in recent history has done. . . With good will, peace can still be preserved."

The Liverpool Post (Liberal) considered Mr. Chamberlain's return disconcerting but nevertheless conceded it might be a very favorable symptom.

Danger in Delay.

Pointing to the dangers of delay "in so explosive a situation," an editorial in the Times (Independent) said:

"Some German quarters interpreted the communique (issued at Berchtesgaden yesterday) to mean that agreement has been reached in principl, subject to the approval of the French and British governments, that the method was to be arranged later. That in any case the peace of Europe has been saved.

"Other quarters were less optimistic. They concluded from the fact that the conversations are to be continued that the views exchanged today were not regarded by either side as excluding the possibility that proposals should be framed which would be approved by the British and German governments. Further than that they would not go.

"The situation of the powers remains unclarified, and delays in so explosive a situation have their dangers. It was hoped that further accentuation of the crisis had at least been prevented by today's visit and, as stated, German circles here have taken an even more favorable view of the result."

"The idea of an international police force, following the precedent of the Saar," said the political correspondent of the Financial Times (Independent), "is growing in favor in London as in Paris, where the plan originated.

"One of the difficulties in the situation is the continuance of large-scale German manoeuvres. If Mr. Chamberlain has an opportunity he will impres. Hitler with the desirability of these being brought to an end, and in consideration of this he will be able to promise the fullest consideration of any solution which Germany has to offer for the present difficulty."

Viscount Runciman, unofficial British mediator in the Czechoslovak-Sudeten issue, arrived at Croydon airdrome from his peace-making mission in Prague just one minute bfore Mr. Chamberlain's plane landed at Heston.

The crowds cheered lustily as the prime minister finished a short speech, read from notes evidently made enrout. There were cries of "Good old Neville!" He smiled and waved his hand to the people amid shouts of "Bravo!"

The German charge d'affaires, Dr. Kordt, stepped forward and greeted the prime minister with the words:—

"I hope you feel that you have been successful—at any rate you have conquered the hearts of my countrymen."

Mr. Chamberlain replied: "They were very kind to me and I had a great time."

Crowd Throngs Airport.

Police reserves had kept the general public off the airport field, but the excited throng clung to every vantage point on buildings and at the gates long before the airliner touched earth.

At Croydon airdrome, meanwhile, Lord Runciman declared the whole Czechoslovak situation was on "the knees of the Gods."

He looked tired and pale.

"It is a very delicate situation," he said.

Mr. Chamberlain's plane had halted only about 20 minutes at Cologne on the way from Munich. During the pause he met many German notables and took tea at the airdrome's restaurant while a crowd of several hundred cheered him warmly.

It was indicated that Godesberg would be the scene of a second meeting between Chamberlain and Hitler within the next few days.

It will save the 69-year old Prime Minister about half the journey necessary to reach Berchtesgaden.

Ready to Act by October 1?

LONDON, Sept. 16—(CP).—A Havas News Agency dispatch today said it was reported here that Prime Minister Chamberlain was informed by Chancellor Hitler at Berchtesgaden that Germany is prepared for military occupation of the Sudeten German district of Czechoslovakia on Oct. 1 if the crisis has not been solved by that date.

Soon after his return from Germany, the Prime Minister was expected to discuss with key cabinet ministers the possibility of satisfying Hitler's reported desire for a plebiscite on the question of joining the Sudeten districts to Germany, the dispatch added.

Contrary to earlier reports, it was said the full cabinet would not meet until tomorrow after Mr. Chamberlain had talked with mediator who is returning from Viscount Runciman, unofficial Prague. Foreign secretary Viscount Halifax, Sir Samuel Hoare, home secretary; Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the exchequer, and possibly others.

Calling Parliament.

Havas further reported it was declared that Parliament would be called into special session only if an extremely important decision, such as the assumption of commitments on the Continent, required approval. The French Agency's despatch continued:

"Such an engagement probably would be necessary if parts of the Sudeten territor ywere turned over to Germany, since a corollary would be an international guarantee of the integrity of the remainder of Czechoslovakia.

"It was felt that if France, Germany, Italy and Soviet Russia were to join in such a guarantee, Great Britain would find it necessary to collaborate, although ever since the Locarno Pact was signed in 1925 every British Government has refused to take new responsibilities on the Continent.

"There was a strong belief that only such international assurance could persuade the Czechoslovakian Government to abandon its natural fortified frontier in the mountains of the Sudeten regions."

Old Marmoran Royal Keys Is Recalled

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Sept. 16 — One of the most interesting tombstones in Marmora Protestant Cemetery is that of Royal Keys, the inscription of which reads:

"Royal Keys, died July 28th, 1871. Aged 107 Years 1 Month 28 Days. A Native of the County Fermanagh, Ireland."

The oldest living descendant of this old pioneer who reached the greatest age of any resident of Marmora district, is Robert Jones, a grandson, who in May of this year attained to his 85th birthday.

"I remember my grandfather well," said Mr. Jones. "He was a member of the Church of England and also belonged to the Orange Order. He always attended the 12th of July celebrations." He lived in the 7th Concession of Marmora Township, where later the late Mrs. Daniel Fitzpatrick resided for a number of years. At the age of 103, Mr. Jones relates, his grandfather cut marsh hay and patched his own barn. "I think that the late Rev. J. E. Halliwell officiated at his funeral."

In the year of his death, Marmora was in the Anglican Parish of Stirling.

Asked if he recalled this old worthy, Jim Bell, another octogenarian of Marmora replied: "Most certainly. He was a raw-boned man and all the Keys were husky men."

Eyes of the World On These Men In European Crisis

The eyes of the world are on Europe and the moves of these men in the tense situation created by the Czechoslovakian Sudeten minority crisis. With Britain in one of the leading roles, the parliament buildings in London, forming a background for this layout, may be the scene of a possible emergency session.

Buckhorn Yields 3 Monster Muskies

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 16. — Hall's Bridge has been making a name for itself in fishing circles during the past week, when three of its citizens landed three large muskies in the waters of Buckhorn lake just above the town, inside of four days.

On Thursday last, Bert Easson, who dirves the Buckhorn stage, produced from the back of his truck a beautiful 23-pound muskie which he explained to a crowd of admiring Lakefielders, had been caught in Buckhorn lake that day. He was taking it down to Peterborough to be mounted.

The following Monday the same thing happened, but this time the muskie, which was caught in Buckhorn lake on Sunday, tipped the scales at twenty-five pounds. "And that isn't all," Mr. Easson added; "another fellow caught a fourteen pounder in just about the same place last Friday.

But by that time the crowd had disappeared. They had gone to get their fishing rods and were en route to Buckhorn Lake.

Clock In Court House Is Stolen Loaf Of Bread Let In Its Place

AN alleged robbery has been committed within the hallowed walls of the County Courthouse, within a few feet of the jail and under the very nose of the jail guards and the keeper of the bastile, Colonel Johnston.

Robbery perhaps is not the proper term to use in this history making event. It is true the culprit entered the County Council Chamber and took the clock off the wall, but he left a loaf of bread on the table in exchange. When one remembers how late it is when members of the County Council return home after a session, there is reason to believe the clock may have run a little slow, and if it has reached the age when it can no longer be regarded as accurate, then perhaps a loaf of bread is a fair price.

The finger of suspicion is pointed at some person who is serving time behind the bars, because the loaf of bread was the same kind as is served in the jail, but what would a prisoner want to know the time for. Aside from this angle the list of suspects is a mile long, anyone of the County Council might have had a hand in it, or even members of the legal profession, or the police or reporters, but at any rate its gone and not a single clue remains except the loaf of bread which is now stale.

U.S. Watches Parley With Interest

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—(AP). —The United States is watching the Chamberlain-Hitler conversation with "the greatest interest," State Secretary Hull said at his press conference to-day.

Permitting direct quotations, a rare occurrence, he declared:

"The historic conference to-day between the Prime Minister of Great Britain and the Chancellor of Germany is naturally being observed with the greatest interest by all nations which are deeply concerned with the preservation of peace."

Hull said he was in telephone communication with the President this morning, imparting to him the latest news in from Europe.

3 Plane Crashes Kill 2 Civilians

LONDON, Sept. 16 (AP)—Crashes of three Royal Air Force planes killed two civilians and injured a third today, but the pilots escaped in each instance.

A woman was burned to death at Stamford, Lincolnshire, when one of two planes which collided in the air struck her house. The pilots landed with parachutes.

One fisherman was killed and another injured when a seaplane struck the mast of their boat while attempting to alight in the Solent, between the Isle of Wight and the mainland. The pilot swam to safety.

Amputation Case Jobs Urged By Tax Rebates

CALGARY, Sept. 16—(CP).—Proposals that employment for war amputation cases should be created by government regulation, in particular by rebate of sales and excise taxes in industries employing a specified percentage of crippled veterans on production and sales staffs, were unanimously endorsed at the closing convention session of the Amputations Association of the Great War.

Col. E. A. Baker of Toronto, Dominion council member, said at the final session yesterday there are 12,000 organized industries in Canada. Some had played the game by employing disabled veterans but they had to compete with others which did not "play the game," thereby creating a cost differential.

A tax credit as suggested, he said, would wipe out the differential.

Loans for establishment of business enterprise in which the pensioners might earn supplementation to partial pensions to achieve a reasonable standard of living were recommended.

Rev. S. E. Lambert of Toronto, head of the Association since its inception 18 years ago, was re-elected president. Col. Baker and Richard Myers, Toronto, were re-elected members of the Dominion council.

Branch representatives elected included: Eastern Ontario, W. E. Browne, Ottawa; Central Ontario, L. Peltz, Toronto; West Ontario, Bob Edwards, London and southwest Ontario, F. Barker, Windsor.

Hi-Jackers Busy

BRANTFORD, Ont., Sept. 16. —(CP).—Hi-jackers stole an undetermined quantity of goods from a large transport truck and trailer last night as the heavy truck slowly climbed the long grade up the mountain at Lancaster.

The robbery was discovered only when the truck arrived here. The tarpaulins covering the loads on both truck and trailer were slashed along the top where the goods were removed. The truck was owned by R. E. Sayles. Several similar cases of hi-jacking have occurred at the same spot.

"Magnificent Gamble"

Diplomats from world centres who gather at Geneva are reported to have expressed varying opinions regarding the trip of Prime Minister Chamberlain to Fuehrer Hitler of Germany. Many of them saw the trip as one of humiliation which would cause Britain to lose cast because it would appear that Chamberlain "had to go to Hitler." That they considered was bad, equivalent to a sign and admission of inferiority or weakness.

That attitude may help to explain just what is wrong with Geneva and its League of Nations. The wrong people may be there, advocates of the old school of diplomacy which would break rather than bend. They probably hold, while gathering in the name of peace, that it is not much use having an army and a navy unless such things shall be turned to the serious business of war.

We are certain as can be it is correct to say Premier Chamberlain did not have to go to Hitler. He could have stayed right where he was in London. There was nothing to force him to take his first plane ride of 610 miles. He could have called for the official tin dish and washed his hands of all responsibility, and he could have said that everything which could be done had been done.

We are strongly of the opinion that Premier Chamberlain went because he wanted to and because he felt he should, and right there is the greatest motive in the world. Greater and higher than going because he had to.

The New York Times gets comfortably close to the whole situation when it refers to Premier Chamberlain's trip this way:

> "Viewed as a final peace move, a supreme effort to save mankind from the horror of another war, it takes on the epic quality of a magnificent gamble for the highest stake in the world."

The international critics who gather at Geneva under the generous roof of the League of Nations have neither the vision nor the courage of a Chamberlain who is actually staking his reputation "for the highest stake in the world"—peace.

Nature Our Great Reforester

There is an impression abroad that the chief work of the Department of Forestry is the planting of trees, and it is easy enough to understand why that belief should prevail. There are so many addresses made on the subject, and nearly always there is mention made of reforestation by the setting aside of certain tracts of land and planting trees there and protecting them. That is good work and worthy of all assistance but it is not the way in which our great forests are being rebuilt. It is indeed but a small part of it.

Forest trees will if given a chance set in motion the process of natural regeneration; that is, they will reproduce themselves if they have a chance to do it. The prevention of forest fires will yield far greater returns than all our tree planting possibly could, and the fact that forest fires are less in extent than they were some years ago is one of the chief reasons why great areas in this province will once again become tree-bearing.

Another reason why our forests are on the way back is the application of scientific methods to timbering. In contracts now issued it is stipulated that the lumber firms cannot take a pine tree under 13 inches diameter. There was a time when lumber camps would go through a section and remove all the white pine because they wanted it above all else. When such a policy was followed it meant the end of a second growth because there was no tree parenthood left.

The process of reforestation is slow but it is sound and right. It takes 80 years to grow a white pine tree of 18 inches diameter while a poplar will be of pulp-wood size in 20 years. The great natural forces which gave us our forests in the first place are still in operation, and the chief mission of our Forestry Department is to make possible nothing more than the continued existence of natural conditions.

Paying The Bill

Hon. Mr. Justice H. H. Davis was named by the Dominion Government to investigate statements made by Lieut.-Col. George Drew regarding the nature and conditions of the contract with the British and Canadian governments for the manufacture of the Bren machine gun in a factory at Toronto. The statements were made in an article published in Maclean's Magazine.

The government made an offer also by which it would be obligated to pay for counsel to assist Mr. Drew in the presentation of his case, but the MacLean Publishing Co. makes the announcement that it has retained the services of I. F. Hellmuth, K.C., for that purpose and his fee will be paid by the publishing company.

And that is probably just as it should be. If it had not been for the publication of the Drew article there would have been no commission of inquiry. At the same time one is not unmindful of the spirit behind the move which says in effect: "I helped to bring this thing on, and therefore I am going to help pay for it." We have had far too many commissions and probing bodies in this country where such suggestion has never been made and the bills in their entirety have been handed to the public for payment.

Ten Good Neighbors

There was another of those items in the paper the other day which took up small space and yet said a great deal which seems to need saying. It was just this:

> GRANTON.—Ten neighbors with teams played the good Samaritan and gave a day's work on the farm of William Ratcliffe, who has been confined to the house since early spring through illness.

The reason why we selected that as suitable for this page is that the news lately has been so heavily loaded with war material, with stories about people who distrust each other, who plan to wreck the lands and homes of others, and who are giving full rein to hate. Hate of the largest dimension in its ugliest form.

Granton is a village in the north part of Middlesex county and William Ratcliffe farms not far out. The ten neighbors who went to do his fall plowing were not thinking of themselves; they would neither expect nor take anything for their day's work. They were thinking of William Ratcliffe and his problem, which at the moment consisted of uncompleted farm work because he had been sick and could not attend to it.

We know it would be difficult to spread that idea all over the world, but the plain truth is that the ten neighbors of William Ratcliffe have the cure for a whole lot of the trouble which is making agony for the world today. The trouble comes that there are men in high places today who would want nothing to do with the policy of William Ratcliffe's ten neighbors. They are bent on taking rather than giving; they are glued to the idea of resisting rather than yielding, and they cannot or will not see that another man's grief is the open door to opportunity for kindly remedial treatment.

Europe will probably never hear anything about the ten neighbors of William Ratcliffe who did the fall plowing because the man had been sick. If that simple plan were to invade the marble halls and stately chambers of world diplomacy it might be hard on the makers of munitions but it would be heaven for the rest of the human race.

Too Great To Understand

The British national debt for the first time in history has passed the $40,000,000,000 mark, and at the moment the national debt of United States stands at $38,328,000,000. So the combined national debt of these nations is $78,328,000,000.

We record that merely as a matter of news and with firm belief that none of our readers will know what it means.

We are perhaps accustomed to thinking of our financial institutions having a great deal of money behind them, but if we put all our bank resources together we have only a small sum compared to that great figure. It works out this way in Canada, taking both the paid-up capital and reserves of our chartered banks:

Bank of Commerce	$50,000,000
Banque Canadienne Nationale	15,000,000
Dominion Bank	14,000,000
Imperial Bank	15,000,000
Bank of Montreal	75,000,000
Bank of Nova Scotia	36,000,000
Provincial Bank	5,000,000
Royal Bank	57,000,000
Bank of Toronto	15,000,000
Barclay's Bank	2,250,000

That makes a total of $284,250,000. It reaches little farther than one-quarter of the distance toward one billion dollars and leaves us wondering regarding the size of 78 billions.

It was reported from Ottawa that the value of the five principal crops in the three prairie provinces this year would be $278,000,000. Those three provinces take in a great deal of space, but that figure does not help much as it is just about the same as the bank capital and reserves for the Dominion.

A banker explained to us that if some agency had started spending $250,000 a year at the time of the birth of Christ he would have to keep on spending at that rate for another 2,062 years, or until the year 4,000, before he would have dispensed one billion dollars.

These enormous public debts have been based largely on the costs of war and war preparation. When the World War was still going on the Manchester Guardian made the estimate that the entire cost of the American Civil War was being duplicated each 12-week period, and that the cost of the Franco-Prussian war was being paid in full every five weeks. At the time the Guardian was dealing with the matter the cost had been placed at 161 billions, and that would have been sufficient to have built 400 Panama canals and to build 92 railway systems around the world. The entire cost of the world war has been computed at 337 billions.

A financial man whose advice we sought admitted it was out of the question to try and comprehend a sum so great as 78 billions, the combined debt of Britain and United States. It is so great that it will never be paid off.

NOTE AND COMMENT

We read that a woman in Tecumseh celebrated her 90th birthday by having three teeth pulled. But why did they use the word celebrated?

Premier King has been for over three weeks with the sciatica and has not taken to bed, and they used to refer to that as a spell of feeling miserable.

Paris has placed a ban on street meetings where war subjects are discussed possibly on the ground that it is a form of gas attack which never harms the enemy.

A speaker in Peterborough coming from Japan said it was not right to state that Japan was nearing exhaustion from its war effort in China. And all along we had been wishing that said point of exhaustion was coming hopefully near.

School children carried placards through the streets of Kitchener with the wording, "Phooey to Hitler." That may have been very smart but just what it accomplished we cannot figure at the moment.

When men were tearing down an old building in Dundalk they came across a cache of 25 and 50-cent pieces. Evidently there was some person in the town years ago who believed in putting money into real estate.

United States war department says it has a new gun which will wipe out a tank offensive. At the moment we cannot think of any nation which is likely to employ tanks against our southern neighbor.

There was a card game going on in St. Catharines and there was a species of progressive trouble running through it. It started when it was found there were too many aces in the deck and it ended with a jail sentence of three months.

The county engineer of Huron found after completing three miles of pavement that some person had driven a spiked tractor the entire distance of the road. We doubt whether it would be comfortable living next door to the man who did that.

There will be three and a-half million bushels of wheat going out by way of Churchill and the Hudson Bay route this year. That might seem quite a lot if it were not for the claim that it would take 50 million bushels to make the thing pay.

They have a scheme in Russia where firemen go to fight bush fires in planes, and when they reach the place they jump out and make the descent in parachutes. Good plan no doubt providing they dont' pop down in the middle of the fire.

The International Association of Fortune Tellers assembled in New York agreed that Hitler would lose power this year. As a rule we do not pay much heed to the monkey business of fortune tellers, but at the moment we admit mild interest in their latest venture.

Senator William Duff complains that lawyers and others with no knowledge of the fish business secure appointments in the Federal Fisheries department. Judging from reports of the amount paid for fish at the docks having a job in the department would be a much better occupation than catching the fish.

In the Sault Ste. Marie Star we read that at the hatchery of Fred Bennett there is a White Leghorn pullet which lays four eggs a day. There are others which produce three eggs per day and doing two a day is hardly worth noticing. We've known Jim Currant, publisher of the Sault Star, for years. We've walked with him, et with him, argued with him and have a regard for him that it is good two columns wide. Even so we don't think Jim ought to publish the like of that in his paper.

¶ I used to think it didn't pay, to keep on working hard each day, my funds were always low; I'd save some small and weak amount, so little it was hard to count, and it grew up so slow.

¶ If I had fifty thousand bones, why that would end my woes and groans, I'd never have to sigh; then I'd sit back and broadly smile, and live a happy life worth while, and let the world go by.

¶ But I read of one wealthy gent, his frame they say is badly bent, and he is in despair; when it comes times to eat at noon, to get him to the dining room, they wheel him in a chair.

¶ Another man I read about, he keeps three guards all large and stout, like living in jail; for he's afraid that thugs will come, and point at him a sawed-off gun, and rid him of his kale.

¶ Another millionaire I see, is hauled to court, age eighty-three, they say it's family strife; the relatives are after him, to try and steal away his tin, he's parted from his wife.

¶ I guess that wealth and I won't hitch, I'm happy if I am not rich, I know my funds are few; no person aims to steal my wealth, I have a fair degree of health—can take my victuals too.

SCHOOL CHANGES.

(Kingston Whig-Standard).

Under the revolutionary program now operative in the schools of Canada—and Ontario is no exception—English occupies very properly first place among the intellectual exercises of the elementary school. The aim is that the children shall learn to speak and write correctly. Grammar is taught indirectly. In the teaching of arithmetic, it is felt that the child is certain to be interested in solving his own problems. Mental arithmetic is on the curriculum, but speed is not favored.

This is the first revolutionary move in education ever made in the Dominion and it affects all classes from the first grade to the university. If the results sought in the reforms, are obtained, Canadian schools will, hereafter, turn out graduates better trained for business position or for industry than in the past. The university is no longer the "be all and end all" of education.

The teacher has assumed a new status. He, and not the curriculum, is important. For this new condition, a former Kingston man and Queen's profe sor, Dr. Duncan McArthur, now deputy minister of education in Ontaario, is largely responsible.

Letters To The Editor

Correspondents Discuss Various Topics

ROYAL FAMILY

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—In order to settle an argument will you please state the order of succession as it stands in the British Royal family. One party contends that if Princess Elizabeth takes the throne then the next in line would be the Duke of Gloucester.

There is another point too which we would like to have settled. How long has the Royal Family born the name of Windsor? BOARDER.

The Princess Elizabeth
The Princess Margaret
The Duke of Gloucester
The Duke of Kent
The Prince Edward George
The Princess Alexandra Helen

The answer to the second question is that in 1917 the late King George V., by order-in-council, changed the name of the Royal Family from the House of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha to the House of Windsor.—Ed. Examiner.

DUMMER TOWNSHIP VOTERS.

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Every Dummer Township voter should be seriously thinking of good men to boost for our next reeve, and council members. It is not too soon to be looking forward to voting time, for when men in office are now working for votes, the voters should be considering the attitude, work and results of such officials efforts; for it is not men who are of the above type. We want to be in office.

How would any voter like to pay a teacher, who, all through the month is planning of spending her month's salary, instead of working for the welfare of her pupils! That does happen in some cases and we find the similarity with some townships officals working for votes uppermost in their mind and not for the welfare of our people in general

We do have men in office, who have carried on their official duties for several years or possibly one year and in a capable, reputable manner, yet keep their balance as just one other co-worker, working for the benefit of every individual without a thought of another year in office and the next election. But when men get to feel they are married to the job, feel the people could not find another one capable of holding that official job and work solely for votes for keeping that idea uppermost in mind, it is time to remove those men out and look for more desirable ones.

We do not want men who hold office by power or force but show by their good deeds, co-operation with their fellow council members and the result to obtained be for the benefit of the public in general.

Now why not visit the council, not as a gossiper or news obtainer, but as an interested taxpayer. Go see what they are doing, how the business hours are conducted, how the taxpayers money is spent; take notice to the lack of co-operation or who is really running the affairs often with slight consideration of the opinion of others or the welfare of the public in general.

A farmer may know how old his pigs, sows, etc., are. He thinks he knows just about all concerning his farm, but how little he knows what is being done with his tax money, too often people are content to be satisfied with what others think. I again urge every taxpayer to go, investigate and see for yourself for if you are a taxpayer be an interested voter working for the welfare of every individula.

Consider, we have three council members on the North side. Why not accept this article for deep thought Eliminate those who are less co-operative and boost for men who do not try to take entire control, pushing power instead of co-operation.

Mrs. JOSEPH HAMILTON.

THE TENTH CONCESSION.

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Looking out of the window one can see the apple trees fairly laden down with apples.

The yellow stubble of the fields shows that the grain is gathered into the barn and the sound of the threshing machine shows that most interesting of fall events is now in full swing.

In spite of its hard work, men seem to get a "kick" out of threshing. There is a certain excitement and interest in it that men like. Even when they are older and cannot stand the strain of the hardest jobs, they will often take a fork and seem to enjoy a lighter job.

There is quite a rush indoors, too, to have everything piping hot and tasty, all ready to serve the moment the machine stops and the men come in for dinner. It takes a mountain of food. Meat and vegetables soon vanish, pies disappear as if by magic, and one's reputation as a cook is soon totally ruined if everything is not of the best.

I usually read your paper through pretty thoroughly every day. The editorials about the "Tenth Concession" I read aloud, and they are much enjoyed. Could do with some of grandfather's liniments as I have a "misery in my back."

We would hardly expect grandfather to say, "I am trading this horse because it has the heaves."

Glad to know that the Boy Scouts took a hike in our direction.

Yours truly,
Cavan, Ont. L. G. MALONE.

• They Could Afford More Milk

(Christian Science Monitor).

WHY is it that when perspiring paterfamilias trots down three flights of stairs just before supper to get a bottle of milk he always seems to have the wrong bottle, or goes to the wrong grocery? And just what's to be done about it? The retailer quite properly asks a deposit of from 2 to 5 cents a bottle from each purchaser, for the storekeeper is responsible to the dairy. Moreover, he accepts in exchange the bottles of his particular dairy only—except in a few enlightened communities. But in cities where the dairies mutually maintain a milk bottle exchange any bottle is taken by the store.

Pursuing the matter further, why cannot dairies inaugurate co-operative delivery systems? Why must from two to half a dozen milkmen stamp up the apartment back stairs each morning when one can do the job as well?

Why must four or five milk trucks or wagons roar and rattle up the alley in the wee sma' hours? Co-operation would permit noiseless modern equipment and might even reduce distribution expense, which today is the largest part of the cost of milk to the consumer. Cheaper milk means higher consumption.

• Wants Own Kind of Voting

(Buffalo Courier and Express).

HITLER'S excuse for his sudden seizure of Austria, it will be remembered was the fact that the ill-starred Chancellor Schuschnigg question of maintaining Austrian had called for a plebiscite on the national sovereignity. There was no doubt about the way that the Austrian people would have voted— so Hitler did not want them to vote.

Now cable dispatches say, Hitler is going to demand a plebiscite in the German-speaking sections of Czechoslovakia on the question of "autonomy"—Nazi name for setting up a puppet state, taking orders from Berlin—within the boundaries of the Czechoslovakian republic. The Prague government has offered the German minority a full measure of true autonomy or home rule under a canton system similar to that of Switzerland, where German-speaking, Italian-speaking and French-speaking populations dwell side by side in unity.

But that doesn't satisfy Hitler. And because it does not satisfy Hitler, it does not satisfy his man, Henlein, and the other leaders of the Sudeten Germans. When Hitler says "plebiscite," of course, he means the Nazo type of plebiscite with his agents in Bohemia seeing to it that 99 per cent. of the vote comes out "ja"—despite the fact that at least 500,000 of Czechoslovakia's 3,500,000 "Germans" are Social Democrats bitterly opposed to "anschluss" with Nazified Germany.

If it is a plebiscite that Hitler wants, however, why shouldn't Czechoslovakia give him a real plebiscite with not only the Sudeten Germans but also the Slovaks, Hungarians, Poles, Ruthenians and other minorities voting on the Czech majority's liberal offer of real home rule, under th canton system, for all of the republic's racial groups Hitler will vote "nein."

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

And Jesus departed from thence, and came nigh unto the sea of Galilee; and went up into a mountain, and sat down there.

And great multitudes came unto him, having with them those that were lame, blind, dumb, maimed, and many others, and cast them down at Jesus' feet; and he healed them: insomuch that the multitude wondered, when they saw the dumb to speak, the maimed to be whole, the lame to walk, and the blind to see: and they glorified the God of Israel. —Matt. xv. 29-31.

Jesus said unto him, Have I been so long time with you, and yet hast thou not known me, Philip? He that hath seen me hath seen the Father; and how sayest thou then, Show us the Father? . . . Believe me that I am in the Father, and the Father in me; or else believe me for the very works' sake.

Verily, verily I say unto you. He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father.—John xiv., 8, 9, 11, 12.

Lord Nuffield heard that a motor car was needed for an old folks' home. He sent one.

Very nice to be Lord Nuffield, and able to give away a motor-car, you may say.

But that's hardly the point. The thing that matters is that we should all take the action wthin our power to give pleasure and supply a want.

Now I don't suppose any of us —certainly very few—are so hard up that we can't do that sometimes.

The thing that seems so small to you may mean so much to those who lack it. Perhaps, for instance, you know someone who never has a chance to go to a cinema Would it be a real burden to you to take them one evening?

United Church Workers Hold Conference In Knox Church

Something new in the line of United Church work was inaugurated in Peterborough Presbytery on Thursday, when a Workers' Institute or Conference was largely attended in Knox United Church in an afternoon and evening session.

Rev. C. H. Ferguson, Bethany, chairman of the Committee on Religious Education, presided throughout.

Leaders from the head office in Toronto brought inspiration and encouragement. They included Rev. Manson Doyle, D.D., representing the Board of Christian Education; Rev. H. H. Irish of the Committee on Missionary Education; and Rev. Russel Harris of the Board of Publications.

Fred Barnard of Bailieboro led the worship service.

The first speaker of the afternoon Dr. Manson Doyle, explained that this was the first series of Church Institute meetings and the main object was to overcome any tendency of the Sunday School to become detached from the church and that the church may accomplish all tasks that God has given her.

Publications.

The matter of publications of the church was introduced by Rev. Russel Harris. Graded lesson series were started by the Church Publishing House eight years ago, as it was a recognized fact that a uniform lesson was not satisfactory to be used as a study for the tiny tots as well as adults. Helps are now available to teach the smallest child the rudiments of religion in a simple manner—which are beneficial to the parents for use in the home as well as for use in the Sunday School. "Sunday School Magazine" is a new venture of the Publishing House—for teachers with general articles—and several changes will be found in the quarterlies. In comparing the cost of Public School education to religious instruction we find a challenge to our church people reminding us "that a good workman needs good tools." To-day, he said, we are engaged as servants of the church in a great task for the benefit of all mankind and hope and pray to ensure its success.

Rev. H. H. Irish, returned to Canada after thirty years in China—referred to our brothers' need in the words of Kipling, "His want is all the world's—and mine," which is the real meaning of "Christian Missions," and as we send our missionaries we are truly "meeting our brothers' needs." Here from Chung-King, capital of China, where eight and ten storey buildings stand in place of the one and one and a half storey buildings of thirty years ago. Stressing the rapid strides in which China has gone ahead, he also pointed out the "Unity" that existed now among all the four hundred millions of Chinese. He told of the conditions since the outbreak of war with Japan. The air raids south of Chung-King, forcing them to dismantle all machinery and the shipping of it to that city, the main streets of the city are full of earth and mud owing to the excavations under the buildings of dugouts 40 feet deep to be used in time of "raids." The railway from Hankow to Chung-King has been bombed every day, as this is the main artery for supplies coming in and this is the Japs' main objective to cut off communication.

Tribute to Miss Coon.

Loving tribute was paid to the unselfish and loving work of the late Marion Coon, who for many years was a co-worker of the speaker. Gratitude was expressed for the work of the teachers sent out to the schools for the Canadian children in China and special mention was made of one of our own girls who went out last November. Ruth Sharpe, also of the successful work of Charlie Kitney in the Peace River District in our own Canada.

An interesting round table conference, in which all were free to take part, closed the afternoon session.

The asembly repaired to the dining room where a sumptuous supper was served by the Women's Association of the church, with Mrs. John Allen, the president, in charge. The tables were prettily decorated with autumn flowers and tastefully arranged in the long room.

The thanks of the conference was extended the ladies who catered so efficientiy by Rev. Mr. Sisco, of Milbrook.

Members of the Religious Education committee of the Peterborough Presbytery were introduced by their president, Rev. C. H. Ferguson, as follows: Secretary, Rev. A. Kelly; children's work councillor, Mrs. C. H. Feruson and Mrs. Milburn; girls' work councillor, Mrs. J. A. McKone; Boys' work councillor, Leo Copp; Y. P. councillor, Robert Spence; young adults' work, Vera Squire; S. S. superintendents, Ward Gamble; leadership training, Rev. Mr. Ferguson; missionary education, Rev. C. L. Brown; temperance, H. Rehill; vacation schools, Rev. M. C. Parr; rural life, O. Carley.

The delegates were led in their various groups by their respective leaders, assisted by the visiting speakers from Toronto, and after the hour of conference, their findings were brought in by their secretaries who stated that many knotty problems had been solved.

Before calling upon the last speaker, the chairman expressed the appreciation to the leaders and to the pastor and session of Knox United Church, and to all contributing to the success of the new enterprise.

A closing word of inspiration was brought by Rev. Dr. Doyle, in his brief address to this group of Christian workers. He impressed upon them the realization that if anything is to be done toward the saving of transgressors, the effort must come from such leaders as were present. "If we are to count as Christians," he said, "we must not only tithe our money but also our personalities and time. He pointed out the great possibilities for Christian service which might include the investment of money in missions, or of time in the active promotion in Christian work.

An impressive closing worship service conducted by Knox Y.P.U. including Tom Allen, president, Ormond Benson and Don Charlton, came as a fitting conclusion to this splendid presbytery conference of workers.

Norwood Chops $2000 Off School Needs

(Examiner Correspondence.)

NORWOOD, Sept. 16. — The September meeting of the Norwood Board of Education was held on Monday night, with John Marks, chairman, Mrs. Cuffe, Mrs. MacIntosh, W. Bitten, W. Burgess, F. Webster, G. A. Brethen, Dr. H. G. Carleton, T. M. Lumsden, and E. T. Buck present.

The Village Council had requested a meeting with the Finance Committee previous to this session. With a hope that the school requisition be reduced owing to the high mill rate, the Council would have to strike this year in order to overcome some unforseen expenditures made late in the year of 1937. This matter was presented to the Board by the Finance Committee, and after considerable discussion it was moved by Burgess and Bitten that the former requisition of $3,000 be reduced to $1,000.

Mr. Bracken, principal of the High School, reported 112 pupils had registered, and asked for some supplies re music, art, library.

Mr. Nelson of the Public School asked the Board to authorize the purchase of some Public School supplies.

On motion of Messrs. Bitten and Buck and Mr. Lumsden and Mrs. Cuffe, these supplies were ordered to be secured.

On motion of Mrs. Cuffe and Mrs. MacIntosh, the congratulations of the Board were tendered the Public School staff re the winning of nine prizes at the Canadian National Exhibition by pupils of the school.

On motion of Burgess and Brethen, the Property Committee was instructed to inspect the fence between the High School and the Armouries, and if deemed advisable, to rebuild the same.

A representative of the Renown Plumbing Company discussed a new plumbing and heating system for the school.

On motion of Mrs. Cuffe and Mr. Brethen, the services of the school nurse will be continued for next year.

Marmora W.I. Plans Tag Day For Blind

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Sept. 16.—The regular monthly meeting of Marmora Women's Institute was held on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Jones, Marmora township with an attendance of thirty-seven. The roll call, "Little Things That Make Life Beautiful" was well responded to. Mrs. J. B. Nichol gave a splendid report of the district ansual convention which was held at Rylestone.

It was decided to have a booth at Marmora Fair and to donate prizes for children's work in connection with the Fair as in former years. It was also decided to send President Mrs. J. Gordenier to the district area convention in Belleville.

Miss M. Brown then read a paper on 'Current Events,' prepared by Mrs. H. W. Sabine. An address was given by Mr. Sparks of Belleville, on the work of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. In the course of interesting and instructive remarks, he mentioned that the Institute was responsible of education of 3.200 in Ontario, of which 197 were in Hasting county. Mr. Sparks also offered to write each member's name in the Braille type as a souvenir.

A motion was carried whereby the Marmora Women's Institute will sponsor a tag day on October 18th, the second day of Marmora Fair, in aid of the National Institute for the Blind.

The program committee next took charge. Mrs. W. J. Pack gave a talk on the motto, "How may we expect a harvest of thought without a seedtime of character." Two humorous readings by Mrs. Hugh Jones and Mrs. W. J. Pack were then given. A contest on 'Trees' proved a pleasing diversion, after which the National Anthem was sung and a delicious lunch was served.

Milkman's Mistake

MENOMINEE, Mich., Sept. 16—(AP).—Joseph King, a milkman driving to work in the early morning through a residential district, thought he saw a man with a fur coat at a street intersection, so he yelled: "Hey, do you think it's winter?" The object turned. It was a large black bear. King hurried on.

Petes Look For Real Battle Here Tonight

The Peterborough lacrosse club will use the same lineup in tonight's game against Woodbridge as won the first fixture Tuesday night and while the Petes are confident of victory they are not looking for a soft snap at the expense of the visitors. Woodbridge is one of those teams that can turn on the heat at a terrific rate once other fellows let up and as the invaders have only to win here tonight to tie the series, they are not worrying about the fact that the Petes had a ten-goal lead on them Tuesday. A one-goal victory for Woodbridge offsets the big margin and the squad sparked by Kingdon can be counted upon to stage a real effort tonight to pull the series out of the fire.

There will be plenty of thrill and action and the game should attract one of the biggest crowds of the season. Play is scheduled to be under way at 8.30 o'clock sharp and it is expected Len Smith of Toronto will handle the whistle.

Masked Marvel Retains World's Title

TORONTO, Sept. 16.—They declared an open hunting season on the Masked Marvel last night, but the ruffian in the hood defied not only Challenger Felix Miquet, the muscular Frenchman, but a crowd of 4,000 who turned out at Maple Leaf Gardens for the first wrestling show in this city since early summer.

Not only did the Mask retain his world's title at the first asking of the new grapple season, but he did it with a definite flourish which suggested it will be some time before he is knocked from his wrestling throne. He was just as much the villian as Ontario Athletic Commissioner Ellerby (Toad') Farr was the hero in events attending last night's show.

He won the first fall by means of a body slam and spread about 25:32 of proceedings; conceded the second in 4:10 when Miquet scored with a bear hug and spread and made sure of his title defense two minutes later by spilling the Parisian with a crotch hold and slam.

Farr Checks the Mask

Commissioner Farr, noted in his day as a lacross defenseman with Weston teams, won the plaudits of the anti-Mask attendants by climbing the steps leading to the ring betwixt the first and second fall and demanding the Mask remove the tape from his hands. The Marvel had been using the tape to playfully draw it across Miquet's face and temporarily blind him—an old trick of the wrestling trade. But Farr deprived him of this weapon of offense and the crowd liked it so much they cheered and backslapped Farr as he moved to and fro from the ringside.

Commissioner Farr's action was without precedent in recent wrestling history, and while his move came as a surprise, it found complete favor with the assemblage. Hatred of the Mask has not mellowed with age insofar as the local mat adherents are concerned. The hood and his hooded manager are still public enemies No. 1 and 2 respectively.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By FRED CRAIG

IT'S just a hunch but somehow the idea will not down that tonight's lacrosse game here between Woodbridge and the Petes will turn out to be one of the most interesting battles of the season. The homesters should win and grab off the series in two straight games but this Woodbridge team plays smart, clever lacrosse and the Petes cannot afford to get careless at any stage or they will find themselves with a fight on their hands. Tonight's game may lack some of the bumping and bruising that crop up in some of the fixtures for the visitors do not play that style of lacrosse but there should be plenty of clever teamwork and individual brilliance. In Kingdon, the Woodbridge outfit have one of the stars of the group and he will probably give the fans some thrills if he is not kept completely in subjectibn by persistent back-checking. The game is called for 8.30 o'clock and should draw one of the biggest crowds of the season.

* * * * *

THERE will be notihing doing on the baseball front here tomorrow. The tieup in the T. A. B. A. playoffs prevented an O. B. A. A. fix ture here and the Petes were unable to arrange an exhibition game. An effort was made to have the Buffalo Fro-Joys come back for another battle but the semi-pros wanted a bigger guarantee than on the occasion of their last visit and the Peterborough management could not see it. Consequently there will be no game tomorrow and Manager Eddie Murphy, Chuck Kearns, and Bob Doll will go to Cobourg with the senior rugby squad while the rest of the outfit will get a day off.

* * * * * *

PETERBOROUGH'S senior football team will swing into action for the first time against opposition tomorrow when the whole squad will travel to Cobourg for an exhibition game against the Red Raiders. The Petes had a strenuous workout at Exhibition Park last night with two lines crashing into each other with a vengeance and after it was over Coach Bill Irwin announced the following lineup for the Cobourg game—Flying wing—Marsh, halves—Krug, Shields and Loucks, quarter—Murphy, snap—Hendrie, inside wings—Irwin, Prate, middles—Winslow, Flack, outsides—Deadey, Hendren, alternates, Magee, Crowe, McIyre, Grose, E. Specely, F. Spencely, Kearns, Doll, McNaulty, J. Creighton, Curtin, Leether, Mitchell, J. Deadey, Lambert, Williams and Flint. There is of course nothing permanent about this lineup. Coach Irwin intends to use the game as a test for the squad as it will give him an opportunity to see the whole outfit in action against strong opponents.

Losing Two Athletes

PETERBOROUGH is losing the services, temporarily, at least, of two of her most versatile young athletes, in the person of Al and Grant Clark, twin sons of Dr. and Mrs. D. W. Clark, who are leaving Sunday to attend Clarkson College at Pottsdam, N. Y. The Clark boys, young in years have long been prominent in local sport circles, particularly in hockey, football and baseball. Both gave valuable service to the Peterborough Junior O. H. A. squad, and in rugby the two have carried the mail with brilliant success on the backfield of the P. C. I. interscholastic squad. In baseball Al has shone as an infielder on the Peterbrough Central Ontario League club for several seasons, after graduating from the junior ranks and Grant has been one of the mainstays with Herb Ralph junior O. B. A. A. squad ,starring as a pitcher and as one of the best hitters in the lineup. In addtion to all this prowess in hockey, baseball and rugby, the Clark boys are curlers of no mean ability. Their names will probably be prominent when the Clarkson hockey team takes the ice this winter.

JUST ten years ago, Peterbrough Raybestos, playing in the O. B. A. intermediate series defeated Stouffville on their own grounds 5 to 0, taking the series in two straigth games. Casey Masterson pitched shut out ball for the Rays and opposed to him with a pitcher who next year will wear the uniform of the Cincinnati Reds, none other than Earl Cook, this year with Syracuse. It was the second defeat Cook sustained at the hands of the Raybestos team, Sailor Maudsley getting a verdict over him in the first game. On the same day that Masterson triumphed another future big leaguer was in action against a Peterborough team for Goody Rosen, the Toronto boy who has starred in the outfield for Brooklyn Dodgers this season was playing for Toronto St. Francis against Riley and Hickey's team in an O. B. A. A. bantam game at Riverside Park. The Toronto kids who won 5 to 2 included in their lineup Chuck Kearns, now with the Peterborough Central Leaguers while Cliff Cadd, first baseman of this year's Petes was catcher for the 1928 bantam outfit. * * * * * *

PETERBOROUGH COLLEGIATE teams set something of a record yesterday afternoon when 72 candidates for the senior and junior squads reported on the campus for practice. There were 28 aspirants for the senior team and 44 out for places on the junior outfit and they put in a strenuous hour, the seniors under the direction of Coach Bamforth while Coach David, assisted by Jim Hall put the big junior squad through their paces. Stiff setting-up exercises, some blocking and running back kicks by the halves was the chief menu for both squads. Diplock, Harle, Moldover, Scriver and Leethefr worked on the back division for the senior squad during the kicking practice.

Just Another Headache

THE T. A. B. A. playoff series goes from one headache to another. Last night Danforth Aces and the G. and W. clubs met and it was confidently hoped that the Aces would toss their opposition for a loss and thus elliminate one of the contenders from the race. And what happened? Merely that G. and W. trimmed the leaders 4 to 1 and put themselves back in the running. Now if Bright's should happen to come along tomorrow and also defeat Danforth, the whole playoff series would be completely jammed and it would be impossible for the T. A. B. A. to get a winner by Wednesday when the Toronto title-holders are expected to meet the Petes. We would suggest the three outfits toss among themselves to decide which shall represent Toronto in the playdowns.

THE announcement of the sale of nine of the Maroon hockey players to the Canadiens and Black Hawks is major news so far as the N. H. L. is concerned. The Canadiens, in particular, should be materially strengthened by the addition of six players from the Big Red team. By buying Gracie, Cain and Ward, the Flying Frenchmen have secured a complete forward line that plays the fast, flashing kind of hockey the Canadiens have always featured and we have a hunch that under Cecil Hart's guidance this trio will prove one of the best scoring lines in the N. H. L. loop during the coming season. Of the defence men purchased Cy Wentworth will probably prove the most valuable to the Canadiens. Black Hawks too have strengthened themselves for the 1938-39 campaign by picking up a veteran Maroon forward line in Blinco, Northcott and Robinson. There is a lot of hockey left in that trio.

THE thud of football boots against the pigskin is not the only sign that the season of summer sports is rapidly passing and the period for indoor games is close at hand. Another surer indication is the announcement that the Duffus bowling alleys will be opened for the season tomorrow night which means that before long five-pin leagues will get their schedules under way and the alley cracks will have their bowling arms loosened up and in action. Incidentally, the Duffus alleys have been materially improved in preparation for the winter season. The whole place has been re-decorated and presents a most attractive appearance, new pins and new balls have been added to the equipment and the runways have been reconditioned with the result that the experts will be left without alibis if their bowling happens to slump a bit.

SPORTING GOULASH—All Brinton football players are asked to be at the Empress Hotel at 2.30 o'clock Saturday to journey to Deloro. Referee Hanlon will travel with the team....Eddie Murphy who expected to be piloting the Peterborough Central Leaguers to a victory over the Toronto title holders tomorrow will instead be running football plays at quarter for the senior rugby squad against Cobourg ....Coach Bill Irwin has one crumb of comfort. Some of his players are playing baseball as well as rugby and others are playing lacrosse in addition to their football but he has no one playing all three games.... Don Crowe and Joe McNulty of the senior rugby club will be used sparingly tomorrow as both are on the injured list....Bud Murray, formerly of the Petes is playing first base for the Danforth Aces and scored their only run last night....Mt. Hamilton defaulted to Brooklyn last night giving the winners the series.....That's the lot, lads. .....

Playoffs Rained Out Try Again Tonight

Twice stymied by rain, the International League playoffs series takes place tonight in Newark and Syracuse.

Newark Bears face Rochester Red Wings who took the first encounter 3-2 in a 12-inning thriller, while Syracuse Chiefs and Buffalo Bisons mix on the Chief's home grounds. Syracuse won the first of their best four of seven series for the right to meet the American Association playoffs winner in the Little World Series, 3-2.

Manager Dick Porter will start Johnny Gee on the mound for Syracuse. He said Ted Kleinhans, who pitched the first game, which Buffalo won, will be rested and in shape to pitch in the third game if it is played in Buffalo tomorrow.

Manager Steve O'Neill also refused to budge from his succession of Bison pitchers, and is holding Fabian Kowalik ready for the mound in the second game.

PIGEON STOPS GAME

The Victor and the Victim

Bobby Riggs, RIGHT, congratulates Gilbert Hunt of Washington, after the latter had defeated him in the fourth round of the U.S. tennis championships at Forest Hills. The defeat of youthful Robert, ranked second only to Don Budge, was the biggest surprise of the tournament and came after five hard sets. Hunt himself was eliminated in the semi-final round by Gene Mako.

Arguments Still Wax Hot Over Major League Ball

By PAT ROBINSON
Central Press Canadian Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 16. — Chuck Klein, slugging outfielder of the Phillies, believes he can account for some of the difference between the power of the hitters in the two major leagues.

"It's the ball," says Chuck. "Nobody can tell me the American ball isn't livelier than the ball we use in the National. We got a fine slant on that when we moved over into the Athletics' park. All of us Phillies had a hard time driving a National league ball out of the lot and some of us are pretty fair sluggers at that.

"But the A's come into the park with the A. L. ball and even the weakest hitters among them can drive the ball a mile. We also can take that A. L. ball and drive it just as far as the American leaguers.

"I'll bet if you look up the records you'll find National leaguers make just as many hits, but they don't get as many homers or as many long hits or as many runs batted in because they are using a dead ball."

Chuck seemed to have something there so we looked up the records and, sure enough, the figures bear out his contention.

For instance, there are 17 American leaguers who have already driven in 100 or more runs or probably will have reached the century mark by the end of the season. But there are only eight National leaguers who may reach that mark.

The Century club of the National league shows Ernie Lombardi, Frank McCormick, Mel Ott, Joe Medwick, Dolph Camilli, Ival Goodman, Johnny Rizzo and Johnny Mize, and it's no sure thing that all of them will make the grade.

However, despite the slugging discrepancy, the National leaguers, as Klein pointed out, make just as many or more hits. McCormick, for instance, is leading both leagues and seems sure to be the first in either league to reach the 200 mark —a feat also accomplished by other rookies in the past.

Another rookie, Ken Keltner of the Indians, is driving in more runs on a comparatively low batting average than any other man in either league. Keltner is hitting far below .300 but he will wind up the year with far more than 100 runs driven in.

At the moment, it appears probable that McCormick will lead the majors in number of hits made, Jimmy Foxx will lead in runs batted in and Hank Greenburg in homers, not a bad showing for first base since all three hold down that bag for their respective teams.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB. MARTIN

The reports handed into us this morning re last night's game show at least one competition is finished. When R. Bacon's rink defeated F. Brown 27-14 that settled the men's rink schedule and particularly group 2—the other group winners having been declared some time ago.

In the Skips and Vices playoffs we are informed it was a tight game all the way through with Dyer leading up until the last two ends and then losing out to Sackville's quartette 19-14.

In the Leads and Seconds playoffs judging by the score Rev. Easton had no trouble with G. Fee's rink and he will now have to play the winner of the Mowry-Duncan game if there is one? But the reports are somewhat conflicting about that game—We will have to see the members of the committee before we can pass out any information.

Along with Jack Fitzpatrick, Ross Downey and Robert Hendry we motored over to Port Perry last evening and played in the twilight doubles staged by that club. The local boys gave a good acount of themselves, both coming in the money. A nice gesture on the part of the visiting bowlers was that of sending flowers to the president of the Port Perry Club, Jack Murray. Jack who is ill in the hospital is greatly improved and the boys are all pulling for his speedy recovery. He is well and favorably known throughout the Central Ontario Lawn Bowling Association.

Winners

J. Fitzpatrick and H. Martin, 3 wins and each an electric heater.

R. Downey and R. Hendry, 2 wins, each a Big Ben clock.

It looks as if it is going to be a nice day and evening and we are reminding all the boys and girls about the mixed tonight. Telephone your name in—7.30 is the zero hour.

Bromwich Cuts Joe Hunt Out Of Finals

FOREST HILL, N.Y., Sept. 16—(AP).—Australia, with a population of only about 7,000,000, is without doubt the hottest tennis country in the world to-day, and gives every indication of getting hotter.

Of six players left in the men's division of the United States national championships here, two were from the sparsely settled Dominion—Jack Bromwich and Harry Hopman. Another of its representatives, Nancy Wynne, had reached the semi-finals of the womens department and looked like a certain finalist, if not the champion.

Its a remarkable showing, considering that the "Down Under" land's population is no more than that of Greater New York, which hasn't had even a finalist here in a coon's age. Bromwich, still fresh after his four-set win over Joe Hunt yesterday, was asked how come?

"Probably the simplest explanation is that we have about 2,000,000 tennis players," he said. "Honest, about two out of every seven people must play the game. One club in Melbourne has 1,800 members.

Play All Year Around.

"In Sydney and Melbourne we have the advantage of being able to play every month of the year on grass. It is seldom too hot or too cold. Naturally, we are developing a lot of good players. I should think we have about eight youngsters at home who could beat your Frank Kovacs, to use an example. Of course, you must remember that two of our best players, Jack Crawford and Vivian McGrath, didn't come over this time."

Nancy Wynne, who jumped into the forefront of the women contenders by her 6-4, 5-7, 6-1 victory yesterday over Margot Lumb of England, was a good stenographer up to a year ago. She is a tall, loose-limbed girl with an exceptionally hard service and blazing ground strokes.

NINE MAROON PLAYERS ARE SOLD TO CANADIENS AND HAWKS

Big Red Machine Is Dismantled On Day's Sales

MONTREAL, Sept. 16—(CP). —They began dismantling Thursday what they once called "The Big Red Machine" of the National Hockey League, and it meant an end—which they like to think will be for only a couple of years—to Montreal Maroons, twice holders of the Stanley Cup in their less than fourteen years' existence.

A brief announcement told of the sale for cash to Montreal Canadiens of Stew Evans and Cy Wentworth, veteran defencemen; Jimmy Ward, Bob Gracie and Herbie Cain, two of whom help form the once brilliant line of Gracie-Cain-Marker; and young Desse Smith, a youngster they brought up last season in effort to bolster the faltering ranks. Details of the negotiations were not disclosed, and officials declined to mention the amount of money involved.

Bill Tobin, President of the Hawks, did not announce the amount of money involved, but described it as the "most important sum" for a National League transaction in the last five years.

Whether all six former Maroons will be retained by Canadiens is a matter that will be decided after the Frenchmen start training Oct. 3 and get on the ice about Oct. 22. Cecil Hart was unable to say just what was what about his bolstered team. However, six new men had been added to the roster, so there must have been tentative places for them at least. Hart admitted that.

"Oh, yes," he conceded, "but then you have to remember we'll be without Aurel Joliat, Marty Burke and Pit Lepine. And I don't say we have to keep all these fellows. We might, for insance, send young Smith down to the minors, where we will keep strings on him until next year.

"Then, this new purchase will give us five defencemen. We'll likely keep four. Right now, we have Babe Siebert, Walter Buswell, Cliff Goupille and then Evans and Wentworth. I'm inclined to favor Wentworth, because, of these five fellows, he's the only righthand shot, and we could do with a right-hander.

"You must remember, too, that our team will be speeded up by the return of Polly Drouin and Armand Mondou, both hurt badly last season."

Hart, who led his team to the Stanley Cup in 1930 and 1931, said he expected negotiations would be completed Monday for a "close-working agreement" with New Haven of the International-American League, whereby Lepine might go down these as playing-manager.

Also from the Maroon's negotiating list, Canadiens obtained the rights on Defenceman Lester Brennan of Quebec Aces and Goaler Claude Bourke of Verdun of the Quebec Senior Hockey League, and another goaler, Zeke Firley, who played junior last season with Winnipeg Monarchs.

No special significance was placed by Hart on the fact that Canadiens now have three goaltenders lined up as well as the present goalkeeper, Wilf Cude.

"The fact that we have these two new boys doesn't mean necessarily we're using them," he said. "As a matter of fact, we'll be bringing up our sub, Paul Gauthier, for the training season. Either he or Cude will be in the net for us when we get down to buisness. I don't know who it will be."

She Surprised Helen Jacobs

Biggest upset of the United States national tennis championships, now in progress, was sprung by Margot Lumb, ABOVE, hard-hitting English girl who swept Helen Hull Jacobs, four times champion and favored to cop the crown again this year, off the court, 7-5, 6-2, in one of the preliminary rounds. The only bigger surprise could have been the defeat of Don Budge. Incidentally if you still think tennis is a pitty-pat game take a look at Margot lambasting that ball!

Paul Waner and Jim Tobin, Pirates—Waner hit two homers and Tobin pitched seven-hitter to whip Giants 7-2.

George Rensa, White Sox, and George Caster, Athletics—Rensa hit two singles and drove in two runs in 5-4 opener win—Caster blanked Sox 1-0 with four hits in nightcap.

Jacobs Matches Apostoli And Corbett

By Drew Middleton
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—(AP).—Mike Jacobs, the mahout of the fight business, has started to untangle the middleweight class by matching Fred Apostoli and not-so-young Corbett, 3rd, for 15 rounds on Nov. 18 in Madison Square Garden.

Jacobs roundly proclaims the fight will be for "the middleweight championship of the world." He may have the New York State Athletic Commission to back him up. The commission does not like Al Hostak, who apparently won the title when he knocked out Freddy Steele July 26.

The solons declared the title vacant then and gave a rousing call for contenders. They wanted Hostak and Apostoli, but apparently they are not going to get them, not right away anyway. Corbett will fill in and if Mike can convince them it is a championship bout the commission might recognize the winner as titleholder.

Pirates Hammer Out Five Homers To Wallop Giants By 7-2; Yankees Take Detroiters 6-4

By Sid Feder
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

The second division actors moved front and centre in the National League pennant comedy today.

In a pair of doubeheaders at Philadelphia and Boston, those also-rans, who are just along for the ride now, have a big say in just what the final act of the race will look like. And, if past performances of this season are any indication, they'll probably kick everything lopsided.

Pittsburg's Pirates, boasting a three-game margin as the result of 7-2 walloping they pinned on the Giants with five homers yesterday, move into Boston for a twin bill with the buzzing Bees. Cincinnati Reds, four games back in third place, tangle with the Phillies.

The developments of these bargain bills will be of particular interest to the single game get-together in the Polo Grounds in New York, involving the second-place Chicago Cubs, who are only three games back and moving fast, and the Giants, who fell to fourth place yesterday.

All signs point to trouble for the Pirates in Boston. The Bucs have won only three of eight starts in the hub this year.

All four of the first division outfits were on hand for the Pirates-Giants party yesterday. The Cubs and Reds, with an off-day in their schedule, took a busman's holiday to sit in on the proceedings, and what they saw made it appear the Pirates are still the outfit favored to finish on top.

Waner Gets a Pair.

Paul Waner walloped two homers, and "Li'l Poison" Lloyd Waner, Pep Young and Johnny Rizzo contributed one each. This left the Pirates in a spot where they can play just .500 ball in their remaining 20 games and the Cubs would have to take 13 of 18 to pass them.

New York Yankees were tripped up 6-4 by Detroit in the American League headliner. Although beaten, Gehrig and Company was left needing only three victories to clinch the pennant, since Boston's 2nd-place Red Sox managed only a split with Cleveland in a pair of 3-2 decisions. The Indians won the opener on Jeff Heath's homer, and the Sox took the afterpiece on Fritz Ostermueller's six-hitter.

The Athletics and Chicago White Sox also broke even, the Sox coming through 5-4 in the first game and George Caster pitching a four-hit 1-0 win in the second. Sam West's two run single gave the Senators a 6-4 edge over St. Louis Browns.

Danforth Aces Beaten 4 To 1

TORONTO, Sept. 16.—Hap Watsons G. and W. squad remained in the senior T.A.B.A. championship play-off hunt by taking a 4 to 1 decision over Chris. Speyer's Danforth Aces last night at Viaduct Park in the last scheduled game of the 12-game, round robin, home and home series decided upon to declare the 1938 championship team of Toronto.

A last inning "pitching weakness" proved the fatal blow to the flashy Ace's chances. They were leading by a single run up until Johnny Bailey started to falter in the seventh.

Bailey, after pitching a swell game for the first six frames, got into plenty of trouble in the seventh, when after fanning the first man to face him, allowed two hits and a pair of walks. One of the hits was off the bat of Peezer Martin, who scored Alexander with the tying marker.

That spelled the demise of Bailey from the Danforth mound and Eddie Bush took over, but failed to gain control, walking three in a row, with the bases loaded, to give G. and W. three more runs. Young Hal Mingo replaced him and retired the next two batters in order, the game being called directly after.

Reaches New Heights

Orillia, St. Kitts Clash In Playoffs

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Sept. 16.—(CP)—Orillia Terriers, their name long a by-word in Canadian lacrosse circles, and St. Catharines Athletics, an up-and-coming band ready to grab off the glory that long has gone to the Terriers, tangle here to-night in the first game of a best-of-five series for the Senior Ontario Lacrosse Association title.

It's a long time since an Orillia team has entered a provincial favorite the underdog. The Athletics and the Terriers split their six scheduled games in the regular season, but the Athletics finished the season in first place and showed a slight bulge in the scoring records.

Although not rated as powerful as the outfit which lost last year in the Canadian final to Vancouver Salmonbellies, the Terriers this season are still a powerful outfit. Holding them together, and pacing their attack, is Bucko McDonald, defence star with Detroit Red Wings in the National Hockey League.

Sand Trap Eliminates J. Thompson And Four Unknowns Go Into U.S. Golf Tourney Finals

By Judson Bailey
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

OAKMONT, Pa., Sept. 16—(AP). —There is no time like the present to get acquainted with the next United States amateur golf champ, though his name won't be know before tomorrow afternoon.

Introductions are in order because few persons ever heard of the four semi-finalists who scrambled around Oakmont's grass and sand today after the most devastating slaughter of favorites the championship has known.

Ed Kingsley, 23-year-old ore sampler at a copper mine in Magnah, Utah, opposed Willie Turnesa, a New York city youth of the same age, whose name you are more likely to recognize because of the achievements of his golfing brothers than of his own.

Canada's last threat for the title died in a sand trap on the 20th hole of the quarter-final yesterday as Little Joe Thompson of Hamilton, Ont., lost to Abbott, former United States public links champion.

Thompson had won two extra-hole matches—he defeated Walter Blevins of Kansas City on the 19th yesterday morning. But in the second extra hole in the afternoon Thompson's approach "splashed" in the sand and he could not match Abbott's par four.

Calves Go Up 25 Hogs Lambs Ease In Price

TORONTO, Sept. 16—(CP)—Prices on steers, heifers and bologna bulls dropped 15 to 25 cents on Toronto livestock market this week, the Dominion livestock branch reported. Calves advanced 25 to 50 cents while hogs lost 35 to 50 cents. Lambs opened 25 to 50 cents lower and held steady for the balance of the week. Sheep were unchanged.

The cattle run included 1,000 from the West, mostly stockers. Trade was dull from the opening on both killers and store cattle. Smaller butcher operators were fairly well represented in the sales but the larger abattoirs did not purchase their usual quota of cattle. A hold-over of 1,900 head from Monday was down to around 800 head at the close.

Weighty steers were the slowest moving grade with several loads unsold. Top for steers was $7 for one load with others from $6.50 downward to $5 cwt. Good butchers steers and heifers opened at $6 25 for tops but there were none above $6 after Monday. Bulk of sales were from $4.50 to $5.75.

Butcher cows were steady at $2 to $4.50 as were canners at $2.25 to $2.50. Good butcher bulls held at $4 to $4.50 but bolognas slipped to $3.25 to $3.50 for the majority. Fed calves were generally unchanged at $9 to $9.50 for choice with mediums from $6 to $7 cwt.

Few Stockers Moving

Stockers traded slowly at slightly easier prices with some unsold. Prices ranged from $4 for common up to $5.15 for picked lots with some feeders at $5.25. Milkers and springers were steady with Durhams selling up to $70 each and with good Holstein springers reaching $75.

Good and choice veal calves moved actively at $9 to $10 with odd tops at $10.50. Common heavy vealers ranged down to $5. Grass calves brought $4 to $4.75.

Hogs opened easier at $9.50 to $9.60 off trucks for bacons and closed at $9.25 to $9.40 with most sales at $9.35. Sows sold at $6.50 to $7 cwt. off trucks. Buyers were talking still lower prices for weekend deliveries.

Sheep and lamb receipts were fairly heavy. Good Ewe and wether lambs were down to $8 to $8.25 with most late sales at $8. Bucks sold at $1 discount and culls ranged from $6 to $6.50. Good light ewes made $4 to $4.50 cwt on the sheep section with culls downward to $2.

Livestock branch weekly summary:

This week: Cattle, 6,667; calves 2,094; hogs, 4,906; sheep and lambs, 5,114.

Last week: Cattle, 6,421; Calves, 2,246; hogs, 4,008; sheep and lambs, 5,248.

MORE ABOUT—

Czechs Chase

said there were no casualties.

The public prosecutor at Eger, a hotbed of Sudeten agitation, issued a warrant for the arrest of Henline, charging him with treason and provocation of political disorder. Authorities said he would be arrested instantly if he attempted to return to Czechoslovakia from Germany, where he has taken refuge.

Some government officials were urging that the whole Sudeten party be dissolved.

Martial law was extended to 16 Sudeten German communities. Thousands were fleeing the trouble zone, some to Prague and some to Germany. Troops with gleaming bayonets patrolled streets of the main Sudeten cities. Their instructions were to crush any attempts at further disorders.

Official reports said 29 were killed and 75 wounded in clashes since Chancellor Hitler proclaimed on Monday that he would help the Sudeten Germans get their "rights."

Henlein could not be found at his home in Asch. His wife and two daughters also had disappeared. It was reported here (and also in Germany) that the Sudeten "Fuehrer" had fled to Munich and was near his mentor, Chancellor Hitler.

If caught and convicted, Henlein would face a possible sentence of life imprisonment. The martial law decree provided death within two hours after conviction for disturbers of the peace.

The Czechoslovak cabinet studied Henlein's proclamation "to the civilized word" for several hours before deciding to submit the evidence to the public prosecutor with directions to institute action under provisions of the treason law.

The manifesto wa sissued at Eger, "Sudeten capital" three miles from the German frontier, and made public through the German official news agency and radio stations, so that its contents would be sure to reach the Sudeten Germans.

Telephone and telegraph lines were cut in various communities despite the military precautions.

Cyclist Shoots Officer.

A motorcyclist sprang from his machine at Sebastianburg, shot dead a gendarme staff officer, John Hermanek, seriously wounded a Czech soldier, and slightly wounded a passing civilian.

Two thousand demonstrators against the Government at Reidereshremburg and started several fires. Police dispersed the rioters with nightsticks.

The Melnicker Radio said irresponsible elements among German trade unions formented strikes in several communities.

Two of the largest Social Democrat Labor organizations appealed against strikes "at a time when the Government is trying to overcome unemployment."

The Red Cross helped many of the 3,000 persons who fled to Prague from the Sudeten country. Temporary refuge was given them in public buildings. A young Jewish merchant who came here from Karlsbad (Karlovy Vary) slashed his wrists and flung himself to death from a Prague hotel window.

The Prague Stock Exchange strengthened after weakness upon news of the talks at Berchtesgaden yesterday between Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain and Chancellor Hitler.

Some Prague newspapers printed large headlines charging "German lies" in connection with the situation in Czechoslovakia. Others displayed prominently the news that "America's fleet is ready."

President Benes' action in declaring parliament adjourned apparently eliminated early possibilities of settling the dispute should some arrangement be effected for resuming negotiations. Parliament had been in session awaiting definite progress in the negotiations.

Lumber Wagon Passes Over Man Aged 94

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, Sept. 16.—Robbers broke and entered the service station of Ernest Marsh situated two miles east of Actinolite on Highway No. 7 on Wednesday night and stole a quantity of gasoline, oil, and in addition a portion of a drum of oil. Padlocks were smashed by the intruders to gain access to the gasoline pumps and the building, where the oil is stored. Transient motorists are blamed by Provincial police who investigated on Thursday. No unnecessary noises or disturbances were heard by Mr. Marsh or his family during the night, it was learned.

Taken to Hospital

James Dennie, aged 94 years, of Ardock, was taken to the Kingston General Hospital on Thursday afternoon, in a critical condition as a result of injuries he received when the wheels of a lumber wagon passed over his head early in the afternoon.

Dr. D. W. Boucher, Kingston, who attended the injured man at the hospital stated that his condition was very poor. According to information received from Ardoch Mr. Dennie, who is a bachelor, was working about his home drawing a heavy load of lumber, when it is thought that his team ran away, throwing him off the load.

36 Pound Muskie

Dr. E. W. List, of Andover, Ohio, can justifyably claim the fishing honors of Stoco Lake, since he hauled out a thirty-six pound muskie on Wednesday morning. An occupant of one of Mr. A. J. Maynes' cottages, the dental doctor was fishing alone in the cove at the east end of the lake when the 'lunge took hold. Using an eighteen pound test silk line, it was necessary to play the fish well over half an hour before he was subdued. The giant specimen put up a terrific battle and it was only careful work on Dr. List's part, that finally saw the muskie floundering about in the bottom of the boat. Stoco Lake has yielded some nice catches this year, but this thirty-six pound fish is the largest taken out to date. The captor vows there are muskies in Stoco Lake which would go as high as seventy-five pounds, but owing to the abundance of feed, they will pay little heed to artificial bait, which will leave a mark for the Isaac Walton's followers to hit at. Dr. List is having the monster mounted and will take him back to Andover as the souvenir of a holiday in Ontario.

Land Two Muskies

The younger members of the fishing world are also having their luck with the lunge. Bill Beatty, who is an ardent follower of the hook and line sport, landed a twelve pound muskie, while Toey Meraw took an eight pounder from the upper stretches of the Moira north of the village.

A considerable amount of goods together with $20.00 in cash was taken from the general store operated by Mrs. L. M. Hughes, Arden. Entrance was gained through a rear window, while the family was absent. Police are investigating the breakin.

ORANGEVILLE, Ont., Sept. 16 (C.P.). — Scoring seven goals in the last period, Orangeville defeated East York, 13-7, in a Senior B Ontario Amateur Lacrosse playdown game here last night to tie the series. It was not determined immediately where and when the deciding tilt will be staged.

LAKEFIELD

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Maloney and daughter Betty Jean, and Miss Mitchell of Detroit, spent Labor Day with Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Charlton in Lakefield.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Berhalter, of Buffalo, N.Y., spent Labor Day in Lakefield, the guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Charlton.

Large Green Bass

Unusual Operation Is Performed On Holstein Heifer

An event rare in the annals of cattle breeding and without precedent in Peterborough county took place at the farm of Matchett Brothers in Otonabee township recently when a Caesarean operation was successfully performed on a two-year-old pure bred Holstein heifer by Dr. Harold Worton, veterinary surgeon of this city.

The cow was due to freshen five weeks ago and when it became known the calf could not be born in the natural way, the doctor was called. One farmer suggested that the heifer be killed but it was decided to try the operation because of the value of the animal. Headlights of a car supplied the illumination in the Matchett barnyard, and the heifer was under the anaesthetic for two hours.

No Ill Effects.

Dougall Matchett owner of the animal got the surprise of his life when he walked out to the barnyard the following morning and found the cow drinking water from a trough, and from that tme on she showed no ill effects. He had left her the night before lying comfortably in a warm spot, covered with blankets. The cow had given thirty pounds of milk regularly since her unusual experience and there is little trace of the scar on her side that required about 22 stitches to close.

The heifer is named Lexall Keyes Hartog and was sired by Hays Supreme, the outstanding male of Canadian Holsteins. She is a half sister of the prize winning heifer owned by Joe Tully and also a half sister of Supreme Ruby Echo, holder of the Canadian Championship for three-year-olds producing butter and fat. Her entry had been placed in the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition but had to be withdrawn.

Operations Are Rare

Operations of this type on cows are very rare but not so uncommon with other animals. The percentage of calves which live is very small as the operation is usually tried as a last resort, and invariably the cow dies along with the offspring. Two such operations have been performed in the Lindsay area by a veteran doctor who is rated as one of the finest in the province but neither was successful.

A 29-Ounce Baby

SUPERIOR, Wis., Sept. 16.—(A.P.). —Doctors were hoping today to save the life of 29-ounce babe Armbuster, three-day-old incubator son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Armbuster. The baby, one of the tiniest ever born in the northwest United States is receiving special oxygen treatment and is being fed with an eye dropper.

Propose To Show John R. Green Is Still Insane

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 16 (C.P.).—Counsel for Dr. G. H. Stevenson, suspended superintendent of the Ontario Hospital here, declared today to the Royal Commission investigating Ontario mental hospitals he would show that John R. Green, St. Thomas lawyer whose charges precipitated the probe, was insane "at this moment."

Demanding access to the record of Green and other patients whose complaints might be put forward by Green, the attorney, A. M. LeBel, declared: "We propose to show that Green is at this moment insane, that he was insane at six o'clock last night."

LeBel made his assertion when the Commission counsel, Eric Silk of Toronto, was about to call as a witness Dr. James R. McGeoch, acting superintendent of the London Hospital. He insisted that all files on London cases be made available to Dr. Stevenson who desired immediate reinstatement.

Adjourned Till Monday.

The hearing was adjourned until Monday afternoon when it was expected Green would be the first witness. The Commissioners planned to inspect the London buildings this afternoon.

LeBel said the Commission counsel had refused to supply him with a copy of complaints or charges against Dr. Stevenson.

Clifford R. Magone, Commission chairman, ruled Dr. McGeoch's evidence might be heard, subject to later objection by LeBel.

The Commission, whose other members are Lionel Conacher, Liberal M.P.P. for Toronto Bracondale, and Dr. William H. Avery, opened its second sitting with Dr. R. K. Grey, solicitor to the Ontario Health Department, on the witness stand.

Referring to a section of the Ontario Mental Hospitals Act under which persons held in custody may be committed to a mental hospital "for observation," Gray said a somewhat similar law was in force in New Brunswick. Here, however, a doctor must certify to the patient's mental illness.

May Clear Up

In many cases a mental condition may clear up before a patient is returned to court. The superintendent of the hospital makes a report in all cases.

The "modes" of mentally ill, mentally defective and epileptic were identically the same.

One method of admission of a drug user or alcoholic patient was by voluntary application for one year. The second way, by permission of a county court judge or by relatives submitting a petition to a judge.

If the judge makes a finding on the petition that a man is a habitual drunkard or drug user a report is sent to the Deputy Minister of Health. Such patient can be discharged within a year.

The third form of committment of this class could be made under certificate for a period not exceeding 30 days, the witness said.

Dr. Grey said there was no specific alcoholic treatment. The general way was to allow a patient to "taper off" in the case of liquor.

An Average Stay

He said from his experience a six-months' period would be an average stay in a mental institution for such cases.

"Can a man be admitted at any time?" asked commissioner Avery.

"Providing the legal forms are adhered to," said Dr. Grey.

"Does a certificate of one doctor permit committment or does it depend on the discretion of superintendents?" Mr. Magone asked.

"The superintendent has to consent to the committment," was the reply.

Witness told of persons found not guilty of insanity under different sections of the Criminal Code.

Persons coming from penitentiaries were covered by a special penitentiaries act. He understood the practice at Ottawa was not to issue warrants of committment without medical certificates.

Fear Factory Tie-up

DETROIT, Sept. 16 — (AP) — The Chrysler Corporation said 5,000 or 6,000 workers in its Plymouth plant might become idle today due to a shortage of bodies caused by a strike at the Mack Avenue plant of the Briggs Manufacturing Company.

The Plymouth factory, a spokesman said, would be able to operate only three hours before exhausting its stock of automobile bodies, received from the Briggs plant closed yesterday when members of the United Automobile Workers went on strike.

Briggs officials and a union delegation conferred three hours last night without reaching any agreement to end the strike and planned to meet again today.

Club Plans "At Home"

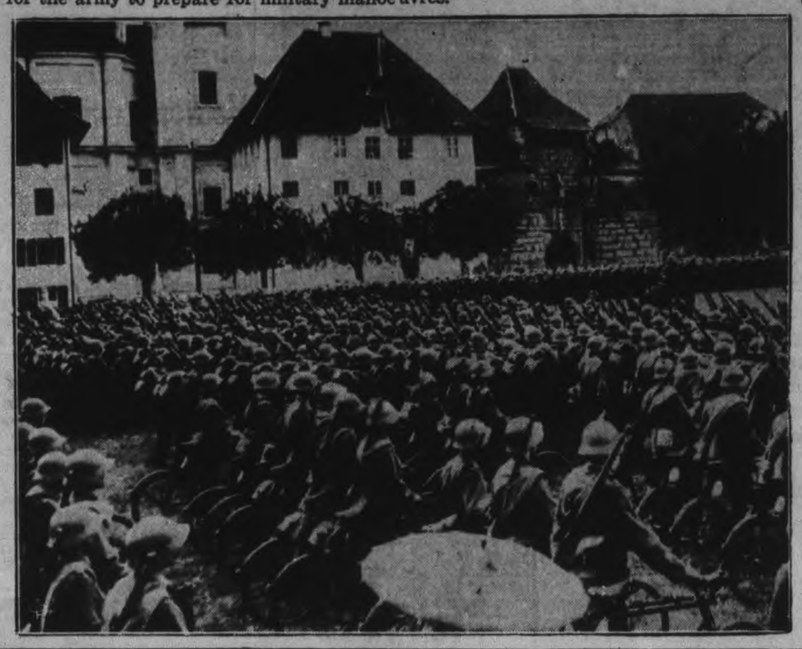
Friday, October 28, was the date set for the "At Home" if the hall and orchestra are available. Further plans will be made the first week of October when the club again start their monthly meetings.

Ready to March

In face of the critical situation arising out of the German-Czech situation, Switzerland has summoned her army and airforce to take part in manoeuvres. Fears are held that should war break out Germany may attempt to enter France over the Swiss border. These troops were fully equipped and ready to march four hours after mobilization orders had been issued for the army to prepare for military manoeuvres.



Hastings Fisherman Lands Wild Duck When Casting For Fish Off Pier

Hastings, Sept. 16.

A United States fisherman quite accidently landed a duck off the long pier west of the locks yesterday morning. He had been casting into the swift water on the south side of the pier, using a minnow for bait and had stopped for a moment allowing the minnow to dangle about a foot from the water on the north side.

A flock of ducks had swam down the river and one of them flew out of the water to grab the minnow. The fisherman thinking he had a bite, gave the line a jerk to find he had not a fish but a duck.

Two Gardeners Fined In Court

Two gardeners, C. Paterno and Joseph Chimenti were fined ten dollars and costs in city court today when they pleaded guilty to infractions of the Farm Products, Grade and Sales Act of Ontario.

The charge indicated that the two men unlawfully did have in their possession intended for sale, open baskets of tomatoes, not marked with their full initials, surname and address. The charges were laid by a Government inspector following examination of the products on the open market in this city on August 20.

Dennis Donoghue of Ennismore was charged with being intoxicated in charge of a motor vehicle on Hunter street, September 8th and did not plead. He was represented by Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C. and the case was laid over until Sept. 23.

Magistrate Langley issued a bench warrant for the arrest of Harold Brooks, when he failed to answer to an adjourned charge of common drunkenness. Brooks had appeared earlier this week and obtained an adjournment until today.

Society Is Given Ontario Charter

Peterborough Consumer's Cooperative Society received their charter from the Provincial Secretary this morning, to climax organization work which has been going on since last Spring. The society now has 200 families as members, and it is the first organization of its kind to function since before the World War in this city.

This is a purely cooperative movement under the Rochedale plan and identical to those organizations now in existence in England, Sweden and Denmark where the movement has made tremendous strides.

The charter is issued for the following: To manufacture, buy sell and generally deal in goods, wares and merchandise of every description and to do all such other things as are incidental or conducive to the attainment of the above objects.

NEW PARTING SALUTE.

"I'll see you in the front lines," took the place of "So long" as a parting salute on Peterborough streets last night. Another popular greeting was "Are you getting ready to wear a uniform?" One young man told his friends he was getting in shape by wearing a poker under the back of his coat to keep his carriage erect. Others said they were preparing to flee for quarters unknown.

FALSE ALARM.

Three full days have elapsed since a fire ranger and a settler, both in Anstruther Township in the northern part of this County reported an aeroplane in distress and also ventured the suggestion that it had crashed. A thorough seach revealed no wreckage and a Forestry plane cruised for two hours over the area but found no trace of any plane. The belief exists now that the plane seen merely disappeared below the timberline and continued on its way. No planes have been reported lost from any point in Ontario.

Hastings County Farmers Warned To Be On Lookout For Marjuana

Tweed, Sept. 16.

FOLLOWING the finding of the marijuana weed in Hastings County, announcement has been made by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, that a fine of $200 would be imposed on persons harboring marijuana weed in this district. Hitherto police have been checking up on the growth of the weed in this area, but no action has been taken against any farmer on whose property the weed was found.

In an effort to eradicate marijuana from this section authorities yesterday stated that future cases will come under the Criminal Code. Quantities of the weed have been discovered in Hungerford Township, and in the County of Prince Edward, the weed being plentiful along the highways in the vicinity of Tweed.

Police state that farmers as a whole are completely innocent of the nature of the weed, and have done everything required of them in assisting police in its removal

Club Will Send Deputation

Peterborough U.F.O. Club 519 held its monthly meeting on Thursday evening.

It was decided to send a delegation to the conference on Co-operation, to be held at the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, on September 20, 21 and 22. The delegation will be composed of Earle Tully, president; Clarence Mann, R.R. No. 4, Peterborough; Earl Petrie of Otonabee; H. B. Cowan, Senior, secretary of the Ontario Chamber of Agriculture, who also accompanied the Canadian delegation to the Empire Conference in Australia; and Reeve James Gifford of Ennismore. Vivian Milburn, another member of the local club and director of the United Farmers' Co-operative Company, will also be in attendance.

After the business and discussion period was finished, Mr. Cowan talked on the Empire Conference in Australia. He also discussed the various methods they have of marketing their cheese, butter, and various products—which is much superior to Canadian marketing. He dealt with many different problems of farming, comparing the way farming is carried on in Canada with Australian and New Zealand methods.

Emily W.A. Holds Tea And Supper

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ORANGE CORNERS, Sept. 16.—The tea and supper sponsored by the W. A. of St. John's church, Emily, on Tuesday evening, proved to be a gratifying success to the ladies who worked so har for the event and about $60 will be added to the treasury as a result. Fred Magee was the efficient treasurer.

Mr. Johnson thanked those who had attended for their interest in the entertainment. The following program was enjoyed, each performer responded with an encore.

Action In Healy Probe

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16 (AP).—Criminal complaints will be asked against "two Hollywood personages," Attorney Walter Ham said to-day, as the result of his investigation of the financial affairs of the late Ted Healy, screen comedian.

Healy died last New Year's Eve after a reported fight in a Hollywood night club. Although he was one of the highest salaried comedians in Hollywood, he left his widow penniless. Money was raised for her by a benefit performance.

Ham represents the widow, Mrs. Betty Hickman Healy, and the comedian's former wife, Mrs. Betty Braun Healy.

The Rambling REPORTERS

DUCK HUNTER GETS DUCKED

Elmer Metcalfe, Provincial Constable McClure, Bert Delaney and another man from Toronto went duck shooting Thursday morning, and returned home with 24 fine specimens, mostly black ducks with a few teal. It is reported on good authority that one of their number while paddling to the hide in the marsh, stood up in the canoe to speak to a man in another boat and toppled into the lake, gun and all. He hung on to the gun. It is also reported that they would have easily got their quota of 12 apiece but the game warden was sitting in a boat less than 50 yards away and this disturbed their aim. The name of the hunter who got ducked is unknown. They won't talk.—McG.

Cyclists Using Sidewalks After Night

Parents who permit children to ride bicycles up and down busy streets after nightfall without lights on the wheels will be hailed into court to pay fines unless immediate steps are taken to correct this nuisance and hazard, it was learned at the police station today.

Numerous complaints from motorists who have narrowly missed unlighted bicycles, all of which were being ridden by children have been received by different members of the police force, and last night a motorist on Rogers street told a reporter he came so close to striking a girl on a bicycle that he had to stop his car and sit there for about 15 minutes before he got over the shock of the near tragedy. He stated that it was raining at the time and all he could see was the portion of the road ahead lighted by the headlamps and visible through the windshield section cleaned by the wiper. The bicyclist came in off a side street without a light.

Abused By Girl.

Another motorist reports that at the intersection of Water street and Parkhill Road he was give nabuse by a 10-year-old girl whom he didn't see until the bicycle wheeled by, but evidently he had come close to striking it. There was no light on the wheel he said and it was a man's bicycle.

Sections which will be given particular attention are Rubidge Street, Water street north, Rogers street between Hunter and Douro, and George street south. On George street and Rubidge complaints have been received that students ride three and four abreast during the rush traffic periods endangering their own lives and the lives of others.

The bicycle problem has reached a point where vigorous action is needed according to police officials, and summonses will be issued for every infraction once the campaign to check up the bicycle riders gets underway. Carrying passengers on the cross bar and running through stop lights are two points which will also have police attention.

More Adequate Court Room To Be Discussed

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., explained to Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., at the conclusion of city court today that he intended to hold a special meeting of the Legal committee of the City Council next Monday night to deal with recommendations of the Police Commission relative to court room accommodation.

He suggested that additional space might be provided and the entire problem solved to the satisfaction of all if two rooms were built over the police garage directly west of the court room. One of these would be put at the disposal of the Magistrates and Crown Attorney, and the other would be used by the barristers and the reporters. This latter room could also be used for witnesses excluded during the taking of evidence and to hold juries in inquest cases. At the present time all parties mentioned use the Chief's office which is usually jammed during court, interfering considerably with routine police work.

Mr. Gordon remarked that one day there were 42 traffic cases and more than 30 witnesses. The latter were crowded into the space at the head of the stairs, which is totally inadequate for the number it is usually required to take care of.

Magistrate Langley, said the court has grown to the point where additional space is badly needed, and Crown Attorney McElderry, K.C. added he would write a letter setting forth any recommendations or suggestions he has on the question for the consideration of the Legal Committee.

It is understood the City Trust will be asked to give this question their attention following the meeting next Monday night.

Plowing Match Is Set For October 18

Peterborough County plowing match will be held on Tuesday, October 8, near Warsaw, it has been decided by the Plowmen's Association. The farm on which the match will be held has not yet been named.

The directors have decided to continue the home-plowing competition, an unusual feature. Open to boys under twenty years of age, the contest will be divided into two classes. Boys in one class will plow one and a half acres of land at home with a single plow; in the other, they will plow three acres of their own land with a double plow. The judge, Charles Rich of Oakwood, will make a tour of the farms where competitors live, following the plowing match, and will then make awards.

Clark Young of Milliken, prominent plowman, will be the judge at the meet, and other officials will be H. A. Quinn, president of the Peterborough Plowmen's Association, and J. J. Duffus, M.P. Contestants who wish to be provided with teams are required to apply to Trevor Watts, Warsaw, not later than October 5.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

FAIRMOUNT, Sept. 16. — The School Fair for North Cavan was held at Ida on Monday, and in spite of the disagreeable day there was a good attendance. The exhibits in the stock line were not filled as well as usual, it being difficult to get them there on account of the rainy morning. Harle taking charge of Nos. 2 and 5, while L. F. Unitt led the other five schools. Col. E. E. Loyalty Parade Of Anti-Nazi Czechs

While the Czech crisis heightened, parades were held throughout the nation by Czechs who wished to show their loyalty to the government. One such parade, shown here in this radiophoto, took place at Mahrisch-Ostrau. Following rioting in the Sudeten areas, during which several were killed, the government proclaimed martial law, in an effort to put a stop to demonstrations by either the Czech or Sudeten populace.

Plane "Rains" Fish

SEATTLE, Sept. 16.—(A. P.). — It rained live fish on Lake Washington and Otter Lake. The State game department tossed thousands of fish overboard from an airplane yesterday at altitude up to 1,500 feet to find out whether propagation of mountain lakes by air was feasible. Baby fish were placed in cans attached to parachutes. When the cans struck the water, they overturned and the fish swam free.

Only Emergency To Rally Ottawa Cabinet

OTTAWA, Sept. 16 —(CP)— The European turmoil and belief that conclusion of negotiations for the revised Canada-United States trade treaty is imminent revived rumors here today that parliament might be summoned this fall.

Tension over the Czechoslovakian-Sudeten controversy has not outwardly disturbed the calm of Parliament Hill although the government follows developments with closest interest. There are no special meetings of the cabinet planned and no unusual activity at the Prime Minister's office and the department of external affairs in the east block.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King is still confined to his country home at Kingsmere in the Gatineau Hills north of here with a sciatica attack but is constantly informed of the European situation by private reports from the British government.

Sessions Only If Trouble?

The possibility was seen here that if the situation in Europe became critical to the point of war involving Great Britain, Canada might be called upon to take a definite stand Mr. MacKenzie King has indicated several times that such decisions were for Parliament to make. A new session likely would be called in such an emergency.

If the trade treaty involves any increases in the tariff schedules parliamentary approval is necessary before the changes are effective. However, if there are no upward revisions in the agreement, approval can be given by order-in-council subject to ratification by parliament during the regular session which probably will start in January.

No statutory limit has been set to indicate the length of notice which has to be given members and if desired parliament could be called with only sufficient notice to enable members to reach Ottawa by the ordinary modes of travel. This would be four or five days at the most.

CHAPTER 43

THE NEXT thing Noel knew she was taken forcibly to a car, which was soon moving rapidly down the street. A hoarse gutural voice had ordered Noel to sit still and not to speak. The voice had been an unfamiliar one. Noel thought it best to obey.

She was on the back seat of the car alone. There were probably two men, maybe three, on the front seat. All she could recollect of her strange capture was that two men had emerged quickly from the shadows of some trees, one had clapped his hand over her mouth, while the other had taken the child from her arms and quickly tied a cloth around Noel's eyes.

What had happened to Betsy? Noel asked herself the question over and over. The only conclusion she could come to was that Betsy had been taken back into the house. Evidently it wasn't the child they wanted, but herself. And yet why should she be abducted?

She suddenly remembered that Ruth Chester had said something about Noel's idenity being generally known. Was that it? Was it known that she was Noel Shayne, instead of Noel Doran, and was she going to be held for ransom?

The car moved faster and faster, and Noel's thoughts almost kept pace with it. She was frightened, but she had not lost her nerve. There would be some way out of this. She would keep her eyes open, that is, if the bandages ever were removed. She would watch every possible avenue of escape.

It was hours, it seemed, before the car stopped. The door was thrown open. The rush of cool air made her feel better. She sat up weakly. "Come on, lady, this is where you gets off," she heard in the same guttural voice, belonging to the man who had ordered her to be still.

Noel did not move, however. "Why have you brought me here?" she demanded.

"Listen," the guttural voice came back, "I'm not answering questions. I'm giving orders. Come on—get a move on."

Noel still didn't obey. Her thoughts were milling about rapidly. She knew she was helpless in the hands of two, maybe, three unscrupulous, perhaps vicious, men. Possibly there was a gang of them. Noel had read detective stories and she realized that this place to which she had been brought was likely a hideout for the underworld.

A rough hand suddenly grasped her wrist. "Get out, will you? Or am I goin' to pick you up and carry you?"

She decided it would be best to obey this time. "If you'll release my arm, I'll get out." she tried to say in a steady voice.

There was a low voiced conversation between two men. Noel couldn't understand what they were saying. But a minute later the bandage was removed.

She found it very dark and that she could see very little more after the bandage was removed than before. She supposed that was why they had removed it.

In another minutes she was holding on to the car, feeling her way carefully until she felt solid ground under her feet.

Growing more accustomed to the dark, she saw the outline of a house above the tops of trees which seemed almost to surround it. This, of course, was her destination. Once she had entered it, what would happen to her?

She felt the same rough hand reach out and clamp over her arm, forcing her toward the building.

She went without resistance, two shadowy shapes following from the rear.

Then she and the man who still held her arm were climbing a short flightof steps, and reached a veranda. Noel stopped and said to her captor desperately, "If you'll only let me go, I'll pay you anything—anything."

The only answer was a tighter grip on her arm. The front door of the house was thrown open then. The man loosened his grip slightly, took a small flishlight to guide them up a long flight of stairs.

When they reached the second floor, he opened a door and gave Noel a little push.

She found herself in a dimly lighted room with heavy red velvet curtains closely drawn at all the windows. The room was furnished in a rather garish fashion There was a black marble mantel, a number of gilt mirrors, heavy upholstered chairs and divans, and small, very ornate tables. But it was an untidy room badly in need of being aired and dusted.

Noel looked into the heavy face of the man who had brought her here. He was swarthy and he had thick jowls and small, beady, evil eyes. He, too, was looking at Noel and said in his uttural voice, "Didn't know they come like you—both ways. Rich and good-looking."

"Why did you bring me here?" Noel demanded.

The man shrugged. "I'm not the boss."

"Who is?" Noel asked quickly.

"Thats what a lot of us would like to know." The swarthy man started to the door, where the others were waiting outside. He turned back. "Lissen, lady, you'll be comfortable here. Nobody is going to hurt you. That's orders. And you'll get along just as long as you don't try any monkey shines."

He went out then, and Noel heard him turn a key in the lock and then take the key out.

There were cigarets and cigars on a table. Noel lighted a cigaret and sat down to think. It had been a long time since she had smoked. And she thought a cigaret might help to steady her nerves. But she soon crushed it out and walked over to one of the windows, parting the heavy curtains. There was nothin, however, to be seen—nothing but the thick darkness.

She went back and sat down in a chair. Now and then she could hear the shuffle of feet outside the door, and knew there were at least two men on guard out there. Occasionally she could hear them talking in low tones.

On a second thought, she arose and went and tried the windows. There were five of them, and they were all securely locked. That, of course, was to be expected.

It was about 8 the next morning when the door opened and a young blond man came in with coffee and sandwiches. He reminded her of Chris. He had the same nice, boyish face, except his face was quite straight and he wore it rather long.

He placed the tray on the table and took a chair without speaking. Noel glanced at him. A feeling of confidence was slowly returning. This young man, hardly more than a boy, really did have a kind face. The other man's had been vicious, so she smiled at this man and said: "Thank you for the coffee and sandwiches, I find I am hungry."

He did not answer, did not move his head. "Perhaps you will have some coffee?" Noel asked, determined to make friends with him if there was any possible way.

"Nothing, thank you," he said in a voice that held a trace of breeding.

Noel gave up talking after that, ate part of a sandwich, and drank some of the coffee. When she finished, the young man took the tray, went to the door and handed it to someone outside. Then he came back and silently took his seat.

What did that mean, Noel wondered. Was he going to remain here? She looked at him again and saw that he was lounging more comfortably in the chair and had his long legs crossed.

"You're going to stay?" she asked.

"Yes," he said shortly. Then he added: "You might take a reckless notion to break one of the windows and jump out. Not that it would do you any good You'd only find yourself with a cracked cranium." His voice was resentful. Then he went on coldly, "And you needn't think you can use any of your wiles on me. I hate your kind."

DOROTHY DIX

A Wife Should Be a Diplomat If Her Husband Does Not Like Her Family, And Keep Him As Far Away From Them As Possible

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I have been married eleven years, have a husband I love, a pretty home, two beautiful babies and my happiness would be complete except that my husband doesn't get along with my mother. No real quarrel, they just can't agree. I always go to my mother's once a week to spend the day, and she always insists that I stay for supper. I call my husband to come out and there is always a row about it. Don't you think that for my sake he ought to be willing to come? What shall I do? RUTH.

ANSWER:

Of course your husband should be willing to make this slight sacrifice of going to your mother's and making himself agreeable if it pleases you and makes you happy, but if he won't, he won't, and it is up to you not to make too much of a mountain out of a very small molehill.

A woman of intelligence soon finds out that she has to take her husband as he is and not as he should be. When she accepts him on this basis, and makes the best of him, her troubles are simplified, because then she stops battering herself against a stone wall, which only bruises her and does no good.

So, in your particular case, eliminate the very fruitful subject of argument and quarrel by frankly telling your mother that your husband is tired after his day's work and wants to come to his own home.

Quit asking him to go to your mother's for supper. Do your visiting in the daytime. Go twice a week if you want to, but don't stay to supper and don't coerce hubby into going against his will.

If you will do this and leave him free to come and go as he likes, he will probably like to go now and then. One of the reasons why husbands have such a distaste for their wives' families is because their wives are always ramming them down their throats.

DEAR MISS DIX—Can a girl acquire charm?

MADGE.

ANSWER:

In its sublimated form the charm that makes, say, a Ninon de L'Enclos, who, at 90, still had an irresistible way with her, is composed of a thousand subtle elements and is a gift of the gods. But in its lower brackets the charm that enables a woman to catch a good husband, to be elected president of her club and to be always the first person you think of when you are giving a dinner party is, roughly speaking, composed of three things—appearance, personality and adaptability.

All of these can be learned. Begin with appearance, which is the first impression we get of an individual and which attracts or repulses us. It is luck, of course, for a girl's fairy godmother to have endowed her with a willowy figure, a peaches-and-cream complexion and naturally wavy hair, but no woman is under the compulsion nowadays of staying as God made her if He made her ugly. She can get a synthetic complexion in any drug store that beats Nature's best efforts. She can change hay-colored hair to any hue she desires. By taking thought to her calories, she can put on or take off curves at will and acquire the figure that is the answer to every maiden's prayer.

She can be taught how to dress. More than half of every woman's looks are her clothes. When we think of a woman's beauty, oftener than not we are thinking of the pink chiffon she wore, or a trig tailor-made, or a snappy little sport suit. And just as often some woman who has the reputation of being homely is merely frumpy and merely the victim of a lack of taste that makes her pick out hats that swear at her and colors that libel her.

So the first lesson in acquiring charm should be to learn how to pick out clothes and to put on make-up. The second should be to develop personality instead of being a copycat and trying to imitate some girl who is popular. Many girls make this mistake. A naturally quiet girl yells and shrieks and jumps around until she is a perpetual headache to all who are thrown in contact with her, because some naturally vivacious girl with quicksilver in her veins and laughter bubbling over her lips is in the spotlight in every crowd. Or a big lumbering girl makes herself as ridiculous as a performing elephant trying to do the cute antics some little two-by-four flapper pulls off.

Then girls can learn to put the loud pedal on their own good points, instead of trying to steal another girl's bag of tricks. The big girl can learn how to be a goddess, stately and dignified, instead of trying to be a monkey on a stick. The girl who is short on conversation can learn how to be an inspired listener, instead of a boring chatterer. The domestic girl can learn how to show herself off to the best advantage against the background of home, and cash in on her chafing dish and angel's food, instead of being a misfit as a wild woman in night clubs.

And thirdly, and lastly, and most important in the repertoire of a woman's charms is adaptability. This, too, is an art that can be acquired, and girls can learn how to fit themselves into any situation, and not to argue, or have grudges and animosities and prejudices around which their friends and acquaintances and family have to gumshoe.

Every girl above the grade of a moron can learn how to meet people graciously, how to think before she speaks and not be a bull in the conversational china shop; to lend her ears when people talk to her; to show appreciation of courtesies extended her. And she can learn not to talk about herself and her symptoms. She can learn the gentle art of approach to people. And when she has acquired skill in these things she will have charm. And that's the most important thing a woman can have, because it lasts as long as life does.

For New Opportunities Learn Public Speaking

You Can "Say It on Your Feet"

Anyone can learn to speak in public. And what dividends that ability pays — in leadership, in business opportunity, in everyday good times!

Observe the people you know who are listened to with respect. Notice that it's often not so much WHAT they say as HOW they say it.

These exercises will give your voice sparkle and vitality. Say "Get out of here, you rascal!" and "I am perfectly delighted to see you." Make your voice alone express what these phrases say. Shout "A-B-C-D-E-F-G" in an angry tone, say "1-2-3-4-5-6-7" in a tone of pleased surprise.

Use this little trick to banish self-consciousness. Always assume that your audience likes you. Then forget yourself, concentrate on instructing or amusing them.

Master public speaking by following the easy, practical directions in our 32-page booklet. Tips for toastmasters, club members, radio amateurs.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of PUBLIC SPEAKING SELF-TAUGHT to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

For Saturday, September 17.

Conflicting conditions are noted in this day's astral interpretations, with promise of fulfilled ambitions and attainment of much personal prestige and gratification. Nevertheless, there is menace of conflict or friction with superiors or those in authority. A disagreeable personal matter may be at issue, but generally there is sign of success financially, articularly through the speculative channels.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of contradictory situations. There may be some definite progress, with fulfilled personal desires, but, at the same time, there may be inharmony with employers, superiors or those in power. A child born on this day may be capable and ambitious, with fine aspirations in a social, cultural, or philanthropical line, and yet it may run counter to superiors and those in authority, to its detriment. It's romantic trends may likewise lead into difficulties.

GOODNIGHT STORY

By MAX TRELL

"Have you always lived inside a clock, Mrs. Cuckoo?" Knarf, the shadow boy, asked. When Mrs Cuckoo had opened the door of her clock house to call out five o'clock, Knarf and his sister Hanid had slipped in to pay Mrs. Cuckoo a visit. She always served tea and cookies at that hour.

They were sitting on a big, old-fashioned sofa in the neat parlor of her house, having their tea and cookies while Mrs. Cuckoo, with her spectacles on, was doing her knitting.

"Yes," she answered, "I've always lived inside this clock. In fact, I was born here. That was many years ago. We're both pretty old now, the clock and I. But I like it here," she added cheerfully. "I wouldn't think of going out and flying around like your sparrows and swallows. Living in a tree top wouldn't please me at all. I'm quite sure. Besides, how would the clock get along without me? Who would call out the time of the day if I were gone? I suppose you're wondering what I'm knitting?"

"Is it a shawl, Mrs. Cuckoo?"

She's Not Sure.

"Well, to tell you the truth, I'm not sure yet just what it's to be. Perhaps it will be a shawl after all I've been knitting it ever since I can remember. I don't ever seem to be able to get it finished."

"But why not?" asked Knarf.

She smiled to herself. "It's very curious. I make a stich every time the clock ticks. At the end of every 60 stitches I start a new row. And at the end of every 60 rows I start a new square. Then at the end of the day, I have 24 squares. But at exactly midnight, when I set it down to go out and call to everyone: 'Twelve o'clock....day's done.... twelve o'clock,' something happens to it. For when I come back to start the 25th square—dear me! it has all unravelled itself. It's just a long thread, and I have to start knitting it all over again. And that's what happens, day after day. But," and she chuckled softly to herself, "I really don't mind. I have all the time in the world."

"I've always lived here."

Now isn't this all very strange?

Combine mixtures, put in preserving kettle, bring to boiling point and let simmer one and one-half hours. Fill jars to overflowing and seal.

Citizenship Is Discussed By J. J. Duffus

In addressing the Local Council of Women in the Y.W.C.A. on Thursday afternoon, J. J. Duffus, M.P., discussed the importance of good citizenship in the Dominion of Canada and its relation to education.

The purpose of education is to produce good citizens. Necessary in the process is education in art, literature, music, books, likewise, healthy pastimes, and even more important, is religion as the standard and guarantee of moral sections also a knowledge in respect of the laws of one's country. He said that Canada's problem in this respect is two-fold—on the one hand to improve the quality of the citizens whom she already possesses, in all the ways he suggested, and on the other hand so to control immigration that the quality on the whole would be improved rather than impaired.

To admit viscious elements in the Canadian citizenship would be to permit deterioration of the quality on the whole.

Self Respect Needed

People who do nct respect themselves would hardly respect the nation into which they are absorbed, which would also have a deteriorating effect on the nation.

He stressed the fact that a newspaper has an exceptional influence on the minds of the people, being both a reflection and a leader of public opinion.

It not only furnishes and assembles an arra yof facts and details about what is going on—it further arranges and systematizes these facts and details in such a way as to point to suggestions of what should be made of them. One of its functions is to guide, direct and impose a bias on public opinion.

He stated that the reader need not take it all for Gospel or the last word on the question, but he does expect to be assisted in forming views of his own.

The Press has not completed its duty to trade when it has published and circulated the paid advertisements of this concern or that. Canadian newspapers are already among the best in the world from this point of view. They are alive with trade interests, not only from the sellers' point of view but what is sometimes more important, from the buyers' point of view. Its policy of trade loyalty to the city attracts the attention of travellers and tourists as is a new phenomena in the much to be desired alliance between trade and journalism.

Without sacrilege one might say that the newspaper is the citizens' Bible. It is the bulletin of its interests, rights and privileges. The Magna Charta of his citizenship. Call it if you will, the modern Magna Charta.

What You Owe Your Country

An important aspect of citizenship in these days is the relation of ones own country to all other countries. For tw oreasons, no country nowadays lives to itself alone. It has needs which only other countries can supply. It has resources which are necessary to other countries. Hence, the factor of export and import.

Canada can no more ignore her growing responsibilities to the rest of the Empire and the world than she could have grown into existence without the old world traditions and heritage.

Citizenship is intimately bound up with the questions of labor and capital, being short of both labor and capital in proportion to the extent of her land. The Dominion should encourage and utilize to the full, such as she possesses of both, and wisely add to her resources by drawing additional of both from the outside. This can only be done to the degree necessary by making it obvious to all the world that citizenship in Canada is more desirable than citizenship anywhere else on earth.

Mr. Duffus was introduced to the council by the citizenship convenor, Mrs. B. F. McNeeley.

Mrs. T. J. Carley, vice-president, presided. Minutes were read by Mrs. J. Cridland; the treasurer's report and roll call by Mrs. H. Tremaine; and the correspondence report by Mrs. C. M. Scott, president.

A short musical program was enjoyed, and consisted of violin solos by Mrs. E. M. Foster, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. D. Quinlan; and vocal solos by Mrs. L Groombridge and by Mr. Rufus Payne, accompanied by Mrs. Foster.

A splendid attendance was recorded for the meeting, which opened the season's activities.

Catholic Women's League Holds Annual Convention

The 18th Annual Convention of the Peterborough Diocesan of the Catholic Women's League took place in Peterborough with St. Peter's Sub-division hostesses.

The day's activities commenced by all attending Pontifical High Mass at St. Peter's Cathedral. His Excellency Bishop O'Connor was the Celebrant. Assistant priest, Rev. Paul Costello; Deacon, Rev. Corkery; sub-deacon, Rev. E. Welsh; honorary deacon, Rev. E. Grant; honorary sub-deacon, Rev. E. Walsh; master of ceremonies, Rev. Dr. Masterson.

The speaker, Dr. P. J. Kelly, took for his text, "Who Shall Find the Valiant Woman?' 'He recommended for our imitation the wonderful women of the scriptures, especially chosen examples were Sara, Rebecca and Rachael, Mary, the Mother of Christ, for model, was emphasized during the entire eloquent sermon.

Proceeding from the Cathedral, the ladies registered at the St. Alphonsus Lyceum, where the convention opened. The meeting was called to order by the president, Miss V. Piggott, introducing Dr. P. J. Kelly, who welcomed the delegates and visitors, and the guest speaker, Mrs. J. Coffey, of Montreal.

Diocesan Executive Reports.

Diocesan Executive Reports were then read and the Election Resolution committees were formed. The ladies then adjourned to the Banquet Hall, which was beautifully decorated by Miss Annie Simons, who was ably assisted by Mr. Dick Simons.

The guests were wecomed by Mrs. J. Sullivan, Mrs. F. J. Hickey, Mrs. F. Eano, and Mrs. F. J. Lynch

Miss Deannard, chairman, introduced the first speaker, His Excellency, Bishop O'Connor, who spoke on "Catholic Action." As usual, his listeners were held spellbound. His Excellency asked of the convention members three distinct requests, which were whole-heartedly received, and in one accord, as a promise to carry them out, the ladies all rose.

Mayor Welcomes Members.

The convention was greatly honored to have as speaker His Worship Mayor Hamilton, who spoke a few, well-chosen words of welcome.

Miss Coffey of Montreal, the guest speaker, who was then introduced by the chairman, spoke briefly on the ideals of the Catholic Women's League, which coincided with Bishop O'Connor's previous remarks.

During the banquet hour a musical program consisting of vocal solos by Miss Geraldine Collins, violin solos by Miss Catherine Corkery, accompanied by Miss L. Hurley; two vocal solos by Mrs. D. Companaro, accompanied by Miss M. McCabe, provided a pleasant interlude.

The afternoon session opened with the Diocesan president, Miss Piggott, in the chair.

Diocesan Convenor Reports

Reports of Diocesan convenors were as follows: National Convention, Miss D. Pigott; organization, Mrs. G. O'Sullivan, Campbellford; education and study clubs, Miss E. Kennedy, Lakefield; Girl Guides, Mrs. M. Henry, Peterborough; Sisters of Service, Mrs. C. B. Young, Peterborough.

Child welfare, Mrs. M. Fitzsimmons, Lindsay; magazines, Miss A. Sullivan, Ennismore; publicity, Mrs. J. L. Murphy, Lindsay; juniors, Mrs. H. Lawless, Lakefield; social service, Mrs. F. J. Lynch, Peterborough; scholarship, Mrs. C. Black, Campbellford; immigration, Mrs. J. A. McDonald, Hastings; travellers' aid, Mrs. Leo Houlihan, Lindsay.

Diocesan sub-division reports were then given by each president, which was followed by an address on "Our Heritage" by the guest speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. J. Coffey.

The election of Diocesan officers was then conducted by Mrs. E. Donoghue of Ennismore, convenor. The scrutineers were Mrs. J. R. McDonald, Mrs. M. Roach and Mrs. J. Lee.

The newly elected officers are as follows: President, Miss E. Kennedy, Lakefield; past president, Miss D. Piggott, Downeyville; first vice, Miss L. Hurley, Peterborough; second vice, Mrs. E. Crowe, Peterborough; third vice, Miss Baker, Lindsay; recording secretary, Mrs. George O'Sullivan, Campbellford; corresponding secretary, Miss Calman, Grafton; treasurer, Mrs. F. J. Officers were installed by the national past president, Mrs. J. Coffey. After a brief introductory speech from each officer, the newly-elected president called for the adjournment of a very satisfactory convention.

EVENING STAR PATTERN 1480

"Star light, Star bright"—a familiar jingle— that suggests you use bright patches for this multi-starred quilt. Some stars are large, some small, but you cut most of the patches from the same width strips, snipping off at the required length. The 14 inch block also makes an effective pillow. Pattern 1480 contains a diagram of block; accurate pattern pieces; instructions for cutting, sewing and finishing; yardage chart; diagram of quilt.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

"Out of the dusk a shadow,
Then a spark;
Out of the cloud a silence,
Then, a lark;
Out of the heart a rapture,
Then, a pain,
Out of the dead, cold ashes,
Life again."
—"Evolution," by John Bannister Tabb.

Dear Friends:

Every so often there are arguments about evolution, that is whether God made man in His Own Image, or whether we evolved out of something in the mud and the slime.

Let us see what the dictionary says about evolve: "To develop; unfold; expand; work out; to become developed or unfolded."

So that we are both made in His image, and evolve our own nature, likes and dislikes, habits, mannerisms, and methods of living. When we take a piece of goods and make it into a dress. or flour and shortening and make it into a cake.

When we take a piece of metal and make it into something we can use, in the doing of all these things we are evolving something. And every day we go through a period of evolution, either upward or downward.

If we remain as children, we are classed as feeble-minded. We must unfold, expand, and develop our brain, and work out our own destiny.

Every day is like a resurrection, want tells you ho wto overcome that, the dead knowing nothing of what is going on. And when we wake we want it to be all sunshine with never a cloud, all happiness with never a pain.

It is very easy for the person who has never known want to tell another to cheer up. It is easy also for those who have not had much bodily pain to take another's pain lightly.

But when one tells you who has suffered much that it will not last long, you are more likely to believe them, and when one who has known want tells you how to overcme that, you will more likely try their method.

But the trouble with most people is that they want a "get rich quick" method. They don't want to develop their own powers, nor do they want to evolve anything. It's too much trouble, they would rather buy a ticket, or let someone humbug them.

Life is rapture and it is also pain. Rapture, not alone in love and enjoyment of the senses, but in accomplishment, in evolving order in home or office, and in your life.

Pain, when we try to hang on to things that can only last a short time at best. Pain in falling short of our own ideal, pain when we see those we love go off the deep end to their own hurt or detriment.

But, take the Divine spark of God within you, and you will come out of the shadow, out of the cloud and the silence of not knowing what to do for the best. The rapture will cme to your heart like the song of the lark, and the pain when all dross is burnt away so that only the pure gold remains.

And out of the ashes of yesterday, out of the frustrations and the disappointments, the hurts which friends give and the anguish which our own leave with us, we shall evolve a true life.

A life where we shall put value on valuable things, like love, and sincerity, and beauty. Where we shall use order instead of disorder, and evolve into higher things.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

Margaret Ann

The chubby little lady posing for you is Margaret Ann Blackbourne, age 15 months, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Blackbourne, 266 Aylmer street.

The publicity convenor reported that there has been considerable work done on the souvenir booklet, the order for the souvenir booklet had been sent n and several items had been taken care of, and several suggestions were handed on to him at this meeting with regard to this part of the work.

The program convenor, Miss Queenie Hope, discussed with the committee and the provincial convenor, various methods of entertaining the delegates on the Friday evening of the conference, Final arrangements were left in the hands of Miss Hope and her committee.

After several parcels had been handed out by the provincial convenor, the committee brought their meeting to a close with prayer.

Angora Jackets For Evening

White angora jackets are being worn in the evening and are not unlike the old time spencers we wore underneath our coats for evening dresses, and worn with blouses and skirts about the house. Many houses will be on the cold side until heating plants are going again and an extra sweater won't come amiss. Also we think the little white jacket could be in the wardrobe of the badminton player, for whom there are also other white sweaters of fine knit, both pullovers and cardigan jackets.

Quiet Dignity Desirable For Dining Room

The dining room, instead of being stimulating and exciting, should be a room of quiet dignity, where the activities are refined, calm and sweetly memorable. Such a room would lead to restrained and wise eating, slow, masticating, friendly conversation and a general attitude of well being.

Do not overload the room with decoration. Let the light be softened by window shades or electric globes of soft tones. It is better that the pictures represent flowers or rural scenery rather than foods or city life. Above all do not have a dead fish mounted on a plaque above the buffet.

Dark furniture, being dignified, is appropriate for the dining room. While gay dishes are pleasing in the dinette or breakfast nook, more classical patterns are best for the formal dining room.

Glass is cool looking for summer. In the summer omit heavy table linen and use only place doilies or none at all. Flowers are always a delight on the dining table. They should be in low glass, china or silver containers.

Do You Know?

That a pinch of soda for each two cups of sugar helps to keep syrups from crystalizing? Sprinkle the soda on top while the syrup is cooking, and don't stir it.

◇ ◇ ◇

A good way to shape laundered curtains if you haven't a stretcher is to spread a sheet over the carpet and stretch curtains to the desired size, pinning at intervals to keep them firm and dry?

Lace Curtains Back in Fashion

Lace curtains are stealing the fashion show again when it was thought they were dead and buried long, long ago.

But, of course, the new lace curtains are really new, so it's no wonder they are popular in current interior decoration. There are perfectly lovely sheer nets, both white and ecru, not to mention the hearty looking heavy meshes.

Lace ruffles and ruching edges are the last word for curtains. They're dainty and have beautifully finished edges.

Fringes

You will also find lace curtains with fringed bottoms—some have a straight hanging fringe, others a boucle fringe. And, of course, the usual ball fringe which is nice on lace.

The new headings include one curtain in a horizontal stripe with rows of heavier stripes at the top, called sewing lines, so you can adjust them to fit your windows, without having the stitches show. Then there's a heading with slots for the rods which don't show when the curtain is hung. A new frill top, no matter what length the curtain is, gives a nice finish to the top of the window.

Lace curtains with borders continue to be the most in demand of any type. And there are some very smart usable ones. Generally speaking, the all-over nets and all-over lacy designs have a wider appeal but a woman wanting a straight simply hung curtain would prefer the border because it provides a finish for a curtain that would otherwise be pretty plain. But the all-over gossamer nets lend themselves to more novel treatments and drapings.

Branch Notes

ONTARIO PROVINCIAL CONFERENCE

On Sunday afternoon in the city buildings, the members of the Peterborough conference committee held a meeting at which the provincial convenor, Tim Regan of Hamilton, attended. This was the last meeting which he would be able to attend before October 19th, so that everything was gone over on the lists of what had to be done so that everything would be taken care of for this conference.

Each convenor reported on the progress of his or her particular phase of work, asking questions and offering suggestions to make the work of their committee and the other committees run more smoothly.

Miss Florence Hutchinson, billettingconvenor, reported approximately 190 billets, up to date. This is just about half of the number of billets needed, so that if there are any persons willing to help the convenor out in this regard they are asked to get in touch with her, or if more convenient, with the billets convenors of one of the four church branches, of the A.Y.P.A. Anything which you may be able to do will be greatly appreciated by the members of the Peterborough conference committee.

Mrs. Fred Dorrell, 'catering convenor, presented further menus for the Saturday evening banquet, for the provincial committee to approve. It was with some dismay it was learned that no place for the banquet is as yet obtainable on Saturday. It is quite a problem for the committee to find a large enough room for such a large banquet. Any suggestions will be most greatly appreciated by the catering convenor.

Jack Marshall and Roland Krant, reception and transportation convenors respectively, reported that they had most of their work "under control," with one or two small items to be cleared up in the near future.

WANTED

19 Help Wanted Male 19

GOOD ASSISANT STICKER HAND IN local Planing Mill. Write Box 162, Examiner.

WHY BE IDLE? NO DEPRESSION IN our Business. In May, 1935, we hired a young Married Man with four children who had worked in Stores and Sweat Shops ten years, long hours and low wages, then was laid off. Since joining our staff he has worked steady, increased his earnings every year, saved money, bought car, at present buying his home. In June was promoted to Manager of branch office, with earnings that in 1939 will exceed $4,000.00. This sounds like a fairy tale, but not so; it was accomplished by long hours, intelligent, hard work. We will hire Three Men, and offer the same opportunity to them as the above Man had. Permanent year round, clean, healthy work. Must be honest, non-drinker, with good education and appearance. Car an advantage. Age over 25. Another Man made $1,442, his first in years, in this business. This is not selling insurance, stocks, brushes, washers, or radios. About $30.00 weekly earnings with bonus to start. Write fully to Box 171, Examiner.

WANTED — TWENTY-FIVE MEN TO Harvest Moss. Apply Saturday Afternoon, September 17, at Nobes' Service Station, Havelock.

CAN USE THREE MEN, OVER 21, WITH neat appearance and good education, for immediate employment. Must be satisfied with $19 average earnings to start; much more when experienced. Real chance for advancement. See Mr. Thornton at Empress Hotel, between 2 and 5 p.m., Saturday.

Negro Is Identified By Co-ed Victim

RUSTON, La., Sept. 16—(AP).—A negro was held today after Sheriff Bryan Thigpen said a Louisiana Tech co-ed identified him as the man who attacked her twice and so badly fractured the skull of her escort, J. W. Breedlove, 29, that little hope for his recovery is held.

The Sheriff said he took the Negro, listed as Morris Elmore, 20, to the Monroe jail "due to the intense feeling aroused in Ruston as news of the crime circulated."

The girl told him, the sheriff said, that the negro leaped on the couple's parked car near here early yesterday, beat Breedlove unconscious with a heavy instrument, and then forced her to go with him to nearby woods and attacked her.

MILLBROOK

Institute Buying New Locks For Dishes

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Sept. 16.—Mrs. H. J. Armstrong was hostess for the September meeting of the Women's Institute, held at her home on Saturday, at 8 p.m., with the president, Mrs. R. J. McKnight, in the chair, twelve members present, and three visitors.

The report of the treasurer showed bills amounting to $5.94 to be paid, with fifty cents received in fees from two new members. Balance on hand, $24.08.

A letter of thanks was received from Mrs. C. Richards, who is a patient at Nicholls Hospital Peterborough, and it was decided to have the convenors of the standing committees meet on Wednesday, September 14, at the home of Mrs. E. C. Richards when the membership will be divided into groups for the fall and winter activities. A birthday present for a sick young person was arranged for as a happy surprise, and after a report on the use of dishes from the W. I. pantry in the Town Hall, it was decided to put new locks on the cupboards.

Final arrangements were completed for the booth to be sponsored by the W. I. for the school fair on Tuesday, September 13, and the meeting was closed with the National Anthem.

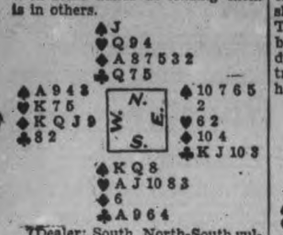
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER
By SHEPARD BARCLAY
"The Authority on Authorities"

POSTPONING TRUMPS

WHETHER to run trumps at once or postpone them, or perhaps not lead them at all, constitutes the main difference between the several styles of play used for suit contracts. Incidentally soundness in this respect frequently marks the difference between weak and strong players. Refraining from trump leads can be as important with some hands as leading them is in others.



(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

North and South ended in a contract of 4-Hearts on this deal. The bidding started with South's 1-Heart, which West overcalled with 1-Spade; North called 2-Diamonds, East 2-Spades, South 3-Hearts and North 4-Hearts.

South handled the play very badly and was set two tricks. He won the lead of the diamond K with the A and finessed the heart 10, which lost to West's K. The heart 5 was returned and declarer then led the spade J. When West won, he returned his last trump. This was taken by South with the A. He then cashed the spades K and Q, discarding two clubs, but had no way to avoid losing three clubs in his own hand.

Instead of drawing trumps, after winning the first trick, South should have led the spade at once. The spades K and Q would then be used to toss off two clubs in dummy, and while still retaining trumps in dummy, two clubs could have been ruffed.

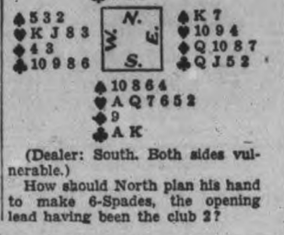
Tomorrow's Problem



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

How should North plan his hand to make 6-Spades, the opening lead having been the club 2?

At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served. The attendance of the meeting was fifty-four adults and nineteen children.

The Young People's League of the Havelock United Church held an executive meeting on Monday evening in the church basement to make arrangements for the opening fall meeting. It was decided that a pot-luck supper and program be held next Monday evening.

Rev. A. McLauchlin spoke of the annual young people's convention to be held in Peterborough this week and thirteen delegates were appointed to attend.

A novel form of entertainment will be presented at the Havelock Park on Friday evening at 8 p.m. when a "Donkey Baseball" game will be played between Norwood and Havelock. The match will take place out-doors under floodlight and is being sponsored by the Havelock "Wreckers", recent winners of the Junior "B" O.A.S.A. championship.

Sweeping Settlement Of The Crisis Hinted Forthcoming

ROME, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Premier Mussolini is expected by Fascists to voice demands for a sweeping settlement of the Czechoslovak crisis in a speech at Trieste tomorrow.

Elaborate preparations have been made for world publication of the address on the occasion of his long-awaited visit to the former Austrian port. Twenty special telephone lines have been run into Trieste.

Whether he would express himself in detail on reported plans for four-power talks or other phases of the European situation was not known, but well-informed sources said the address would be "important."

Executions Start?

BERLIN, Sept. 17 —(AP)— The official German news agency reported today from Eger, Czechoslovakia, that rifle volleys were heard at dusk Friday in the Eger infantry barracks yard, and quoted Slovak soldiers as saying four Sudeten Germans were shot as deserters.

The agency also distributed a Volkischer Beobachter story from Eger saying that a car carrying two attaches of the German legation at Prague and a Beobachter correspondent was stopped near Lublenz by Czech gendarmes who tore down the Swastika emblems and bullied the occupants.

Two Dead, 62 Ill Of Poisoning

CHICAGO, Sept. 17 (A.P.)—Sixty-two persons were suffering to-day from a mysterious poisoning that caused the death of one man and the serious illness of several victims.

All were residents of suburban Elmwood Park on Chicago's west side.

Earl Bennison, 52, died yesterday while being taken to a hospital. His wife and four other members of the family were among those seriously ill.

Contaminated water and a pastry eaten by many of the victims were suspected by investigators as the source of the poisoning.

An inquiry was started by state, county and suburban health authorities. They ordered analyses of the suburb's water supply and of foodstuffs from the homes of victims.

Ollie Karwowski, an investigator for the coroner's office, said at least half of those who are ill ate chocolate eclairs purchased in the neighborhood.

Find Captain Drowned His Money Gone

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Sept. 17 (AP)—The body of Captain G. E. Stufflebeam, port captain at St. Ignace, was taken from the water at Brady Pier early today.

Police said there was a bruise on the head and no money in his clothing although he was known to have carried considerable money when last seen.

Captain Stufflebeam, in command of the Mackinac transportation fleet at the Straits of Mackinac, was here as a representative of underwriters investigating the grounding of the steamer Queen at Detour. His body was found at the bow of the damaged steamer which is tied up at Brady Pier.

History Walks By

5 Insane Convicts Club Gate Guard, Grab Warden's Auto, Flee; Two Caught Later In Montreal

MONTREAL, Sept. 17.—(CP). —Armed with machine guns and tear gas equipment, provincial police tightened their cordon around the Island of Montreal to-day while other authorities scoured the city in search of three criminally insane inmates of Bordeaux jail who, with two companions, dashed to freedom in a warder's automobile late yesterday.

The five long-term fugitives timed their break to coincide with a changing of the guard and were coming out the gates just as Warder Ernest DeBellefeuille drove up to work. With guns stolen from guards, the convicts forced Debellefeuille out of the car and then four of them drove away with it.

Two of the fugitives were recaptured on foot not long after the escape, but the three others, described by police officials as "desperate" men, remained at large after abandoning the car in the heart of Montreal East.

All five fugitives had been transfered from nearby St. Vincent De Paul Penitentiary to the insane wing at Bordeaux. Dr. Daniel Plouffe, superintendent of the prison hospital, said all were insane.

The three still at large are:

Montreal, Sept. 17. (CP).

Plenty Of Bond

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—(AP).—Angeline Korec, 40, wasn't lacking for funds when the police took her to the station in a dispute over some furniture. A canvas bag sewn to her dress contained 16 $100 bills, 32 $50 bills, and 11 $20 bills—$3,420 in all. The police charged Miss Korec with petit larceny last night and set bond at $500. She engaged a professional bondsman—and became liable to a fee of $25 to $50—rather than use her cash for the bond.

Utilities Commission Unable To Give City Council $5,000

Members of the Utilities Commission expressed regret in a resolution passed at the regular meeting Friday afternoon that they were unable to comply with the request from the City Council for $5,000 of the surplus required for the purpose of building a bridge across the London street dam.

The resolution stated the request could not be granted because the liquid assets are required for the purpose of waterworks and that at the end of 1937, there was a debit of $3,042.20 in the bank account of the Waterworks Department.

At a meeting of the City Council held recently Alderman Gordon had claimed the Commission had a sum in excess of the reserve am-

Skull And Crossbones Wine Label Urged By Brunswick Judge

Fredericton, Sept. 17 (CP).

THE label of a brand of Canadian wine sold in New Brunswick should bear a skull and crossbones, Judge A. R. Slipp declared in the York County Court yesterday.

He had suggested several times without result, that this wine be banned from the Province owing to the number of accidents for which it was responsible, he said.

Two men charged with driving cars while intoxicated appeared before Judge Slipp yesterday. One was sentenced for a year. The other case was adjourned.

BULLETIN

OTTAWA, Sept. 17 (CP).—The Dominion Government is prepared, if the necessity arises, to "summon parliament forthwith and submit their recommendations to it," Prime Minister Mackenzie King declared in a statement issued today dealing with Canada's attitude toward the European crisis.

"In the meantime," the statement continued, "we do not consider, in the light of all the circumstances known to us, that public controversy as to action in hypothetical contingencies would serve the interests of peace or commonwealth unity."

French Attitude Stiffens To Czech Side

PARIS, Sept. 17.—(A.P.).—A stiffening of the French Government's support of Czechoslovakia was reported to day in informed political circles.

The resolution to aid the Central European ally in case of invasion by Germany was said by observers in the Chamber of Deputies to be strengthened by frank talks of Premier Daladier, former Premier Edouard Herriot, President of the Chamber of Deputies, and Jules Jeanneney, President of the Senate

The opinion was expressed in these circles that many cabinet members who had been leaning toward a "peace at any price" policy were being converted to a firmer attitude.

The violence of the campaign against Czechoslovakia in the controlled German press caused many observers here to feel it might be impossible to negotiate any solution to the Czech-German crisis except by filling all the German demands.

Underground air-raid shelters for workers in government office buildings were said to be almost completed and bags of sand were delivered to the world-famous Louvre and other museums to bolter them against air bombardments. Protective measures were urged for the great French Cathedrals.

29 Die In Barcelona In Rebel Air Raid

BARCELONA, Sept. 17—(AP). —Twenty-nine persons were killed and 114 wounded to-day when three squadrons of Spanish insurgent planes dumped heavy loads of bombs on the Barcelona port section.

The British collier Lake Hallwill of London was struck by bomb fragments, but no one was hurt.

The heaviest toll was at a market where women had lined up for distribution of food. The district is known as Barceloneta, where only the poorest refugees still live amid the wreckage of previous bombings.

Jew Doctors Notified Of Military Posts; Many Czechs Jailed

BERLIN, Sept. 17—(AP)—Konrad Henlein, leader of the Sudeten German party, today ordered establishment of a "free corps" along the Czechoslovakia-German border, beginning today.

BERLIN, Sept 17—(AP).—Many Jewish physicians, whose licenses had been ordered revoked, have been notified exactly to which military unit they must report in case of war, it was learned reliably to-day.

The report was taken to indicate the urgency with which Nazis regard the present crisis arising from German and Czechoslovak difference over minority rights.

(Approximately 6,000 to 7,000 Jewish doctors in Germany were forbidden in a decree of August 2 to practice after September 30. There were few exceptions to the ban, which closed a chapter in a systematic drive against Jewish doctors which began December 29, 1937, when 3,000 Jewish doctors were dropped from staffs of private hospitals.)

While Hitler's newspaper mouthpiece stressed suggestions for a Czechoslovak plebiscite to settle the quarrel and repeated the Chancellor's sharp words that "behind this warning stands a nation united in spirit and determined in will, Germany continued quietly to put the nation more and more on a war basis.

More Laborers Wanted.

Hotels were combed for possible workers on the new system of fortifications on the western frontier across from France. The number of waiters is becoming smaller daily.

Foreign commercial attaches, bankers and economists said they could not explain how Germany has financed her large-scale military measures. They pointed out that new government reports show the foreign trade balance is again turning against Germany but that nevertheless there is no sign of a let-up in expenditures for war purposes.

With an eye to possible eventualities, Hitler decided yesterday to increase the number of women who enter labor camps every six months from 30,000 to 50,000. Similarly, in order to be able to reach all war veterans effectively it was decreed that henceforth there would be only one veterans' organization and that under Nazi auspices.

The Koelnische Zeitung, a Cologne newspaper, said editorially: "For every delay (in settling the dispute) the Prague government must pay a surcharge. The compound interest mounts steadily."

Citizens received another shock through a sudden announcement by the National Air Defence League that almost every house must be provided with bomb- and gas-proof shelters.

Hitler Stands By His Plan.

Hitler, meanwhile, was reported adamant in wanting a virtual protectorate over all Czechoslovakia.

Without waiting to see results from a second meeting of Hitler and Prime Minister Chamberlan —who conferred at Hitler's home Thursday—several British firms recalled their Berlin representatives.On the other hand, 80 British Engineers and economists continued a tour of inspection of the new Nazi-built super-highways.

Britons Draft Reply To Hitler In Double Session

London, Sept. 17. (A.P.)

THE cabinet convened in its second session at 3 p.m. today to work out the British Government's policy toward the Czechoslovak-German quarrel hanging as a dark threat of war over Europe.

LONDON, Sept. 17—(CP-Havas) Authoritative British sources announced today that Premier Edouard Daladier of France and Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet would come to London tomorrow. Daladier and Bonnet will fly here from Paris to consult Prime Minister Chamberlain and other Government leaders regarding Mr. Chamberlain's talk with Chancellor Hitler Thursday.

LONDON, Sept. 17 (A.P.).—The Cabinet sat for more than 2 hours to-day considering the fate of Czechoslovakia and the momentous conversations between Prime Minister Chamberlain and Chancellor Hitler. The session broke up at 1.30 p.m.

Later it was announced the Cabinet would convene again at 3 p.m. (10 a.m. EDT) to-day.

Viscount Runciman, the British mediator in Prague, sat through part of the morning session and then went to Buckingham Palace to lunch with the King.

Prime Minister Chamberlain gave a full report to the Cabinet on Hitler's terms for keeping European peace, and a decision on Great Britain's future course was believed reserved for the afternoon session.

Cession Without Vote.

LONDON, Sept. 17 (C.P. Cable). —Session of Sudetenland to Germany without the formality of a plebiscite was the demand Chancellor Hitler made to Prime Minister Chamberlain at their three-hour conference at Berchtesgaden, it was reported here to-day.

Official circles refused to discuss the Czech-German crisis until Mr. Chamberlain had finished his report to the Cabinet and the ministers had been given full opportunity to consider it, but there was a growing belief that a four-Power conference will be called eventually to deal with it.

If Hitler's price is to be paid to purchase peace for Europe, it will mean adding Czech territory to the Reich. The other alternative seems to be war.

Cession of Sudetenland could be accomplished by amending the Treaty of Versailles, which established Czechoslovakia after the war. In anticipation of any move of this kind, Hungary and Poland are reported to be applying for the Czech territory in which their nationals live. The carving up of Czechoslovakia would leave an almost pure Slav state.

The four Powers which might meet to accomplish the actual cession would be Great Britain, Italy, France and Germany.

But it is believed there is a section of the government which might be agreeable in order to escape war. Czechoslovakia probably would demand a long-term territorial guarantee.

Radio Star 80, Recalls Mussolini In Cocky Waiter's Role

LONDON, Sept. 17 (CP)—A grey-haired old fruit-seller in Soho, who once told Mussolini to be quiet, laughs when he thinks "where old Ben is now" and a showman once told the Italian waiter his play "Napoleon" was lousy still thinks he was right.

Old Jack Smith, fruit salesman and radio star, is 80 but he can still remember the night he sat in a cafe and told a friend one Englishman was worth 10 Italians. A young Italian, 22, powerfully-built and stumpy, dashed to his table with clenched fists, shouting in broken English for a retraction.

Jack recalls he slapped Mussolini on the back and said: "Oh, chuck it, Ben, you and your politics make me sick."

Says Evidence Against Campbell Weak

OTTAWA, Sept. 17—(CP)—Prosecution evidence against Oscar Campbell of Toronto, charged with armed robbery of a bank at Richmond, Ont., July 19, was variable, Joseph Sedgwick, defence counsel told the jury as Campbell's trial approached an end here today.

Mr. Sedgwick contended there was no evidence to link Campbell with the bandit car or with the crime. Two identification witnesses, C. B. Lewis, bank manager, and William Hemphill, a customer in the bank at the time of the robbery, did not agree.

Defence counsel completed his address to the jury this morning and Raoul Mercier, crown prosecutor, began. The case was expected to reach the jury during the afternoon.

Cross-examination by Crown Attorney Raoul Mercier and Defence Counsel Joseph Sedgwick concluded late yesterday. Today the crown and defence will address the jury and Mr. Justice Patrick McTague of the Ontario Supreme Court will sum up the case before it goes to the jury.

Never In Bank

Campbell testified under cross-examination that he was never in the bank at Richmond and did not know where Richmond was. He told the court he was a "general contractor" but that "police continually followed me and interrupted my work." His "last contract" was in 1936.

"How did they interrupt your work?" asked Mr. Mercier.

"By continually following me from place to place to my home and to my work," Campbell replied.

Late in 1936 he went to Vancouver "but there was nothing out there" and he went back to Montreal where he stayed until the spring of 1937.

Accused testified that after that he was in Ottawa doing "a little gambling" and later played the races in several United States cities.

Mr. Mercier asked Campbell why he took two cottages, one at Manotick, near Ottawa, and the other at Selwyn, near Peterborough. Witness said he thought one might be used by his wife and children in Toronto.

"Are they on relief?" the Crown Attorney asked.

"Possibly now," witness replied.

Mr. Mercier referred to $1,000 Campbell had with him when he came here from Buffalo and asked: "With all this money on you, you didn't know whether your family was on relief in Toronto or not and you sent them $80 or $100?"

"I told them when I left to go on relief. I said: 'If they won't let me work, they can keep you.'"

No Plebiscite Warns Czech Chief

Troops Prepared For Outbreaks After Sudeten Ban

PRAGUE, Sept. 17—(AP)— Czechoslovak troops, gendarmes and police received special instructions from Prague today to be prepared for possible disturbances when Sudeten German communities realize their chief political party has been outlawed.

News of cabinet orders dissolving the Nazi-supported Sudeten German party immediately, disbanding the uniformed Sudeten storm troop organization and prohibiting the wearing of uniforms for political purposes was broadcast; but the full impact of the vigorous action was not expected until later today.

Other developments added to the tension of the situation which the world fears might produce war.

Rudolf Bechyne, Czechoslovak minister of railways, gave notice Czechoslovakia would not permit dismemberment of her territory and would not agree to any plebiscite to determine the future of the Sudeten German minority of 3,500,000 people.

He declared a plebiscite would be a "short-cut to war, because if there were a plebiscite, no government would exist in Prague."

There was evidence of disaffection among the Sudeten Germans themselves.

Members of the Brunn Town council refused to meet with six Sudeten members, who were barred from the session even though they protested they did not sympathize with the Sudeten German party led by Konrad Henlein, who fled to Germany after issuing a manifesto demanding union of the Sudeten area with Germany.

Committees of Sudeten German leaders at Asch and Karlovy Vary explained to authorities they disagreed with the "anschluss" proclamation of Henlein, whose arrest for treason has been ordered.

Czech authorities particularly watched for possible outbreaks at Reichenberg, where a general strike has been called, and at Komotau, Warnsdorf, Aussig, Eger, Asch and others of the 16 communities under strict martial law.

Guns Surrendered.

Citizens of Bohemia province turned over thousands of pistols, rifles, shotguns and other weapons to gendarmerie stations in compliance with the regional government's orders that residents of 63 political districts must surrender secretly-stored arms and ammunition within 24 hours. Many Sudetens live in the area.

Authorities said leading Sudeten Germans had fled Czechoslovakia, including Henlein and members of his family and Deputy Karl Frank and his family.

A government source said a protest was received from the Hungarian government against a reported unusual movement of Czechoslovak troops in the vicinity of the Hungarian frontier. It said no action had been taken.

The government awaited a definite outcome of a conference between Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain and Chancellor Hitler of Germany in Berchtesgaden Thursday. Officials said, meanwhile, that the preservation of the territorial integrity of this republic was paramount. The tenor of general comment in Prague seemed to be that the Czechs are determined to fight to protect the present boundaries.

A single shooting incident was reported in Tupabl village in the Caubcaubu district, where an unidentified man fired on a military patrol and was killed when the patrol returned the fire.

Authorities seeking to confiscate hidden stores of ammunition in the Sudeten territory reported the discovery of a large supply of arms in small buildings near Hennersdorf. They said three boxes of hand grenades, 10 automatic rifles and 2,000 rounds of ammunition were seized there and several men arrested.

A belief that the arms were of German origin was expressed by authorities.

Food Of New York's Millions Threatened As Wildcat Strike Stops Trucks

NEW YORK, Sept. 17. —(AP).— A fast spreading "wild-cat" strike of insurgent truckmen, in revolt against back-to-work orders by officials of the International Teamster's Union, today threatened New York city's millions with a food shortage.

Abe Klein, chairman of the strikers rank and file committee, tersely announced that only foods destined for hospitals, orphan asylums or persons on relief would be permitted to move through the picket lines.

All trucks arriving from New Jersey via Holland Tunnel were halted by a 75-man picket line this morning.

Asked to co-operate, few of the incoming drivers of giant trucks laden with vital fresh food supplies refused to join the strike in a wide area in the vicinity of the tunnel soon were lined with abandoned trucks.

Klein said 9,000 men already were affected by the "outlaw" strike, which developed two days ago over the union's demands for a five-day, 40-hour week with a basic pay of $56.50 a week remaining unchanged. The men now work 47 hours. Union officials, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, did not sanction strike action.

Klein predicted that by noon 15,000 would be on strike.

The supply of newsprint for the New York papers was blocked but none was in immediate need.

Extra police guards were thrown around the tunnel area, but no move was made to interfere with the strikers.

French-U.K. Airfleets Offset Rhine Forts So Empire Delegates Decide

Written for The Canadian Press by Prof. Norman A. M. Mackenzie.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Sept. 17—(C P Cable)—Combined air fleets of the United Kingdom and France were balanced against Germany's fortification of the Rhine as vital factors in the present critical European situation as delegates to the British Commonwealth Relations Conference today discussed the possibilities of a solution to the crisis.

Some doubted the power of Britain and France to exert sufficient pressure on Germany to be of material assistance to Czechoslovakia, due to the fortification of the Rhineland. Others, however, felt the strength of the combined air fleets of the two nations was sufficient to be a persuading element.

Delegates concluded their two weeks' private and unofficial deliberations today with a final discussion of future co-operation within the commonwealth regarding trade, defence and foreign policies. The visit of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain to Chancellor Hitler was generally approved as a source of relief which might be expected to relieve the tension.

On the defence question, British delegates were of the opinion the British navy, with the Singapore base, could provide defence for Australia and New Zealand and still deal with the European situation. Naval power on Britain's side in the event of war would be far greater than that of her potential enemies, it was suggested.

There were those, on the other hand, who considered the rise of competing navies and the development of air power made Britain's position less secure. These delegates suggested the security and unity of the Commonwealth therefore depended on the creation of some form of world organization.

Hamilton Blaze Overcomes 7 Firefighters

HAMILTON, Ont., Sept. 17 (C.P.)—Seeping through the basement of Quality Groceterias' branch store as firemen battled against dense smoke to control a stubborn fire, ammonia fumes from the refrigeration system caused the collapse of seven officers and men of the Hamilton Fire Department to-day. An eighth suffered a severe foot laceration when he stepped on a nail.

All the mobile units of the Police Department were pressed into service to speed the unconscious men to the General Hospital.

Within an hour, all had revived and the physicians anticipated that six of the eight would return to their homes to-day.

Dennis Flaherty, attached to Sanford Avenue Station, was the only one of the eight detained for further treatment. He rallied satisfactorily, but physicians deemed it wise to treat him for extreme shock.

The others admitted were:

District Chief James Canary, Acting District Chief Norman Baskett, Lieut. Harry Huffman, Lieut. John Eastwood, Stuart Zimmerman, who suffered a foot laceration, Ben Moses and Robert McKay.

Starting among some cases of stock and a paper baler in the front of the basement, the fire was discovered by two constables as they drove home from work.

Directed by District Chief Canary and Acting District Chief Baskett, the crews from the three eastern stations fought the blaze for an hour.

Ambulances and a patrol wagon made six trips to hospital with the stricken firemen.

Scottish Callander Sends Quints Gifts

CALLANDER, Ont., Sept. 17—(CP). — Five tiny silver shoulder brooches for five fast-growing little girls—gifts from across the sea—will be presented in a ceremony in the municipal hall of this northern Ontario village next Wednesday.

From Callander, Perthshire, ancient gateway to the Scottish highlands, will come the presents for each of the Dionne quintuplets, born 2½ miles from this little community, turned tourist centre through their fame.

It is hoped Premier Hepburn of Ontario will be available to make the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne, parents of the children. Dr. A. R. Dafoe, medical guardian to the quints, will talk briefly.

The brooches were brought from the Scottish namesake of this village by William Baird of Montreal, steamship passenger manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, with the best wishes to the Quints and their parents, from Provost Alex Lye and his councillors. The 1,600 residents of old Callander will be represented Wednesday by a former provost Dow, now a resident of Picton, Ont.

Peterboro Horses Win At Lindsay

Peterborough owned horses carried off a large portion of the prizes at the Lindsay Exhibition on Friday, where the horse entries exceeded the number at the exhibition in this city last month, and besides trotting events the Lindsay program included running races.

Mrs. T. N. D. Kelly also of Peterborough drove her noble looking team from the judging ring with a red ribbon in the carriage class and also took other prizes. Dr. Middleton gathered in a first prize in the runabout class along with several other awards.

ount permitted by statute and that this might be obtained to build the bridge, for which Ashburnham residents are clamoring.

Calls Committee.

Mr. Gordon said Friday night he would introduce the question for further discussion at the Legal committee meeting to be held next Monday night, and added the request was within the rights of the Council as the last auditors' report of the Commission showed an apparently unneeded surplus.

Frank Kearney, Ross street and spokesman for the delegation of 32 Ashburnham residents who applied to the Council for a bridge at the August meeting, when advised of the Commission's decision, said: "This fight is just starting, the Council members know we have a perfect right for a bridge at this point and we expect to exhaust every resource before abandoning the idea."

He further explained that several residents of the section had gathered at his home prior to the September meeting of the Council suggesting that another delegation be sent, but Mr. Kearney had persuaded them to wait for further developments.

Pumpage Is Down.

The operating report from the Waterworks Department shows that pumpage for the month of August just closed totalled 82,510,000 gallons, which is considerably lower than the total of 97,390,000 recorded for the same month a year ago. Increased rainfall during August was responsible for the decrease.

A twelve inch main on Barnardo avenue and Wolseley street, has been completed and connected into the distribution system at Benson avenue. This will result in increased pressure in that district and next year the main should be extended to connect with the main on that street. The cost of the work done this year was $3,858.33 which has been charged to Construction Mains and Hydrants.

670 feet of two inch galvanized pipe has been laid on Barnardo avenue to serve the new school building located just north of the city's boundary in Smith township. The entire cost of the main has been borne by Smith Township Council. Seven new services have been installed during the month, and painting of hydrants almost completed.

The peak electrical load during the month was 8,200, a decrease of 263 horse power over August, 1937, and it is the first time since 1934 that the report has failed to record an increase in the monthly peak over the corresponding month of the preceding year. The drop in peak is due to many things but principally to the loss of the Auburn Mills load of over 250 horse power.

Nine flat rate heaters were installed during the month and there is now 1,438 in the system with a total capacity of 884.67 h.p.

During August eighteen electric range services were installed and since the month of May, 1936 the workmen have installed 211.

The power was turned on the Hattrick Point line on August 6th and on August 17th the Fife's Bay line was hooked into the system.

John O'Malley, 15, life, for assault on a penitentiary guard;

Dieudonne Coallier, 25, 10 years for burglary.

The five fugitives were exercising with other prisoners in the jail yard at suburban Bordeaux, when two of them climbed a ladder left against a prison wall by workmen and seized Guard Gagnon's rifle. With the three others, the pair raced to the main exit after clubbing the gate guard, Huot, to the ground and firing shots at other warders. Seizing Huot's gun they ran out just as Debellefeuille drove up.

O'Malley did not swarm into the automobile with the other four, but sped away on foot and was taken half an hour later near the jail.

A short distance from the prison, Coallier left the car and flagged a lift from a truck. He got off near the Pie IX Boulevard bridge and was recaptured near there by Provincial Traffic officers.

Powder Keg In Europe's Gravest Crisis

Labor Demands Stand On War

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Sept. 17 (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada today passed a resolution demanding that parliament be called without delay to decide Canada's policy in the event of an European war.

The congress added the demand to a resolution stating "that our government be urged to co-operate with other peace-loving countries of the world in whatever steps are deemed essential to destroy the reign of terror being imposed by Nazi and Fascist dictators and thus remove the menace of international lawlessness and once more bring peace to mankind."

The resolution adopted was substituted for one calling for a referendum before Canada committed itself to a war. Speaker after speaker favored a "stop Hitler movement" and one suggested seeking the aid of German, Italian and Japanese workers to halt war.

Robert McCutcheon of Winnipeg, who said he had opposed participating in the Great War, declared: "I am 54 years old, got false teeth and indigestion, but if war is unavoidable and they use up the potential recruits for an army, in this war I am offering my services."

No Workers Freedom

McCutcheon said the last war was "between capitalist imperialism." The present tension involved dictators who destroyed workers' movements in their own countries.

Pointing out the Canadian government had not stated its policy the congress reiterated its belief in collective security but recognized "the need to render help at this hour to those democratic countries whose independence and integrity now is being challenged."

the Sudeten German party, appealed in a proclamation to Sudeten Germans to await the outcome of "fateful conversations" between Chancellor Hitler and Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain.

The report said Kundt referred to the government's suspension of Sudeten organizations and declared:—

"Do not allow yourselves to be led astray by the suspension of the party. Remain what you were and wait until Adolf Hitler and Mr. Chamberlain have concluded their fateful conversations.

"Whether parties or party organizations are to remain or not in Czechoslovakia is no longer the decisive issue.

"What is decisive is the fate of Sudeten Germanism and of our homeland. Until the decision is taken, remain firm and let your nerves be as of steel."

Runciman Reports

LONDON, Sept. 17.—Lord Runciman, who flew back from Prague for the cabinet meeting reported on Czechoslovakia's attitude, which appeared to be determination to preserve the republic's integrity even at the cost of war.

Meanwhile, in Birmingham, the Communists in annual session continued their crossfire at the governmet with the party's secretary issuing a report charging that "those who refuse to attack Mr. Chamberlain, those who want to sacrifice the Czech people as Abyssinia and Spain are being sacrificed to the fascist tigers, are not only traitors to peace and humanity, now but are strengthening the economic and military basis of Fascism to attack the British people in the future."

The peace terms which Mr. Chamberlain brought back from Germany were said by unconfirmed reports to include annexation of the Sudeten German districts of Czechoslovakia.

The prime minister agreed to receive a deputation from the National Council of Labor, representing both the labor party and trade unions, to discuss the international situation.

King Stays Nearby

In diplomatic quarters there was a growing feeling that annexation of Sudetenland by Germany was the only way to preserve peace, but it was feared that any British or French support for revision would create strong opposition both in London and Paris.

It was believed generally there were only two ways to get Czechoslovakia to give up her troubled German fringe; by convincing her she would not also lose her Magyars to Hungary and her Poles to Poland, and by guaranteeing her new borders through some sort of four-power pact.

The recall of the Earl of Perth, British ambassador to Rome, from a holiday in Scotland, a report that Mr. Chamberlain had communicated with Premier Mussolini from Berchtesgaden, and a conference between Lord Halifax and Count Dino Grandi, Italian ambassador to London, lent support to reports Italy was being kept well informed on the situation.

Asks For "Pen" Term

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Sept. 17—(CP).—George Gallagher, 22, of Inverness, Nova Scotia, requested to be sent to Kingston penitentiary in preference to a term in the Ontario Reformatory. Granting Gallagher's wishes, Magistrate J. H. Campbell increased two sentences of two years less one day to two years to run concurrently.

When the magistrate imposed the lighter sentences, Gallagher, who today admitted his correct name was William Moran, asked "will you add another day to that."

Good general buying pushed futures up more than a cent at the start and offset profit-taking. Canadian export sales were placed at 1,000,000 bushels, and it was reported all shippers' offers overnight at Liverpool had been accepted.

The Golden Text

Proverbs 17:17—"A friend loveth at all times."

Jonathan—Courageous Friendship

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Sept. 18 is I Samuel 14:1-46; 18:1-4; 19:1-7; 20:1-42; II Samuel 1:17-27, especially I Samuel 20:4-17, the Golden Text being Proverbs 17:17, "A friend loveth at all times.")

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

"HE MUST increase, but I must decrease." So said John the Baptist of Jesus when some tried to arouse in his soul a sense of jealousy over Jesus' increasing popularity. So also would Jonathan, son of Saul, have said of his friend David, "He must increase, but I must decrease."

Jonathan's Soul Knit With David's

David's victory over Goliath challenged the utmost admiration of Jonathan who witnessed the conflict. Such courage and heroism he had never seen. Brave as he was himself, Jonathan had suffered Goliath's challenge to go untaken for 40 days. Then came the stripling from Bethlehem with his shepherd's sling and stones from the brook and vindicated God's cause when even Jonathan dared not to undertake the conflict, with the result that "the soul of Jonathan was knit with the soul of David, and Jonathan loved him as his own soul." It was their likeness of soul that made them knit together so well and so abidingly, for "no man putteth a piece of new cloth unto an old garment." It was a true affinity of soul that accounts for the beautiful friendship that knitted the souls of David and Jonathan together in a pattern excelled in beauty only by the friendship of the "Friend of publicans and sinners." When Saul's jealous soul breathed out threatenings and slaughter against David, Jonathan swore allegiance to David, and David to Jonathan and to his seed after him: "So Jonathan made a covenant with the house of David ....and Jonathan caused David to swear again, because he loved him: for he loved him as he loved his own soul."

"Passing the Love of Women"

Of Jonathan's love David sang with all the passion and ecstasy of his poetic soul: "How are the mighty fallen in the midst of battle! O Jonathan, thou wast slain in thy high places. I am distressed for thee, my brother Jonathan: thy love to me was wonderful, passing the love of women." Not only with feminine tenderness did Jonathan love David, but as a woman leaves all that her father hath for the love of her lover, so Jonathan forsook throne and scepter and all the glory of his father's kingdom for his love of David. "Thou hast chosen the son of Jesse to thine own confusion," snarled Saul at Jonathan. "For as long as the son of Jesse liveth on the ground, thou shalt not be established, nor thy kindom," Jonathan knew all this well. But what things were gain to him he counted loss for the excellency of the love he bore David.

"The Friend of Sinners"

"And Jonathan stripped himself of that robe that was upon him, and gave it to David." Greater love hath no man than this, except the love Christ Jesus, the Friend of sinners, has shown to all of us and sealed with his own blood. His robe of righteousness he yielded to us; his throne of glory he left to seek and to save us that we might share his glory and reign with him. "What language shall I borrow to thank Thee, dearest Friend, for this Thy dying sorrow, Thy pity without end! O make me Thine forever, and should I fainting be, Lord let me never, never, outlive my love to Thee!"

Cathedral Musings

In the unrest and tension of the day we see the logical result of the selfish competitive spirit extended from the individual to the multitude. From the higher point of view it is all so unnecessary. The man with insight of the higher order realizes that humanity, from the individual to the nation, is struggling and fighting for that which can never really be possessed. No man, no community, no nation can ever really own, or possess anything whatever. All that can be said, is that during a short period of time, a mere tick of the clock of eternity, we have the privilege of the use of things. We did not create them and they are not ours. It is truly said that the earth is the Lord's and the fulness thereof. It is equally true and just as little realized that all humanity is kin, one man to the other. All the barriers that divide man from his fellow-man, the stress of exaggerated nationalism and all the differences that engender mutual suspicion and antagonism, are of mans' own making, certainly not of God's. They all arise from the materialistic and selfish point of view. They are in defiance of the Cosmic Law and so are evil, and their results are no less evil. To man was given the duty of replenishing the earth, not of desolating it. The earth's treasures were given to him to use wisely, for the benefit of all, not for his own selfish ends. The earth itself was to be his inhabitation, a dwelling of light and wisdom ,but man has made it a hell.

Even as the keynote for the individual should be mutual help and co-operation, so should it be for the community and, more also, for the nations. It is all so useless, so stupid, so blindly short-sighted and so anti-Christian. Truly did the Buddha say: "Hatred ceases not by hatred, but by love," and did not the Master say the same, when He commanded us to love our enemies? Is it not imperative for the peoples of the world to take stock of themselves and seek to eradicate the foul cancer of self that, growing unchecked, brings forth in its massed action such foul and hideous fruit as we see today? Is not the health of the body politic the sum total of the health of the units that compose it?

A National Message

The heaten for an inheritance. . The peoples will each express their own ideals Some will build a cottage, and develope an orchard. Some will prefer to build and furnish a palace. Some will run to flocks and herds. Each and all will serve according his and their own personality, and that of his race.

We visualize new London; expressing the national character. We see a new Paris; and what a Paris, when the sprightly French turn to make it the beautiful thing the spirit of the people would produce. We have seen the sculptured representation of the spirit of Paris on the Notre Dame Cathedral. It may have represented the spirit of old Paris, in the bad times of old France. But that is not the statue which would represent the spirit of France in the Kingdom of God, under the reign of the Majestic Christ of God. No, Paris will be a thing of beauty indeed when that time comes.

We shall see a new Berlin. What a city it will become! There will be place for the abstract thinkers. They will make their mark in the New City. There will be the place for deep research into the realms of physics as yet undreamed of. There will be new capitals, expressing higher things in every nation. . .

And what a glory shall the central capital of it all be! Only the Lord Himself is qualified to furnish the plans and specifications of this.

He has done so in the sacred scriptures; in cold words and figures in the last chapters of Ezekiel; but in a living picture of the city as shown to us in the last two chapters of the Bible. It will take a thousand years to attain to that perfection. We will be approaching, more and more, toward it during the reign of Christ. Finally it will break upon us in all its glory, and will furnish the centre of the "New Heavens" and the "New Earth" which God will create as a setting for such a choice jewel, and as a dwelling place for His people forever.

Coronation gift .... This gift of the nations of this world is the coronation gift the Lord has in store for His Son. It is a gift worthy of the hand of God, and worthy of the acceptance of Jesus Christ our Lord.

Yet we call attention to the fact that there is a condition evn to the Begotten Son.

"Ask of ME"....If even the Son shall ask the gift from God, how much more must we, Gods Israel, "enquire of Him" to do these things for us.

New Study Book To Be Reviewed

The first of a brief series of addresses on the new study book for the organizations of the United Church of Canada will be given in St. Andrew's church on next Sunday morning. The book is entitled "The World in Canada" and the author is Rev. J. J. Mackey, B.A., B.D., superintendent of the Church of all Nations, in Toronto. Mr. Mackay was a college classmate of Dr. C. M. Scott of this city, and has had a fine record in his work amongst the new Canadians not only in Toronto but throughout Canada

The first chapter deals with the valuable contribution which the diverse races (outside of the Anglo Saxon) are making to the welfare of the Dominion. Some people try to scare us by the story of the perils we incur by admitting people into this country from the southern nations of Europe and from Asia. The author takes a different line, and from an intimate knowledge of these people shows, that granted suitable conditions many of these fears are groundless.

He maintains that in agriculture, city planning, mastering of languages, craftsmanship, music, independence and honesty of character, and even in professional life these new Canadians have gifts and graces which are equal to, and in some cases excel those of the Anglo Saxon race.

In the second chapter he tells the story of heroic pioneers of some of the churches of the Dominion. Rev. James McGregor, father of the Presbyterian church in Nova Scotia, James Robertson also from Scotland, George and John McDougall and James Woodsworth, heroic fathers of Methodism; Samuel Hesker and Dr. Lillie of the congregational church. As we read the narrative we are thrilled by the sacrifice and ceaseless labors of these men in planting the church in the wilderness of early Canada.

Dr. J. A. MacKenzie Resigns Charge

Rev. Dr. J. A. MacKenzie pastor of Knox United Church in Saskatoon and a former minister of Knox Church in Peterborough, has been forced to resign on account of ill health. Dr. MacKenzie became minister of the Saskatoon congregation in 1927 going there from Guelph. He was minister of Knox church here for eight years following the resignation of Rev. H. K. Keith in 1914.

Although forced to give up interests outside his congregation some time ago Dr. MacKenzie was for years interested in the life of the community. He was a popular after dinner speaker and at one time president of the Saskatoon Red Cross. He received his honorary degree from St. Andrew's college of which institution he is still a member of the Board of Management. At present with his family in La Chute Quebec it is the hope of all Dr. MacKenzie's friends that the rest from his arduous duties will assist in a complete recovery.

Biblical Thoughts For the Shut-Ins

By Rev. E. R. James, Toronto

WHAT DO YOU KNOW OF THE BIBLE?

THE PREPARATION FOR THE LORD'S COMING

When the fulness of time was come God sent for His Son.—Gal. 4:4.

In the previous articles we have endeavored to show how God in His great wisdom and patience revealed Himself to His chosen people, the Jews, through the prophets. The popular opinion of the prophet is a man who foretells the future. This was but a small part of his work. Had he only foretold he would not have come into the bitter antagonism with the ecclesiastical authorities. The great and lasting work of the prophet was to tell forth the mind of God to his generation and to us.

Up to the time of Amos and even later Jehovah was looked upon as a tribal, national God, the God of the Hebrews. Through Amos was revealed the truth that Jehovah was a righteous God and expected His worshippers to deal righteously with one another—to be just and upright in all their dealings. Then Hosea through this family tragedy revealed that Jehovah is a God of love and loves his people. Isaiah taught that Jehovah was a holy God, pure and moral in character and hated impurity. It was a new thought that holiness meant purity and not separation, as it was popularly understood. Then Jeremiah, through his personal sufferings and Jehovah's intercourse with him taught that the time would come when Jehovah would speak to the individual. He was the first to teach the new, astonishing truth, that the individual was important in Jehovah's eyes.

Then Ezekiel in the land of exile taught the truth that Jehovah, being the one living God, could speak to His people in the land of exile. Thus slowly, here a little, there a little, line upon line and precept upon precept, was revealed to the Jewish people that Jehovah is the one living God, Almighty and the Creator of all mankind.

Perhaps the greatest blessing of the exile was that the Jewish scholars in Babylon gathered together the various stories, songs and manuscriptsof their nation. They put them into writing and thus began the Book.

After the return from exile the Jews never fell into idolatry, the worshipping of images and false gods. They became the "People of the Book." Their gravest and constant peril and sin was Bibliolatry, the idolatry or worship of the book. Perhaps we do not need to go so far back to find a similar peril.

Only a small portion of the Jews returned to Palestine; the larger portion remaining in Babylon, prospering and going westward till at the time of our Lord's ministry they were to be found in every portion of the Roman Empire. They were called the Jews of the dispersion. They spoke Greek. For them about 250 B.C. the Hebrew scriptures were translated into Greek. This was called the Septuagint. It became the Bible of the Christians. This translation gives a very interesting light upon the casting of the lot between Saul and Jonathan. "And Saul said, O Jehovah, God of Israel, why hast thou not answered thy servant this day? If this iniquity be in me or in Jonathan my son, O Jehovah, God of Israel, give Urim; but if it be thy people Israel, give Thummim."—1 Sam. 14: 41.

The Jews divided the Old Testament into three parts: The law; the prophets and the sacred writings. In other words they did not look upon all the Old Testament as of equal value. The Sacred Writings contained the Psalms, Job, Proverbs, Ecclesiastees, the Book of Daniel and other scriptures. It may startle you to know that the Rabinnical scholars did not look upon Daniel as a major propheth. The Canon of the Old Testament was closed by the rabinnical authorities about 90 A.D., about twenty years after the fall of Jerusalem.

Thus the Old Testament scriptures have come down to us containing the great fudamental truth that Jehovah is the one living God. The great German scholar, Deissman, reminds us that the unity of the Godhead is the fundamental truth of the Old Testament.

Every devout Jew says in his daily devotions and in the hour of his death this creed:

Hear, O Israel; the Lord our God is one Lord.

Rev. E. L. Langston Is Writing Book

The Rev. E. L. Langston who is again visiting this city has been commissioned to write the official "life of Bishop Taylor Smith." Such a work was undertaken within twenty-four hours of the Bishop's death at the request of a publishing house in London and published within about 10 weeks. It is however altogether inadequate and the most influential group of the Bishop's friends have joined in asking the Rev. E. L. Langston to write this book. No better choice could be made because he has been closely associated with the Bishop since his school days when as a boy camper he was told off to make the Bishop's bed. They have appeared together on the English Keswick platform for many years and were both members of the group of English churchmen who went on the mission of help to the churches of middle Europe—chiefly Hungary in 1936.

A section of this book will cover his Canadian visits and it will be prepared by Canon Paterson who entertained him several times in Peterborough and who spent the summer a year ago with the Bishop in various parts of England.

Mr. Langston's knowledge experience of eastern and middle Europe makes him a very specially interesting preacher at this time and the many friends he made on his last visit to Peterborough will welcome him again. Those who missed his previous visit will be glad to have this opportunity of meeting and hearing him. He will preach at both services in All Saints' Church this Sunday.

Jonathan: Courageous Friendship — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—I Samuel 14:1-46; 18:1-4; 19:1-7; 20:1-42; 23:15-18; II Samuel 1:17-27.

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

Jonathan first learned to love David the day David slew Goliath, the Philistine, in battle. Then and there "the soul of Jonathan was knit with the soul of David and he loved him as his own soul."

King Saul became very jealous of David and often tried to kill him. He tried also to make his son Jonathan jealous of David. But Jonathan's love for David remained unchanged.

On one occasion Jonathan and David made a covenant of friendship with one another and arranged certain signals with the shooting of arrows to reveal Saul's attitude towards David.

Jonathan was killed with Saul in battle and David mourned for his friend, saying, "O Jonathan, I am distressed for thee, my brother."

Fences And Regulations

For a good many generations people in the world have been busy building fences and making laws. There were none of these international fences when the world was created, but generations past and present have shown a prodigious energy in supplying something which was not proyided for at the time of creation.

And of laws there are many. So it comes that we have finally reduced nationalization and law and regulation making to such a science that there are people who have no home. They do not belong any place at all. They were born into the world but the world has no place for them.

To illustrate take the case of John Dolanchuk who is now 43 years of age. He was born in Hatna, then part of Austria, but by the Treaty of Versailles his section of the world was taken over by Rumania and he did not apply for citizenship papers, and now he cannot because his chance terminated in 1933. Since his standing has become known he has made three trips on a vessel plying between United States and Europe, but he finds he cannot land any place because he does not belong any place. So our many years of making national fences, laws and regulations have produced the situation where John is nothing more than a human shuttlecock batted back and forth on the high seas and unable to find a friendly port he can call home.

Rather a Surprise

There was something strange about the opening chapter of the commission investigating mental institutions in the province to see if there were patients being detained who ought to be released. At the outset of the proceedings in London it was announced that the mental hospital there would probably be abandoned and the patients transferred to the new hospital which is nearing completion not far from St. Thomas.

Looking back at reports which set forth the purpose and scope of the present commission of enquiry nothing was found to show that it had anything to do with ordering or recommending the abandonment of the hospital in London. The institution in that city is old, and it has been recommended before that it ought to be brought up-to-date, but the idea of abandoning it entirely was never mentioned. The impression has always been given that there was such pressure on space in our mental hospitals that the new building in St. Thomas district was urgently needed to relieve that pressure and to create space for cases which could not otherwise be taken in. If the intention is to close the London place and transfer the patients to St. Thomas then it was hardly the mission of the present commission to make the announcement.

Schools Full And Empty

There is one young man who finds himself with nothing to do. There are others in the same class but consider for the moment the case of this one. He is a school teacher and he received his training in this city. In time he secured a school appointment and his work was satisfactory. Last year there were but three pupils in the school and they were all in the entrance class, and they all passed, so his teaching must have been of the right sort. There are no more pupils for the school, so the school has been closed and the teacher is out.

We noticed reports within recent days telling of three schools which had been closed in parts of Western Ontario, and the reason was the same in each case—only three or four pupils of school age in a school section and so plans were made to send them to some other school.

While this is taking place we read of the opening of the Northern Vocational School in Toronto. When it was opened five years ago it was freely stated by many people that it was so large it would never be filled, but within recent days the superintendent of schools has recommended that two double portables be erected to take care of pupils who cannot enter the present premises because there is not room for them. Meanwhile inspectors of schools in our rural districts are constantly facing the problem of what to do with the schools where they know well enough the attendance does not warrant the cost of keeping the school open.

It is not a healthy condition because the people who are living in Toronto depend—whether they realize it or not—on what is going on out in the districts where the school attendance is diminishing. It is a case where our primary producers are growing less while those who are not primary producers are growing greater in numbers. If there is any power in legislation to correct such a situation then it does look as though the benefit of such remedial action should be thrown in favor of the section of our community where a basic weakness is showing itself.

Our City Finances

Possibly people write letters at times without a full knowledge of the facts. In the day's mail there was a letter—unsigned—and in the ordinary course of events it would have received no attention. But the burden of the letter was that there was such little consideration given by our City Council to getting the tax rate down. We quote:

"Year after year the expenses keep on going up and we keep on spending money we haven't got. They keep putting us deeper into debt and..."

There was quite a lot of it, but much the same as the few words quoted above. Everything is wrong; our Council is wrong; the methods they use are wrong.

There has not been a great deal of increase in assessments of existing property in this city. In 1924 the per capita assessment in Peterborough was $1,002, and in 1936, twelve years later, it was $1,061. The tax rate in mills in 1924 was 34.6, and this year it is for public school supporters 35. It is down from where it had gone in 1930 when it was 39.2. And it is well to remember that in 1924 relief was not a serious matter. If the charges for relief were taken from our present tax bills then the rate would be 32.82 mills for public school supporters and 35.07 for supporters of separate schools.

Nor is it right to say "they keep putting us deeper into debt." Municipalities generally get deeper into debt when they issue a number of debentures; actually there is no other way by which a municipality can increase its debt as the law requires that each year the amount received in taxes shall pay the current and other expenses of the year. There has not been a debenture issued by Peterborough since 1932, at which time a number of storm drains were put in as relief work and that debenture was for $70,000. Since then the city has paid its share of relief costs out of the current tax rate.

The city debt is not going up; it is actually going down. During that period since and including 1932 and to the end of 1938 during which time there was but one debenture issued there has been a good deal done to pay off our debt. The amount of debenture (debt) retirement has been:

1932	$ 98,915
1933	61,213
1934	179,952
1935	265,958
1936	156,487
1937	201,401
1938	190,789
Total debt discharged	$1,153,715
Less debenture issue	70,000
Debt lessened by	$1,083,715

In addition the amount of debenture debt which will be retired in the coming two years, 1939 and 1940, is impressively large, the amounts being:

1939	$337,381

Those two years make a total of $828,400. So between the start of 1932 and the conclusion of 1940 there will have been total debt reduction of $1,912,115. It is worth noting too that when these large amounts come due there is never any hesitation about paying them as proper provision has been made. From the facts given here we believe our unnamed correspondent will see that things are not going from bad to worse in our city financing. There are many municipalities who would gladly wish to be in as sound a position.

He Said It

"There is no use blaming the monetary system for 1,000,000 unemployed in Canada. The system is just what we have made it by being selfish. Financial laws are just a reflection of how we live together. True security lies in straightening our relations with each other and with God."

No—you're wrong. That quotation was not taken from a sermon delivered in a pulpit. It was not spoken by a preacher at all, but by A. E. Jukes, president of the Vancouver Stock Exchange, who is attending a world assembly of the Oxford Group at Geneva.

One might well wonder as a starter just what Mr. Jukes of the Stock Exchange had to do with God in the pursuit of his daily business which is one of buying and selling. He would be primarily interested in material values and yet at the conclusion of his remarks he said our relationship with God was a great factor in determining how we are going to get along with the solution of our major problems.

It's a good thing Mr. Jukes left his business in Vancouver for a while and went to Geneva and stood up and said plainly that which he did say because it was something about which too little has been said. There are we believe a good many people who would like to say something like that because they know well enough there is something wrong and they can't make it right. They encounter it every day but they lack the courage to say openly what the stock exchange man from the Pacific coast has stated. And without knowing Mr. Jukes at all they will admire him for the statement to which he has given utterance.

As It Was On The Tenth

We have noticed reports of meetings in several districts where plans are being made for the annual plowing match. Such a meeting on the Tenth Concession was generally held at the school house. The school door would be left unlocked after four and all that was needed for the evening meeting was lighting a couple of coal oil lamps. Some of the men drove over and hitched their horses around in the yard at the back. The principal business was finding some place where the owner of the land was willing to have a plowing match. Some of them held it was a bad thing because all the plots and ditches and furrows made it hard to work next year and it was apt to be bumpy driving the binder. Then there was the naming of committees and plans for getting something about it in the weekly paper in the nearby village and it was generally believed if there were some bills printed at the office then the editor would be glad to announce the event in the paper as well and make no extra charge. The ladies' organization which went under the name of the Willing Workers at the church on the corner of the Tenth and the Broken Front road always looked after supplying what refreshments were in demand.

Generally there was a bit of discussion about selecting the judges, and it was felt best to bring in some person from a safe distance, one who would not have to turn in the day after the plowing match and live with the farmers whose work he had judged. It was known he would have made a few friends but also a number who would not be much concerned about his health or his progress generally.

When it came to the day of the plowing match grandfather always elected himself to go as the representative of Lot 4, Concession Ten. The hired man was all right in his way; he could ride the gang plow and stand on the harrows, but when it came to real plowing—well grandfather was certain it was a gift or a talent which one should not hide under a bushel. He always quarrelled with the way in which they ran plowing matches. When it came the time when there was allowance made for people to do hand packing when building a crown grandfather exploded right on the spot and said "Fiddlesticks!" That was about as far as he ever went in strong language, but when things were going to be done that way he seemed to be willing enough to have the hired man along to do the patting and the fixing. When he noticed how slow contestants were allowed to drive their teams in the contest he complained some more that at such a snail's pace they wouldn't get a 10-acre field done by the time it was ready to think which goose was going to be killed for Christmas.

The plowing matches are coming along again, and it is one operation which has not changed much apart from the use of the tractor. Actually it is the basis of good farming. They are naming committees and appointing judges and getting bills printed just the same as they used to do on the Tenth Concession, and in a short time the non-contesting neighbors will be standing along the headlands having things to say about how the plowing is being done and also coming to the conclusion that the judges do not know good plowing when they see it. It was so even on the Tenth.

NOTE AND COMMENT

John Cobb drove his racing car 350 miles an hour, and that would be like getting from Peterborough to Toronto in about 16 minutes which we think would be altogether too soon.

Brockville is giving its water service free for the last four months of the year because the revenue is not needed. And that seems to be a much better method than piling up a surplus and then quarrelling to see who is going to get it.

Strike in an automobile plant at Evansville, Ind., requires those who settle it to adjust 100 grievances mentioned by the union workers. Sounds like something which might have come at a gathering of car drivers.

John Harold, chairman of the Workmen's Compensation Board, told an audience there that 95 per cent. of the assessments collected were paid out in awards and medical costs. Fine work we would say and just about as it ought to be.

COUSIN EZRA

(By A R K)

¶ My Cousin Ezra's feeling sour, you see it on him any hour, he's feeling none too good; I met with him the other day, and heard my cousin up and say, that he's not understood.

¶ Their garden turned out well this year, from weeds and stuff it's kept quite clear, there's lots of stuff to eat; the work's been done by Ezra's wife, that woman's worked near all her life, she stuck through all the heat.

¶ The widow lady just next door, says she's too frail to dig and chore, or else she hasn't time; she beams on Ezra down the street, and chats so friendly when they meet, a sort of clinging vine.

¶ And she admires the garden so, speaks often of the way things grow, laments her vacant plot; so Ezra early in the morn, carts over beets and bantam corn, then visits quite a lot.

¶ But Ezra's wife can see it all, right through the window in the hall, she thinks it none too good; she says she did the work out there, and doesn't think it hardly fair, to feed the neighborhood.

¶ So Ezra's feeling kind of dumb, upon his jaw there is no sun, his face is hard like wood; he says his wife don't understand, just why he's trying to act so grand—and he's not understood.

• Living In Times Without Precedent

(New York Times).

"ANY doubt that we live in times without precedent, participants in a world drama of swift surprises inspired by extraordinary personal impulses, is removed by the breath-taking decision of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain to fly to Berchtesgaden to make a last appeal to Adolf Hitler to save the world from war. In the history of international relations it has never happened before that in such circumstances the head of a great Government has gone in person to make such an appeal to the head of another Government as Mr. Chamberlain is about to make to the German Chancellor.

In the history of the British Empire, where protocol is almost as important as the conviction of supreme power which it frames, no Prime Minister has ever made a gesture, so unconventional so bold and in a way so humble. In a startling and almost literal sense, Mahomet goes to the mountain.

Either this dramatic impulse is a supreme stroke of imaginative statesmanship or it is a spectacular admission of desperation. When Mr. Chamberlain goes himself, on his own proposal, to 'try to find a peaceful solution' to the present crisis he acknowledges that all his emissaries have failed to convince the Germans of the consequences of an act of aggression in Czechoslovakia. He acuses Hitler of the inention to start hostilities without delay and at the same time recognizes him as the arbiter, or the co-arbiter of Europe.

Viewed as a recognition by Britain of the power of the Third Reich and its leader, the journey has an almost incredible significance in the relations of the two Governments. If Mr. Chamberlain's mission should fail, the immediate consequences are unpredictable, but never will war guilt have been more firmly or more dramatically fixed.

Viewed as a final peace move, a supreme effort to save mankind from th horror of another war, it takes on the epic quality of a magnificent gamble for the highest stake in the world.

No doubt Mr. Chamberlain figures that by this appeal he is giving Hitler the victory that will enable him to accept a peaceful solution of the Sudeten question with more prestige than he could win by the successful use of violence. So indeed he does, but the stake the Prime Minister risks is his own prestige and the prestige of Britain.

The world can only wait in hope that it will not be playe din vain. Every other development in a thickening crisis is now only background for the momentous conference at Berchtesgaden."

• What the Weekly Papers Say

HAVELOCK STANDARD: — Many municipalities noted Havelock's attitude in respect to the transient nuisance, and when the Town Council asked our citizens to discourage the intolerable begging from door to door prevalent here a few months ago, many thought it an idle gesture But, we are glad to report to all and sundry, it worked in Havelock, and ever since it is a rare occasion when a transient bothers to stay in Havelock and try his luck in soliciting food or money. The Town Council with the co-operation of our citizens, is to be congratulated upon the success of the idea, and more particularly Coun. James Squire, who insisted upon the motion going through council. From many of our exchanges we note that the transient evil is a burden upon their people and upon the public funds.

Coldwater News:—Several car accidents in the vicinty lately. The job of driving a car is getting to be more and more a nerve-racking experience, especially so when the other fellow becomes careless, or crazy, cutting in and passing on inclines. One wonders if this other fellow has the courtesy to say please and thank you at the table. Probably so. But put him behind the wheel of a car and he changes into a speed maniac or a road hog, ending finally in a ditch somewhere off the road map—or the next world.

The color was somewhat in the vicinity of red, but the magistrate called it "cerise." Just what kind of a garment it was however, had the magistrate stumped.

To get the advice of an expert he handed it to the court stenographer, who called it a waist.

"I think you are wrong. I would say that they are 'undies,' said the bench.

"It is a waist," she insisted. Later the magistrate said, "I guess you are right."

Bowmanville Statesman:—After a hectic week in which the mechanical staff of The Statesman have worked many hours over time, often into small hours of the morning, our big newspaper press condescended to get down to business again. From the press room invectives which echoed to the front office we are convinced the press was in bad shape.

• Look Higher Than Hitler

(Christian Science Monitor).

THE Yugoslav journal, Uprava, makes a commonly accepted, yet most deplorable, statement: "Never since Napoleon," it declares editorlally, "has the decision between war and peace been so entrusted in a single man as now—Hitler." The picture presented is a worldful of intelligent beings fixing eyes on one personality, as though by common consent men were yielding their mental dominion into the hands of one fallible human. The suggestion is hypnotic, erroneous, and vehemently to be denied. It constitutes a species of malpractice on a brother man. Reichsfuher Hitler has his decision to make. The world will benefit only as that decision is a righteous one. The suggested weight of conflicting doubts, fears, hopes, ambitions, approbations, condemnations, political sympathies and diplomatic pressures, laid on his human consciousness as he becomes scynosure of all eyes, can hardly be expected to encourage unbiased decisions.

To-day, as the Sudeten German problem seems strained to the breaking point, the world could scarcely do itself a better turn than to turn away from Herr Hitler and toward a power in whose hands the proudest become as clay in the hands of the potter. Watching the human, eyes follow a misplaced hope. Watching with understanding eyes, men may lift the problems due to international maladjustments, racial ambitions from the realm of erring human intellectuality, into the pure light of right and justice and that universal consciousness where— and only where —permanent peace may be found.

Predictions—Any human predictions at this time are subject to so many "if's" that all comment remains conjectural. Therefore today's transient occurrences remain in the ultimate, but passing shadows. Most significant of them, perhaps, is traceable to the suggestion of racial incompatability existing between the German and the Slavic outlook. Because of an unwillingness or a suggested incapacity to think in terms of universal brotherhood. Sudeten-Germans and Czechs quarrel. And so Prague extends its martial law, and National Socialist Leader Henlein informs the British mediator, Runciman that the Sudeten committee for negotiations with the Czechs is dissolved.

✧ ✧ ✧

Agents — Are the Sudetens and Czechs free agents? Built around Bohemia, with slices of pre-war neighbours, Czechoslovakit's physical barriers are incorporated in the new democractic territory as a natural defense against Germany's "Drang nech Osten," or "push to the east." The democracies want Czechoslovakia to stand as a discouragement to any German threat against French and British influence in southeastern German. Germany, naturally, wants the Czech barrier removed so that it may have practically unopposed access to valuable food, petroleum and armament resources along the Berlin-Bagdad route. So, behind the emotionalism keen heads weigh costs of war, and its uncertainties, against the advantages of a Czechoslovakia intact or a Czechoslovakia dismembered. It is a cold knife that cuts territorial boundaries, a cold hand that holds them. The warmth that makes boundaries immaterial is the warmth of universal Love.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

THE same day went Jesus out of the house, and sat by the sea side. And great multitudes were gathered together unto him, so that he went into a ship, and sat; and the whole multitudes stood on the shore. ....And the disciples came, and said unto him, Why speakest thou unto them in parables?

He answered and said unto them, Because it is given unto you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it is not given. For whosoever hath, to him shall be given, and he shall have more abundance; but whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken away even that he hath. Therefore speak I to them in parables; because they seeing see not; and hearing they hear not, neither do they undersand....

But blessed are your eyes, for they see: and your ears, for they hear. For verily I say unto you That many prophets and righteous men have desired to see those things which ye see, and have not seen them; and to hear those things which we hear, and have not heard them.—Matt. xiii, 1, 2, 10-13, 16, 17.

To The Editor

LOSING MONEY.

Editor Examiner:

Dear Sir:—Your recent editorial, "Not Making Money" has given me and, no doubt, others, considerable food for thought.

I have no fault to find with the wages generally paid by railway companies and of course contributing to the cost of meal-service on board train. We have grown used to the walls of the travelling public concerning the price of a square meal in railway dining cars. Owing to the cost of these meals I believe it is still the custom for a great many people to carry a lunch on a journey of any great duration, and in this respect I would not be far amiss in stating that the patrons of dining cars belong almost exclusively to the well-to-do classes. I am sure you will grant me this point.

Such being the case those who can afford to patronize these rolling-restaurants should be willing to pay for the foood and service they receive.

Assuming the authenticity of your statement that a meal purchased for $1.00 on a C. N. R. dining car costs $1.56 to serve, it is clear that the moneyed man or woman who can well afford to pay their way are eating and drinking at the expense of every Canadian taxpayer.

For easy figuring let us put the loss on a $1.00 meal at 50c. Assuming three thousand people buy a one-dollar meal each day on C. N. R. lines gives us a daly loss of $1500.00 taken over a year's period this gives us the startling total of $547,500.00.

I am led to wonder if this half-million odd dollars wouldn't go quite a piece towards relieving the taxpayer of the burden of shouldering the periodical deficit of which we hear so much from time to time.

Truly yours,
A. D. LAVALLEE.

Heavy Losses Suffered In Most Issues

By ALEX PRINGLE
Canadian Press Financial Writer.

TORONTO, Sept. 17.—(CP).—The rush of events threatening war in Europe got the stock market down in the last week and as alarmed holders dumped their securities, prices crased for the heaviest losses in one week since the break in October last year.

Gold shares took a loss of 10.86 in the Toronto exchange index to come within nine points of the low for the year. Industrial shares did little better, registering a decline of 9.85 while the base metals weakened 4.71 and the western oils 2.84.

Base metal shares went down with the golds and the industrials early in the period, but as the week advanced they began to reflect boardroom sentiment that if war should come the non-ferrous metal producers might not do so badly. Consolidated Mining and Smelting recorded a net decline of $5.25, having about halved its gross recession. International Nickel cut a 3 loss to 90 cents. Noranda reduced a $5 setback to 2.75 and Hudson Bay posted a gain.

Selling bulked in a dozen or more of the medium-price golds and these tumbled to crowd their low points for the year. Preston East Dome traded 40,000 to 130,000 shares daily and netted a setback of 24 cents, closing yesterday at $1.44. Declines of 65 to 80 cents on lighter volume were boarded by Macassa, O'Brien and Pickle Crow.

The big golds, Lake Shore, Dome and McIntyre posted net losses of $3 to 3.50 while trading in only moderate volume and a list of the penny golds forfeited sizeable portions of their paper values.

A thin buying demand marked the trade in the industrial section and in the excitement of Wednesday's sell-off some of the heavy industrials dropped a point between sales. National Steel Car, a so-called "awr stock," took a loss of $11 in the week to close yesterday at 48. Dominion Bridge, Canadian Car and Foundry, Dominion Steel "B" and Steel of Canada all dropped $2 to 5. Utilities and Senior Golds held better than other groups, while the liquors, foods, papers and implements were heavy. Walkers Common declined $5 to close at 37, Massey-Harris Common lost $1.25 and the preferred $13.

Hall's Glen Couple Honored By Friends

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 17. — About 30 friends of Mr. and Mrs. G. Crowe of Hall's Glen gathered at their home on Friday evening last, and held a surprise party in honor of Mr. Crowe, who was celebrating a birthday anniversary. Six tables of euchre were played. Miss Leila Matthews won the ladies' high prize and Henry Little carried off the gentlemen's prize. At the conclusionof the card playing, the ladies served refreshments, and mysteriously produced a large birthday cake topped with lighted candles which had been made in Mr. Crowe's honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Alec Darling of Dummer Township spent several days in Toronto last week.

The Lakefield Baptist Church will hold its annual anniversary services here on Sunday, September 18. Rev. W. B. Walker, pastor, will preach the sermon in the morning, and on Sunday evening Rev. C. C. Boyter of Park Street Baptist Church, Peterborough, will deliver a special anniversary address. There will be special music on both occasions. On Monday, in further celebration of the occasion, Miss Cora Charlton will present a travelogue with motion pictures.

For Sunday, September 18.

Sunday's horoscope holds happy presage for all things of a social, romantic, intellectual or cultural character, with much excitement and enjoyment in such direction. However, there are also omens of setbacks, impediments or sorrows that will take much decision, wisdom and assistance of good friends to mitigate.

A child born on this day may be clever, capable, romantic, and of strong social leanings, with artistic and cultural tastes, at times high strung and generally very active.

For Monday, September 19.

Peaceful Switzerland Apprehensive

Swiss government officials fear that peaceful Switzerland may become another Belgium should war break out in Europe over the present German-Czech crisis. Reports of concentration of German troops in the Black Forest, near the Swiss frontier, which is the narrowest gap between France and Czechoslovakia, add to the mounting fears held by the Swiss government. To meet this threat of a possible invasion Switzerland has summoned her army to take part in manoeuvres. Border bridges and tunnels as well as roads have been mined with live mines and will remain mined until the present tension eases or until it yields to war. This impressive line-up of military aircraft also is taking part in the manoeuvres of Switzerland's armed forces.

TWO WORLDS

BY MAUD McCURDY WELCH

CHAPTER 44

THERE WAS silence inthe big garish room after the kind looking young man had announced he hated Noel's "kind." Noel looked at him speculatively. "Why do you hate my kind?" she asked at last.

The young man moved uneasily in his chair. He looked at her with a frown. "That should be plain enough. You're one of the have's and I'm one of the have-not."

"Is that any reason for hating me?" she asked, her breath coming a little rapidly.

"Certainly it is, when I can't even get a job," the answer came impatiently.

"Won't you believe that I'm sorry and that I would help you if I could?"

The young man gave a coarse laugh. Then he said, "Stop talking. I'm not interested in you, or anything you have to say."

It seemed to Noel that his voice broke ever so slighly as he said those last words. She looked at him for a moment in silence, then said "You're a college man, aren't you?"

"It might interest you to know that I worked my way through one of the most famous colleges in the United States. When I came out, I thought the world was my oyster. What a laugh!" he broke off again then exclaimed: "Now, will you please stop quizzing me? I suggest that the best thing you can do is to sit down and keep yourself quiet. If you know what's good for you, that's what you'll do."

Noel followed his suggestion. She knew he intended to ignore her anyway, even though she would have liked very much to know more about this young man who said he hated her kind. She did not believe he was even one-half as unfriendly toward her as he would have her believe.

He remained sitting quietly in his chair, not moving his head. At last he drew a book from his pocket and began reading. From where she sat, Noel could see that it was a pocket edition on political philosophy.

The day seemed endless although the young man was kind enough to find some books and magazines for Noel to look over. However, when she made any further attempts at conversation, she was firmly rebuffed.

A lunch was brought up, which consisted again of sandwiches. Noel could only make a pretense of eating. The room was so stuffy and she needed fresh air so badly, she was feeling a little sick. She knew it wouldn't do any good to ask for one of the windows to be opened even slightly. But she did get up and walk over to one of them again and parted the heavy curtain once more.

Noel came back. She supposed he was afraid she might be seen. However, in this remote spot, she hardly believed there was even the barest chance.

At last it was night. Once again a tray was handed in through the door. This time there was a change. Tea, a thin soup, crackers, a potato salad. Noel tried to eat it, realizing that if by the remotest chance in the world she should see a way to escape, she would need all the strength she could summon. But the food tasted so unsavory, she had to push it from her.

The young man took the tray without question, still not looking at her. He handled it outside and returned to his seat. Noel at last went back to the divan. Perhaps she dozed a little. She had no way of knowing what time it was, but it seemed hours later when she heard the sound of hurried feet outside mingled with voices. Someone seemed to be having a scuffle.

Then the door was thrown open. Noel sat up on the couch and saw Nick, his hair tousled, and his tie twisted.

He motioned the young man to the door. "Get out!" he ordered in his tight-lipped voice. The boy obeyed.

Nick shut the door behind him, locked it. His breath was coming rapidly and it was some time before he seemed to be able to get his breath.

Noel stood there looking at him with contempt. "So it was you who did this?" She was conscious of a slight relief. She had coped with Nick before, he could do it again.

Nick merely stood there looking at her for a moment without speaking.

"Do you actually believe you can get away with a thing like this?" Noel demanded.

Nick still didn't answer. He was still looking at her.

"Nick, why did you have me brought here? I want to know. What can you hope to gain?" Noel persisted.

"You haven't any idea, have you, Miss Noel Shayne?" Nick's voice suddenly mocked.

"So you know who I am? And you really are a racketeer, aren't you?"

"One of the best in the profession " Nick admitted boastfully.

"But don't you know all men like you are doomed?" Noel exclaimed. "You can't get away with this."

"I see you read the fairy stories about the G-men," he said with a semblance of a smile.

"I tell you you won't get away with it. If you don't let me go—you're going to be sorry—mighty sorry, Nick," she emphasized.

"Hush!" Nick had one ear turned to the door as if listening for someone outside. Suddenly he said, "We've got to talk fast."

"What do you mean? If it's ransom money, I'll pay it," she said quickly.

Nick looked again toward the door, cautioned her to be quiet, then he said very low, "I suppose you would, and not even miss the money."

"Who told you my identity?"

"A girl by the name of Ruth Chester. Met her one day—knew her slightly—she volunteered the information."

"How soon will you get me away from here?" Noel asked. "I've told you money is no object."

"The money hasn't much to do with it," Nick said very low. "It's the Garwood matter. They'll take the money, however—no reason why they shouldn't."

"Please tell me what you mean," Noel begged.

"They suspect that you know more than I believe you do," Nick said. "That's why it's going to be hard for me—"

He didn't finish. He walked over on tiptoe and listened at the keyhole. Then, apparently reassured, he came back.

"I know nothing of those people," Noel began, "except that the child is not well. I was very anxious about her."

Nick held up a warning finger. Then he said in a loud voice, "All right, Miss Shayne. If you're going to make it difficult, you'll find it to your own disadvantage. If you're willing to see reason, you won't be ill-treated."

A sudden firm step had sounded outside. "And the sooner you make up your mind, the better. We mean business. Will you get that into your head?" Nick's voice was still loud and emphatic.

It was plain enough now that Nick was talking for the benefit of someone outside. He kept his voice loud enough to be heard on the other side of the door.

Then he spoke again, his voice very low. "I'm not after ransom money. I'm here to get you out of this. You must listen carefully and do exactly as I say. Refuse to sign the ransom note. Keep on refusing. Stall any possible way you can. Deny that you're the right girl. Anything. Tomorrow night at midnight I'll have my plans made. Exactly at 12 o'clock, you must let yourself down from the outside of the window. I'll be there to catch you.

Then he said again loudly. "You're stubborn, aren't you?" The next minute he left the room. Noel heard him say, "She'll do it though it may take time," to someone outside the door.

Was Nick really going to help her, or was it a trick?

Mrs. Holden Hostess Bethany Institute

(Examiner Correspondence.)

BETHANY, Sept. 17.—The regular monthly meeting of the Bethany Women's Institute was again resumed after the summer months. The meeting on Monday evening was held at the rectory at the home of Mrs. Rev. Holden and was in charge of Group 4.

Mrs. R. W. Price, the president presided for the opening exercises. A goodly attendance of members and visitors gave the meeting a social atmosphere. The Piano committee were detailed to arrange for another piano cover to be made, as the one submitted for inspection was not thought of proper dimensions. The meeting was then put in charge of the convenor of the evening, Mrs. Rev. Holden.

Mrs. Harvey Fallis, delighted the audience with a vocal solo. She was accompanied by Mrs. A. Thorndyke. With Mrs. Holden acting as supervisor, a lesson of questions, requiring answers by an impromptu class with the proverbial head and foot as incentative to win prizes proved a most instructive and unusual diversion for all taking part.

Mrs. Sid Armstrong won the head of class prize with Mrs. H. Muckle the prize for most correct answers, and Miss Thompson the consolation.

Goodnight Story

By MAX TRELL

It was a rainy afternoon. The rain drops plip-plopped from the edge of the roof. The trees in the garden were dripping wet, and there were little puddles in the paths and in the flower beds.

The children sat by the window in the playroom with their faces pressed against the glass, wishing the rain would stop so they could go out and play. They didn't notice their shadows, Knarf and Hanid (for shadows have names, you know) had slipped off to the farthest corner of the room and were talking in a very low voice to Mr. Punch, the puppet.

"Yes," said Mr. Punch, "it looks to me like a long, long rain."

"I feel sorry for the children," Hanid said. "I wish it would stop."

Not Sorry for Them.

Mr. Punch shook his head. "I don't feel so very sorry for the children."

"You don't, Mr. Punch?"

"Just think of all the creatures who have no warm home."

"No. After all, they're nice and dry in here. Just think of all the creatures who have no warm home to stay in. They haven't any umbrellas or raincoats or rubbers. They haven't anything to keep them from getting soaking wet."

"That's right, Mr. Punch," Hanid said. "Just think of the poor squirrels, and the birds, and the grasshoppers, and the rabbits. Isn't there any place for them to hide?"

Has a Scheme.

Here Knarf suddenly broke in: "I have a scheme!"

"A scheme? What kind of scheme?"

"A scheme to keep them all dry," the shadow boy answered. "Do you know that place under the back steps? It's as dry as anything there. There's room for lots of rabbits and squirrels and birds and grasshoppers. I'll tell them about it."

And the next second, quick as a flash, he darted across the floor, slid under the door, and was running across the garden.

A MEETING IN 1914 helps you get your money's worth in advertising space TODAY

IF you bought advertising space thirty years ago, you will remember how hard it was : : : how frequently impossible—to get information on circulation needed for effective space buying.

In 1914 a group of clear-headed men, tired of deploring the situation, resolved to do something about it. Their meeting resulted in the formation of one of the most remarkable examples of an industry's self-control—the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

Today, A.B.C. reports reveal and analyze NET PAID CIRCULATION—the true measure of advertising value.

A.B.C. reports answer the three vital circulation questions: how much is there? where is it? how was it secured? A.B.C. reports give verified information on the quantity, and an important index of the quality of circulation.

Before you buy space in any publication, study the A.B.C. report carefully. Know what you're getting. Then buy—and get what you pay for.

Add Color to Your Rooms

A room may be brightened and beautified by hanging pretty draperies and the windows and putting gay or rich slip covers on the furniture. Mirrors add charm to a room and seem to enlarge and brighten it. They double the books in the bookcase by their gay reflections and seem to stretch out the walls and enhance all the lovely features.

To add color to a room, select a beautiful rug or tapestry and repeat in your furnishings the colors in it, thus making the room harmonious. Do not overcrowd a room. Space is the greatest beauty-element you can provide.

Husbands And Wives May Complain About Each Other And Rush Into Divorce Courts, But Do You Notice How Many Take a Second Whirl at Matrimony?

WHEN we read that one marriage out of every six in the United States ends in divorce, and observe the disgruntled husbands and wives of our acquaintance, we are inclined to think that marriage is a failure and to wonder that it keeps on being a going concern.

Without doubt, few of the optimistic young lovers who march so confidently to the altar realize their dream and find marriage the heaven on earth that they expected it to be. Nevertheless, there are many consolation prizes in the matrimonial lottery, and perhaps even the disappointed and peevish husbands and wives, who rend the air with their complaints against marriage, are happier than they think they are.

For proof of this we have the indisputable fact that those who rail loudest against the disillusions and restrictions of the holy estate almost invariably rush back into it when death or divorce opens the doors of what they have regarded as their prison. One would think that they would no more marry a second time than a burned child would voluntarily return to a fire, but such is not the case. No sooner have they been freed from the yoke that galled them than they stick out their necks for it a second time.

Dr. Johnson once said that a second marriage was the final triumph of hope over experience. Maybe this is true. Maybe it is also true that widows and widowers, whether grass or sod, realize when they have lost them that John and Mary were not such bad old scouts after all; that even if John was grouchy at times and given to scattering cigarettes and newspapers all over the place, and even if Mary had a temper that was hung on a hair-trigger and was given to nagging, they were better company than no company at all. If their home was no ideal abode of bliss, it was far preferable to any hotel, or club, or boarding house.

Nothing is more obvious than that marriage unfits people for the single life, and so the grumbling of husbands and wives at each other is to be taken no more seriously than their grumbling about their jobs, or their houses, or their cars. Finding fault is a sort of an escape valve for them and doesn't in the least indicate that they are not perfectly satisfied with things as they are.

Also, husbands' and wives' complaints against each other are, oftener than not, their way of boasting and calling attention to their own virtues. Thus when Mr. A. berates his wife's extravagance and tells you what staggering millinery and dress bills she runs up at the most expensive shops he isn't really begrudging her a single hat or frock. He is just impressing upon you what a good provider he is and how lucky she is to have a husband who is able to dress her in Paris finery.

Likewise, when Mrs. B. tells you how she is tied down at home with the children; how she has to slave in the kitchen preparing meals for her husband because he is so particular about what he eats, she is just going into her little act. She doesn't regard herself as a domestic drudge. She just wants to get the glad hand for being a wonderful wife and mother and have you mirate over her being such a marvelous cook.

That husbands' and wives' faults and peculiarities do not get as much upon their nerves as is popularly supposed is also true. Only the hysterically minded make tragedies out of each other's little funny ways. The others laugh them off. Why, half of Jones' stories that set dinner tables in a roar are founded one some blunder that his wife made, and Mrs. Jones would be positively bereft of conversation if she couldn't descant on Mr. Jones' peculiarities.

That husbands and wives quarrel because they get a kick out of it no one will dispute. All of us have assisted, in the French sense in domestic brawls in which we were confident that murder would be done, but just as we looked to see the husband slay the wife, or the wife take the carving knife to the husband, they kissed and made up. And that was that. A pleasant time had been had by all and no blood shed.

And none of us have ever seen one of these husband-and-wife scrimmages that couldn't have been avoided if either one so desired. So, perhaps, having a sparring partner always handy is one of the compensations of marriage. Anyway, it is a great life if you don't weaken.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

"Be what your friends think you are; avoid being what your enemies say you are,—go right forward and be happy." —M. Pomeroy.

Dear Friends:

Not so long ago I heard a few young people talking about "this town." This town was this, and it was that, but to them it was not good.

I said it was one of the prettiest towns I had ever been in, and one said, "Oh, pretty. Yes, it's pretty enough, but what good does that do us? You can't trust or depend on anyone in it."

I said again, those are strong words, lady. And so, from one and the other, I heard of treacheries, lack of dependability, two timings, a whole list of things.

So, I argued that it wasn't the town, it was the people in it, and got a scornful look for my pains. Then I asked what each of them did when those things were done to them.

One gave as good as she got, so that if they let her down she in turn let someone else down. So she did not help matters any. Another left them entirely alone, so that she narrowed her friendships down considerably.

One young man had it out with those who did not play the game according to his idea of the rules, and that eliminated some of his friends. Still another did not bother with many, but stayed close to the home, and that narrowed her viewpoint a lot.

But it never occurred to any of them to set an example, and to SPEAK og this example. None of us like to think we are left holding the bag, nor that anyone will play fast and loose with us.

Make a stand, have a code of honor. Never were we allowed to break an engagement if something better came along, never leave it to the last minute before we told anyone we could not fulfil a promise.

Only in a case of illness were we allowed to disappoint anyone. And that is what more people need to do if they are not satisfied with the behaviour of their friends.

I will grant you that some towns have more of a tendency along the lines these young people were complaining about, much more than others. I have found it so myself.

And the only way to change things is for enough to have courage to show their disapproval, to set a standard and live up to it, and insist also that their friends live up to it.

If you accept slipshod methods in the dealings you have with your friends, if you also are slipshod, what can you expect but hear-burnings, and disappointments?

We read that there is honor amongst thieves, so why put up with the lack of it in your friends? And there is no honor where one is chisselling the other, where they let another down for some temporary kind of fun.

An unknown author wrote this:

"Here's to the heart of friendship tried and true,
That smiles with us when joys our pathways strew,
And kneels with us when sorrow like a pall
Enshrouds our stricken souls, and holds through all
The midnight gloom, with human truth and faith."

Play the game and others will play it with you. Play both sides against the middle, and you will fall between. But never never pretend friendship, for it is too sacred a thing to trifle with.

So, let us form an invisible club, the rules of which are: "I will do unto others as I would they would do unto me." Not a hard rule is it? Please reply to, Your Friend,

ROBERTA.

Mrs. W. A. Wood Is Tea Hostess

The tea table was attractively arranged with pink and white asters, and pink tapers in silver holders. Tea assistants were Mrs. Jessie Martin, Miss Alberta and Miss Dorothy Frost.

The shower and wedding gifts were shown by Miss Zoe McDonald, Miss Mamie Grose and Mrs. Jack Wolstenholme, and the trousseau by Mrs. Gordon Wood. Over 100 guests attended.

FAREWELL TO BACKACHE!

WOODSTOCK.—Hon. P. M. Dewan, Ontario Agriculture Minister, informed the Wilmot Agricultural Society last night that he favors a system of special grants from the Department to societies which feature competitions for farm boys and girls.

Highway First Aid Station Is Set Up At Bailieboro 20 Residents Given Course

Continuing a widespread drive to save the lives of those injured in highway traffic accidents, a highway first aid station has been set up at the village of Bailieboro and this week 20 residents of the district attended a course of instruction to qualify as competent first aiders.

The group composed of 17 men and three women were given the regular St. John Senior Course with William Butt, and Douglas Warren, medical students at the University of Toronto acting as instructors. The station will be located at Lancaster's Garage, Bailieboro, where there will be a complete first aid kit, a stretcher, blanket tourniquet and splints. Lancaster give's 24-hour road service and will transport the equipment to the scene of an accident whenever a telephone call comes in.

40 Stations in Ontario.

Training of the 20 people is being financed by the Peterborough Auto Club, and the highway first aid station program is being jointly financed by the Ontario Branch of St. John Ambulance Corps, Ontario Branch of the Canadian Red Cross and the Ontario Motor League. In all there are 40 such stations now in existence, stretching from Windsor in the west to Lancaster at the Quebec border, while others dot the highway north from Toronto to Huntsville. A fully equipped ambulance visits the different stations at intervals, and the program is responsible for the saving of three lives last year, besides being of inestimable value to many hundreds of injured motorists and those injured in other types of accidents.

The training consisted of 12 hours of lectures and demonstrations, and next Friday the candidates will write examination with Dr. A. L. Russell of Bailieboro presiding. There will be six questions on the paper and applicants must get a high standing to receive a diploma.

Subjects Treated.

The instructors stressed the importanec of treating a victim who is bleeding and much attention was given to this particular branch of the first aid work, as it is the most common in highway accidents, and injured motorists often die from loss of blood. The course included instruction in bandaging, artificial respiration, burns, poisons, foreign bodies in the eye, ear and nose, treatment of fractures, head injuries, how to carry and handle an injured person and how to promote circulation.

"We work on the fact that many injured people die because incompetent but well meaning persons handle them improperly following an accident, whereas if they had been left in a comfortable position until a first aid man or a doctor arrived, they would have a good chance to recover, said Mr. Butt. It is of vital importance that people know it is often advisable to leave a person lying on a blanket or coat following an injury until a doctor arrives, provided any bleeding is attended to at once, he added.

The course of study was completed Friday night and those who attended were Mrs. B. Byers, Mrs. George Fletcher, Mrs. W. Byers, H. V. Lancaster, E. Hiegh, L. B. Perrin, Albert Spiers, C. W. Byers, Henry Jewison, Ralph Greer, Haig Laing, Harlan Seens, Fred Hiegh, William Spiers, George Tascott, Lawrence Johnston, George Fletcher and Lloyd Jewison.

Two signs will be placed outside the garage to identify the place as a first aid station and signs will be placed a mile on each side of the village.

The Rambling REPORTERS

PASSING EXAMINATIONS.

How some men are able to get away with it is beyond Rev. Canon J. D. Paterson, he admitted at Kiwanis Club Friday.

Introducing his friends, Rev. C. Cooper Robinson, the guest speaker at the club's luncheon meeting, he told this story. They attended University of Toronto at the same time and Robinson was aways noted for his ability to catch first class honors. Knowing this Student Paterson thought his friend must have good books from which to study, so be borrowed them the night before an examination, brewed himself a pot of strong coffee and prepared to settle down to a hard night's study.

"Imagine my surprise when I found that he hadn't even cut the pages in his books," he said. "Far be in from me to ruin any man's books, so I just closed them up and went to bed." He passed the exam the next day in spite of the lack of study.

Gananoque Man Is Hurt Near Hastings

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Sept. 17. —George Reed, Gananoque, received severe head lacerations when he was thrown against the windshield of a car at Cuffe's Corners, two miles south of here Friday night. Ernest Alderson, also of Gananoque, was driver of the car which was involved in a collision with a car driven by Owen Hockey of Warkworth.

The Warkworth car was coming from Hastings and the other car was coming towards Hastings from Campbellford, when they collided at the corner.

Reed was rushed to the office of Dr. W. N. Campbell by Robert Simpson of Hastings. He was bleeding profusely and several stitches were required to close wounds about his head. Others involved in the crash received minor injuries but were not treated at the time.

Dr. Campbell said Reed's injuries were severe and that his condition was favorable.

According to farmers living nearby, both cars were quite badly wrecked. Provincial Constable Gordon Campbell of Campbellford, was called to investigate. Harold Edgar, Warkworth, accompanied Owen Hockey in the car.

Japs Fighting Evil Genii Found In China

Because the Japanese are beginning to feel the cost of their war in China they are going to have more concern in future about the cost of attempting to "befriend their friends the Chinese through their great period of difficulty as they believe they are doing," was the startling statement made to Kiwanians Friday by Rev. C. Cooper Robinson of the Canadian Academy in Japan.

The Japanese people have been taught to believe that they are befriending the Chinese by fighting the evil genii who now hold the reigns of power in that country; they believe that they are the best friends the Chinese have although the latter do not yet realize it, he claimed.

Count Cost Some Day

But despite the propaganda that has led to that belief, the Japanese are bound to begin to count the cost of so "helping" their "friends," and wonder whether they should foot the entire bill.

As evidence of the friendly feeling the Japanese people hold for the Chinese, he related that in the city of Kobe in Japan are several thousand Chinese, none of whom have been molested in any way during the year-long war, all of whom are still treated with great respect, allowed to go on about their business as though no war was being waged.

The people as a whole have not a deep understanding of foreign affairs because the press is heavily censored. "They are brought up on propaganda, fed on it. I think that ninety-nine per cent of the Japanese people feel they have the responsibility for the peace of the far east on their sholders. They believe their soldiers have gone over to China to free the Chinese people from the evil rule of misguided persons who have got control of the government."

Jap a Crusader

The Japanese soldier has inherited from the warrior class of the feudal ages the idea his is the right to protect the emperor and country. "He goes over to China very much as a crusader. The Japanese papers refer to the war as a 'Holy War'," he said.

Despite heavy censorship of news and mail, a certain amount of information is gradually seeping through into the country, he said. Bankers, university professors, business leaders, have still avenues of news open to them, and that information is gradually being spread. Another way in which the people are learning true facts is from soldiers who are returning home badly wounded. "They are bound to talk and I think the people are bound to be disappointed by some of their reports."

No Evidence of Suffering

Prices are beginning to rise now and that will lead the people into avenues of doubt, he believed. When he left in August there was no evidence of any particular suffering on account of the war but he thought that from now on there would be. Taxes and excise duties are beginning to climb, although they had not since the war started. Prices and wages had remained at about the same level until a month or so ago.

One of Japan's problems is that she is governed not by one government but by two. The defence services are responsible only to the throne and the only check the diet has on them is the power to hold up the budget—in which case the previous year's budget automatically goes into effect and changes in the diet might be made to facilitate the new budget's passing, he said. Only the defence services themselves have the right to determine whether a war beyond Japanese soil is a defence measure, he related.

Japanese are not more patriotic than the people of some other nation, but their idea of patriotism is different. While Japanese believe the highest good they can do their country is to die for her, other peoples believe that to work for their country is the greatest kind of patriotism.

The Japanese are a kindly people, a people of many fine qualities, the speaker said, and they live in a land that is full of paradoxes and dangers. One may stand enraptured by the beauty of a particular place in Japan and return three weeks later to find it destroyed by flood or typhoon. During the Kobe floods he saw no sign of looting or of quarrelling "and I could not but feel that here were a people with something in them. They could take it, and take it with a smile."

First Aid Course

Twenty persons took a full course of instruction in first aid work at Bailieboro this week to fit them for duty at the newly opened first aid station set up to serve victims of highway traffic accidents. The course held in Fletcher's Hall concluded last night. ABOVE, five of the candidates are being shown the proper method of bandaging and splinting a patient suffering from a fractured right hip. The victim is C. W. Byers, who took the course, and from LEFT to RIGHT are: Albert Spiers, L. B. Perrin, Everett Hiegh and H. V. Lancaster. William Butt, superintendent of the Highway First Aid stations in Ontario, is shown explaining the proper method. The teaching and setting up of the station is being financed by the Peterborough Auto Club. (Examiner Staff Photo.)

Hastings' Man Has Bad Fall

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Sept. 17. — Frank Pantling, middle-aged resident of this village, narrowly missed death when he slipped from an extension ladder while cleaning windows Friday afternoon. He received two two fractured ribs and a deep cut on the forehead which required several stitches.

Pantling was washing the outside of a two-storey window at his home when the ladder shifted, throwing him against the window, which broke, and the worker crashed to the ground. He was cut on the face by the breaking glass as he fell against the window. Dr. W. N. Campbell attended the injured man and ordered him to remain in bed for several days.

TO OPEN MONDAY.

The Kiwanis Dream House on Prince street will be open for inspection on Monday night from 7.30 until 10 o'clock:

CROP OF PEACHES

Angus Goselin of King George street will pick a good sized basket of peaches from a tree growing on his property this year. The peaches are normal size and almost ripe at the present time, and the bush which is said to be only two years old is seven feet tall.

TAGGERS OUT EARLY

To make things even harder for reporters and other impecunious persons, the Children's Air Society pressed into service as taggers, virtually all the city's best looking young girls this morning. Despite cloudy, drizzling weather, some girls reported funds were coming in strong.

LEAVES ARE FALLING.

Workmen who were cutting the grass on Confederation Square this morning were considerably hampered by large quantities of fallen leaves. The entire park holds the appearance almost of late Fall, so many leaves have fallen from the trees—an amount far in excess of other areas in the city.

MUCH-USED WORD

In answer to an inquiry regarding the meaning of the term "Sudeten," which appears often enough in the news at present. The name comes from the Sudetic Mountains, a range in central Europe. Part of this range is in the borderland of Czechoslovakia. German population is greatest there; hence the term Sudeten as applied to the Germans who live in that part of the land of the Czechs.

UNCLAIMED ARTICLES.

Several articles found during the past month and turned in to the police station are cluttering up one corner of the office. Among them is a large crowbar found on the highway, a Chevrolet car hub-cap, and a pair of brown leather gloves. There are four 1938 license plates wth the following numbers, D-2732, 692-C-6, 52548-C, and 52430-C. Owners may obtain them by applying to the officer on duty at the desk in the station.

MAN MISSING.

Gordon Hay, 41, of Campbellford, is being sought by Provincial and City police of this district, to advise him his daughter is at the point of death at her home in Campbellford. Hay was in Peterborough ten days ago and according to his companions at that time, went to Toronto from here. Provincial Constable Campbell of Campbellford sought aid from the local police in finding him last night but their efforts were unsuccessful.

NEW STEEL POSTS.

The appearance of Hunter street between Water aid Aylmer will be considerably improved by the removal of six large wooden poles which are slated for the discard. At the present time workmen of the Peterborough Utilities Commission are erecting heavy steel posts which will carry the wires, and the transformers now on the wooden poles will be placed on Chambers street.

A MINIATURE WAR.

Duck hunters on Pigeon Lake during the past few days have made the lakefront as noisy as the battlefront in war torn Spain, according to local nimrods who returned from the hunt. Every duck will be south of Highway 7 within a few days, in the opinion of many hunters and those gunmen who wait until October 1st will probably have little trouble getting their limit on the lower stretches of the Otonabee and in Rice Lake.

NO BAD (CZECHS) CHEQUES.

All the world may be waiting to know what Hitler and Chamberlain said in their recent talks but Chamberlain's side of the conversation at least is an open book to Bill Flack, one of Peterborough's football stars.

This morning Bill was telling the boys all about it and then ducking as quickly as he could. "Chamberlain didn't make any bones about the thing," declared Flack. "He just said to Hitler, 'Now, Adolph don't you take any of those bad cheques.' "—P.

95 Years Old And Never Really Sick In His Life

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Sept. 17. — William Raycraft, 95-year-old pioneer farmer of Cramahe Township, has never experienced pain or ache, he told a reporter who called on him yesterday at the home of his daughter in the village, Mrs. Harry Dodd, where he has resided for the past five years.

A local doctor called on him twice when he had a severe cold, but it was very much against his wishes, Mrs. Dodd explained. Other than these two calls he has not taken any medicine.

Born in Cavan.

He was born in Cavan Township, the son of John Raycraft and Martha Morgan. When Mr. Raycraft was two years of age his parents moved to Morganston, where he spent the greater part of his life as a farmer till five years ago.

Rises at Six O'clock.

Every morning at six o'clock he rises for the day and sits near a window smoking his pipe till time for breakfast. He retires in the evening before 7.30. Mr. Raycraft has always been a walker, even to the present day. Every afternoon he walks a distance of nearly half a mile to get the mail, and on his return walks up a steep hill. Sometimes he uses a cane, but is usually without it. He walked to Warkworth from Hastings a distance of twenty miles return, several times since he passed his seventies, but has not taken a walk like that in the past five years.

He retain practically full use of all his faculties and has never worn glasses to read the daily papers.

WILLIAM RAYCRAFT.

Good habits and plain living is his prescription for a long life. He displays a keen sense of humor, and seems, from all appearance, to be enjoying his ripe age to the fullest degree.

A meeting of the Finance and Housing Committee will be held on Monday next at 7 p.m. prompt, to be followed by an executive meeting at 7.30 p.m. All members are urged to attend the regular monthly meeting of the branch on Monday next, September 19th. Thanks to Comrade Ross Hood, a film in color of the corps' reunion in Toronto will be shown. The business meeting will be started promptly at 8 p.m. and the film will be shown at 9 p.m.

A meeting of the intending carpetball players was held on Wednesday last and 22 names were handed in. A meeting will be held on Wednesday next, September 21, for the purpose of registering the players and a fee of one dollar per player will be charged.

The first weekly euchre drive will be held on Thursday next, September 22, when we hope to welcome our members and friends. There are liberal prizes and play will start promptly at 8 p.m.

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the hall on Wednesday evening last, when we were hosts to the Orange Order carpetball team. Our three teams made a very creditable showing.

Due to the colder weather the hall shows greater activity than has been seen for some time, and with the opening of the billiard and carpetball season in the near future the activity will be even greater.

We have an idea that there is quite a deal of talent in the entertainment line to be found amongst ex-service men and it is only opportunity that is needed to bring it forward so a small committee has been formed to try and organize it. The proposal is that a concert party be formed and that concerts be given not only in our Legion Hall but even in the surrounding districts. It is not to be confined to Legion members only but any ex-service men or women will be welcome. Anyone interested please phone 1325M and Comrade H. C. Lord will be glad to hear from you.

We have been invited to attend the decoration day parade of the Lindsay Branch of the Canadian Legion on Sunday, September 18, and a party of the members will leave the hall at 12.45 p.m. on that day. Anyone owning a car will be doubly welcome and others are welcome also if we have enough transportation to provide for them.

The Imperial Veterans' Association is holding a card party at the Legion Hall on Wednesday next, September 21, at 8 p.m., and will be glad to welcome any former Imperial service men.

Five Firemen Escape

REGINA, Sept. 17 (CP)—Five Regina firemen escaped possible injury today when the front and roof of the Rex Theatre topped into the street after fire had swept through it to cause damage of $75,000.

Four of the menwere standing on the sidewalk in front of the building while a fifth was clinging to a ladder placed against the south side window.

Inspection Made Bancroft Road By The Minister

The Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Minister of Highways, and his Deputy-Minister, R. M. Smith, on Friday inspected the road from Barry's Bay to Peterborough. It took the two highways officials one hour to go the sixteen miles from Bancroft to Apsley, it was stated. This is the stretch of road which the Minister some weeks ago promised Alex. Elliott, M.P.P., and Rork Ferguson, M.P., that he would inspect at the earliest possible convenience.

The Minister and Deputy called upon Mr. Elliott afer completing the tour, and they were greatly impressed with the nee dof completing the road and hence giving Peterborough an outlet into the north. Reeve W. A. Anderson of Otonabee was present during the discussion, and urged on behalf of the county the completion of the road.

According to reports it is estimated that the Johnston Brothers will complete their contract in about three weeks on the Hall's Bridge-Burleigh Falls road and similarly Curran & Briggs working on the stretch of road south of Hubbel's Corners on the road leading towards Apsley will be finished with their contract in about the same time. The fall and wet weather are rapidly approaching and little work can be done, but the Department is being urged to undertake at least a part of this work this fall on the road north of Apsley in the hope the highway can be completed in a sufficient time before the heavy tourist traffic sets in next summer.

Lawn Bowling Is Down To Finals

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Sept. 17.—Interest is keen in the Hastings Bowling Club as the rink finals for the club championship enters the final bracket, and last night one more fell by the wayside, leaving Sam Hatherly's four to compete against Constable William Wellman and his quartet of bowlers.

In the semi-final contest Hatherly defeated a rink skipped by Dr. W. N. Campbell 17 to 16, to register a win in a battle that was a nip-and-tuck affair from the first bowl. The loss ousts Campbell for the year, and the two surviving rinks meet in the championship series very soon, the winner to get a beautiful silver trophy emblematic of club supremacy.

OSHAWA PLANS ENTRY IN SENIOR "A" HOCKEY RANKS OF O.H.A.

Abbott, Turnesa Tangle In Golf Final

OAKMONT, Pa., Sept. 17—(AP)—Two young fellows from opposite edges of the continent met on a Pittsburgh street last Sunday hunting for a church. To-day they met on a golf course in a duel for the United States amateur golf championship.

Buell Patrick Abbott, a California Irishman, and Willie Turnesa of New York's famous golfing clan, worshipped together and drummed up a friendship which was put to the acid test to-day as both battled for the biggest prize of their life.

Turnesa, 23-year-old graduate of Holy Cross, has made five previous starts in the tournament and never passed the quarter-finals. His six brothers, all golf professionals, financed him to a sixth stab at the championship before he settles down to putting his education to work.

A fortune teller promised one of his girl friends last month, "A young athlete friend of yours is going to win something he has wanted for a long time." Turnesa promptly decided this must be the year, and has played the hunch right up to the finals.

Abbott, an actor at 25, likewise had a hunch. Playing golf only since 1930, he yearned to take a crack at this title last year. But he had won the United States Public Links crown in 1936 and wanted to defend the championship. The United States Golf Association decided he couldn't be a public and private links competitor at one and the same time, so he defended his crown and lost.

Relieved of the handicap of a title, which never earned him either money or recognition, he journeyed three-fourth of the way across the land to do something no one has accomplished in modern memory—reached the finals of the amateur in the first jump. To do so he had to defeat Joe Thomnson of Hamilton in the quarter finals and Dick Chapman, conqueror of Johnny Goodman, last year's champion, in the semis.

Pat wants to go into the movies at something better than the extra parts he has had. The national amateur championship wouldn't obstruct this aim.

Willie wants to play on the Walker Cup team.

He Was Canada's Last Hope

One of the big surprises of the U.S. amateur golf tournament at Oakmont was the shooting of Joe Thompson, ABOVE, of Hamilton, the last Canadian left in the event. Unfortunately for Canadas' hopes, the only two Canadians to reach the match play stage, Sandy Somerville and Thompson, were drawn against each other in the opening round. The latter ousted Sandy one up. In the second round he defeated Fred Haas, Jr., and in the third Walter Blevins, both one up after an extra hole, but he passed out of the picture himself in the next round.

Wood Tumbles Bryan Grant To Meet Budge

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept. 17—(AP)—Sidney Wood, Jr., at 26, playing probably the best tennis of his life, faced the drum-fire of Donald Budge on the Stadium court to-day as the United States singles championship reached the semi-final stage, both in the men's and women's divisions.

Four matches were up for settlement, but the spotlight played on Wood's effort to break through the mighty red-head, who up to to-day hadn't so much dropped a set in the tournament.

Trying to lick Budge has come to be looked upon as a thankless task, but if Wood could keep his game at the white heat it was in his 6-2, 6-3, 6-2 victory over Bryan Grant, Jr., yesterday, he promised to extend the Big Chief.

It is a curious thing about Wood that he won the Wimbledon championship as far back as 1931, when he was a white-haired kid playing in linen knickers, but has never since been able to take a major title. For the last few years he has played scarcely any serious tennis, being too busy with his mining business, yet now he has brought his volleying game, the most thrilling in tennis, right back to its peak.

The other men's semi-final, between Jack Bromwich of Australia and Gene Mako, looked like a fairly sure thing for Bromwich, and the probability was that he and Budge would clash in the grand finale tomorrow, as originally planned.

Wings Defeat Bears 2nd Straight While Bisons Defeat Chiefs

There comes a time when the worm turns. And in the International Baseball League it was turning with such vengeance the champion Newark Bears and second-place Syracuse Chiefs might well think they faced a brace of Loch Ness monsters to-night and not the pushovers they trampled on all season.

For the Bears—pennant winners by an 18-game margin—suffered their second straight setback 2-1 last night from the third-place Rochester Red Wings in the semi-final playoff series for the Governor's Cup at Newark.

At the same time the fourth-place Buffalo Bisons made it two straight victories over Syracuse Chiefs, winning 4-1 in the other four-out-of-seven semi-final bracket at Syracuse. Bisons won the first game last Tuesday 3-2.

The Bison series shifts to Buffalo now for the third, fourth and fifth games, if necessary, the series winner to meet the Newark-Rochester semi-final survivor in a four-of-seven duel for the cup and the right to play the American Association playoff winner in the Little World Series. The Newark-Rochester round also shifts venue for to-night's game.

Wings Come From Behind.

The Red Wings, who came from behind to beat the Bears 3-2 last Tuesday, won in similar form last night. Buddy Rosar's fourth-inning homer put Newark in front, but the Wings scored single runs in the seventh and eighth innings. The first came when Jack Sturdy doubled and came home on Oscar Judd's single and the second when Hopp stretched a single into a double, took third base on a wild throw and came home on Bernie Cobb's fly.

Back of this run-getting was the seven-hit flinging of Bobby Bowman—who won the first game for the Wings—and the veteran Si Johnson. Johnson got credit for the win when he held the Bears scoreless in the last three innings after Bowman retired for a pinch hitter.

Alley Donald, pitching the route for the Bears, fanned 12 and bore up well until the seventh inning when he weakened and was whacked for five hits and both Rochester runs.

Buffalo rode to victory behind the five-hit pitching of Fabian Kowalik, who would have had a shutout but for a brief flurry of wildness in the third inning when he issued two walks and allowed the lone Syracuse score. From the third inning on he retired the Chiefs in order in all but the seventh when Mack singled.

Two singles by Boland and Martin, followed by an infield out gave the Bisons their first run in the second inning and in the third frame a two-base error plus Oglesby's double brought Buffalo the winning run. Then the Bisons added two more for good measure.

Havelock Badminton Club Re-organizes

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Sept. 17.—Reopening for the fall season, the Havelock Badminton Club held a general meeting of their members and prospective newcomers on Thursday evening at their court in the Town Hall. Getting off to an early start and with an increased membership list the club is looking forward to a great season. Although a few of the older members have dropped out, there is a large number of beginners entering the club this year, that is expected to bring the membership up close to forty.

Mrs. P. T. Greenley, president, taking the chair for the annual election of officers, was given a vote of thanks for her splendid work during the past two seasons.

Mr. Grey Kemp, last year's vice-president, was unanimously selected by the members to take over the office of president, vacated by Mrs. Greenley. Miss Margaret Jones was elected vice-president for the ensuing term, and Miss Madeline Armstrong will assume the duties of secretary-treasurer, which office was capably handled by Miss Lucy Wing last year.

The club will continue to play on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and the schedule for play beginning next week will be posted in the window of the Standard office. Each of the four groups into which the club is to be divided will select their own playing captain.

A round-robin series was much enjoyed during the evening and despite the three-months layoff, the members displayed good form.

Pot-luck refreshments were served about ten o'clock in the council chamber, at which time the business meeting was held.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By FRED CRAIG

PETERBOROUGH'S lacrosse team have sailed blithely through the first round of the Senior B playoffs and today are waiting for word as to their next opponents. The Woodbridge team who gave them quite a battle at home for more than half the distance never seriously threatened in the second game here last night and were badly outscored in every period except the third when they did turn the heat on a while and the only spirited lacrosse of the night materialized. The Petes also played some brilliant stuff at times and some very careless stuff at others but they were much the better team on the night's play and never had anything to worry about.

IF it was not the best game of the season Friday night's fixture was undoubtedly the quickest and for that the fans should pass a vote of thanks. It got away on time, there was no dragging out of the rest periods and the whole thing was over shortly after 10 o'clock which is a record early closing for the present season. It was a precedent that should be followed in future games and was certainly appreciated by last night's crowd.

THE PETES will be called upon to play Brookin and the first game will be played in Brooklin next Tuesday night with the second here on Friday. The East Yorks and Orangeville tied up their series, each winning a game and they will play a third match on Tuesday night to settle their argument. Brampton and the Caledon-Inglewood combines also split their round, each team winning its home game and they are billed to meet in a sudden-death fixture at Woodbridge on Tuesday night. Brooklin, like the Petes, won their series in straight games from Mount Hamilton, the latter defaulting the second game.

Its Growing Fast

ONE of the fastest-growing athletic organizations in Peterborough is the Gymnastic Club of the Canadian General Electric Company. Formed only two months ago, the club has already a membership of over 200 divided into boxing, wrestling, fencing and track and field divisions. Temporary classes in boxing and fencing have been held at the rear of Playmor Sports during the past month and the track and field men have been trainig at the Exhibtion Grounds. Equipment for a gymnasium has been chosen and a large room at the armouries is being renovated for the use of the club. The program of activities for the winter season calls for boxing, wrestling and fencing bouts as well as several social functions and the executive plans to hold an inaugural dance in the near future. The officers of this flourishing new-comer in the sport world are: President—Jim Morley, vice-president—Bill Bennett, secretary-treasurer Fred Fleming and executive, Gord. Chapman, R. Scarce, A. Hunter, F. Williams, B. Beggs, H. Bannon, Bob Mayee, Chris Jay and Miss H. Bradley, while Bill Horrocks is athletic director.

RECENT reports from Oshawa that the Motor City would be without a senior hockey team this winter seem to have been premature. The executive of the Oshwa club met the other night to discuss the matter and the latest dope is a senior entry will be sponsored. With the two Maundrells back from England and rearing to go and a bunch of last year's crack junior squad graduating from the "teen age class and ready for higher company it looks like Oshawa would just have to stick a senior team into the O. H. A. You cannot afford to waste material like that.

MANY football teams are represented in the lineup which Peterborough senior club was billed to send into action against Cobourg this afternoon. Of the starting team, Playing Coach Bill Irwin was formerly with Balmy Beach, Hendrie, at snap also used to play with Alex. Ponton's club, Flack, one of the middle wings played football in Montreal and Winslow in the centre on the other side learned his rugby with the Orfuns here as did Prete, slated to fill an inside wing post. Of the outsiders, Leo Deadley was with the Argonauts last season and Don. Hendren with the Orfuns, after graduating from the P. C. I. squad. The starting back division included Curley Krug, former Queen's and Argo backfielder, Shields with the Hamilton Panthers last season and Loucks who formerly played with the Lindsay team and afterward with the Orfuns. Flying wing Harry Marsh comes from the Orfuns and started with P. C. I. Of the rest of the squad Joe McNulty was with St. Michael's and Balmy Beach, Jack. Deadley with Toronto Eastsides, Jerry Creighton, Pup Curtin and Ab Leether were with P. C. I. last season and most of the rest with the Orfuns.

Students' Hard Drill

UNIFORMS were handed out to P. C. I.'s senior squad yesterday and the candidates for the 1938 team were driven by Coach Bamforth through their hardest workout of the season. The Collegiate pilot has to build up a new machine for the coming campaign and he is giving aspirants for the team plenty of work. Several score players out for the junior lineup also had a tough drill yesterday.

* * * * * * *

THERE may be some difficulty, it is learned, in organizing a strong senior interscholastic group in this district this seasn. Bowmanville High School has decided not to put in a senior entry and it is reported that Oshawa Collegiate, shy of material, is not very keen about the matter. However, it is hoped that one or both of these outfits will line up when the group schedule meeting is held.

* * * * * * *

HONEY TOMPKINS is not the only player from this district who is going to get a tryout with the Canadiens this season as Johnny-Lalonde, star defence player of the Trenton Flyers is billed for a test in the pro ranks. Lalonde whose standout playing against the Petes in the last couple of seasons has made him well known to Peterborough fans has arranged with the Royal Canadian Air Force authorities to take his vactioin during the training season of the Canadiens and he will show his wares to Cecil Hart, manager of the Flying French men at that time. Lalonde has a name that should commend him to French-Canadian fans but he has more than that— a lot of hockey ability as well. Incidentally he was recently offered a contract with the Quebec Aces but turned the bid down.

WITH hockey paragrahphs beginning to crash the sport columns a preliminary survey of the local material prompts the thought that we have lost a number of senior players since last season and so far the replacements have not matched the losses. Of last year's squad Barney Barnes, fast-moving defence man is gone, lured back to his native west and Stew. Williamson who played a lot of good hockey on the rear guard last season is also out of town. Tompkins will try out with the Canadiens and if he makes the grade even to the extent of being farmed out to the Quebec Aces or some other outfit he too will be lost to senior hockey here. Bill Calladine's services are being sought by several clubs and Northern outfits also have an eye on Bun Kingdon. The only reinforcement in sight so far is Joe McNulty, football star, should he decide to remain here this winter. McNulty is a good defenceman and the Petes could find plenty of use for that St. Michael's team which gave the junior Petes such a trouncing in hockey one season.

SPORTING GOULASH—Great interest is being taken in the Montreal Nationals-Ottawa exhibition game today as it will give a line on the strength of the Montreal O. R. F. U. entry....Joe Begley who was with the Orfuns last season is playing on the Cobourg wing line.... Joe McNulty's injured foot was expetced to keep him out of action with the seniors in Cobourg today....Don Crowe also has a pair of bad ankles which kept him out of lacrosse recently....World's series is billed to get under way October 5 and The Yanks should have it cleaned up about four or five days afterward....Boston Red Sox were held to four hits yesterday and yet won. Usually the Sox can collect a dozen blows and then lose....It's been fun talking to old friends and a few new ones in the column these last two weeks....And that seems to be about everything.

Al Hostack Should Serve Up Much Middleweight Action

NEW YORK, Sept. 17—Some of our Pacific coast correspondents are in high dudgeon over the New York boxing commission's refusal to honor Al Hostack as the new middleweight champion of the world. Hostack is the young Slav slugger who half killed Freddie Steele in a round in Seattle to win the title. After the fight the New York fight fathers, once aptly christened the Three Dumb Dukes by the late W. O. McGeehan, came up with some remarks concerning the sincerity of the fight, leaving you to infer that it was a business transaction. Our Pacific coast observers aver such is not the case.

Winner the Victim.

The suggestion that a championship fight is a deal between business men always reflects upon the man who wins the title. In this instance it is not justified, because the people who have seen Al Hostack in the ring think the young man is a whale of a fighter. They must be right in this, for his record has nothing of the namby pamby about it. He has slapped a lot of fellows down.

New York probably will see him in the Garden before long against Fred Apostoli, the rugged battler who beat Steele in a non-title bout before Hostack got to him. Mike Jacobs is trying to get the commission's sanction for such a go, and we're told the cauliflower czars will take back their harsh words and let Hostack attempt to prove his case. Apostoli has recovered from an appendicitis operation and wants employment. An engagement with Hostack would be a patural.

Going into Al's background, we find him seven years ago a kid on the wrong side of the tracks in Seattle. One day he walked into the gym run by Eddie Marino, who was a featherweight and lightweight 20 years ago. Marino once fought Abe Attell.

He's A Hustler.

Marino liked the boy's hustle and taught him how to use his feet, how to feint (a lost art), how to sidestep and roll with blows and how to punch. Young Hostack started as a featherweight. The good groundwork laid by Marino was helpful to young Al in the amateur ranks. He won 24 straight fights, 17 of them by knockouts.

In his six years of fighting he has met only one scrapper he could not beat—Jimmy Best of Tacoma. In six years Al has lost only one fight, winning 61. His knockout of Freddie Steele was his sixteenth consecutive kayo.

Jack Dempsey, who refereed the Steele-Hostack fight, said Al was the fastest middleweight he ever had seen, and "as hard a puncher and as accurate a hitter as the middleweight division has had in my time."

It sounds like a pretty good recommendation—and the promise of a lively entertainment one of these evenings for Fred Apostoli.

Outlaws Capture First Of Playoffs

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Sept. 17.—The Outlaws took a one game lead in the best of five game series for the championship of the town softball league by defeating Elgin 9 to 6 Friday night. The Outlaws won the game in the sixth innings by scoring four runs to come from behind a 6 to 5 Elgin lead.

Elgin scored 3 times in the first innings when J. Richardson tripled scoring three base runners. The Outlaws got 2 back in their half when McKee singled and scored on Stickles' double. Stickles later scored on a passed ball. Elgin got 3 more in the third on a single, a walk and 3 errors. The Outlaws came back with 2 in the last of the third on 2 errors and a single. They came within one of tying the score in the fourth as Bonds doubled and scored on Puffer's single.

The Outlaws sewed it up in the last of the sixth with 4 Petticrew singled followed by Walsh with another single. McKee scored Petticrew with a single and both runners scored on Stickles' second double. Stickles scored the final run of the game when he crossed the plate on Dit Clapper's single.

McKee shot them across for the winners and limited Elgin to 7 hits. They collected but 2 hits after the third inning. He fanned 8 and walked 3 batters. The Outlaws garnered 12 hits from the offerings of J. Richardson, 5 of them coming in the sixth innings. He had one strikeout and issued no free tickets to first.

Walsh, McKee, Stickles and Puffer, each with 2 hits in four times up collected the most hits for the Outlaws with R. Richardson and R. Scott also having 2 hits leading Elgin's batters.

The fielding feature of the game was a fast double play by the Outlaws in the fifth when Walsh took J. Richardson's hot grounder to step on second forcing R. Scott and getting the throw to first in time.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB. MARTIN

All bowlers who are no playing in any play-off games are asked to play the club doubles as scheduled.

Fourteen mixed rinks turned out last evening and considering the time of year, the attendance was rated as good. The winning skips were, B. Chesler, Dr. Allan, E. Wall and H. R. Martin.

We have not heard on what date the rained out mixed tournament of last Wednesday, will be held.

It took G. Gimblett all his time plus an extra end to eliminate J. J. Howden's quartette from the skips-vices competition. It was a real game all the way through and only a beautiful hit by Alex Gillies in the extra end gave Gimblett's boys the verdict.

Monday's Draw.

Leads and seconds (Finals)—Rev. G. Easton vs. C. Mowry.

Skips and vice skips (semi-finals)—E. L. Sackville vs. K. Sloane. Winner to play G. Gimblett on Tuesday evening.

Maundrells Are Back In Town From England

OSHAWA, Sept. 17—According to present indications it is expected to see an Oshawa entry in the senior "A" hockey ranks of the O.H.A. this season. At an executive meeting of the Oshawa Hockey Club Thursday night the matter was discussed, and it is likely a local entry will be sponsored.

The entry of a team in the senior ranks will depend on the addition of one or two more players in the senior class to the Oshawa string to put in a fighting club, it was revealed by J. B. Highfield, president.

The Maundrell brothers, two well known players in senior ranks, are back in Oshawa after playing in England. With Doug classed as one of the leading defensemen in English competition last year, and Cliff starring as a rating right-winger, they would fill an important berth on the local team.

Several of Oshawa's finalist junior squad are still in the district and eligible for senior ranks. "Doc" Dafoe, "Whip" Shortt and "Red" Krantz are all handy, while Bobby Forster, star tender, is available.

The Oshawa club will definitely enter junior teams in the "A" and "B" sections of the O.H.A., with the senior entry seen likely. Bill Tribble was selected as manager of the seniors, with Matt Leyden taking the junior "A" and Frank Black to handle the "B" junior entry.

New Champions Enthroned Kawartha Tennis

This week saw the wind-up of the championships at the Kawartha Tennis Club, as Margaret Jackson and Vi Davidson became the new ladies' doubles champions. They triumphed in two sets 8-6 and 6-2 over Hazel Jackson and Mrs. W. Jackson.

It was a case of two aces—singles aces—beating two queens. Both Miss Jackson and Miss Davidson have been playing singles all season for their respective Kawartha League teams, and they fought it out for the ladies' singles championship of the club. On the other hand, Miss Hazel Jackson and Mrs. W. Jackson have been playing doubles, both mixed and ladies', for their teams. As indicated by the score, the first set was very close and the losers came within an ace of winning it and thereby drawnig first blood. The victors, however, gained the nod here, and from then on through the remainder of the match they were not extended.

For the success of the tournament—and it was indeed successful—great credit is due the committee in charge. This included Art Jones, Don Emery, Rolly Hull and Bob Maybee, who gave considerable time to the working out of the details. Experience gained in this tourney will aid materially to improve next year's championships. It is proposed to run them off about a month earlier so as to take advantage of the long evenings and the warmer weather. Also, one week will be set aside for the tournament at the beginning of the year, and all those interested will thus have the opportunity of arranging their holidays to fit in with the schedule.

Lake Shore, Porkies Replay Ordered

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont., Sept. 17 (C.P.). — The executive committee of the Temiskamng Baseball League last night upheld a protest by the Lake Shore Mine team over the fifth game of a best-of-five series with the South Porcupine Porkies, and decided that the game, won 1-0 by the Porkies, would be replayed today at Timmins.

The protest arose over an umpire's decision about a play at the home plate in the fifth inning. Shalley, Lake Shore first sacker, was coming in from third base with what would have been the first run of the game. Schultz, the Porkies' catcher, was taking a throw at the plate when Shalley crashed into him. Shalley dropped unconscious a few feet from home plate.

While the Porkies' catcher wheeled around to get the ball, Lake Shore players rushed out and dragged Shalley across the plate, but Umpire Frank Frawley ruled the runner out an an interference count. The decision was protested by Manager Bill Brydges of the Lake Shore team of Kirkland Lake.

PETES ELIMINATE WOODBRIDGE TEAM IN TWO STRAIGHT GAMES

Group Leaders Too Strong For Rowntree Outfit Who Are Beaten By 18-5

Peterborough's lacrosse team took another step along the O.A.L.A. Senior "B" championship trail on Friday night when they defeated Woodbridge 18 goals to 5 before a big crowd at the local bowl and thus took the playoff round from the Rowntree-coached outfit in two straight games.

As the score indicates, the Petes did not have much trouble in grabbing off their second victory of the week. Woodbridge, contrary to expectations, looked like a beaten team from the start and only for a portion of the 3rd period did they put any real drive into their play. They were outscored 5 to 0 in the first period and behind 9 to 1 at the half. The third was their best period and they almost matched goals with the winners for that session, but in the final fifteen minutes the Petes came on again and widened their margin.

At that the home talent did not flash their best lacrosse except in streaks. When they hit those good spots they were much the better team of the two, but in between they were tossing passes aimlessly or missing the good ones, and the result was a lot of scoring opportunities were wasted. However, there never was any doubt of the result, and it is difficult to keep a team keyed up in a game that looks in the bag from the start.

Woodbridge were shy a couple of players, and Coach Rowntree got into uniform himself and contributed a lot of weight if not much speed to his team's cause. Kingdon was as usual the pick of the invaders, but he was checked closely and got very few opportunities to shine. Norton, James and Wilks flashed some good lacrosse at times for the visitors, and Franklin, despite a couple of broken ribs, gave a nice exhibition of goal tending. He hadn't much chance on most of those that beat him, and on the other hand he turned aside a flock of shots at close range.

No Particular Stars.

There were no particular stars on the winning lineup. Everybody was prominent at one time and another, with Miller turning in one of his best efforts of the season, Red Creighton starring in the nets and Worthy coming through with several spectacular efforts. His swift pass across the bowl to King who took it on the run and fired at top speed was a picture play and probably the best goal of the night. Magee was in the limelight frequently, and the others all did their bit.

There was nothing to the first period but the Petes. Worthy started the parade with a swerving solo effort and four more goals were slammed past Franklin without a reply from Woodbridge before the period ended. Kingdon finally got a scoring chance and made good use of it early in the second stanza, but that was the only marker for the visitors during the first half, and the Petes followed it with three in a row before the rest interval.

Woodbridge started the third chapter as if they were going to try to make a battle of it, and they scored three of the four goals registered in the first five minutes. That was their final stand, however, the Petes hitting the nets three times in succession before the close of the period and then outscoring the visitors 5 to 1 in the final quarter.

The game was very clean, Referee Ben Smith imposing only four minor penalties, of which three went to the Petes. The lineup and summary:

Woodbridge— Goal, Franklin; defance, Hatton, James; centre, Norton; wings, Kingdon, Brewer; rover, Collings; subs., Wilks, Weece, Rowntree, McKenzie.

Lead Their Leagues At the Plate

ERNIE LOMBARDI
Cincinnati Reds

JIMMY FOXX
Boston Red Sox

Here are the two ball players, who, over the course of the season, as far as it has gone, have given the old sphere more punishment than any other players in the major leagues. Ernie Lombardi, always a ball-biffer, has come into his own this year as an ace all-round backstop and seems likely to wind up with the batting crown in the National League. Jimmy Foxx, who once swatted 58 home runs in one season and led the American League in batting in 1933, has a large lead in sending runs over the plate and a slight margin in the junior loop averages.

City Carpet Ball Elects Officers

D. Leether was returned to office as president of the City Carpet Ball League when the organization held its annual meeting yesterday. Nearly 18 teams are expected to play in the schedule this season, it was announced.

Other officers elected at the meeting were Fire Chief George Gimblett, past president; Ed. Heap, first vice-president; Fred Parsons, secondvice-president; W. G. Howden, third vce-president. The office of secretary-treasurer was handed over once more to George Groombridge, who has filled the post for many years.

One of the few changes made in the rules for the coming season was that games shall consist of 12 ends in place of 10 as previously. Entries must be in the hands of the secretary by Saturday, September 24 and any club or other organization wishing to place one or more teams in the league will get in touch with the president or secretary.

The Canadian Legion, the Fire Hall, Loyal Orange Lodge, St. George's Church, St. Luke's church, St. John's church, All Saints' church, Moose Lodge, Sons of England, A.O.F and W.O.W. are said to be considering entering one or more teams.

A general meeting of the league will be held in theSons of England Hall on Wednesday evening, September 29, at 8 o'clock when entries will be held in the Sons of England drawn up. League games will start the first week in October, it is hoped.

Yanks Hammer Detroit Tigers 6-4 Despite Greenberg's 51st Homer But Still Need 2 Wins For Pennant

By Sid Feder
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

About the time the National Baseball League's tight pennant race had everybody ready for nervous prostration, those New York Yankees step forward to-day to save the day.

For the moment, at least, the National League, where Pittsburgh's three-game lead is pretty certain can be given a back set. By nightfall, Gehrig and Company, dealers in home runs and pitchers' poison, may have clinched their third straight American Baseball League pennant, for a new loop record of 10 championships.

There's nothing startling about the Yankees' pennant conquest. Since somewhere around mid-July, it has been just a matter of waiting until it arrived.

It's not altogether a certainty the Yanks will sew up the pennant to-day. As a result of the 6-4 decision they gained over Detroit yesterday, despite Hank Greenberg's 51st homer, they still need two wins, or one victory and a loss for Boston's second-place Red Sox, to make it a mathematical fact.

Pirates Split With Bees.

Meantime, the National League continues on its ring-around-a-rosy course. The Pirates split a pair with Boston Bees yesterday, taking the opener 7-6 on Johnny Rizzo's 11th inning homer, then dropping the afterpiece 5-4 to Dick Errickson's pitching. This left them three games in front of Chicago Cubs, whose rained-out game with the Giants goes on as a double-header to-day.

Cincinnati's third-place Reds also broke even. Paul Derringer became the National League's first 20-game winner by blanking the Phillies 2-0 in the opener, and Hugh Mulcahy gave up three hits to take the nightcap for the Phils, 2-1.

St. Louis Cardinals saved sixth place by tripping the Dodgers twice, 4-1 and 8-4 in the only other National League warfare. The Red Sox nipped the Indians, 2-1, on Archie McKain's flinging in the lone other American League tilt that got by the weather.

WHY BE IDLE? NO DEPRESSION IN our Business. In May, 1935, we hired a young Married Man with four children who had worked in Stores and Sweat Shops ten years, long hours and low wages, then was laid off. Since joining our staff he has worked steady, increased his earnings every year, saved money, bought car, at present buying his home. In June was promoted to Manager of branch office, with earnings that in 1939 will exceed $4,000.00. This sounds like a fairy tale, but not so; it was accomplished by long hours, intelligent, hard work. We will hire Three Men, and offer the same opportunity to them as the above Man had. Permanent year round, clean, healthy work. Must be honest, non-driker, with good education and appearance. Car an advantage. Age over 25. Another Man made $1,442, his first in years, in this business. This is not selling insurance, stocks, brushes, washers or radios. About $30.00 weekly earnings with bonus to start. Write fully to Box 171, Examiner.

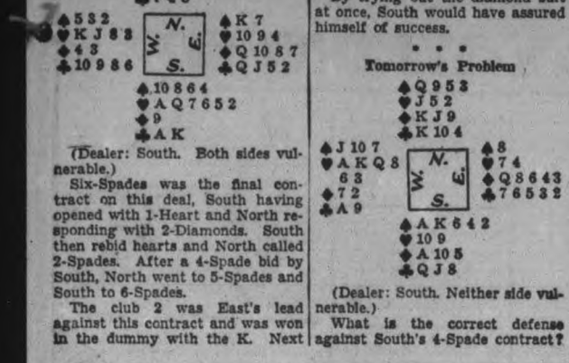
GUARD THE WORST

IT IS WELL enough to hope for the best, but the sound declarer also guards against the worst if he can. Any plan which depends for its success upon finding the outstanding six cards of a suit equally divided between the defenders is unsound if there is also available another which will work if one defender has four of the suit.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

Six-Spades was the final contract on this deal, South having opened with 1-Heart and North responding with 2-Diamonds. South then rebid hearts and North called 2-Spades. After a 4-Spade bid by South, North went to 5-Spades and South to 6-Spades.

The club 2 was East's lead against this contract and was won in the dummy with the K. Next the spade 9 finesse was tried and lost to East's K. He followed up with his spade 7. North then led one more round of trumps to draw the outstanding one. Now he went after the diamond suit, and after cashing the A and K, ruffed one round. To his disappointment, the high diamond was still outstanding and he was set three tricks, as he was obliged to use his last trump to get to his hand after cashing the heart A and club A. The result was that East won a diamond and two clubs at the end.

By trying out the diamond suit at once, South would have assured himself of success.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

What is the correct defense against South's 4-Spade contract?

Fairs Are Held At Warsaw And Buckhorn

At Buckhorn Rural Fair, where livestock showing used to hold keen interest, there were only two animals offered for competition on Thursday afternoon.

"The unusual part about it is that those two animals were quite good ones," said Frank Paterson, Peterborough County agricultural representative. He said that farmers had explained to him that cattle raisers are still many in the district but their children are now past school age. The children now attending come from farms where cattle are not raised.

Entries at the Warsaw Rural Fair on Wednesday were good, much better than at Buckhorn on Thursday, according to Mr. Patterson. But rain that kept drizzling down all day tended to hamper activities.

Phyllis Finnie of S. S. No. 4, won the Eaton trophy at Buckhorn Fair for the highest number of points in the competition. Second was Shirley Hunt of S. S. No. 3, Harvey, and Andrew Irwin of the same school was third. S. S. No. 4, Harvey, won the shield for the greatest number of points of any school.

At Warsaw Ruth Wilkinson of S. S. No. 3, Dummer, won the Eaton trophy, while second was Joyce Digweed of the same school. Ray Reynolds of S. S. No. 6, Douro, was third. Highest number of points went to S. S. No. 3, Dummer.

Racketeer Is Slain, His Rival Arrested

DETROIT, Sept. 17—(CP). — Joe Brown, 39, was taken into custody here last night and returned to Port Huron, Mich., for questioning in connection with the murder of William Caldwell, alleged policy game ruler in that city.

Caldwell was shot to death yesterday as he sat in the home of a friend, Mamie James. He was said to be a close friend of John Roxborough, manager of Joe Louis, Detroit's heavyweight boxing king.

Police have questioned several suspects in an effort to determine whether Caldwell was slain in a quarrel over the "policy racket" or over an election fight. Police said Caldwell and Brown, alleged rival policy games leader, quarreled Tuesday in Port Huron.

The bullet that killed Caldwell was fired from a deer rifle outside the house. The bullet pierced his neck.

Lakefield Fair Is Scheduled For Next Week

Examiner Correspondence).

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 17.— Three spring mattresses will be given away at the Lakefield Agricultural Exhibition which is scheduled for Tuesday and Wednesday of next week, September 20 and 21.

Drawing for the prizes will commence at 4 p.m. on Wednesday, in front of the grand-stand.

Tickets on these prizes are being given out by Lakefield merchants, with all cash purchases.

All indications point to a big Fair, this year. On Tuesday, placing and judging of inside exhibits fill the program, and for Wednesday the Directors have arranged a full sheet of attractions which should make the Exhibition a real show.

Perhaps, the biggest attraction will be the two major horse races for which purses of $75.00 are given as prizes:—(for 2.10 and 2.25 class). Then comes the Boys' Calf Club for which there will be twenty entries.

A performance in front of the grandstand during the afternoon will be given by Tom E. Kyles of Toronto; his Clown Band and Bob Bailey's Orchestra.

There will be a tug-of-war during the afternoon, a cross-cut sawing competition which is always popular: a singing contest, horseshoe tournament, and an old time square dancing competition for which first and second prizes are offered. (Each group will consist of a fiddler, an accompanist on the piano, a caller, and four couples.

On Wednesday evening, Tom E. Kyle and Company will give a concert in the Memorial Hall. The concert will be followed by a dance for which music will be provided by the Surrey Centre Hillbillies of Toronto.

Czechs Arrested.

Rumours persisted that Czechs living in Berlin, Hamburg, Leipzig and Dresden were being arrested as hostages or in retaliation for shootings involving Sudeden Germans in Czechoslovakia.

Authorities here, however, emphatically denied the reports but admitted there was a "number of detentions" in Vienna, where 200 persons smashed windows of a school in the Czech district and 14 persons, including an editor of a Czech language newspaper, were arrested on undisclosed charges. Four of the Czechs were released.

German officials estimated 16,000 Sudeten Germans already have fled from Czechoslovakia into Germany. They are finding temporary shelter in public halls, in one of which 600 children, 150 women and 275 men were housed. Some displayed body marks as evidence of rough treatment at the hands of Czech authorities.

The Nazi press violently attacked what newspapers called the "blood dictatorship" of President Eduard Benes of Czechoslovakia and demanded his resignation in order to "extinguish a dangerous firebrand in the heart of Europe.

Denounces Benes

Chancellor Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter declared:—

"The time is ripe for Benes to make his exit from the European stage just as his state must be scratched of fthe European map.

"The world permitted itself to be deluded in taking for democracy what from the very first day was a dictatorship of the Czechs."

"Europe must join hands against Benes and his Bolshevist followers and in a united front repair the injury done to 3,500,000 persons during the past 20 years, extinguish the dangerous fire-brand and thereby guarantee peace."

Detroit's Daniel in the Lion's Den Pup Walks Over His 3 Cub Roommates

Detroit, Sept. 17 (CP).

DETROIT has a real "Daniel in the Lion's Den," and despite a pitying public he's all in favour of his plight. For Daniel is a puppy and his roommates are three husky lion cubs at the Detroit Zoo. Daniel will be the lions playmates for a year and zoo officials say there is no need to worry about his safety.

"The answer to all this public sympathy for Dan," said Keeper Theodore Schroeder," is nuts."

"Daniel and the lions have been together more than five weeks now and when we take the puppy out for the night, he whines. When we put him back, he affectionally rushes to the cubs and knocks them down. He walks all over them and they, in turn, walk all over him. The lions don't like fresh dog meat anyway."

Last year a puppy was placed in an enclosure with three tiger cubs. Despite the public's predictions as to a puppy-killing by the beast, the dog had the tigers so cowed six months later that they didn't dare get smart.

Prague Heads Study New Anglo-French Plan Of Settlement

PRAGUE, Sept. 19.—(AP)—From conferences begun at dawn came hints shortly before noon today that Czechoslovakia, hard pressed diplomatically, would stand firmly by decisions to defend her territory against revision.

The official press bureau issued a statement saying the government was studying the Anglo-French decision to meet Chancellor Hitler's demands "in the light of recent statements by President Eduard Benes and Premier Milan Hodza."

The president had emphasized Czechoslovakia's "courage to face the situation" and Hodza in an address yesterday said there would be no plebiscite.

Citizens were advised to preserve calm to give the government effective evidence of support.

"The Anglo-French conclusions are being studied from the standpoint of vital interests throughout the country," said the inspired press bureau statement.

"These interest can be defended only if the people preserve calm and fullest confidence in the government."

"All sectors of the government, the president and representatives of all political elements are in constant contact with each other and with friendly states. Governmental sectors are approaching the problem from the viewpoint expressed by th president and the premier."

Envoys Explain Plan

Basil Newton, the British minister, and Victor de Lacroix, French minister, visited Foreign Minister Kamil Krofta to explain the peace plan agreed upon by France and Great Britain yesterday.

Both ministers wanted indications as to the course the Czechoslovak government would take. There was no official word, but it was apparent the Anglo-French plan was encountering stiff resistance in Prague.

Meanwhile, the state of emergency, a form of martial law, imposed by the government was taking a firmer hold on national economy and finance. Regulations published by the national bank forbade Czechoslovaks leaving the country to take out any foreign currency whatever and allowed them only 1,000 crowns (about $35) in Czechoslovak currency.

Hodza's speech yesterday setting forth the government's determination to be firm and independent in settling its minority problem undoubtedly contributed greatly to the troubles of the British Prime Minister, Nevile Chamberlain, in his efforts to effect a peace plan through conversations with Hitler.

A further clarification of the Czech view was expected after Mr. Chamberlain's second conference with Hitler, sometime this week.

Premier Hodza declared the nation was ready for any eventuality. A state of emergency is in force, martial law is in effect to keep order in Sudeten areas, and a strong army mans modern border defences.

Bren Gun Case Adjourned To Get Files

OTTAWA, Sept. 19 (CP)—The inquiry into the Bren machine gun contract between the Canadian government and the John Inglis Company of Toronto was adjourned a week soon after the probe opened here today.

The adjournment, requested by Hon. J. L. Ralston, commission counsel, was agreed to by other counsel and approved by Mr. Justice H. H. Davis, commissioner.

The adjournment was for the purpose of obtaining from the British war office permision to file correspondence and documents passing between the Canadian and British government, and between the John Inglis Company and the British government. It was expected the decision as to use of these documents would come from London in a few days.

The documents to be presented, if the British government agrees, include the contract between the war office and the John Inglis Company for 5,000 machine guns. The Canadian contract for 7,000 guns which prompted the criticism contained in a magazine article by Col. George Drew of Toronto and FINLEY MEEKS, 253 Armour Road is lucky that he is alive today. He was out at his cottage on Pigeon Creek and wished to try out an ancient double barrel muzzle loading shotgun that had been lying around the house for years. He loaded both barrels with substantial charges, pointed the gun at a tree and pulled the triggers. The gun was blown to pieces and Fin was holding the stock and part of the breech in his hand when the smoke cleared away, and was lying on the ground several feet from his original position. His left index finger is fractured and severely bruised and his left hand is also extensively lacerated. His face was not damaged.

Dog Tips Boat, Tows Lad Ashore As Three Companions Drown

CAPREOL, Ont., Sept. 19 (C.P.).—Bodies of two victims of a triple drowning in Ella Lake, near this town 25 miles north of Sudbury, were recovered early to-day after a night of dragging. The three were drowned late yesterday when the playful antics of a dog upset a homemade punt.

Body of Max Dennie, 16, was found by George Deavy and Bert Barvey nearly 45 feet from shore in 30 feet of water. Ben Benard, Balfour Thomas, and Elroy Moynes found the body of 14-year-old Phillip Kelly nearly 25 feet from shore. Searchers still sought the body of Bill Myra. 41, owner of the boat.

The dog, who overturned the frail craft by leaping on the gunwale which was only a few inches out of the water, was credited with saving the life of James Berard, 16. Tossed clear of the boat, Berard grabbed the dog's tail and was towed ashore.

Motor Takes Boat Down.

Hampered by heavy, knee-length boots, Berard battled his way to shore. He was almost exhausted as he dragged himself up the rugged, rocky beach, but started a two-mile hike to Ella Lake Park to seek aid.

"The dog, Rex, jumped on the side of the boat and it upset," he told Helen Nepitt of Capreol who was in her fathers launch at the park with Neville Chub of Capreol and Bill Kearney of Toronto.

Week-end Toll Is Seven.

The triple drowning combined with two fatal traffic accidents to form the major part of Ontario's week-end death toll of seven. Accidental shooting was written into the records to-day as the cause of another fatality, while an investigation was under way into the death of a patient whose body was found beneath the window of his hospital room.

Robert English, 10, was killed on Saturday at London when hit by a truck. Louis Katzman, 27, of Toronto, was killed in Toronto on Saturday when three trucks collided.

The body of James Librock, 45, was found on Sunday near Beamsville. Police said the district farmer apparently was killed when his shotgun discharged into his chest as he climbed a fence.

Frank Meagher, 58, of Belleville, was found dying outside Belleville Hospital on Saturday. He had been a patient in the hospital only one day. An inquest will resume on Tuesday.

Ten Million Troops In Europe Ready To Fight

London, Sept. 19 (AP).

AN ESTIMATED TOTAL of more than 10,000,000 men are under arms in Europe. The figures, as given by official or unofficial sources, follow:

France, 2,000,000; Germany, 1,000,000; Soviet Russia, 2,000,000; Czechoslovakia, 800,000 to 1,000,000; Italy, 450,000, and Great Britain, less than 200,000, with scattered reserves.

It was estimated that the nations like Poland, Hungary, Rumania, Belgium, The Netherlands and Switzerland had enough soldiers in barracks and other places to push the total over the 10,000,000 mark.

Lad Victim Of Needle Thief Loses $2 At Lindsay Fair

LINDSAY, Ont., Sept. 19 (C.P.).—Police said to-day Eldon Thompson, 16, of Burketon, was the victim of a "needle thief" at Lindsay Fall Fair on Saturday. Thompson said he had been robbed of $2.00.

Thompson informed police he felt a sharp pain, like the prod of a needle, in his left arm as he walked thrugh the midway. In 20 minutes he became ill, he told Provincial Constable David Adair, and went to a stable. He was found there in a semi-conscious condition and rushed to hospital.

Hospital authorities said to-day they were not certain of the cause of his illness. Dr. H. D. Logan, who treated him, could not be reached. Thompson was discharged from hospital to-day.

Cat In Garbage Can "Beauty Of Nature" To Man Who Bars Dogs' Play Parks

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(CP).—Deptuy Mayor Henry Curran who has been pretty stern about the abuse of English by his colleagues on the board of estimate and about certain city statues steeled his heart today to a plea for playgrounds for city-bred dogs.

Two million and more children and babies in the city should come first, said the deputy mayor in a despairing letter to John Prenzlau, dog owner, who proposed canine pastures.

Curran declared that he too, at one time or another had owned dogs, cats and pet cockroaches. But it was his considered opinion that the alley cat and the yellow dog lead a happier, fuller existence than well-bred pets.

The visible end of a common cat investigating a garbage can is "one of nature's most beautiful sights," averred the deputy mayor in his letter in which he pointed out at least 1,000 playgrounds would be necessary to take care of New York's 250,000 dogs.

"I am afraid," said the deputy mayor, "that a playground; for dogs would be something like Armageddon or the Argonne about five minutes after all the dogs got there—especially if you threw in a bone or a cat."

Wants Moscow Block Plan Laid To London, Paris For Dividing Their Nation

Nazi Press Sees Annexation Good As Done, British, French Heads Silent; Indignation Reported Growing In Prague

GENEVA, Sept. 19 (AP).—Czechoslovakia was reported today to have asked Russian officials here for the Soviet Union's support against delivering over the Sudeten-German area to Germany.

Edouard Heidrich, Czechoslovak Foreign Office expert, conferred with Jacob Surits, Russian Ambassador to France, and was said later to have seen Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Commissar of Foreign Affairs.

Neither Russian nor Czech quarters, however, would say anything officially except that "this is a very delicate matter."

Persons in contact with both delegations said they understood the Czechoslovaks proposed that Russia try to induce France and Great Britain to stiffen their stand against Germany should Prague refuse to accept Reichsfuehrer Hitler's terms.

These sources hinted that the Czechoslovaks also asked the Russian diplomats what chance there was of getting military aid from the Soviet Union in the event that Prague went to war and France and Britain refused to help.

If Germany should invade Czechoslovakia and the League of Nations should declare Germany as aggressor, Rumania — which separates Russia from Czechoslovakia—might be obliged to let Red army forces through to Czechoslovakia. Poland, also a League member, would be in a similar position.

Sudetens Cheer Powers' Cession Rumor

SELB, Germany, Sept. 19 (AP).—Sudeten Leader Konrad Henlein's headquarters were overjoyed today over reports from London that Great Britain and France had agreed to cession of the Sudeten areas of Czechoslovakia to Germany, without a plebiscite.

These reports reached the Sudetens from a Prague radio station.

"In that case," said a Sudeten spokesman, smiling, "our free corps will be the first to occupy Sudetenland as Czech troops and gendarmes withdraw."

The first Sudeten mass meeting on German soil to explain Sudeten opinion and arouse compatriots in Czechoslovakia will be held at Dresden tonight.

Deputies Rudolf Sander and Dr. Wilhelm Sebekovsky, Sudetens, and Joseph Paul Goebbels, German propaganda minister, are to speak. Henlein himself may appear.

The Henleinists established themselves here after fleeing Eger, Czechoslovakia. Recruiting for the Sudeten free corps border attackers was closed today, party headquarters said, with four columns of 10,000 men each, "fully equipped with every kind of modern war material."

The first column is said to be operating from Bratislava to Passau; the second from Passau to Hof; the third from Hof to Goerlitz, and the fourth from Goerlitz to Ratibor—encircling Czechoslovakia.

France Backing Cession Plan

PARIS, Sept. 19—(AP).—France through her government today ratified the reported Anglo-French plan to dismember Czechoslovakia.

The cabinet in a 90-minute session unanimously approved the result of Premier Edouard Daladier's deliberations with Prime Minister Chamberlain in London yesterday, assuring the British leader of full French consent when next he meets the German Chancellor.

The eyes of the Paris government then turned toward Prague. Whether President E. Benes of Czechoslovakia would agree to sacrifice his country on the altar of European peace or whether he would fight remained a question.

But in any event it appeared France was resolved to stay out of war.

It became known that the government had issued orders to cease the nation's military preparations, which in recent weeks had placed an estimated 2,000,000 under arms.

The decision taken by the cabinet, in which the expected opposition of two or three ministers failed to materialize, coincided with a fresh outbreak of strikes in France.

In Paris region, 160,00 building trades workers walked out in wage disputes with contractors, and the movement spread to nearby departments.

Miners Walk Out

Five thousand miners struck near Valenciennes rather than work the extra hours recently ordered by the government in the interests of national defence.

The Fench minister to Prague was expected to convey France's decision at once to President Benes.

And immediately after the cabinet meeting Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet received the Czechoslovak minister to Paris, Stephen Osusky, to tell him of the course France had chosen.

Dissatisfaction over the reported terms of the peace plan was expressed by some members of the chamber of deputies conversing in the lobbies. They called the plan a "complete, shameful caputulation" before Hitler.

Others, however, greeted with relief any measures that might avert war.

"A letter was received from you at my office, but owing to the gross inefficiency of my secretary, it became lost before I had an opportunity to answer it."

Under the Senator's signature the secretary footnoted:

Twelve Injured Five Jailed In B.C. Battle

POWELL RIVER, B.C., Sept. 19.—(CP)—Five men are held on charges of inciting to riot or unlawful assembly following a clash between police and strikebreakers and a group of striking employees of the Pacific Lime Company. Twelve are receiving medical attention.

Eyewitnesses said the fight began Saturday night when police attempted to disperse a group of striking members of the International Woodworkers of America, Committee for Industrial Organization affiliate, who were trying to picket a docking union steamship boat, the Chelosinn, at Blubber Bay, near this town 90 miles north of Vancouver.

One of the injured men was Constable Ellis of the British Columbia police, one of the officers who used tear gas and riot sticks to clear the wharf after the disturbance began.

John Hole, secretary of the I.W.A. local at Blubber Bay, and Robert Gardiner, one of the strikers, were charged with inciting a riot. It was expected they would appear in police court here toady for preliminary hearing.

Arrested on charges of unlawful assembly were T. Stewart, Joseph Jacobs and P. Bertmann of Vancouver. Sergeant T. Sutherland, of the British Columbia police said they were "pickets brought in from Vancouver some time ago."

After More Wages

The Pacific Lime Company plant has been operating at reduced output for several months as a result of the strike. Several score employees of the company called the walkout in their attempt to gain higher wages and better working conditions.

None of the injured was beleved serious hurt, although Harry Dicks, who suffered a broken hand in the melee, was sent to Vancouver for hospitalization.

Eyewitnesses said the fight started after a number of striking employees were ordered to one end of the dock by police.

They said men working in the company's plant despite the strike order were "jostled' by the strikers, and the demonstration began.

Sergeant Sutherland said Constable Ellis was "dragged into a wharf shed and kicked unconscious" before police began to use their batons and tear gas.

Hitler Spoils Putsch By Sudetens

Didn't Send Troops After Speech; Henlein Blamed

EGER, Czechoslovakia, Sept. 19. —(AP).—Sudeten Germans disclosed to-day that they had planned a putsch against the Czechoslovak government to start immediately after Chancellor Hitler's speech at Nuremberg last Monday night.

The putsch failed, however, when the government quickly put down disorders Monday night and Tuesday and clamped martial law on Sudeten districts.

The Sudetens said the rank and file had expected Hitler to send troops across the border after his defiant declarations. When he did not come and Sudeten Leader Konrad Henlein fled to Germany, the Sudetens were left with a feeling of bewilderment and a tendency to hold Henlein responsible for bungling.

But neither of these feelings, observers say, gave way to discouragement, although Government propaganda played heavily on the note that the Sudetens were leaderless.

Both German non-party members and Czech residents in the Sudeten areas expressed the belief that the abortive putsch had not split the Sudeten party's ranks as government quarters have indicated.

Henlein, on the other side of the frontier, now is asserting his leadership again. Despite the warrant out for his arrest on treason charges, Henlein says he comes into Czechoslovakia every day and is keeping his organization alive.

Couriers Active

Henlein has been reaching the masses through German radio stations and now is building a station of his own on the frontier. In addition, the Sudeten courier service which functioned between her and the Reich before Henlein's flight is still operating. Czechoslovak officials admit this, adding that it could be stopped only by building a wall around the republic or placing police every few yards on the border.

These couriers, like Henlein himself, cross the frontier at night. They know at what time and place they can pass because they know the customs of the guards. One courier, an itinerant musician named Johann Pfortner, was caught and shot last week.

Henlein's friends say he travels in disguise through the main streets after entering Czechoslovakia, but Czech officials say this is "ridiculously impossible."

The Sudeten leader's wife and children are in Germany.

Henlein issued an appeal yesterday through the official German news agency, to Sudetens in Czechoslovakia to continue to be patient because the "hour of liberation is near."

"Do not be discouraged, but stand firm," he said.

Reds, Fascists Overrun U. S. Kiwanians Are Warned

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 19 (C.P.). —H. Glenn Hatfield of Oklahoma City, Okla., international president of Kiwanis, said in an address here to-day: "In my country we are being overrun by Communists and Fascists, and they are teaching the theory of those governments which are a menace to democracy."

"This danger is also yours," Hatfield told the 20th annual Ontario-Quebec-Maritimes Kiwanis District convention. "If we were to be brought into a conflict with any other nation or nations, a large number of these would become spies. I want to live among people like you, and I don't want to live among foreigners who are teaching Communism and Fascism in our schools.

Hatfield said young people in the two countries were the most vulnerable to "insidious" propaganda. He warned that these "potential spies" would break down democracy if their activities were not halted soon.

More than 360 men and women were here for the convention which opened to-day.

Women Of Roumania To Be Conscripted If War Breaks Out

Bucharest, Rumania, Sept. 19.

THE official Rumanian Gazette will publish a Government decree by which women may be called into military service and mobilized in case of war.

A Government spokesman said they would be ordered to do patriotic duty suitable for women.

All Rumanian factories manufacturing goods needed in case of war have been put under military control, making it impossible for them at present to meet civilian demands.

Britain Nips Ending Of Non-Intervention Sees Czechoslovakia Another "Spain"

GENEVA, Sept. 19 (AP)—The Spanish government launched a campaign today to end the non-intervention agreement which Great Britain is said to hope to keep alive as a precedent for possible use if Czechoslovakia and Germany should go to war.

Julio Alvarez Del Vayo, Spanish Foreign Minister, found Soviet Russia's Foreign Commissar, Maxim Litvinoff, eager and other League of Nations delegates willing to agree that attempts to get foreign troops out of Spain were futile.

The British delegation, however, refused to support any move on the non-intervention question at present. Its spokesman indicated a decision would be determined by developments in the Czechoslovak crisis.

The theory that Czechoslovakia may become "another Spain" has gained ground in Geneva because of the firm stand of the Prague government. Great Britain's reluctance to consider ending the non-intervention agreement was attributed in some quarters to a desire to maintain at least the theory of non-intervention in order to apply it, if need be, to Czechoslovakia.

Reported Urging Czechs To Give Hitler All Sudeten Land

Chamberlain Said Ready For Second Trip To Germany With Cabinet Decision; Prague Now Pinning Hopes On Russia

LONDON, Sept. 19 (AP).—The British Cabinet held a two-hour session on the Czechoslovak crisis today and adjourned without an announcement.

Shortly after the Ministers separated it was made known that no further Cabinet meeting had been arranged for today. No communique on decisions was issued.

Informed quarters believed, however, that Prime Minister Chamberlain would go shortly to Godesberg on the Rhine to present to Chancellor Hitler the joint Anglo-French decision on his demand for cession of Czechoslovakia's Sudetenland to Germany.

A date for the assembly of parliament was expected to be fixed after Mr. Chamberlain returns from Godesberg.

Shortly after the Cabinet meeting opened the King returned to Buckingham Palace from Windsor to be in a position for easier consultation by his Ministers.

Meanwhile informed persons expressed belief that Soviet Russia may hold the key to settlement of the Czechoslovak crisis since Great Britain and France now are reported ready to cede Sudetenland to Germany.

Czechoslovakia could resist effectively the taking of her territory if aided by Russia, some observers here said today. The little republic in that event might become another Spain, an ideological battleground between Nazi and Communist ideas.

Without Russian aid, it is felt here, the Czechs would have little chance, since French and British assistance might be withheld unless the Anglo-French plan for ending the crisis is accepted.

France, Britain Agree

Czechoslovakia consistently has insisted she will fight rather than give up her territory, and the Czech premier, Milan Hodza, yesterday sharply rejected any idea of a plebiscite for the Sudeten Germans to vote to be annexed to Germany.

Prime Minister Chamberlain, premier Daladier of France and their key ministers in conference here yesterday reached "complete agreement" on how to work for peace. The communique did not detail the plan.

But reliable quarters said agreement was reached not to fight to preserve present-day Czechoslovakia, but to urge the republic to give over her Sudeten German territory to Hitler.

Great Britain and France would then propose that Germany, Italy, Poland, Hungary and Rumania join with them in a seven-power guarantee of the new and smaller Czechoslovakia, according to these quarters.

The Russian military agreement with the Czechs depends on the now waning French support, but it is felt in some quarters that Russia would help the Czechs anyway.

A Transfer to Germany?

General belief here was that Great Britain and France proposed the transfer of Czech Sudetenland to Germany by direct negotiation, without going to the Cabinet meeting.

The problems of other minorities would be worked out later—if the Czech Government consented—with the aid of the British Mediation Mission, headed by Viscount Runciman.

The "complete agreement" was reached after more than 12 hours of almost continuous consultation. Premier Daladier, Foreign Minister Bonnet, and their aides flew back to Paris this morning.

The conferees included Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary; Sir Samuel Hoare, Home Secretary; Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer; Sir Alexander Cadogan, Permanent Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs; Sir Robert Vansittart, Chief Diplomatic Adviser to the Cabinet, and Lord Runciman, who returned on Friday from his mediation efforts in Prague.

Before the ministers met at 10 Downing Street Sunday, police were called out to keep thousands of anti-Nazi demonstrators from entering the little dead-end street.

They shouted "no concessions to Hitler," and "hand by the Czechs." Some gave the clenched fist—Communist—salute. Mounted police rode into the crowd and cleared a pathway for traffic. Several persons were sent to hospitals.

To-day's meeting of the British Cabinet was its fourth in eight days. Because of yesterday's disturbances in Whitehall, a strong contingent of mounted and foot police kept crowds moving. Both Whitehall and adjacent Downing Street were cleared.

Mr. Chamberlain, looking fit despite the strenuous last week, took his usual morning walk in St. James' Park with Mrs. Chamberlain before going to the Cabnet meeting.

Stalking Big Game

VANCOUVER, Sept. 19—(CP)—A party of hunters headed by Erle Stanley Gardner, lawyer and author of Temecula, Calif., will enter the East Kootenay district of British Columbia next week to hunt big game with bow and arrow.

Dangerous Business

BERWICK, Pa., Sept. 19 (AP)—Clyde Sophrer, 21, vowed today he would kill no more snakes while hiking in the mountains. He stepped from a partly overgrown path to kill a rattlesnake and was lost for 44 hours during which he lived on two wild mushrooms.

School Teacher Receives Burns At Roast

Miss Isobel Faux, a school teacher, received serious burns on the face and arms on Friday night when some person threw gasoline on a fire at a corn roast. She is in Nicholls Hospital and is showing satisfactory improvement.

Miss Faux was one of a party attending a corn roast near the deserted stone mill on Indian River, a mile south of Pallin's blacksmith shop, when the near tragedy took place. She was standing close to the fire and is believed to have been attempting to make it burn a little better when some person poured a small quantity of gasoline on the wood. She was caught by the sudden flash of fire, and received second degree burns on the face, hands and arms, and a portion of her hair was badly singed. Her eyes scaped injury. She was rushed to the hospital in a car immediately.

led up to this inquiry, was tabled today.

Mackenzie Attends.

Defence Minister Mackenzie was an interested spectator at the opening proceedings. Also present was the Deputy Minister Major-General L. R. Lefleche, Hugh Plaxton, Liberal M.P. for Toronto-Trinity and Arthur Slaght, Liberal M.P. for Parry Sound.

Following the reading of the commission and the order-in-council authorizing it, Paul Belcourt of Ottawa was sworn in as secretary.

Hon. J. L. Ralston, former Minister of National Defence, said he had been appointed government counsel and to assist the commissioner. Jacques Dumoulin of Quebec would assist him.

Aime Geoffrion of Montreal said he and J. C. McRuer of Toronto were representing the John Inglis Company.

I. F. Hellmuth of Toronto said with Col. Drew he was representing the Maclean Publishing Company.

Col. Drew said he was appearing on his own behalf as well as for Maclean's in association with Mr. Hellmuth. He was prepared to assist the commission in every possible way but declined the government's offer to pay counsel fees on his behalf.

Accounts Still Busy.

Col. Ralston said a firm of chartered accountants had been engaged to examine books of the John Inglis Company and had not yet completed its work. Some of Col. Drew's allegations related to the financial set-up of the company and it was important that a report on it be obtained. He assured the commission the time taken by an adjournment would not be wasted but would save time later on.

Mr. Geoffrion said in the interval the commissioner might visit the Inglis plant in Toronto, but the judge said he would not do so at this stage. It would not help when he knew nothing about the matter as yet.

Mr. Hellmuth said many witnesses were in Toronto and it might be desirable to hold part of the inquiry there and at that time he could inspect the plant.

"There is a great deal in that," said the commissioner.

Wants Moscow

Nazi-controlled press regarded Czechoslovakia to-day as already written off by France and Great Britain but official sources were more cautious.

Newspaper reports said France and Great Britain has decided to hand over the Sudeten German areas of Czechoslovakia automatically to Germany.

But, with official reports still not received from the German embassies in London and Paris, foreign office circles would venture no prediction on the next steps in the crisis.

They declared they were unable even to say when the projected second meeting between Chancellor Hitler and Prime Minister Chamberlain would take place.

Still, however, atrocity stories from Czechoslovakia overshadowed the London and Paris dispatches. Both in the evening newspapers and the government radio broadcasts, stories were told of terrorism in Czechoslovakia against Sudeten Germans by Czechoslovakia police and troops and even by hysterical Czech women.

The German press charged Czechoslovakia with provocation to war.

British Silent On Decision.

LONDON, Sept. 19—(CP Cable)—The British cabinet spent two hours today reviewing the Anglo-French plan to settle the Czech crisis and assist the broad objective of general European appeasement.

At the conclusion of the meeting there was no public announcement beyond a statement that no further session was scheduled for today.

Meanwhile the French cabinet met in Paris and approved unanimously the terms of the plan.

A wall of secrecy still surrounds the details because the French and British governments do not want to show their hands before Prime Minister Chamberlain flies back to Germany for a second conference with Chancellor Hitler.

But it is becoming more and more evident that the plan calls for cession of Sudetenland to the Reich, particularly the areas predominantly German.

PRAGUE, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Amid increasing resentment throughout the country, the Czechoslovak cabinet went into session today to consider the reported Anglo-French plan for settlement of the European crisis by handing the Sudeten areas over to Germany.

President Eduard Benes and his ministers started a close study of proposals in which it was believed the London and Paris government were urging that Sudetenland—territory inhabited by the dissident German minority—be cut off and given to Germany.

Indignation over such a proposed solution of the Czechoslovak-German crisis became widely evident.

Minister Collapses.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(AP).—Jan Masaryk, Czechoslovak minister to London, apparently collapsed today under the severe strain of watching the losing battle to preserve the country his father helped to found.

He was reported to have taken suddenly ill. The Legation acknowledged he was indispcsed and confined to his residence.

Masaryk is the son of the late President Thomas Masaryk, reverred by Czechoslovaks as "father of the Republic."

Lloyd's Rates Jump.

LONDON, Sept. 19. —(AP). — Lloyd's to-day issued new and sharply higher minimum war risk rates for shipping.

The new rates for shipments to Canada and the United States by way of the Atlantic from the United Kingdom are one half of one per cent for the outward voyage. The rate is one per cent for eastbound trans-Atlantic voyages.

For shipments to the same countries by way of the Pacific the new rates for the outward journey are one half of one per cent. and for homeward voyages two per cent.

Hitherto the rate both out and homeward by way of the Atlantic or Pacific has been about 1/40 of one per cent.

Poles Want Rights

KATOWICE, Poland (near the Czechoslovak frontier), Sept. 19 (AP)—To help safeguard the rights of Poles in Czechoslovakia a "fighting committee" has been formed here.

The committee, presumably with the approval of the Polish government, regularly gives special news and instructions to Poles across the border.

The 100,000 Poles under Czechoslovak rule, who live mainly west of the Olsa River, are urged by the executive committee of the federation of Poles within Czechoslovakia and by the Katowice radio station to "stand fast"—the hour of liberation is near."

Czechs Ready

On the German - Czechoslovak frontier near Chrastava, Sept. 19 (AP)—Tens of thousands of young, well-fed Czechoslovak soldiers, afraid of neither war nor work, are massed in formidable fortifications in readiness for shots which might signal a new European conflict.

Miles and miles of reinforced concrete and steel fortresses stretch across the mountain range which for centuries has been the natural boundary between Bohemia and what is now Nazi Germany.

Czechoslovak officers told me proudly "our defence line is stronger than France's Maginot line. It is newer and more modern in construction."

Beginning at the frontier, which itself is only lightly guarded, the defence positions spread in all directions. They cover mountain summits, steep slopes and level, fertile valleys.

In some places soldiers guard field gun emplacements—with guns already in place and ready for action — while peasants with long scythes cut hay a few yards away.

Tank Snags

From one particularly high peak a long line of anti-tank defences stretches as far as the eye can see. Firmly embedded in the ground are cast-iron cross bars which look something like a carpenter's saw horse. These are placed side by side, their tops and bottoms held firmly together by rivets. In two lines about eight feet apart, these bars are intertwined with heavy barbed wire.

The Czechoslovaks say that in tests these barriers have demonstrated their effectiveness in halting tanks.

In front of these lines and behind them are what appear to be lines of wheat shocks and haystacks. Closer inspection, however, discloses that they conceal a maze cement emplacements and others of machine-gun nests, many with cement emplacements and others with new Czechoslovak-manufactured weapons set in the bare ground. Sentries with rifles guard these emplacements night and day.

Duce Is Vague Says Italy's Place Chosen

Some See Neutrality Others Czech War; New Speech Tuesday

ROME, Sept. 19 (A.P.). — Premier Mussolini, keeping pace with swiftly moving events of the European crisis, let it be known to-day he would deliver an address to-morrow to be broadcast to Italy and foreign nations—his second in three days.

The Duce spoke yesterday at Trieste, proposing plebiscites for all minorities in Czechoslovakia "which demand them" as the only way to European peace. He said "Italy's place is already chosen" in the event of general war.

The announcement to-day said Mussolini would speak at 5.20 p.m. (12.20 EDT) at Undine, near the border of German Austria.

The announcement was made while Mussolini toured Julian Venetia, part of the territory won from Austro-Hungary in the Great War settlement. He started the tour yesterday, delivering a speech at Trieste which shaped Italian policy in the face of the Czechoslovak-German crisis.

Fascists asserted today that the Premier's plebiscite proposal pointed the way to peace for "misled" nations, but his declaration regarding "Italy's place" in the event of war drew conflicting interpretations.

The Press Views.

Commenting on the Trieste speech, the Rome newspaper Il Tevere said:

"The near future will tell whether Europe is governed by ideological hatred or a sense of responsibility."

Il Tevere said the character of the line-up in case of a general war, so far as Italy was concerned, depended on France's attitude.

Some Italians regarded the Duce's guarded announcement as a warning that the Rome-Berlin axis would function in war as well as in peace if the German-Czechoslovak crisis exploded into war.

Others thought it meant merely that Italy's attitude would be one of "benevolent neutrality" if Germany moved into Czechoslovakia.

To many Italians the Mussolini speech brought the spectre of conflict uncomfortably near.

The Italian press devoted about 10 times as much space to Mussolini's address as to the London conference of French and British statesmen over what to offer Hitler. The London news was relegated to back pages.

He called the Jewish question Italy's most pressing domestic concern and declared "the world of Hebrewism has for 16 years been an irreconcilable enemy of Fascism."

After Members

NEW YORK, Sept. 19—(AP).—The American Federation of Labor has begun a campaign to enlist members among the United States 3,000,000 government works project enrolees. Hitherto the union claiming dominance in this field has been the Workers Alliance, an organization seeking affiliation with the Committee for Industrial Organization.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 19 — (CP). — Stop-loss selling drove Winnipeg wheat futures three cents lower today and short-covering in late trading on unfavorable Czechoslovakian reports failed to wipe out losses. Final quotations were 2¾ to 2¼ cents lower, October 63¾, November 64¼, December 63½, May 66⅝ to ¾.

A more optimistic outlook for peace in Europe and lower outside markets brought out a general selling flurry at the start, then dealings thinned until the last hour when trading became nervous on reports the Czechoslovak government will refuse the Anglo-French peace terms. Virtually no Canadian wheat export business could be confirmed.

Cash wheat dealings were quiet and generally unchanged.

"IT'S THE TOBACCO THAT COUNTS"

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c

We Noticed

....A frock we saw at tea the other day was a simple-lined thing of black sheer wool trimmed with over-sized buttons of natural wood, painted in black with profile silhouettes.

❖ ❖ ❖

....A most attractive ensemble planned by a friend of ours is to be a beige herringbone tweed suit with highlights of dark green velveteen. This last is used as a binding on the pockets, as covering for the round buttons, and for a shallow collar facing the regulation collar of tweed. An exaggerated beret and an over-the-shoulder bag are also of the velveteen. Gloves are of two-sided-one side suede, the other velveteen; and the shoes of green suede.

❖ ❖ ❖

...."Mismatches" in the suit-wear world are more important than ever. Especially those that combine the new wrist-length jacket, made of tweed, with a plain color skirt that picks up the highlight color of the tweed.

Merle C. Bowen Bride of To-day

Meagher, Crescent street. Rev. P. J. Kelly officiated during the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in an ivory gown of satin-stripe organza, with satin redingote fastened with small, satin-covered buttons, and long sleeves that tapered to a point at the wrists. Her circular veil fell to the shoulders from a headdress of white gardenias, and she carried a cascade bouquet of roses and lily of the valley.

Miss Mary Cavalier attended the bride, wearing a bolero frock of wood-violet sheer. Her doll's hat of petunia velvet was fashioned in the shape of a large, single flower. She wore matching lace mittens, silver sandals, and carried a bouquet of Joanna Hill roses.

The best man was Mr. Oswald Corkery, and the ushers were Mr. Gordon Puffer and Mr. Fraser Bowen, brother of the bride.

A reception followed at the Kawartha Club.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

"Where weary folk toil, all black with smoke,
And hear but whistles scream,
I went, all fresh from dawn to dew,
To carry them a dream.

I went to bitter lanes and dark,
Who once had known the sky,
To carry them a dream—and found
They had more dreams than I."

—Mary Caroline Davies.

Dear Friends.—Ever go what is called "slumming?" When first you go, you feel as if you were conferring a favor, a sort of exalted superior feeling, but that is because you are really ignorant, and it soon leaves you.

For amongst the poor you so often find true nobility. I once saw a lady, (and she WAS a lady in the truest sense of the word) in the direst poverty, and a new baby had arrived.

Not a stitch to put on the wee thing, so that one of us had to take a white petticoat off, tear it up and make garments for the tiny crying unwanted child.

All Victorian Nurses wear extra petticoats for that reason. (I wasn't one, just a helper). While we were there, shuddering to see a human being in such distress, the woman told us she would be alright, but to go and see another woman who needed us more than she did.

They helped each other, lending whatever utensils were needed. They were cheerful, and one and all seemed sure that better days were not far off, when Bert or Alf or George would get a job again.

They laughed and they gossiped, and they starved. And if you have been one of those who say that God never sends a mouth into the world without the food to fill it, then why did so many children die of starvation?

Why did some girls, sell their virtue for a square meal? And yet they had their dreams, and pointed with pride to those who had in some miraculous manner lifted themselves out of this ruck of poverty and moved to better places, yet never forgot their neighbors.

It's the poor that help the poor. They had a pride of their own, and bitterly resented those who came prying with their nose in the air, but the Victorian Nurses could go anywhere alone.

Some were shiftless, no doubt of that, but if you or I had their heritage of slums, of parents who were glad to lose their misery in beer or wine, if Education were denied us because we had no clothes to go to school, would we be any better? I doubt it.

And out of these same slums have come poets, and ministers, and lawyers and actors. Just as a lily rises out of the mud of the earth in all its beauty, so did they rise to fame and power.

So that you see, dreams are not only with the rich and powerful, nor with the well-to-do, nor the ones with a steady wage. We learned tolerance in the slums, and deep understanding, and a knowledge of the heights human beings could rise to in helping one another.

We saw genius come from there, music which thrilled millions. And so, instead of our taking dreams there, we brought many away with us. The pathos of an old Irish woman who would always be crippled, yet who thanked God she never went VERY hungry.

The gratitude of a girl with a twisted spine, for a belt that made walking easier for her, the cheery little boy with crutches who could go as fast as the next one, the blind old man who thanked God because a woman read the papers to him.

Dreams? Who says the poor have no dreams? We could learn from them.

Your Friend, ROBERTA.

Harvest Services Well Attended

The special harvest services held last week in St. George's Anglican church, and commencing Thursday evening, September 15, were attended by large congregations. In keeping with the harvest spirit, the church was effectively decorated with Autumn flowers, fruits and vegetables.

Special harvest music by the choir included the anthem "Lord of the Living Harvest." Rev. J. L. Hughes of Brighton, former rector of the church, was special speaker at the opening service Thursday evening. On Sunday the services continued with the celebration of the Holy Communion in the morning at eight-thirty, with the rector, Rev. T. S. Gault, as celebrant.

A special Children's Harvest Service was held at ten o'clock in the morning followed by prayer at eleven, and a harvest sermon by the rector. The anthem during the morning service was "If I Go Not Away."

Evening services were in charge of the Rev. K. D. Whatmough, rector of Gore's Landing and the harvest anthem was "Evening and Morning."

Sunday afternoon at 2.30 a Harvest Festival service was held at St. Mark's Anglican church, Zion, and the choir of St. George's church, Peterborough, supplied special music.

Services at the United Church, Zion, were cancelled so that the congregation might join in the services being held at the Anglican church. The rector of the United church, Rev. Ferguson, read the lesson, which was followed by a harvest sermon with Rev. K. D. Whatmough, as special speaker.

Racing On George St.

Competition between two fast-moving British folk, Eyston and Cobb, has finally demonstrated that it is mechanically and humanely possible for a motor car to be driven 6 miles a minute. One can think in terms of distance such as from Peterborough to Port Hope, Lindsay or Lakefield and in a general way apply that speed to a given distance, but that does not give an adequate idea of what has taken place.

The Examiner sought the assistance of City Engineer Parsons to see if something of local distance could be used to show what such a rate of speed meant, and also just how the pedestrian who desired to cross at a street intersection would get along.

George Street was used for purposes of the experiment because it is straight enough south of Parkhill Road and also because it carries its full share of pedestrian and vehicular traffic.

A car travelling at the rate of 6 miles per minute is covering 528 feet per second. The distance from Parkhill Road to the corner of Hunter and George, one block removed from the Examiner office, is 3,750 feet according to the maps of the city engineer. So one of those giant British racers would arrive at that point in 7 1-10 seconds.

A pedestrian who crosses George Street at the Hunter Street intersection travels 42 feet from curb to curb, but there is no way of telling by figures just how long that should take. Timed by several watches Mr. Parsons made the experiment, walking at average speed, and he was not interrupted by traffic or other people. It was found that the average time taken to go from sidewalk to sidewalk would be 10 seconds; that would be a safe crossing. But if that is a little too high then place it at 8 seconds.

What would happen if the pedestrian started to cross George Street at Hunter at the same time the car went past Parkhill Road on George Street? Just this: The car would make the distance of 3,750 feet in 7 1-10 seconds and the pedestrian would make the street crossing in from 8 to 10 seconds. If the pedestrian were to cross rather slowly then it would mean he would be in such a position that he might get struck. If he (or she) stepped lively it might be safe to make the crossing. Perhaps it is just as well that they use the Salt Flats in Utah for their trials of excessive speed.

Weakness Of a Great City

If one were to spend a day or so looking at New York city we dare say the impression created would be that it was a mighty place. There seems to be so much of everything there — so many stores, hotels, people, monster buildings. Likewise there is an enormous amount of wealth in that great city.

But the truckers went on strike there the other day and there was trouble at once. The drivers are paid $56.50 per week of 47 hours, but they want to work 40 hours a week and get the same amount of money. Their own union did not sanction the strike, but that has little to do with the situation. We are considering for the moment how weak a great city actually is, and how little it can do to protect itself when attacked by a food shortage.

Within a few hours it is stated there was a shortage of vegetables in the markets and stores; there was an immediate demand for milk which could not be supplied. Some of the stores reported that their stocks were beginning to run low.

So this great collection of buildings, that intense huddling together of millions of people does not bring actual strength. It shows only how entirely dependent the whole place is on the world outside.

He Took The Trip

Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Minister of Highways, and his deputy-minister, R. M. Smith, have made a personal inspection of the northern section of No. 28 highway. They promised Alex. Elliott, M.L.A., they would do so and they have driven over the section between Apsley and the point where the improved road runs out from Bancroft. It is said it took them one hour. We do not know just what the speed limits on that stretch of road are, but we consider the visiting inspectors made fairly good time. It might be dangerous enough to try and better it. We cannot at the moment recall whether any former Minister of Highways has made the trip from Apsley to Bancroft—in person—but we have a well-confirmed suspicion that upon completion of the ride Mr. McQuestion might with truth and perhaps fervor have assured Mr. Elliott that there was need for something being done.

How the trucks bearing logs, loads of lumber or wood have been able to operate through that stretch of road is something like a hidden secret. There are long stretches of its wiggling course where passenger cars, if they meet, have to seek for a flat place at the side where they can pull off to making a passing possible. There are miles of wonderful shore line which that road will open up on completion, and there is a fair amount of population which will be well served, and it will mean a good deal to Bancroft itself. We are glad indeed that the Minister of Highways had a trip over that road. That alone would explain the situation to him better than the work and speeches and urgings of many delegations.

Waste Of Effort

York Township Council has passed another resolution, and it says that all municipalities should receive from the provincial government one-third of the gas tax collected in such municipalities. And that was duly moved, then there was a seconder and it was voted upon with apparent solemnity and passed. And of course being passed, it will be the duty of the clerk to forward it to the provincial authorities.

Then what? Nothing will be done. We say that without having to wait for such announcement to be made.

Possibly there are some municipal councils in the province which have never passed or endorsed such resolutions, but the number which have done so must be very large.

The provincial government will not part with any share of that tax. Preference is given to handing to the municipalities the equivalent of one mill on the tax rate and in the assumption of greater share of road work costs. The wonder is that a council would consider it worth while to pass yet another resolution on that old point. It may be regarded as a tribute to persistence—but nothing else.

Growing Too Many

Tomato growers in Essex County face a situation which is serious enough for them. The company to which they have been making delivery announced it will take no more, so 250 of the tomato growers held a meeting and decided to ask the Ontario Government to place the marketing scheme in operation at once. There is that strongly developed tendency to ask the government always to come and help and it is on the increase.

The growers have been getting 30 cents per bushel, but now for the tomatoes which will not be delivered they will be allowed 10 cents per bushel.

We may of course be wrong, but it does look at first glance that the people in Essex had grown too many tomatoes. In times such as those we have been experiencing lately there are always more people trying to make a living by going on the land and growing something, and it is possible that in a good growing season like this they would add considerably to the available market supply. The suggestion that the cure would be to grow fewer tomatoes would probably be met with a smile, but at the moment we do not see any other solution.

Foundation Is Sure

Things may be badly muddled the world over at the moment. Even in our own land where we live in peace people talk always and much of high taxes and hard going.

Then there are a number of cases which find their way to court and they cause us to wonder if we amount to much after all.

So it is well that when they publish the list of prize winners at all these school and rural fairs around the district that we should look and see what is taking place. And there we find there are plenty of entries—good ones too—in such classes as:

Irish Cobbler potatoes	Oatmeal cookies
Dooley potatoes	Tea biscuits
	Standard cake
White eggs and brown eggs	Butter tarts
	Kitchen apron.

The good old foundations of happy family life seems to rather secure even if the superstructure does shake in the wind now and then.

Now They Can Afford It

The City Council of Stratford considered a proposal from a contractor who represented a group of local men who are ready to go ahead with the construction of 20 low-rental homes under the Dominion Government's housing plan. An appeal made to the Finance Committee of the Council included the stipulation that the city should sell for a nominal sum or else donate building lots which had come into its possession through the process of tax sales. This permission would obligate the city to conform to the regulations which would limit taxation to one per cent. of the construction cost, and this is said to be about one-half of the present rate of taxation.

The building company in Stratford would supply 20 per cent. of the capital and the 80 per cent. would be secured from the Government at a favorable rate of interest.

Some of the aldermen contended that the thing was wrong because while it would bring into existence a number of houses which would rent at $20 per month, and while the dividends of the company would be limited to five per cent., it would create two standards of houses in the city. There would be the new house built on a free lot and with money secured at a rate of interest which had been denied to those building houses now in existence. Such a condition it was contended would create a new form of landlordism of the preferred type. It would mean that when the new lost-cost houses were ready for occupancy at $20 per month that people would move to them and leave other houses vacant because of the difference in rentals. Likewise the older houses would be paying a rate of taxation on the full assessed value while for a time the new houses would escape such full-weight treatment.

Undoubtedly the arguments presented on that point are well based and they have hard facts behind them, but even if they are formidable they do not answer the entire question. It would probably be found that Stratford is like a number of other places where building had come to something close to a standstill and where there existed a demand for a low-rental house which could not be filled. So there would be that dual purpose to consider, (1) stimulating the building trade, and (2) doing it in such a way that the result would be homes where people would feel they could afford to pay the rent, or better still become the owners of the places.

In order to get some action, provide honest employment for people who had been workless, it was necessary to do something in the way of offering inducements, and that is what was done under the Housing Act. The sales tax was removed from much that goes into the construction of a home; money for building was made available at less rate of interest than had prevailed; the taxing departments of the municipalities were notified that they would have to accept less than full rates for a time. Certainly it did create a preferred class for those who stepped forth to take advantage of the offer, but today there are many cities—Peterborough included—where new homes are being built because people now consider it possible to build them, and it does look as though a good many families as a result are going to have homes in which they can afford to live.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Plowing match is announced for October 8, and if there are any copies left of that campaign sheet "The Straight Furrow" they might come in handy.

We doin't know much about wrestling bouts, but there is something slightly disturbing because the word slam appears so often in the reports.

Witness in court at Ottawa said he once faced a sentence of 15 years but it was never passed. Asked the reason he said he escaped in the meantime.

The new town clerk of Aylmer is 24 years of age, and he seems a trifle young to know how to talk back to the mayor and councillors.

At Haileybury on a recent weekend there were 119 prisoners in 32 cells, and we were wondering if the Home Improvement plan should not come into effect there.

St. Thomas reports a mushroom in that district 37 inches in diameter. It was discovered when a farmer went out to see why the cows couldn't get up in time for milking.

A taxi-driver of 77 years in Old London was fined £3 for recklessness. We have often noticed that it seems hard for some of these young fellows when learning to get on to the hang of the thing.

Rust resisting wheat will be used to secure a bigger crop for the West in 1939. Now if they can get a bigger market, a bigger consumption and a bigger buying power the thing ought to work well.

The Ladies' Aid Society at Trent River has decided to drop the annual fowl supper and will ask for cash donations instead. As far as the poultry yards of the district are concerned, it can be reported that all's quiet on the western front.

TAXATION

(By A. R. K.)

¶ John Thomas made a speech today, heard part of what he had to say, but it was rather good; John Thomas talks out good and loud, he can be heard in any crowd, and easy understood.

¶ John Thomas said the taxing men, were getting on their paint again, and they were on the path; their plan had not been changed a lot, but more hard ducats must be got, they'd take from him that hath.

¶ They searched the village up and down, and ended with a sullen frown, they scolded till they ached; for they discovered as they went, a plain and law abiding gent, they said he had escaped.

¶ He paid for all he ever bought, paid taxes on his house and lot, he lived on tripe and beans; but some one told the taxing man, they heard he had left now and then, a dollar in his jeans.

¶ John Thomas said the taxing men, would glady take him in right then, and lock him in the coop; and they would keep him in the jail, deny to him a chance for bail, and fed him bread and soup.

¶ Another notion came he said, they feared that all such men were dead, their notion was quite deft; he'd draw the tourists out their way, to see that man the folk would pay—he had a dollar left.

Busy Thinking of Some New Tax

"UNEMPLOYMENT may have been mothered by the depression but it is 'fathered' by the tax collector," declared Louis Blake Duff, addressing the Welland Board of Trade.

Mr. Duff confined his remarks to consideration of the debt and tax situation, federally, provincially and municipal. His theme was entitled "The Most Serious Phase of the Business Aspect."

"Our Federal funded debt has grown 400 per cent in 20 years and our provincial debt has increased 13 times in the same period. Do you wonder that your interest bill is mounting? Do you wonder that in 1910 in the province of Ontario less than eight per cent of revenue went to pay interest and last year more than 36 per cent went to pay interest. What private business could afford to pay $36 for interest out of every $100 of income?" inquired Mr. Duff.

"When you make your annual statement there is one debt you never list and yet you ought to list it for some day you must pay it or repudiate it. In your liabilities add this $672 for yourself and each member of your household. That is your share of the public debt."

"Your statement shows accurately enough your private debts. Add this public debt to it if you wish to know your true position. You have been mortgaged by government each one of you to the extent of nearly $700, and that mortgage is growing every year. You are not doing anything to pay off this debt and those responsible for it are adding to it, year by year, so that even now you have a mere interest bill large enough to slaughter you and bear you down."

✧ ✧ ✧

"TWENTY YEARS AGO you had to raise thirty-five million dollars a year for interest on the Federal debt and last year you had to meet one hundred and thirty-seven million dollars. That debt is a mortgage on your income, on your capital, on the wages of the laborer, on your property, upon business earnings, upon industry and resources of the country," he said.

"We hear a great deal about social security. The truth is that the security of your business, of your self and of the workman, and artisan rests on the security is being sapped at a rate that in a sane private business would not be tolerated for a day."

"We are paying in Canada at the present time exclusive of tariffs, about 500 taxes, federal, provincial and municipal. No public official appears to be properly alert if he does not think up some new tax."

"In the last two weeks one man recommended a tax on fire insurance policies, another a tax on females gainfully employed, another a tax on all incomes no matter how small, and so it goes."

"Because of countless millions drawn annually from productive uses and put to unproductive uses, the home occupier who is a home owner, is soon to be as extinct as the wild pigeon. He is disappearing at the rate of seven per cent per annum in Toronto, according to latest statistics."

WHERE CANADA WAS BORN

(Overseas Daily Mail).

THERE might very well be a plaque on th outside of the building in Tothill-street, Westminster, in which the British North America Act was framed in 1866-7.

The room in which delegates from all the provinces (chief among the delegates being Sir John Macdonald who became the first Premier) complied, under the presidency of Lord Carnarvon, the Secretary of State for the Colonies, the measure which gave birth to the Dominion of Canada is now devoted to the playing of billiards, for which there are ten tables. Formerly the Westminster Palace Hotel, the rest of the building has been split up into offices.

A plaque placed in 1911 on the wall in this billiard hall that was formerly the smoking room of the hotel, records that the Fathers of Confederation as they are known affectionately in Canada, held their meetings there. It would be a gesture much appreciated in the Dominion, I should think, if the Westminster City Council fixed a plaque on the wall outside for all to see.

GUNS AT THE HAGUE.

(New York Times)

IN HONOR of Queen Wilhelmina's forty years on the throne of Netherlands Army staged a parade that could well stand comparison with Hitler's military display for the Regent of Hungary. More than 13,000 men and nearly a thousand armored vehicles deployed at The Hague. But if not for Hitler and Horthy and the Czechs, it is not at all certain that the Netherlands would now have witnessed the largest military parade in its history.

The poison in Europe's central system has spread to her small and hitherto safe neutrals. Switzerland is planning fortifications and food reserves against war. Military budgets are bigger in Scandinavia. There was irony in two adjacent news items yesterday. Bolivia and Paraguay formally exchanged ratifications of peace in Chaco, for long years drenched in blood. But we had the biggest military display ever seen in the Netherlands.

IRON HORSE NAMES.

(The Commentator)

OF the 711 named passenger trains in the United States, Canada, and Mexico 6 are Owls, 5 are Night Expresses, 3 are Midnight Specials, 1 is a Twilight Limited, and 1 is a Twilight Express. Apparently all that is lacking is a good old Toot Owl.

The first train in the world to bear the name "limited" was the Pennsylvania Limited which commenced as the New York and Chicago Limited in 1881 and was rechristened in 1891. It's still running between the two cities and has never missed a day's run. Air transport is faster, but evidently there are still many Americans who favor the good old-steam-lined methods of getting places.

• The Cost of Raising a Child

(From the Dominion Bureau of Statistics)

AN ATTEMPT is made to estimate the cost of different items involved in raising a child to the age of independence. It appears that about $1,550 is required, under conditions of 1931, to feed a child until he is 18 years of age, while clothing for that same period costs about $800 and shelter over $2,000. Health, recreational and social costs total about $600, schooling about $750.

The cost of an elementary schooling to the community is $500 per pupil while a high school education requires about $1,050. The cost of supporting a student in the universities of Canada is much higher, $550 being required to pay for one year's schooling. Although only 3 p.c. of the young people attend university, the high cost of such an education raised the average cost to the community to $690 per average child. When the cost of books and other school equipment as met directly by the parents is added, the total sum required to educate the average child is in the neighbourhood of $750.

The total cost of rearing a child until his eighteenth birthday is then $5,750 of which $4,350 or 77 p.c. is spent on satisfying elementary physical needs, 10 p.c. on health, recreational and social costs and 13 p.c. on education. It costs no more to raise six children and give them an average schooling than to raise seven completely illiterate.

HOW LONG does it take the average child to repay society for the cost of his rearing, i.e., how many years does he require to earn an income sufficient to balance the amount expended on him during the period of his earlier dependency? Although the young man would be unable to repay the $5,750 by the time of his marriage, at the age of 27, the combined earnings of his wife and himself equal at age 31 the principal outlay for their rearing but do not account for the interest which has accumulated thereon. The average man in Canada was earning $927 in 1930-31, which meant that he would have had to spend his total salary for six years to repay the expense incurred by society in rearing him for his first eighteen years.

In the provinces where there are more children in proportion to the rest of the population, their cost must fall more heavily on the comparatively smaller adult population. This is reflected in the shorter average schooling of children in these provinces. Quebec, which has the largest proportion of its population under 18 years of age (43.27 p.c.) has the lowest average school attendance (7.78 years), while British Columbia and Ontario, with only 30.11 and 34.67 p.c. of their respective populations under 78 years of age have an average length of attendance of 9.15 and 9.20 years respectively.

Rural families are larger in size than are urban, (3.22 children per average rural family to 2.68 per urban) but many rural children go to the cities as they reach maturity. This trend is a steady one, 50.14 p.c. of the population at 10 years of age living in rural districts as compared with 41.26 p.c. at the age of 30. It would appear that about 15 p.c. of the rural-raised children become urban dwellers. Schooling amounts to only 13 p.c. of the total cost of raising children, it is of interest to note that if urban dwellers paid the entire cost of schooling all rural children, they would only be paying the equivalent of the cost of rearing those who in adult years become their residents and supporters.

• The Train Comes Once A Week

(Woodstock Sentinel-Review)

AN ARTICLE in the Canadian Churchman, about the official opening of the Bishop Horden Memorial School at Moose Factory, is a reminder that in Moosonee, T. & O. terminus, Ontario has one town—or settlement—with no roads leading anywhere and train service but once a week. It is a James Bay port, but that does not help much. These circumstances imposed unusual hours for the proceedings in which the Primate, Dr. Owen, with other dignitaries, including Canon T. G. Wallace of London, took part last month. In the first place, the weekly train from Cochrane was an hour late, and rain descended in torrents as the visitors proceeded by canoe from Moosonee to the island. The archbishop had to leave next morning or remain a whole week, so:

"After His Grace had said evening prayers in the chapel a reception was held in the staff common room. Thursday morning the school bell was rung at six o'clock to call the people from the village and tents to the service of dedication, and at 6.30 the chapel was filled, with the senior school children in the front seats. The service of dedication was followed by short addresses by the Primate, Bishop Anderson, Canon Gould and Dr. McGill. After breakfast the guests visited the hospital, and as they left the children formed a guard of honor lining the path from the hospital gate to the entrance to the mission enclosure. Everyone regretted that His Grace had to leave the morning after he had arrived, but with only one train a week and pressing duties elsewhere, there was no alternative."

The Ontario government is confronted with the problem of what to do with this section of the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway. It is estimated that it cost $12,000,000 to build this part of the line. Now there is need for considerable upkeep outlay if the road is to be maintained. On ties alone, $750,000 will have to be spent during the next few years. Moosonee is said to have a white population of 60. During the winter season the service is reduced to one train a month.

The motives that underlay the construction of this 185 miles of railway through a wilderness can be guessed. The original T. & O. had been fairly successful, not so much as a great revenue-producer as a railway, but it opened up the first mining region of Northern Ontario and was the accessory of enormous wealth for the province. It seemed to sound well to argue that the railway would open up a new area full of minerals or something. It was even hinted that great fisheries would be developed on James Bay.

These political dreams have not come true. In fact there may have been official stupidity associated with the failure to restarin the political go-getters who wanted to continue the provincial railway through the wilderness. Whatever it was, it has cost the people of Ontario plenty.

A HITLER AIDE.

(Lemuel F. Parton, in New York Sun)

ALFRED ROSENBERG, Adolf Hitler's custodian of public thought on the "world outlook," has been piping down a lot lately and engaging in only occasional desultory bushwhacking. His belt at the American Constitution, apropos of nothing in particular, was surprisingly mild, considering his virtuosity in this line.

Russian born, fleeing the revolution, he handed Hitler the old Czarist prospectus of anti-semitism and has been highly esteemed as one of the founders of the faith. He was brilliantly educated in Russia, mainly in technology, and was Hitler's first and most important braintruster. Tall, blond, erudite, facile and resourceful in many languages, he takes time out occasionally to deny that his great-great-grandmother was Jewish and his great-grandfather Mongolian.

VIRTUE OF ADVERTISING.

(Bob Burns in New York Post)

THERE'S NO QUESTION about it—a city has more advantages for the business man than a small town, but that don't mean that the city man is smarter than his country cousin. Some years ago an advertising man in a city made himself famous and rich because he suddenly discovered that it pays to advertise and a business should keep its name before the public all the time.

Forty years before that the editor of the Press Argus, down home, tried to get John Hink to advertise his furniture store, and John Hink says, "I don't have'ta advertise it—I've been here thirty years and everybody knows I'm in business." The editor says, "Yes, John, but our church has been standin' there over one hundred years, but they still ring the bell every Sunday!"

THE GOOD EDITOR.

(North Hasting Review).

A good editor is one who has never made a mistake; who is always right; who can ride two horses at the same time he is straddling a fence with both ears to the ground; who always says the right thing at the right time; who always picks the right horse as well as the right politician to win; who never has to apologize, who has no enemies and who has worlds of prestige with all classes, creeds and races. That is all an editor has to do to be rated a good editor. There has never been a good editor.

BUCHAN BEGAN YOUNG.

(Glasgow Bulletin).

"It is not blood the Buchans have in their veins but ink," once declared an old friend of Lord Tweedsmuir; to whom congratulations on a 63rd anniversary are due. The huge company of his readers are hoping that high office has not changed the content of his articles, and that, while Governor-General of Canada, he may be gathering materials for many delectable romances to come when he has laid down the burden of office. Few writers have got into print so young for "John Burnett of Barns" was written at 17 and published before he was 20.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

AND he was teaching in one of the synagogues on the sabbath.

And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity 18 years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God.

And the ruler of the synagogue answered with indignation, because that Jesus had healed on the sabbath day, and said unto the people, There are six days in which men ought to work: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the sabbath day.

The Lord then answered him, and said: Thou hypocrite, doth not each one of you on the sabbath loose his ox or his ass from the stall, and lead him away to watering? And ought not this woman, being a daughter of Abraham, whom Satan hath bound, lo, these 18 years, be loosed from this bond on the sabbath day?

And when he had said these things, all his adversaries were ashamed: and all the people rejoiced for all the glorious things that were done by him.—Luke xiii, 10-17.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

(Brantford Expositor)

THE OTHER DAY a news dispatch from Paris reported the laconic comment of the French Government regarding the political situation in Europe in these words: "We are doing all we can to preserve peace; we are ready for war." That correctly defines the attitude of the entire French nation, and stands out in strong contrast to the belligerent and threatening utterances of Chancellor Hitler, General Goering, and Paul Goebbels, Minister of Propaganda. France has never threatened war, is not shouting about minority rights, attempting to gain more territory, or defying the world and proclaiming that her army, navy and air force are absolutely invincible. Bellicose utterances of the latter type have been made in Germany for years, primarily for Nazi consumption, but also for the purpose of frightening other countries and provoking trouble. It is easy to see the difference in the attitude of the two governments.

HINES MISTRIAL.

(Detroit Free Press).

A NOTED English barrister once raised his glass to "the glorious uncertainty of the law."

James J. Hines might well toast the same sentiment.

The reason given by Justice Pecora for declaring a mistrial of the Tammany district leader, accused of extending political protection to a $9,000,000-a-year policy racket in New York, will probably strike many people, who have followed the testimony in the case, as woefully insufficinet ground for throwing away all that had been accomplished in a trial that had lasted more than a month and cost the people $50,000.

The basis upon which Judge Pecora rested his ruling was a question asked a witness by District Attorney Dewey regarding testimony given before a grand jury that Hines had been connected in some way with the poultry racket in New York.

As Hines was not charged with complicity in the poultry racket in the case being tried before him, Justice Pecora held that reference to this previous accusation against the defendant was a "very serious and fatal error" which no amount of instruction to the jury could remove.

Well, if that is the law a good many people are likely to agree with Mr. Bumble that "the law is an ass."

CHAPTER 45

AFTER NICK left, the tall blond young man came back took his seat silently, and everything was as quiet as before. There were a dozen questions Noel would have liked to ask him, but remembering how surly he had been she decided not to try to make him talk, but leaned back against the cushions, now and then taking an uneasy nap.

The long night passed at last. Another breakfast tray of coffee and sandwiches was brought in. When she had finished with it, the young man himself took it out and remained away from the room about 20 minutes.

This gave Noel a chance to go to the windows and try to get some idea of where she was and the distance from town. This gloomy old house seemed to be situated in a sort of wood or forest. There were trees in every direction, but there didn't seem to be a road of any kind leading up to the house. There must be a road, of course, Noel thought, remembering the car which had brought her here. But wherever the road was, it was cunningly concealed.

Noel thought dismally that there couldn't be a better hiding place anywhere. The immediate grounds surrounding the house were overgrown with shrubbery and weeds. Everything about the place gave it an air of desertion.

Noel was still standing at the window when the blond young man came in. "I must ask you again to stay away from the window," he said, taking his seat.

Noel went back to the divan and sat down wearily among the cushions. How much longer would she be kept a prisoner here? Would Nick really be waiting for her tonight in case she did manage to get out the window? Didn't he know the windows were all locked?

Gradually Noel's unhappy thoughts went back to little Betsy. Poor lonely little girl, she knew Betsy was missing her. Then Noel thought of Laurie. She did hope that Laurie was already planning her marriage, getting ready for a little home. That was where Laurie belonged. She was a born homemaker, and Jimmy would be a good husband.

And of course Noel couldn't keep her thoughts away from Julian, even though she knew the less she thought of him now, the better off she would be. Every time his strong, dark face came before her, a sharp pain tore at her heart. No doubt Julian had made a wise choice. He was like that. He had cut a clear path for himself, led first by his ambition, and there was no turning aside for him. But Noel couldn't help wondering of there wouldn't be a time when he would wake up and find Ruth Chester wasn't quite the paragon of goodness and efficiency he had believed.

In the late afternoon, Noel caught the sound of a car coming toward the house. A short time afterward, two men came into her room. Following them was Nick. The first man was squat and bullet-headed, with powerful rat-like eyes. The other man looked to be of the prosperous business type, well-groomed, prematurely gray, with intelligent, deep-seated gray eyes.

Only his grim expression revealed him to be the type of criminal Noel believed him to be.

Nick stood off to one side.

"Neat piece of goods, what?" the bullet-headed man ejaculated. The gray-haired man gave him a frown. Then he moved toward Noel and said in a cultivated voice, "We are ready, Miss Shayne, for you to write the note to your uncle."

Noel caught a glance of warning in Nick's eyes. Remembering his instructions, she said coolly: "You seem very certain that I intend to write the letter."

The gray-haired man's glance wandered to the man with the powerful muscles. "You won't refuse," he said grimly.

Noel saw that Nick too had glanced at the squat, heavy set, bullet-headed man.

"You see," the gray-haired man began, "Bill has a way of persuading our little friends when they prove stubborn."

"You'd better sign it, Miss Shayne" Nick spoke up. "As I told you before, these men mean business."

Noel knew, however, that Nick was playing for time. She said after a pause, "Will I be released when the money is paid?"

The two men exchanged glances.

"Why, of course," they exclaimed in unison. Then Nick said, "You have no reason to fear that you'll still be kept here."

"I'd like to have more time to—to think it over," Noel ventured. She was trying to stall as Nick had told her to do.

"You've had time enough," the gray-haired man retorted.

"After all, there are so many things to be considered—" Noel stalled again.

"The only thing to be considered is whether or not you're going to write the note," the gray-haired man said impatiently.

"And if I refuse?" Noel tried to say coolly.

"As I said before, you won't refuse," the gray-haired man again glanced at the bullet-headed Bill.

"Please give me a little more time," Noel resorted to pleading.

"How much more time?" came the question.

"Another—day," Noel said, looking at Nick and thinking she read approval in his impassive expression.

"That's too long." The man turned to Nick. "Shall we give her any more time, or turn her over to Bill to be persuaded?"

Not a flicker crossed Nick's face as he said, "Let Bill have her. He'll bring her around in no time at all."

"Just what I think," the gray-haired man assented.

Bill moved up, a gloating look in his beady eyes.

"The only trouble is," Nick began suavely, "Bill sometimes gets too enthusiastic about his job. Perhaps you'd better give me a few more minutes with this girl. I have a feeling that she'll listen to reason now."

"Perhaps you're right, Luigi. Go ahead and see what you can do. Then if you fail again, Bill will have his chance."

"Wait a minute," Nick said as the other two started towards the door. "Some of your fellows out there don't know me. I had to have a scrap with two of them yesterday before I could get in here and start things. Better drop a hint to them."

"Of course, Luigi. Those chaps are new. That's the reason."

The two men continued toward the door. Just as they opened it, Nick went up to Noel and gave her a vicious shake. "Now, you'd better make up your mind, young woman—"

The door closed. Nick released Noel who sank onto the divan. Then Nick's voice came again in a hoarse whisper. "Here—take my watch and keep it with you. Exactly at 1:30 let yourself drop out the east window. Don't be afraid. I'll catch you. It's our only chance. And don't forget the hour. I had to change it."

"But the window is locked," Noel told him.

"I've taken care of that." Nick was moving toward the door now. "Well, it's a good thing you decided, my girl. It just goes to prove you're smart," he said loudly.

Then his voice dropped again to a whisper. "Say that you'll write it the first thing in the morning."

Noel repeated the words after him in a voice loud enough to be heard outside the door.

Then Nick said in a whisper that they might give her that much time and they might not. And then loudly, "The sooner you get this note written, the sooner you'll get released. Just keep that in mind."

He went out then. Noel heard him talking to someone outside but could not understand his words. She supposed it was agreed that she would be given until morning. For there was a silence after she heard Nick walk away. And a minute later the blond young man came back to take up his vigil.

When Noel saw him, her heart sank. He looked so unapproachable, so stern. She wondered how on earth she'd be able to escape, even if she should find the window unlocked at the appointed time, with this man sitting here watching every move she made.

For several minutes Noel sat on the divan thinking, and studying the young man's face at intervals. She decided at last to make another appeal. "There is a little girl who depends on me. It seems that I'm her only friend. Even right now," she went on pleadingly, "I'm afraid she's fretting herself into a fever because I—"

"Will you please not talk?" the young man cried in a nervous voice.

Noel leaned back against the cushions. It was no use. He was as hard as nails. Now and then she stole a glance at Nick's watch which she had concealed in her sleeve. The minutes were going by rapidly. Much faster than she had dared hope.

A supper tray was brought in. Noel forced herself to eat a small part of the food. Then it was 9, 10, Eleven at last. At 12 Noel still saw no chance whatever to carry out Nick's instructions.

Then to her unbelieving eyes, exactly at 1:30, the blond young man walked to the east window and unlocked it. After which he walked to the door saying he needed some cigarets to someone outside and disappeared.

DOROTHY DIX

Advancing Years Does Not Give You The Right To Relax Mentally Nor To Let Down And Become Slovenly In Your Appearance

THE consolation prize for age is that it is a double-actioned alibi for everything you want to do and everything you do not wish to do. When you are 70 you are too old to work, but not too old to play. You are too feeble to take care of the grandchildren or do chores about the house, but you are perfectly able to take a tour around the world and sit up to midnight playing bridge.

Now it is fine and foxy in the old to have erected this smoke screen of excuses and retired behind it to have a grand time, but I often wonder if they do not push a good thing too far and if white hair really entitles its lucky possessors to all the privileges they claim for it.

Take, for instance, the way most old people let themselves slump physically. It is only the exceptional old man and woman who exhibit any pride in their personal appearance and who make an effort to keep themselves well groomed and well dressed and who hold their shoulders back and their chins up.

Most elderly people simply let themselves go. The men have souvenirs of their last meal on their waistcoats, their trousers bag at the knees and their hair straggles over their coat collars and their linen cries aloud for the laundry. The women have thrown away their corsets and have the figures of baggy meal sacks, and their clothes and their hats look as if their worst enemy had selected them.

This is the case even among men and women who are amply able to afford the best tailors and dressmakers and beauty parlors, yet when you ask them why they make themselves unnecessarily hard on the eyes of the beholder, they defend themselves by saying that it is the prerogative of age not to have to worry any longer about its looks. "When you are old you've got a right to slouch," said a woman to me, who in her youth had been a beauty and dressed like Solomon in all his glory, and who still would have been something to gaze upon if she hadn't let herself get hump-backed and her clothes hadn't looked as if she had gotten them at a rummage sale.

Now instead of age giving us the right to relax in our efforts to present an attractive appearance to our fellow creatures, it is really a clarion call to get busy to camouflage that Time has made upon us. We have lost the beauty of youth. We can't get that back, but we can at least take the curse off of the homeliness of age by keeping ourselves immaculately clean, by arranging our sparse hair to the best advantage and wearing the prettiest clothes that our purses will buy.

Many old people make their age an excuse for being dull and boring and being so far behind the times that their opinions are only interesting as antiques. I have known old people who actually boasted that they never read anything, not even the daily papers. They didn't like these newfangled ideas of messing up a paper with comic strips and pictures and putting things in it that nobody talked about when they were boys and girls.

"I am too old to take up with new notions" is the alibi that thousands of old men and women offer for their tediousness. Yet they can't understand why they are avoided as if they were Pariahs by people who, in an exciting modern world, don't want to hear about the Civil War when the Spanish war is going on, or discuss the politics of Rutherford B. Hayes' Administration while our own politics are raising the hair on our scalps. In reality, the old people who keep learning and keep an open mind are the most interesting people in the world because of the richness of their background and their memories.

Many, alas far too many, old people consider that age confers upon them the privilege of being disagreeable and cantankerous and hard to live with. They take advantage of the fact that no one will punch this old gray head to say things that hurt and humiliate those about them. They don't even realize that the least they can do is to be polite to their hosts when they go to live as unwanted guests in other people's houses.

How many old people we all know who are gruff and rude in their manner to every one they meet; who call all young people fools; who criticize everything their children and their in-laws do, and who expect everybody to take it and still love and cherish them because they are old. And just how poor an excuse age is for rudeness is shown by the almost adulation we pay to the few old people whom age has softened and made sweet and gracious and considerate. All of which goes to show that age as well as youth needs to watch its steps and mind its manners.

GOODNIGHT STORY

By MAX TRELL

CAN RAINY DAY BE LOVELY?
By MAX TRELL

It was still raining as Knarf, the shadow boy, darted across the garden. He sprang over the puddles and kept out of the mud and finally reached the top of the garden wall. Then he called out at the top of his voice: "Rabbits! Squirrels! Birds! Grasshoppers! Listen to me! I know a place where it's nice and dry. Where are you?"

At that moment he heard a hoarse voice saying: "Here!"

Knarf peered around. "Where's here?" he asked, seeing no one.

"Right at the bottom of the garden wall...on a rock," the hoarse

"But I like it here."

voice answered. Knarf sprang down at once. He discovered a frog sitting on a rock.

"I know a nice dry place where you can stay until the rain stops. It's under the back steps of the house. Come with me. I'll take you there."

"But I like it here."

Knarf said: "How can you like it here when you're getting soaking wet?"

Beetle Likes It

He tried to pull the frog's leg, but the frog hopped off. Knarf went off and sat down under a mushroom. By and by a beetle came along. "Mind if I rest here a bit?" it asked the shadow boy. "I'm on my way to market. Fine day, isn't it?"

"It's raining," said Knarf. "It isn't fine at all."

"That depends on how you look at it. Now take me, for instance. I think it's fine when it rains. So do my friends, the earthworms. They wouldn't think of going out for a walk unless it were raining. And then there are the ducks. You never heard a duck complain about the rain, did you?"

Knarf agreed he never had.

"So you see, rainy days are fine days. Well...I'm off again. Good afternoon to you. And I hope it keeps on raining."

Then off it went, leaving Knarf as puzzled as ever.

The Stars Say...

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday September 20

A very lively and eventful day is the augury based on rater conflicting planetary positions. While there may be definite progress toward the stabilization of congested conditions, yet this reorganization may have somewhat of devastating nature, causing sudden upheavals, unexpected changes, with surprising contacts or strange adventures, all rather drastic but not lacking in romantic angles.

If This Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of unsettlement, with rather contradictory events. While a death or bereavement may be at the root of mended finances and increased estate, yet this may cause unexpected upsets or disturbances, with travel and change.

A child born on this day may be studious and earnest, yet it may seem to have its frivolous moments, being adventurous, unsettled and romantic.

Looking Back
On This Date

Fifty years ago today (September 19, 1888), Hon. A. Real Angers, then Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, wrote to Sir Joh Macdonald asking his advice on a matter of constitutional procedure. The Dominion government had disallowed a district magistrates act passed by the Quebec legislature, at the instance of the Mercier ministry. The law provided that such disallowance must be published in the Quebec Gazette, but the governor was apprehensive that his ministers would refuse their sanction to such publication and asked whether he could do so himself, without the advice of his ministers.

The point was an important one. Mr. Angers cited a case in Ontario where in 1883 the Ontario Gazette had contained a proclamation announcing the disallowance of not only an act of the Ontario legislature in 1882, but also acts disallowed in 1869, 1870, 1875, 1880 and 1881. But in that case the proclamation was authorized by Premier Mowat, who had included the earlier ones which, by some oversight, had been overlooked and not proclaimed.

Sir John replied to Mr. Angers that it was his duty to demand that his ministers pass an order-in-council announcing the disallowance by proclamation in the Quebec Gazette, but that, failing such order-in-council, he must issue the proclamation himself.

Neither the lieutenant-governor nor the Dominion government wished to bring on a crisis, sice Mercier was in control of both Houses of the Legislature and would be endorsed. So Sir John advised conference and conciliation, which, apparently, worked, for on October 2, Mr. Angers wrote that his ministers had consented to the proclamation being gazetted and had passed the necessary order-in-council. Thus was another "constitutional crisis" avoided. Mr. Mercier it is said, acting upon the advice of Mr. Laurier who, just chosen leader of the Liberal party, did not want an issue which might have alienated Liberals in other provinces, especially after the Jesuits Estates Bill agitation.

Lindsay Fair Attendance New High, Graham Wins In Hackneys, McConkey Has Best Holstein Herd

LINDSAY, Sept. 19.—All records for attendance were swept away as the sixty-second annual showing of the Lindsay Central Exhibition came to a brilliant conclusion Saturday night. Over 25,000 people jammed the grounds on Saturday, many staying until the last ride on the midway at midnight.

Not only was the attendance record broken, but also two others, weather and track. For the first time in many years not a drop of rain fell during the four days of the fair. Simcoe Harvester, owned by J. T. Payette of Penetang, ran the mile in 2:09 to break the track record.

Features of Saturday's program were the march-past and drills of the Toronto Scottish Regiment and the C.N.R. veterans of Toronto. In the afternoon the salute was taken by Col. G. A. Weeks, and in the evening by Col. F. J. Carew.

The concluding event on the afternoon's program was the parade of live stock and presentation of special awards. The parade lasted for an hour and was the longest seen in years.

Henlein, Branded a Traitor, Sought By Czech Police

In face of the anger of the German government, President Benes and the Czech authorities have laid a charge of treason against Konrad Henlein, RIGHT, Sudeten German leader, following his open call to revolt made via radio. Henlein may possibly face a firing squad should he be caught, but reports from Germany claim that he and his chief aide, K. H. Frank, LEFT, have reached safety in Germany, presumably in Munich. Frank, with Ernest Kundt, another Sudeten leader, signed the ultimatum which was rejected by the Czech governmen. Additional Czech troops are being moved to border areas as the Czech "brain centre," housed in the Czernin palace in Praha (ABOVE), prepares for a possible armed break with the Sudeten areas.

MORE ABOUT—

Czechs Stick

Runciman, wife of the unofficial British mediator went to London Friday.

Border incidents took a more serious turn at Asch, where hand-grenades and pistols were used in an attack on a Czech customs station. Two Czech treasury employees were wounded.

Czech reports said the attackers were in civilian clothes and came from Germany. The Czech believed this incident revealed the purpose of the "free corps," which Konrad Henlein, Sudeten Nazi leader, organized after he fled to Germany from a Czech charge of treason.

At the border town of Prabelsbrunn, Czech authorities reported finding 60 hand grenades, 13 pistols and explosives in a chapel in a cemetery.

The Czech police said they arrested a Sudeten party member who confessed the arms had been smuggled from Germany.

A number of refugees continued to arrive from Sudeten areas, fearing war. There was much talk that war was imminent, and many residents were making arrangements to leave the country. A majority of the population checked up on gas masks and other protective equipment.

Vote Held Useless

Premier Hodza in rejecting a plebiscite said that "a plebiscite, no matter how it might result, would solve nothing and it would bring about a succession of problems similar to that which we now face."

Martial law would be maintained despite the Sudeten demands for its revocation in Sudeten areas, Hodza said, because "by imposing extraordinary security measures the government merely was doing its first duty—preserving order and protecting its citizens."

Official circles showed no surprise over Premier Mussolini's speech yesterday, urging a plebiscite and indicating his support of Germany. They regarded it merely as a reiteration of Italy's attitude.

A foreign office spokesman sarcastically remarked that Mussolini's attitude was somewhat at variance with that of the new Italian minister, Francesco Fransoni, who arrived at Prague two weeks ago and spoke of the bond of friendship between the two countries.

ICEBREAKER TO AID SHIPS

To try to rescue three ships which have been drifting in the icepack toward Polar regions since last autumn, the icebreaker Josef Stalin has been commissioned by Russia, and an airplane will be used to search for the best means of approach to the imprisoned vessels.

MARMORA

Thomas Laycock Is Taken By Death

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Sept. 19.—In the death of Thomas E. Laycock which occurred in Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough on Friday morning, the Marmora district has lost one of its most respected and widest known residents. Death was due to a heart ailment for which Mr. Laycock was admitted to the hospital about three weeks ago.

Son of Mrs. R. Laycock and the late Ralph Laycock he was born 60 years ago in Marmora Township. As he grew to manhood he followed in his fathers footsteps as an industrious agriculturist. He also found time to fill many public offices, in which faithfulness to duty was in evidence.

For some years he was clerk of Marmora and Lake township and later held the reeveship for a number of years. He was also a past president of the Marmora Agricultural Society. At the time of his death he had served for a few years on the Marmora High School Board.

In politics he was an ardent Liberal but was popular with followers of both political parties. Successful School Fair Is Held By Five South Monaghan Schools

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CENTREVILLE, Sept. 19. — Five Public schools in the township of South Monaghan participated in the annual school fair at Centreville on Wednesday. There was a good attendance of parents and children, and numerous entries in the vegetable, flowers and fruit classes. There was also a fine showing of livestock and poultry, also cooking, writing and fancy work.

In the forenoon races and tug-of-war featured the program conducted by Mr. Somers, the district agricultural representative.

The scohol parade in the afternoon was a very colorful affair, the children in special costume carrying banners, the school inspector, Col. Snyder, in charge. The five schools lined up, repeated the 23rd Psalm and the Lord's Prayer, after which they sang "O Canada," saluted the flag, repeated a pledge of loyalty to their country and concluded with the National Anthem.

The scrools gave a fine exhibition of song-singing and physical exercises. The oratorical contests were held in the Sunday school hall, the participants speaking very well.

The annual Thanksgiving meeting of the Women's Missionary Society will be held in the church on Wednesday, September 21. Mrs. Thompson, of Campbellford, president of the presbyterial, will be the guest speaker. The W.M.S. of Grace church, Millbrook, and Bensfort United church, have been invited to attend.

Feared Drowned Couple Return To Their Home

Fears that Mr. and Mrs. William Clinton of Burleigh township had perished in Long Lake some time over the week-end were dispelled this morning when the couple came across the lake in a canoe and stated they had been picking cranberries and spent the last two nights in a summer cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton left on Saturday in a flat bottomed punt which they had borrowed and towed a 12 foot canoe behind the punt, intending to use the canoe to come home in. Yesterday Dennie Hendley and Archie Wilson both neighbors, became alarmed when the two failed to return and when they visited the Clinton farm the stock had not been fed, which partially confirmed the fears that something had gone wrong. They learned the punt had been returned to its owner but there was no trace of the pair.

Shortly before eight o'clock this morning, Hendley, with two others visited the Clinton home intending to start a search but the missing man and his wife came paddling down the lake, blissfully unaware of the commotion that was being caused by their absence. On their trip they had paddled through Long and Loucks Lake, both of which are regarded as treacherous during bad weather and their friends fully believed the canoe had upset.

"We were picking cranberries and we got a fine supply," said Clinton laughing at the surprised look on the faces of his three friends.

Spiritual Life Of Czechs Being Awakened

Rev. E. L. Langston, British preacher, much of whose time is now taken up by the Keswick Convention, admits he has become somewhat of a citizen-at-large of the world. Speaking to the Examiner today, Mr. Langston was telling of the situation in Hungary and Czechoslovakia.

"I refer entirely to the awakening in those countries of the spiritual life of the people," said Mr. Langston. "As one of the trustees of the Keswick Convention, which is representative of all Protestant denominations, I was commissioned to go there and what I witnessed was a surprise and a joy. There was a ten-day conference and the feeling there was plainly one which goes before a great revival; it was the crying out of a people for God. They had working in that country, a Scottish evangelist, James Stewart, and he was doing a great work. There were times when he went out in the open air with his services and with the aid of an interpreter found the people ready to listen and repent. The movement seemed to be coming from the common people and it would be a joy to some of the people in other countries if they could have seen it."

"Has religion been banned in Russia so that it has ceased to exist?" asked the Examiner.

"No, it has not," replied Mr. Langston, "and I am certain such a thing could not be done. My belief is that there is a better sort of religion springing up among the people of Russia than there was in the Czarist days. When they told the people there in the first place they must not go to church that in itself raised the question in their minds as to why they must not go to church. It started them thinking and when people start thinking they are on good ground. But they cannot stamp out God in any land."

Mr. Langston supplied for a month at St. Paul's Cathedral in Toronto this summer, since when he has made two trips to Jamaica, has been speaking in Montreal and at the Keswick Convention in Muskoka. "I have come to like Canada and its people," he remarked, "because you are informal and easy to meet. I admit too that I become a little fatigued at times with so much travelling and so many addresses, but then one must remember there is so much to be done." Mr. Langston is speaking in Peterborough this evening in All Saints' church under the auspices of the Peterborough Ministerial Association.

Children's Aid Secured $801 Tag Day

Upwards of 100 taggers covered the city on Saturday in the annual drive for funds to assist in Children's Aid work and the response was very encouraging but falls $300 short of the $1,000 objective. Returns compiled to noon today show a total of $801.13, but many of the regular donors have not as yet made their contribution and it is fully expected that before the week is out the original objective may be reached.

Miss Rachael Young, superintendent of the Society, voiced warm approval of the fine spirit of cooperation which existed during the tagging. "It is the first time since coming to the city that I have supervised a Tag Day," said Miss Young, "and I am positively thrilled by the dependability of the workers and the fine way they turned out to help." Miss Young added that the girls and women stayed at their posts until relieved, and were not discouraged by a drizzle of rain in the morning.

The schools contributed the sum of $100, and the workers composed of members of the Society, Girl Guides, members of a "Teen Age group from St. John's Church and school girls, collected the balance. Charles Cummer, manager of the George Street Branch of the Bank of Montreal, put a room at the bank at the disposal of the committee, which helped materially in efficient administration of the drive, and in the evening Bert Cutmore and Tom Pitchford of the De Laval Company counted the money, thus relieving officials of considerable work.

Charge Of Having Follows Raid

James McDonald pleaded not guilty in police court this morning to a charge of having illegal possession of liquor in Burleigh township on July 8 last.

The charge is the aftermath of a visit made by Provincial Constable Don Carruthers and County Constable Harry McLachlan to the home of Fred Hull at Jack's Creek at the head of Stoney Lake when fifteen cases of beer, five allegedly belonging to Hull and the remainder to McDonald, were found. A charge of illegal possession laid against Hull was tried before Magistrate E. A. Gee last month and was dismissed and the McDonald case was adjourned until to-day.

The accused was defended by T. J. Carley, K.C., and the evidence of the Crown witnesses was much the same as in the Hull case. It was not expected it would be finished to-day as a defence witness may have to be brought in from Stoney Lake.

Jug Of Wine Is Found In Raid On Transients

A jug of wine beneath a bough may be an excellent thing from the viewpoint of a poet but part of a jug of wine in an illegal place can cause a lot of trouble as a bunch of transients found Saturday when a police squad consisting of Inspector J. F. Reid, Sergeant John Thompson and Constable McGillen dropped into the "jungle" at Burnham's Point and found the visiting fraternity and a quantity of liquid refreshment.

As a result of this unexpected visit there was a lineup before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., at police court this morning. George Ross pleaded guilty to being in possession of the wine and asked the court for leniency.

"Unfortunately for you," remarked Magistrate Langley, "the Liquor Control Act does not permit of much leniency."

Ross was fined $100 and $4.50 costs with the alternative of three months imprisonment.

Edward Leclair, another member of the party, pleaded guilty to illegal consumption and was fined $10 and $4.50 costs and R. Rose who also pleaded guilty to a similar offence was remanded for a week.

Two young boys, George Harris, 20, of Ottawa and Ray Fontaine, 17, of Hamilton, who were found in the jungle when the police raided the place both pleaded guilty to vagrancy. "I was here looking for work," Harris told the court when he was questioned by the magistrate.

Fontaine who admitted that he had been in court before was sentenced to ten days in jail while Harris escaped with a seven-day sentence.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(CP-Havas)—Plans ready for distribution of foodstuff throughout the United Kingdom in wartime can go into effect on 24 hours notice, Sir Henry French, director of the department of food defence plans of the Board of Trade, told 1,500 official of his organization at a luncheon here today.

Food distribution would take place by all ordinary means, he explained, with certain modifications and additions. Special arrangements have been made for goods subject to shortage. Rationing will take place on a national basis, not locally as in the last war. Meats, bacon, butter, margarine, fats, and sugar will be among the first foods to be rationed, Sir Henry said.

Prayers Are Offered In Churches For Peaceful Solution Of Crisis

Prayers for a peaceful solution of the present European crisis were offered in the various Protestant churches of the city yesterday morning and last night, as local ministers joined with the rest across Canada in leading their congregations in prayers for this purpose. Special anthems of peace were sung and in several churches the service ended with the singing of the National Anthem.

Over the week-end a joint call to prayer for the peace of the world was issued by the heads of the Anglican, Presbyterian, Baptist and United Churches.

Larger congregations were present in all churches and it is believed that the seriousness of the European situation coupled with the usual summer end sequence was responsible for the increases. At St. Paul's Presbyterian Church prayers were offered at both services for the second Sunday as they had been said a week ago when the situation assumed dangerous proportions on the continent.

A large congregation attended the evening service at the Salvation Army citadel, last evening, despite the rain, and this week the doors of the citadel will remain open in order that all those who wish to offer fervent prayer may do so.

The Rambling REPORTERS

A BOOST FOR THE MEN.

June Burrows and Betty Puffer, two teen age taggers who helped obtain funds for the Children's Aid Society on Saturday have changed their opinions on the generosity of women. Both girls remarked to their parents that many women, prosperous looking and well dressed dropped in nickels while many others who radiated wealth said they had no change and promised to come back. They didn't return. On the other hand the men, few of whom reflected prosperity, kicked in with quarters, half dollars and one genial old fellow stuffed a dollar bill through the slot in the tin box and appeared to enjoy doing it. "Women are generally stingy, if they weren't the families would be bankrupt" was the answer both mothers gave, while both fathers seeing an argument in the wind that they could not possibly win, just grinned and offered no comment.—McG.

THE WRONG HOUSE.

An inebriated Indian gave police fine cooperation on Saturday afternoon. The police had been notified the Indian was making a nuisance of himself in a George Street store and Police Sergeant Jack Thompson and Constable McGillen went in search of him. They were unable to find him, but in the meantime the inebriate wanting to get to Water Street walked into the police garage and on through the station into the guard room. "Where is the door leading to the street' he queried as he tertered back and forth on his toes. "You will see it in seven days" answered Sgt. Thompson as he came through the back door just as the Indian finished the question. Besides being "well lit" the man had another unopened bottle of wine in his coat pocket. He was detained.

Boy Fractures Arm On Market

Four accidents were reported over the week-end in the city and district but the only casualty was a ten-year-old boy named Stevens, and son of Fred Stevens on the River Road who suffereed a fractured right arm, when he fell from his bicycle on the market square. The boy thought he was about to be struck by a car turning into the market, and driven by Fred Wilson of Springville, so jumped off his bicycle and in so doing fell to the hard ground. The car stopped before it reached him.

A short distance beyond Bewdley, a car driven by Helen Bennelle of Cobourg, who has a beginner's license slipped over a culvert into a ten foot ditch with slight damage to the car, but the occupants escaped injury. Ronald Bennett of Cobourg was a passenger. In the maze of curves about a mile southwest of Bewdley a car driven by William Ledger of Bowmanville left the road and turned on its side. The car was extensively damaged. Ledger claims he was crowded off the road by an oncoming car. Provincial Constable Lloyd McClure investigated.

A car containing four people left the highway at Marmora and rolled over twice but none of the occupants were injured according to Provincial Constable Hatch.

Kiwanis Convention Opens In Kingston

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 19 (C.P.).—With some 300 delegates in attendance the 20th annual Ontario-Quebec-Maritimes District convention of the Kiwanis Club opened here to-day.

Mayor H. A. Stewart, himself a past president of the Kingston Club, extended a welcome to the visiting Kiwanians as did also President J. K. Fraser of the local club. Reply was made by Kiwanian Joe Hearn, Past Lieutenant-Governor of Toronto.

International President H. Glenn Hatfield of Oklahoma was presented to the convention by W. R. Alley, honorary secretary of the district.

Various reports were being made during the morning, including a report on the Bowmanville Training School by Past International Vice-President W. R. Cockburn of Toronto; the Governor's report by Ivan Moore of Lindsay; and the District Committee on the convention program by Eddie Logan of Belleville.

At noon the Kiwanians held a joint fellowship banquet, at which the speaker was to be Hon. Norman Rogers, Dominion Minister of Labor.

Sessions of the district convention on Tuesday will include presentation of amendment to constitution, nomination and election of officers, and a joint banquet in the evening when International President Hatfield will speak.

Man Is Given 3 Months On Drunk Count

Convicted as a third offender under the Liquor Control Act before Magistrate Langley, K.C., in police court this morning of having been drunk on Chambers street on August 3, Charles Giess was sentenced to three months in jail.

He was convicted on the evidence of Constable John Naples and Sergeant John Thompson, both of whom swore that the accused was drunk on the night he was arrested on Chambers street.

Giess conducted his own defence and his method of cross-examination was ruled out by the magistrate who ordered him to ask questions and not make assertions.

When the crown evidence was completed Magistrate Langley asked the accused if he wanted to give evidence.

"I will if you want me to," Giess replied.

"I have no wish in the matter," the magistrate said. "I am simply telling you that you have the right to offer evidence if you so desire."

Giess then went into the witness box and stated that he had been no more drunk on the night of August 3 than he was in court at that moment.

Previous Convictions

However on the evidence Magistrate Langley found the accused guilty and Giess admitted two previous convictions, one of drunkenness and one of illegal selling. He tried to argue that these were entirely different offences but the court pointed out that all offences under the Liquor Control Act were the same so far as second and third offence charges were concerned.

"You are setting me back terribly," remarked Giess.

"I am not setting you back; it is the Liquor Control Act that does that," said the magistrate.

"You take the word of two policemen against mine," returned the accused, "O.K., then."

"You have been convicted on evidence that was thoroughly satisfactory to me," said Magistrate Langley.

"It wasn't satisfactory to me," interjected the accused who asked that sentence should be deferred.

Magistrate Langley, remarking that that would be impossible, then sentenced Giess to three months.

More Have Paid Tax Installments

Will Furnish Dream House For Inspection

It won't be long now until someone's air castle will take concrete form, until some lucky individual will become the happy owner of the Kiwanis Dream House, as picturesque and livable a home as anyone could wish. Simple in design and plan, it is well-proportioned, and built with the average family in mind.

One outstanding feature of this spic and span little house is its well designed windows—windows planned in a way that will absorb every bit of healthy sunshine and air throughout the entire year.

The manufacturers have certainly "gone to town" in providing materials, equipment, and planning a layout that has beauty, variety, and down-to-earth utility.

Modern in Every Detail

Gleaming satin-finished hardwood floors are laid in the living room, dinette and bedrooms. The bathroom and kitchen are modern in every detail, a necessary concession to present-day comfort and convenience.

With its hot air heating, modern wiring, comfortable living room fireplace, neatly plastered walls, etc., this five-roomed house, which has space for an additional two rooms in the attic, would thrill any home lover to investigate and send anyone into a frenzy of joy to own!

This is open-house week at the Dream Home, and it is completely and delightfully furnished from stem to stern for your inspection with the latest word in modern furnishings.

Kitchen Fitted Out

The kitchen is fitted with a C.G.E. range and a fine, roomy Frigidaire from Watson's Tire and Radio Supply Company, who have also installed a radio, the dinette is furnished with a six-piece burled walnut set from McBride and Franks; T. J. Cavanagh has on display a Connor Washer and Philco Radio; paint for the entire home, inside and out comes from Chown's Hardware store; the C.D.S. store furnished the front bedroom, and pictures from The Roy Studio, including some beautiful child photography in color, and a very lovely water color by Mr. George Chavignaud which hangs over the mantel, and is entitled "In the Laurentians," are highlights in the personality and charm of this "Dream Home."

The Kiwanis Dream House

This is the house Kiwanians had so much fun and headaches building on Prince Street, and which will be owned soon by some lucky ticket holder. The draw is slated for the closing day of the Kiwanis Karnival at the end of the month. Workmen are going at top speed these days in a last rush to finish the job. The day the house opens for inspection has had to be changed from tonight until Wednesday, because not all work is yet completed. (Examiner Staff Photo.)

New High Standard In Refrigerators

General Electric Triple-Thrift Refrigerators for 1938 feature several advantages, such as a stainless-steel super-freezer — an exclusive G-E feature; one-button control with twelve freezing speeds; sliding shelves; a vegetable drawer for keeping "greenstuffs" garden-fresh; a quick tray with the triple advantage of forming ice cubes speedily, facilitating easy cube removal, and economizing on ice conservation; combined with many other features with an eye to economy and convenience. These advancements, it is asserted, mark a new high standard of efficiency in the G-E line of refrigerators.

The "Triple-Thrift" feature of 1938 models is the saving on food bills, on upkeep and on electric current, it is explained.

The General Electric super-freezer is the same all the way through and, therefore, impervious to chipping, tarnishing or corroding, making it sanitary and able to be quickly and easily cleaned. Coated surfaces of any kind wear or chip down to the base metal, it is pointed out. The refrigerant that provides freezing, engineers explain, flows around the chamber, giving colder and faster freezing. A large chiller tray directly beneath the super-freezer provides extra cold storage. The turning of a single knob is all that is required in defrosting the super-freezer, but refrigeration in the storage compartment is uninterrupted for the safe-keeping of foods. The control has twelve separate speeds for fast or slow freezing.

Snows Blooming

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Sept. 19—(CP)—It's blossom time again on A. S. Rogers' fruit farm at Sparta Ridge. Several dozen snow apple trees have been in bloom for the last two weeks and small fruit has already formed on some. The trees offer a striking contrast as they are loaded with ripening fruit also.

Drunk Helps Out

KIRKLAND LAKE, Ont., Sept. 19—(CP)—Police here discovered there are times when drunks can be useful. An assault case involving two Finnish-speaking people came up in police court and no interpreter could be found. Finally a man picked from the prisoner's row acted. He said after court even the interpreter's fee wouldn't help make up his fine of $10 and costs on the drunk charge.

With The Boy Scouts

Every wolf cub will be sorry to learn that Cub Jimmy Head of the St. Andrew's pack is sick and will not be able to attend the pack meetings for some time. We all join in wishing him a speedy recovery to good health.

Jimmy was about the only boy absent from the pack meeting on Thursday night, when a splendid program was put over.

District Cubmaster Gordon Clegg and A.R.L. Jack Collis paid the pack a visit. All the cubs are asked to be sure and attend next week when Raymond Wall will be invested into the great brotherhood. So let us make up our minds to be in the parade circle and give him a welcoming hand.

Attention, Rover Council.

Owing to the local association meeting on Wednesday, the Rover Council meeting will be postponed until further arrangements have been made.

Friday at All Saints' cub pack we found nearly 100 per cent. attendance. After inspection Bagheera led in that old game of British Bulldog, followed by Rann leading the old established "Kelly Says." Some cubs still have tickets out and must return same by next Friday at the latest.

There were several visitors at the pack meeting, among whom were the Rev. Canon J. D. Paterson, Captain Robertson, Akela Pete Dominick, and R.S. Fred Simmons. Captain Robertson, who has recently arrived home from Japan, entertained the pack in a very descriptive talk on the boys of Japan.

Local Boy Scout Association executive will be held on Wednesday next, September 21 at the association headquarters. There will be Apple Day to discuss, and several things of note. Your attendance will be appreciated.

At St. John's cub pack the sixes were rearranged, and the total roll brought down to 36 boys.

The pack will hold its paper collection next Saturday, September 24. Two tons have been set as objective. If you have any papers, please phone Frank Pammett at 3606-W. Mothers, please take notice.—The St. John's scout group mother's auxiliary will hold its regular meeting on Friday next, September 23 at 8.15 p.m. in the Parish Hall. All rover scouts and cub mothers are asked to do their best to attend. There will be a nomination of officers.

Scout Harry Edwards of Petrolia, Ont., was credited this summer with saving three younger boys in two days. When the smaller lads got into difficulties in a pond "swimming hole." Two overturned a raft and the third waded beyond his depth.

Do you know that not one scout troop report was received this week Are the troops asleep or just indifferent to the use of this column. The cubs always come out on top.—The Skipper.

Five-Roomed Model Home Prize Offered By Kiwanis Club At Yearly Festival For Funds

A dream that has come true is the Kiwanis Dream House on Prince street, which will be opened for inspection this week as soon as work has been completed. The lucky ticket holder who wins this house will have a home of which he may be justly proud all his life.

A five-roomed home—each room of generous proportions—the house has an appearance of well-being, is really qualified to be what it started out to be, a model home. The second floor is unfinished and the winner can spend his hours fashioning into playrooms or bedrooms as he wishes. Cost of the house to Kiwanians was about $3,200, it was stated.

Hundreds of Peterborough residents have paused at the home with wistful air since it has near completion. Not one but would be happy beyond words to own it. It is located in a good neighborhood, one that is rapidly growing up. There are at least half a dozen homes in the process of erection on Prince street.

Inlaid in Marble

The house will have front and back lawns of good size, a cement walk and stoop at the front. The entrance hall is inlaid with marble, offers an attractive approach. The entire house is floored with highly polished hardwood, is now glittering in expectation of the thousands who will visit it before the draw is made.

Its steep roof is shingled green as are the two gables that give the home a characteristic appearance. It has an almost colonial effect, looks cosy. Of red brick with woodwork finished in green and white, it offers a spick and span appearance.

The entrance is laid with marble and set with mirrors and leads to a large living room with modern fireplace of brick. This is perhaps the best room in the house, is large enough to accommodate many a guest. Its hardwood floors are a masterpiece. The dining room and kitchen are combined, have everything close at hand, designed to save some housewife running about from one to another room. There is a bathroom and two bedrooms downstairs, a stairs leading to the upper, unfinished half.

Started from Picture

The Dream House came not from an architect's blueprint, but from the hands of half a dozen Kiwanians. It started out first as a picture in a magazine, changed form several times, finally evolved as it now stands. Every Kiwanian has had something to say about it, has watched its growth almost with fine concern of a parent over his child.

General contractor for the house was V. W. Lancaster and Kiwanians are unanimous in praise of his work. Plumbing was done by Fred Goodfellow, is complete and up-to-date standard equipment. Tinsmithing was done by Graham and Wells, who also installed the furnace. One of the largest sub-contracts was the painting, done by A. J. Smith. The painting is certainly a first-class job, adds much to the home's appearance. W. Gordon Hall installed electricity throughout. Plastering came under R. J. Wolstenholm.

H. R. Scott, Limited, provided the smooth hardwood floors throughout the house and all the brick used in construction. All hardware used in building the home was supplied by the Peterborough Lock Manfucturing Company.

The brick-laying, generally conceded to be an outstanding example, was under contract by George Cuff and Sons, and Fred Rowen, in roofing the home, has done a magnificent job. Concrete work was done by M. Sickler.

China's foreign trade is 30 per cent. lower than last year.

PETERBOROUGH CRICKET CLUB DEFEATS THE TOC H. BY 93 TO 22

Six Wickets Are Taken For Only Five Runs

In the last scheduled home cricket match of the season at the Oval on Saturday, the local cricketers scored a fine win over Toc H by 93 to 22, reversing the result of a match played in Toronto on July 23 which Toc H won by 61 to 45.

The game on Saturday was featured by fine all-round play by J. Lawrence. He took 6 Toc H wickets at a cost of only 5 runs, and on batting scored 45 runs, the highest individual score for the club this season. His chief and only helpers were Rev. G. F. Kelly 26, J. Bell 14, and Frank Dyer who took the other four wickets for 15 runs.

Toc H batted first and were helpless against the fine club bowling, the nature of which is shown in the analysis and the bowlers were supported by much improved fielding.

The local men made a bad start with the bat losing two wickets for 4 but at that stage, Lawrence, who had gone in first, was joined by Kelly. The pair put up a fine exhibition of batting and after half-an-hour Lawrence made the winning hit. Both batsmen hit freely until the total realized 67 then Kelly was out for an invaluable 26. On J. H. Bell coming in the quick scoring continued until at 88 Bell was bowled for 14. At the same total Lawrence was run out when a long throw-in made a direct hit. The rest of the team failed completely and with the score standing at 88 for 4, the whole six were out for 93. The score shows that Lawrence, Kelly and Bell contributed 85 out of 89 runs scored by the bat.

Next Saturday the club is scheduled to play Oshawa in Oshawa.

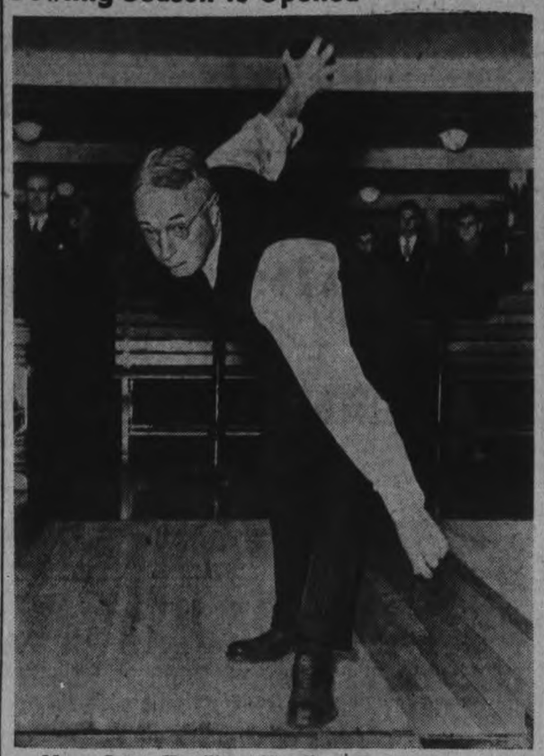
Bowling Season Is Opened



Mayor James Hamilton officially opened the long indoor bowling season Saturday evening in the Duffus' Alleys. Heavy schedules are being planned now and leagues rapidly organizing, with the sound of clattering pins and shaky alibis being heard nightly as Peterborough's huge army of trundlers mobilize and march into action. The Mayor is shown ABOVE training his eye on the "pay pin" and preparing to send the first ball bouncing down the alley.

Grads Win First Of Series Lacing Canton

EDMONTON, Sept. 19—(CP).—Edmonton Grads, the women's basketball team J. Percy Page organized at McDougall Commercial College here in 1914, opened defence of the Underwood Trophy—the international cup they have held since 1923—with a 75-25 victory over Canton Engravers Saturday night. Second game of the best-of-five-series will be played tonight.

Grads swept through the Ohio challengers almost at will. They clicked on 34 of 87 shots fired and only guard Babe Daniels failed to score.

Leading the assault was tall Noel McDonald, who whipped in 11 field goals.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB. MARTIN

The other evening, while walking along Charlotte street, we ran into one of our local lawn bowlers. Not being in a hurry and having nothing to do till the evening papers arrived, we stopped and had quite a chat. During our conversation we asked our friend: "Well, what kind of a season did you have bowling, this summer?" Without going into details, he gave us a real earful. He told us how he had little or no fun at all; blamed his skip, blamed all the officers, blamed the committees, gave your truly a panning, the lights were terrible, the greens bad, no socialibility, no nothing; sick of it all. Never again for him.

A little later in the evening we met another bowling fan, and knowing that we couldn't get a worse reception than we got a few moments ago, we asked him the same question. "Say, Pepper, I never had a better summer's sport in all my life. I only wish I had joined the club long before I did. Such wonderful surroundings; good, clean and honest sport, real sportsmanship, real fellows, real competitions. I am sorry that the season is so nearly over."

So there you have it. Both these chaps belonged to the same club, paid the same fees, played on the same rink, and on the same greens, enjoyed the same privileges and yet their opinions are so different. The whole thing puts us in mind of a poem we read entitled, "The Two Returned Tourist." When they came home they were asked what they saw.

The one with yawning made reply:

"What have we seen? Not much, have I!
Trees, meadows, mountains, groves and streams,
Blue sky and cloud, and sunny gleams."

The other, smiling, said the same; but with face transfigured and eye of flame:

"Trees, meadows, mountains, groves and streams,
Blue sky and clouds, and sunny gleams!"

Donkey Baseball Shakes Up Wreckers

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, Sept. 19.—First softball match, in Havelock's sporting history, to be played at night under floodlight, took place on Friday evening at the park. Over five hundred fans assembled to witness the laugh-provoking "donkey baseball" game sponsored by the Havelock "Wreckers" Junior "B" O.A.S.A. champs in their drive to defray expenses incurred during the championship series. Over $94 was taken in at the gate.

Although Norwood, the team scheduled to meet Havelock failed to turn up for the game, a pick-up team provided plenty of entertainment for the crowd of spectators. Chief source of amusement was the ability of "Satin", a jet black donkey to toss riders onto the diamond, whenever they tried to mount him.

With the exception of the pitcher and catcher all the players in the field had to play their position on a donkey. It took plenty of pushing and pulling however to make those stubborn creatures do their bidding.

The teams were composed as follows:

Team No. 1—Ketchen, c; Jamieson, p; R. McCutcheon, 1b; S. McCutcheon, 2b; B. Jones, ss; J. Rogers, 3b; J. Bannon, lf; C. Kennedy, cf; T. Wannamaker, rf.

Team No. 2—W. Cartwright, c; M. McMullen, p; B. Copp, 1b; J. Hagerman, 2b; K. Pollock, ss; J. Peters, 3b; G. Seeney, lf; H. Hamilton, cf; J. Green, rf.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

HELLO, FOLKS, we're back in harness again. Or, at least, double harness! No more vacation for 11 month, one week and six days, by golly. Since signing up with the Benedicts Union, Local 142 (yeah, one for two), we have added 16 grey hairs and an extra furrow in the forehead. But if it isn't one thing it's the same thing, and 50 million Frenchies can't be wrong—or can they? So now we've not only gotta worry about the Petes in O.B.A. playdowns, the Orfuns and P.C.I. in grid warfare and the poor puck prospects, but we must check up on the price of coal and ladies' headgear. Alas. Enough to make any young gee stooped, or stupid, or something.

• • • • • •

NOTHING SERVED to make the vacash enjoyable so much as the victory of Eddie Murphy's men over Oshawa. The twice-C.O.B.L. champs, who copped an Ontario crown too, were a cocky crew and our lads looked to have an inferiority complex. However, when the chips were down, the Petes' bludgeons, aided some by Paw Time's scythe, clipped the GM-men in rather easy fashion. Took 'em four games out of five. Yep, though Oshawa got credit for another win, which the Petes protested and got a bad deal on. It tickled us a deep shade of pink, like a bridegroom's blush.

• • • • • •

There Aint No Justice

LITTLE seems to have been said about that defeated protest—the local ossifers being pleased at winning the title and being willing to drop the $25. They were afraid something might go screwy but went ahead with the protest at the insistence of the players, and at least had the satisfaction that they were in the right and made a fight of it. There is nothing small about the Petes' executive this year. Disregarding the rule on the play, the meeting voted against Peterborough—and we'd suggest next year having a neutral protest committee from outside the C.O.B.L., or else discard the rule book entirely and depend upon the "umpire's judgment." That is, if there should be a C.O.B.L. next summer. Umpire Colling admitted at the meeting that it might have been interpreted as an interference play, but Umpire Kinkley claimed Clark (who was leaning down to field the ball when hit) charged Bennett! Come, come, Kink, don't do that!

LET US MITT the Southend Softball Loop players and officers for a fine season. There were eight teams in with about 125 players having over 60 good games. They drew well at the Brinton Field and already have more applications for entry in 1939 than they can handle! This loop has been running eight years. Maple Leafs copping the title this season, and it ended up on the right side of the ledger in '38 with $46. Previous winners were Orioles, Nationals, Lock Works, Canucks, All Saints, Maple Leafs, Cogs and DeLaval. The good Keene team, now in O.S.A. playdowns, was a member this year. Much credit for the circuit's success this past summer should go to Prexy Bill Prindible and Secretary Jack Copping.

Hey, Give a Look!

PRIZES for the Orfuns' grid draw are announced by Ches Mowry, than which there is no whicher when it comes to running a raffle right. The first is a Johnson motor worth $155, then a $30-rug, a mix-master for $29.50, golf clubs worth $20, tea set at $15, $10 worth of shrubs, $9-table lamp, bride lamp at $8, half ton of coal, Big Ben alarm clock and some towels. Ducats are selling fast, they tell us, and no wonder. Tickets are 15 cents, two for two bits or 10 for a buck, and may be had from officers and players, or at the Empress, Playmor Sports, Ed Riley's, Lou Brooks, Jay's Cigar Store and Hollywood Inn. Proceeds go toward the heavy expenses of the local senior football outfit. Draw will be made at the first home game.

JOE BEGLEY and Emmett Creighton, of the 1937 Orfuns, played for Cobourg on Sat'day as the Speedy Spirits held our seniors to a 6-3 score. A late touchdown and convert by Loucks gave Peterborough the narrow nod after Meikle had done some great punting to keep the Orfuns well down the field. Both Meikle and Loucks turned in a whale of an effort, and our line looked strong defensively. Orfuns failed to impress on the attack but may improve a lot yet. They carried a bunch of good subs along but used them chiefly to anchor the bench, and such players as McNulty, Doll, Kearns and Murphy weren't in the tilt at all. Crowe isn't right for booting yet after a leg injury. The Cobourgites, who put the clutch on the intermediate "B" flag last semester, will be tougher to take than a slash in pay in intermediate "A" ranks this coming campaign.

Atop The Water Wagon

LOOKING over Senior O.R.F.U. exhibition results of Saturday from the vantage point of the top seat on the water wagon—well, nearly, anyway—we see where Balmy Beach trounced the strong Dundas team by a 16-4 score to show their power, though they lost Herbie Moores for several weeks with back injuries. And Montreal Nationals got the lemon flavor of a 13-5 count at the hands of Ottawa Rough Riders, so maybe the Nats and Orfuns will pair up like a dancing team as they waltz their rather even way through the hard senior schedule this autumn. We hope. Sarnia Imps are having heavy drills now and we mean heavy—some folks around here having the mistaken idea that it was thunder they heard rumbling last week-end from the west. Nope, it was Orm Beach hitting the rival line in scrimmage practice, mes hearties!

BRIGHT'S BALL TEAM of Toronto took a 4-1 win over Danforth Aces on Sat'day to put the T.A.B.A. long-robin serial back again. We recall two years ago when the O.B.A. got tough with the C.O.B.L. and said in future this loop had to declare a winner when told or drop out. Well, why isn't Toronto thrown out now? The gee who has been clipping our thrusts this summer and mailing 'em to Sec. Snyder might do ditto with this query. However, the Petes have been ordered to play Niagara Falls this week, clashing in the Falls at five, daylight saving time, Wednesday and back here Saturday. We'd call it semi-finals, only Creighton Cubs rubbed out the Canadian Corps vets the other day, and may enter Ontario finals when the Windsor-Toronto series is over. Petes will leave by motor Wednesday about nine a.m. for the Big Roar town. Owing to the long trip and the O.B.A. cut on gates now, prices here Sat'day will be boosted to half a buck, grandstand free.

Mrs. Collett Vare After Golf Title

CHICAGO, Sept. 19 (A.P.).— Six times winner of the title and one of the greatest stars the game ever has produced, Mrs. Glenna Collett Vare bid for another United States women's golf championship to-day—in the role of a dark horse.

As more than 100 stars including two Canadian women, swung out over the rolling terrain of Westmoreland Country Club for the 18-hole qualifying test, Mrs. Vare was not bracketed as one of the favorites, despite the fact she won the title as recently as 1935. The two players she has to beat in the opinion of a majority of entries are defending champion Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page and the 1937 runner-up, Patty Berg of Minneapolis.

The Canadian challenge is being carried by Miss Kaye Farrell of Vancouver and Mrs. Eric Phillips of Toronto.

There were those who rated Mrs. Vare a bright chance of again capturing the laurels she first won as a girl of 19 in 1922. While she has played comparatively little golf this summer she was "on" her game in a practice round yesterday. She feels, however, that her own chances of emerging with the title next Saturday are decidedly in the longshot class.

C.G.E. Defeats C.C.F. Team In League Game

A peculiar goal scored by McPhate for the Canadian General gave them two valuable league points against the C.C.F. on Saturday afternoon on King Edward Park before a small attendance. The final score was 6 to 5.

Both teams were short-handed when they started, but the Politicians only needed one man to complete their quota. Right from the kick-off, the C.G.E. made inroads upon their opponents' goal to miss glorious openings. O'Halloran arrived to complete the C.C.F. and his presence resulted in Jobe opening the scoring. Then McMaster led a steady attack upon the full backs to find his progress blocked. A break away by Jones on the extreme right terminated in Jobe rattling another into the rigging. A little later, McMaster picked the inside of the upright to reduce the lead. Ten minutes later Jobe connected a left wing cross with a first timer that bulged the net behind the custodian. Exchanges continued even for a while until an opening was made by Mitchell when he sent the left winger down into the corner. Harris sent a lightning drive into goal where Curtis saved, but not enough to prevent a rebound shot by Harris. Half-time—C.G.E. 3, C.C.F. 2.

Goals Aplenty.

On resuming, the C.G.E. re-organized their team of nine men and consolidated themselves to keep the C.C.F. attack outside the goal area where they awaited the break. It finally arrived when McPhate travelled down the wing and centered across to his pivot, who put the game on an even basis again. He followed this up with another counter that gave the custodian no chance to save. C.C.F. rallied to set a constant pressure upon the C.G.E. goal to finally concede defeat when Smelt drove home a penalty shot to make it read 5 to 4. Not satisfied with his previous effort Smelt dribbled his way through his opposition to make the game 5-5. With the setback facing them, the Electrics made an attempt to take the lead, but they were only successful after McPhate had wormed his way towards goal and sent an overhead drop shot into goal. Canadian General 6. C.C.F. 5.

Canadian General — W. Harris, goal; Stan Murduff and W. McKenzie, full backs; Earl and McPhate, halves; H. Keith, A. Mitchell, B. McMaster, and J. Goodhue, forwards.

C.C.F. — W. Curtis, goal; W. Denisin and A. O'Halloran, full backs; H. Clapham, J. Mayette, and E. Denisin, halves; S. Jones, E. Jobe, M. Lang, R. Smelt, and F. Mayette, forwards.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19—(AP)—Nomination for the baseball hall of fame: Buck Newsom, who has won 18 games for St. Louis Browns . . . The Yanks should give Jupiter Pluvius an assist for raining out the Red Sox yesterday—it clinched the pennant for the Ruppert Rifles.

Oshawa Wins First Game Junior Finals

OSHAWA, Sept. 19.—Walt Fair's Oshawa juniors atoned with base hits for their fielding errors at Alexandra Park Saturday afternoon when they defeated Niagara Falls juniors, 7-6, in the first game of the O.B.A. junior finals. The game went to 11 innings before the locals finally won after having twice thrown away two-run leads as the result of their indifferent defensive display. Ralph "Highpockets" McCabe went the route for Oshawa and effectively scattered seven hits, while his teammates combed the offerings of three Falls' hurlers for 12 bingles. McCabe struck out 11 and walked two, and with better fielding support would have won the game in regulation time. Nick Marynck was the hero of the contest, his 11th-inning smash to right field driving his brother Joe across the plate with the winning run. Despite the numerous miscues the game was a thriller throughout, with high-class junior twirling and the odd brilliant play more than making up for the lapses. The second game of the series will be played in Niagara Falls next Saturday.

ORFUNS GRAB CLOSE WIN OVER COBOURG IN EXHIBITION TILT

Lengthy Punts By Meikle Hold Locals

The Peterborough senior O.R.F.U. entry, getting together for the first time as a team, managed to beat the Cobourg intermediate squad in an exhibition game in Cobourg Saturday but it was a close fit, the Petes finally winning 6 to 3 by scoring a converted touchdown in the last few minutes after having been held scoreless over most of the route.

The educated toe of Meikle, Cobourg's powerful young kicking half was the factor that held the Irwin team at bay until the closing stages, and it might have won for the intermediate squad had they been content to take single points when they were to be had, instead of gambling for placements. As it was, Meikle kicked a single in each of the first three periods and Cobourg held that lead until the fourth session was nearly over when the Petes finally got rolling and barged over for the major score that won the game.

Meikle, kicking better than ever, got distance and height to his punts and they continually drove the Petes back, especially as Curly Krug had difficulty in handling them and did some costly fumbling. Neither team had any consistent success in plays from scrimmage, until the Petes began shaking Loucks loose on extensions late in the game, and it was Meikle's consistent good kicking that gave Cobourg the edge over the greater part of the distance.

Good Defensively

Defensively the Peterborough line gave a good account of itself and Cobourg had little luck either going through or around. Harry Marsh, Hendrie and Irwin smothered thrusts at the line effectively and Leo Deadey and Hendren contributed a lot of nice tackling to the defensive side of the Petes play. Offensively the chief strength of the ultimate winners was in the speed of Ford Loucks for it was his gallops around Cobourg's left end in the last period that carried the play into the losers' territory and fittingly enough, in view of his fine performance, it was Loucks who knifed through for the Petes' touchdown and who kicked the converting goal from placement.

Cobourg, who won the intermediate "B" championship last year and are pointing for the "A" honors during the coming campaign, trotted out a strong squad. Meikle's kicking was the outstanding element in the team's strength but the punting ace got plenty of support from his teammates, especially from Jones who did some great downfield tackling, Newton, former Upper Canada player, who carried the ball nicely and Schrumm who under Chuck Peck's tutoring has developed into a most useful secondary defense man.

Peterborough kicked off but play soon shifted to the Petes end of the field when Meikle uncorked a huge punt that travelled better than 60 yards. Petes failed to gain on line plays and were forced to kick and Cobourg got a break when Loucks' punt went off the side of his foot into touch, giving the Red team the ball. Edwards made yards for Cobourg and then Meikle boomed a long one into touch-in-goal for a single. Cobourg continued to press for the balance of the period but lost a good chance on a bad snap when they were in scoring range.

Meikle Kicks Another

In the second period play was for the most part between the quarter-line stripes, the Petes showing a little more punch to their attack but still not enough drive to make up for Meikle's long kicks, and finally the Cobourg ace got a chance to hoof another long one over the Petes' line and Crowe was rouged. Just before the half the senior squad got moving better and gained yards twice on a line smash by Irwin and an end run by Loucks.

Early in the third session, however, the Petes were back on the defensive again when Krug dropped the ball on a plunge near his own line and Cobourg recovered. The Red team tried a placement that went astray and the Petes got out of danger for the time being but Cobourg came back on another long boot from Meikle and the latter then kicked over the goal line to Krug who tossed it over the dead line to give the intermediates their single point.

It was not until the fourth period was well under way that the Petes attack really began to click and it was a couple of long dashes round the end by Loucks on passes from Krug that carried the play deep into paydirt territory. There, however, with only 10 yards to go the Petes lost the ball on downs and their big moment seemed to be over when Flack charged Meikle after the Cobourg punter had got his kick away from behind the line and drew a penalty for himself and a yardage ruling against his club. However a long forward pass from Irwin to Johnny Shields changed the complexion of the game again and this time the Petes went through with it. Loucks went round the end for another nice gain, Krug and Irwin tore through the line to carry the ball still nearer the goal line and finally the Petes opened a hole through which Loucks ghosted through for a touch down from six yards out. He converted from placement to make the final score 6 to 3.

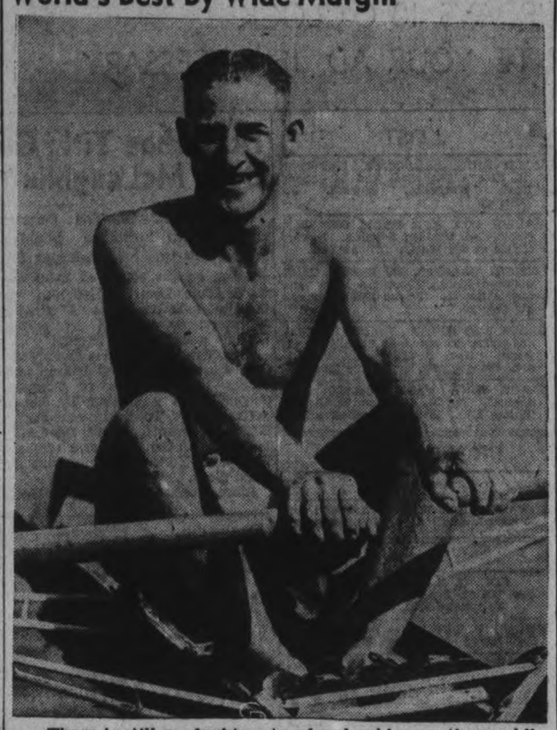
The teams:

Cobourg—Flying wing, Cooper; halves, Newton, Edwards, Meikle; quarter, Lucas; snap, Young; inside wings, Brown, Schrumm; middles, Pratt, Begley; outsides, Jacobs and Jones; alternates, Gray, McIlveen, Haynes, Arbour, Benson, E. Creighton, Johnston, Bulger, Henderson, Clark.

Peterboro—Flying wing, Marsh; halves, Krug, Loucks, Shields, quarter, Leether; snap, Hendrie; inside wings, Irwin, Prete; middles, Winslow, Flack; outsides, L. Deadey, Hendren; alternates, Grose, McIntyre, E. Spenceley, Curtin, Csumrik, Grozelle, Magee, Mitchell, Lambert, J. Deadey, Williams, Pryde, Flint, J. Creighton, Crowe, Ciardino.

Referee, T. H. McClelland, Cobourg; umpire, J. Kirkwood, Peterborough.

World's Best By Wide Margin



There is still no doubt as to who should wear the world's professional sculling crown. Since he won the title four years ago, Bob Pearce, ABOVE, of Australia, has defeated what meagre opposition could be secured with consummate ease. This year a fellow-Australian, Evans Paddon, journeyed to the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto in an effort to lift the crown, only to be defeated in consecutive races at one-quarter mile, one mile and three miles, each time by an increasing margin.

Bisons Put Chiefs Out By 4th Win As Newark Bears Wobble Splitting Pair With Rochester

(By The Canadian Press.)

Buffalo Bisons took it easy today, waiting for Newark Bears and Rochester Red Wings to finish their semi-final scrap and decide which one of them will meet the Bisons in the final playoffs of the International Baseball League for the Governor's Cup, a purse of $4,000 and the spot in the Little World Series against the American Association playoff winner.

The Bisons made sure of their place in the final yesterday when they whipped Syracuse Chiefs 5-3 for their fourth win in the best-of-seven semi-final round. It took the fourth-place Bisons only four games to knock the second-place Chiefs out. Buffalo won 3-2 last Tuesday, 4-1 Friday, and 6-5 Saturday night.

Meantime the champion Newark Bears wobbled into the thick of the playoff scrap with a 5-1 win over Rochester on Saturday night, only to wobble right back where they were by losing 5-3 Sunday.

Leading three games to one, the third-place Red Wings meet the Bears, league champions, by an 18-game margin, again to-night. The Wings won 3-2 Tuesday and 2-1 Friday night.

The Bears dropped yesterday's decision to the combined eight-hit pitching of Nubs Kleinke and Si Johnson, the former St. Louis Cardinal pitcher.

Johnson, coming to Kleinke's assistance in the sixth inning, turned in a three-hit relief performance to protect the lead the Wings built up against the five Newark pitchers who faced them.

Russo Is Chased.

The Wings' basehit barrage represented their first real display of batting punch since the series began. They chased Marius Russo to the showers in the first inning, combing the left-hander for four hits and a pair of runs to give Kleinke, who got credit for the win, a working margin. Nubs held the Grizzlies through the fourth while his mates clipped Lee Stine, Russo's successor, for a pair of doubles, netting another run in the fourth. They got their fourth tally in the fifth, and their final run in the sixth.

Ken Ash received credit for the Bison victory, holding the Chiefs in check through the first eight innings before Fabian Kowalik was called to the Buffalo mound to halt a Syracuse threat in the ninth after Jack Mack had homered.

In the early innings, the Bisons reeled off three double plays to tide Ash over several dangerous spots. George Savino, Buffalo catcher, put the game on ice for the Bisons when he singled to score two team mates in the eighth. It was his third hit of the game.

Buffalo and the winner of the Rochester-Newark duel will engage in another best-of-seven series as soon as the second finalist is decided.

Tennis Semi-Finals Plagued By Showers

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Sept. 19—(AP).—A drizzling autumn rain continues to plague the United States tennis championships, now already three days in arrears, but nobody is getting hurt because all the seats for the semi-finals and finals have been sold for several days. If the sun should shine today the matches will go on.

Three semi-final tussles remain to be decided. Nancye Wynne, the willowy Australian girl reached the last round of the women's division. Her opponent for the title will be settled today if Alice Marble and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan manage to get in the requisite number of licks between showers. Miss Marble still is the favorite, despite.

Gene Mako plays Jack Bromwick of Australia in the first of the men's semis, with Don Budge and Sidney Wood, Jr., contesting the other.

Shanghai, China, will have a new telephone company with branches in Tokyo.

Brewers Are Out To Finish St. Paul

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 19—(AP).—Balked by rain for two days, Milwaukee's Brewer's sought again today to win their fourth and clinching game against St. Paul in the American Association's Shaughnessy playoff semi-finals.

Whitlow Wyatt, ace of the Brewer pitching staff who blanked the league champions 2-0 in the series opener, remained manager Al Sothoron's choice. Art Herring was the Saints' nominee.

At Indianapolis, the Kansas City Blues were out to end their semi-final with the Indians after taking a 3-2 game edge yesterday by winning 6-3.

In Major League Ball News

JOHNNY ALLEN ...add to the sore arm list

RAY HAYWORTH ...a good catcher changes teams

Late season news from the major league fronts brings word of another sore arm and a few player shifts. Johnny Allen, erstwhile ace of Cleveland Indians' pitching staff, has been retired for the remainder of the season because of a chipped elbow bone. The temperamental twirler began the year by winning 12 of his first 13 starts, but since then has not been so good. Ray Hayworth, after 10 years with Detroit Tigers, mostly basking in the shadow of Mickey Cochrane or Rudy York, has been sold to Brooklyn Dodgers in the National League.

Takes Medal Honors

Gus Moreland, ABOVE, Peoria lithographer, won medal honors in the 36 hole qualifying round of the U. S. amateur golf championship, at Oakmont, near Pittsburgh, when he led home the field with a score of 146. Now all Gus has to do to cop the amateur crown is beat the rest of the field at match play.

Brintons Whip Deloro By 3-1 Score

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Sept. 19.—Following a period of inactivity, Deloro Football team were at home to Brintons on Saturday in a Peterborough and District League fixture and lost an exhilarating game by the score of 3-1.

Brintons kicked off defending the western goal. Exchanges for the first five minutes were even. Then Asa Downer, with a strong kick, sent the ball towards the Deloro goal. Gray, in attempting to clear, deflected the ball to Clark, who made good use of his opportunity to score.

Deloro were aggressive for the remainder of the first half, but were unfortunate as W. Hart was penalized for handing and N. Downer scored with the kick. What was apparently a goal was denied the homesters as Gray headed the ball from J. Hart's centre. As Jones headed out, Deloro protested that the ball had passed under the crossbar, but the protest went unheeded. The score at half time read:

Brintons, 2; Deloro, 0.

Deloro Shows Up Soft.

Play evened in the second half, Deloro players feeling a little stiffness due to lack of recent training. Repeated raids led by George Downer on the left wing were frustrated by good goalkeeping by O'Neill, while at the other end, the three B's and their partners on the forward line, each had a turn in aiming at goal, only to find Adams unbeatable.

Eventually, Richardson brought his team further ahead as he connected with a corner kick taken by George Downer. End to end play now ensued, N. O'Neill racing down the field, eluded Jones, to pass to Brooks for the latter to find the far corner of the net with a hot shot.

Deloro desperately tried to further reduce the lead but were not successful and the final whistle blew with the score: Brinton 3, Deloro 1.

Teams:

Brintons.—Goal, Adams; backs, Todd and Asa Downer; half backs, Art Downer, Castle and D. Leether; forwards, Newt Downer, Jones, Clark, T. Foster and G. Downer. Subs., Richardson, T. Foster, Jr., J. Downer, Jr

Deloro.—Goal, C. O'Neill; backs, Townson and W. Hart; half backs, Gray, Cousines and Sproul; forwards, N. O'Neill, Bradley, Brooks, Brown and J. Hart.

Yankees Lose Twin Bill To Browns To Clinch 3rd Straight Flag, Red Sox Aid By Being Rained Out

By Sid Feder
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

In the confusion, the Yankees found themselves in the world series.

The crack belonged to Dazzy Vance originally, but it is borrowed for the occasion because the Yankees clinched their third straight American Baseball League pennant yesterday by losing two games to St. Louis Browns, those lowly fellows who have an annual option on the cellar.

Every one know Col. Jake Ruppert's hired hands were going to do it over the week-end, give or take a day, but they might just as well have "stood in bed" while it was going on. The rain was the deciding factor. Boston's second place Red Sox had two games rained off their schedule in Chicago, and that made it mathematically impossible for any club to catch the Yankees.

Even if Gehrig and Company lose every one of its remaining 13 games, and the Red Sox should take all their 14, the Yanks would still finish on top this way :

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Yankees	94	59	.612
Red Sox	93	59	.612

They have power, these Yanks, with five regulars hitting more than 20 homers each so far this season, and the whole bunch, as a team, threatening the all-time of 182 homers for a season, set by the '36 Yankees. With Rookie Joe Gordon, the second base "find" of the past 10 years, speeding up the entire inner defence, they have an infield second to none. And they have the pitching, topped by big Rufus the Red Ruffing and his 21 victories and Lefty Gomez. No. 1 among baseball's money pitchers.

But that made no difference to the Brownies yesterday. The Brownies just beat them twice. Buck Newsom fanned 10 and allowed seven hits for a 4-3 opened win and Harlond Clift was a ball of fire in the 8-7 afterpiece with two homers, a triple, and six runs batted in.

This boosted the Brownies out of the League cellar, since the Athletics broke even in a twin bill in Cleveland. The Indians took the opener 7-3 and the A's climbed aboard Master Bobby Feller for a 14-3 nightcap edge.

In the National League, Pittsburgh Pirates boosted their lead to 3½ games by winning and tying against the Phillies. Russ Bauer's four-hit hurling and Paul Waner's ninth-inning single meant a 1-0 opener victory for the Bucs; then the Phils held on for a 1-1 stalemate before darkness halted the afterpiece in five innings.

Lefty Vito Tamulis and the Dodgers topped the second-place Chicago Cubs 4-1 in the Brooklyn opener, and the Dodgers came from behind for a 3-3 deadlock in the five-frame nightcap. Third place Cincinnati and fourth-place New York were rained out.

Detroit Tigers trampled Washington's Senators 8-1 in the only other game that escaped the day's downpour.

The Tigers beat Detroit 7-3 on Saturday and Chicago swept a double-header with Philadelphia Athletics 8-4 and 7-4. Cleveland set back Boston 5-4 and Washington took a double win from St. Louis Browns 10-9 and 11-1.

In the National League on Saturday Chicago Cubs defeated New York Giants 4-0 and 4-2 and Pittsburgh defeated Boston 2-1

Wings Play Hockey In Windsor Oct. 28

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 19 (C.P.). —Cleveland Barons of the International-American League and Detroit Red Wings of the National League will play an exhibition hockey game here on October 28, according to announcement by Manager Jack Adams of the Wings.

The Barons will do their training here and will report near the middle of October. Because of schedule changes it is unlikely that Detroit and their farm team, Pittsburgh Hornets of the International-American League, will train here as originally planned.

Red Wings and Hornets have arranged an exhibition game at London on October 22 and open their annual Detroit City series on October 23. First of the Detroit candidates will report to Adams on October 10.

Bronks Hammer Eskimos Down By 16-3

CALGARY, Sept. 19—(CP).—The Monday morning quarterbacks today noted rapid improvement of Edmonton Eskimos in their first year in the Western Interprovincial Rugby Football Union.

The winless Eskimos took another trimming Saturday but their 16-3 defeat at the hand of Carl Cronin's Calgary Bronks was marked by a gallant second-half stand far different from the second-half collapse Aug. 27 in their first game, an exhibition engagement, when they bowed 35-1 to Bronks. It was Calgary's first win in the union season. Both teams previously had lost to Winnipeg and Regina.

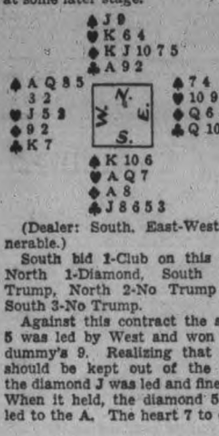
"The Authority on Authorities"

TOSSING A BIG ONE

IT TAKES a player with foresight to nonchalantly discard a nice big king (note the nonchalantly split infinitive) or play it on the declarer's ace when a small card is available. Yet that is the only efficacious defense against some contracts, which require your partner taking the lead, instead of yourself, at some later stage.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

South bid 1-Club on this deal, North 1-Diamond, South 1-No Trump, North 2-No Trump and South 3-No Trump.

Against this contract the spade 5 was led by West and won with dummy's 9. Realizing that East should be kept out of the lead, the diamond J was led and finessed. When it held, the diamond 5 was led to the A. The heart 7 to dummy's K came next and was followed by the diamond K. As the suit did not break, South decided to cash what tricks he could, so he played his two high hearts and the club A. To his delight West was forced to win the next club trick and was obliged to lead a spade, giving the declarer his needed trick for game.

Had West looked ahead a little, it would have been evident to him that the tossing of the K on the club A would have meant defea for the declarer, if East had the Q, as then East would have been in the lead on the second club trick and could have come through the spades.

What defense sets South's contract of 4-Hearts?

Depression Beater

WINGHAM, Ont., Sept. 19 (C. P.). — J. R. Webster, 75-year-old West Wawanosh Township laborer has gained quite a reputation at knitting during the last few years, but with him it's not a commercial enterprise, but "depression beater." To buck hard times, Webster took up knitting as a hobby and now he is swamped with orders for socks from men going to work in lumber and pulp camps.

Campbell Gets 12 Years Bank Robbery

OTTAWA, Sept. 19.—(CP)—Convicted by a jury at the Ontario Supreme Court Fall Assizes here Saturday on a charge of armed robbery of the Richmond, Ont., branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia last July 19, Oscar Campbell, 41, Toronto, was sentenced to twelve years in Portsmouth Penitentiary by Mr. Justice Charles McTague for the $12,000 robbery.

Campbell was also convicted on two other counts, on which he was tried simultaneously with the armed robbery charge, and was given twelve years on the second count of robbing the bank while in company with two other men, and two years on a third charge of carrying a concealed weapon. The sentences will be concurrent.

Described by police as Canada's No. 1 Bad Man, Campbell wept when sentence was passed, and said he had nothing to say after Justice McTague sentenced him. Before leaving the court room, he thanked his attorney, Joseph Sedgwick of Toronto, and Crown Attorney Raoul Mercier "for the fair manner in which you have conducted the case." Sedgwick said there was little he could say about a man with Campbell's record. He requested there be no corporal punishment.

The Crown called thirty-three witnesses and the defense three in the case, which began last Wednesday. Campbell, one of the defence witnesses, maintained he was driving between Toronto and Selwyn, Ont., at the time of the Richmond hold-up, and said the had never heard of the place before the trial and did not know where it was located.

While Outremont, Quebec, police have a warrant for Campbell's arrest on a charge of murder in connection with the fatal shooting of Sam Wolman during a robbery in Outremont two years ago, it could not be ascertained to-night if it would be executed.

Speaking of Campbell's police record, Jusice McTague told the jury in his address that "you can't find a man guilty because he is a likely man to commit a crime, but you must convict him on the evidence. It is the duty of the Crown to prove him guilty beyond a reasonable doubt."

The jury returned the verdict after deliberating two hours.

Veteran Lifford Line Thresher To Retire After 29 Years On Job

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LIFFORD LINE, Sept. 19.—A familiar sight on a county road at this season of the year is the time-honored threshing machine. This one travelling along Lifford Line is in charge of Mr. Archie Staples of Fleetwood who has owned and operated a threshing outfit for the past twenty-nine years and who lacks one year of reaching his three score years and ten. The steam engine he now owns has been used by him for the last 19 years and the clover mill for the last 26 years.

Mr. Staples has established the enviable reputation of never having a barn fire during his twenty-nine years of service.

He has a keen interest in deer hunting and on various occasions while indulging in this particular sport he was replaced at the machine by his sons.

During one season his son, Edmund, who is the only member of a large family, now living at home with his parents, threshed for his father for forty days.

A Long Season

In the year 1917 Mr. Staples recalls that he commenced threshing on July 23 and did not complete his run until March 12. He has planned to retire from his strenuous work at the conclusion of this year's work. Owing to bumper crops in this vicinity the threshing machine travels with a very important and 'dignified air' this season compared with the 'dejected' manner of the past two years resulting from poor crops owing to lack of moisture. Yes, when a threshing machine steams along from bar nto barn this year it means business.

Dance Hall Drinking Is To Be Curbed

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, September 19.—County Crown Attorney stated Friday that he intended to do everything in his power to stop the carriage of liquor to dance halls in this district. W. Mackie, of Toronto, was charged in court with having liquor illegally, pleaded guilty to the lesser charge of consuming illegally. He was placed under arrest while attending a dance at Coboconk The Crown asserted that in every place where dances were held the difficulty of curbing liquor drinking was experienced, and dance halls had received a black eye by reason of the rowdyism which occurred. A fine of $30 and costs was imposed by Magistrate Gee.

A Kinmount man was remanded in custody for a week, charged with unlawful possession of liquor, while another resident of the village was sentenced to two months for selling liquor illegally.

A car owned by Ross Arnold, town, was stolen at the exhibition ground on Thursday night. The police have been unable to locate the machine.

Local police visited the side shows at the Central Fair on Thursday and warned those in charge to present nothing offensive to public morals.

CZECH REPLY LEAVES WAY OPEN TO NEGOTIATE

Russians Hint Aid Ready For Czechs

"Resist Sudeten Grab And We'll Help," Is Rumored Pledge

GENEVA, Sept. 20—(AP)—Sources close to the Russian delegation to the League of Nations today said Moscow had informed the Prague government through Geneva channels that if Czechoslovakia would resist any German attempt to seize the Sudeten regions Soviet Russia would support her.

Russian officials refused to discuss the report. Members of the Czechoslovak delegation said officially they had "no confirmation," but Czechoslovak sources added the report was "not improbable."

Edouard Heidrich, Czechoslovak foreign office expert, talked with Pethescu Comnen, Rumanian foreign minister, this morning.

Members of both delegations refused to give details of the conversations, but it was reported Czechoslovak representatives sought confirmation of earlier indications from Russian sources that arrangements had been made for passage of Soviet troops through Rumania in the event of war.

The Soviet foreign commissar, Maxim Litvinoff, was reported to have told Heidrich through delegation attaches that Moscow already was doing everything it could to stiffen the French and British attitude toward Germany.

"We can do no more for the present," Moscow was reported to have told Czechoslovakia. "Now it is up to you."

150 Flee Homes In Quebec Fire

QUEBEC, Sept. 20—(CP)—An unidentified man collapsed and died early today while watching a fire which swept four waterfront buildings, destroying three of them, and caused temporary evacuation from another nearby building of 25 families of unemployed. A fireman also was injured when struck by a timber which fell from one of the burning buildings.

The fire started an hour before midnight in a building occupied by Produits Faguet, Ltee., manufacturers of drugs, on Dalhousie street. Before it was brought under complete control five hours later it had destroyed premises occupied by the MacGregor Paper and Bag Company and Vallerand Company, dealers in earthenware.

It was not known immediately if the collapse and death of the unidentified man was associated in any way with the fire. His body was removed to the morgue to await identification. Fireman Fremont was the only fire-fighter injured in the five-hour battle.

Two "Kings" Here are two "Kings"—King Taylor and his husky lead dog King. Taylor arrived in Peterborough last night en route eventually to Churchill watershed, three thousand miles north of here. When he reaches home he will have travelled close to 10,000 miles by dog team, the longest trek of its kind ever accomplished. He went from the Northwest Territory clear to the top of the Empire State Building in New York City, is now on his way back. (Examiner Staff Photo.)

Team Of Dogs From Arctic Arrive Here

A cold breath of the desolate lands of Canada's Far North came down into Peterborough last night when King Taylor mushed into the city behind four huskies and an Arctic sled, cracking his long black whip over the heads of the animals, calling out his sharp "Hoi! Hoi!" He is on the last lap of the longest dog trip ever made in all Canada's history, will have completed nearly 10,000 miles when he arrives back at Churchill Watershed far in the wastelands of the North-West Territory.

A colorful figure is this bearded 30-year-old guide from the frozen North who decided the first of January that he wanted to see the world. For eight years he had lived all alone in the Far North with an Indian trapper who lived seventy-two miles away as his nearest neighbor.

Started for New York.

So on New Year's Day he packed all his belongings into his sled, harnessed his four dogs and started out for New York. He got there this

Fired Street Cleaner Shoots Manager After Sitting Out Council Session

Cleveland, Sept. 20 (AP) AUTHORITIES ordered a psychopathic examination today for a discharged street sweeper who, after sitting quietly through a suburban Cleveland Heights council meeting, drew a revolver, fired at the mayor and wounded the city manager.

One bullet entered City Manager Harry Canfield's mouth, pierced his cheek and lodged in a window frame. Two bullets had whistled by Mayor Frank Cain.

Law Director George Hartshorn was struck on the head with the weapon as he and several others overpowered the assailant, identified by police as a 61-year-old former street department employee.

"Why did you take my job away from me?" the man repeated. "I have paid thousands of dollars in taxes, and I get fired and somebody else gets the job."

Anglo-French 'Surrender' Branded End Of Collective Security

NEW YORK, Sept. 20. —(C. P.)— Three of New York's four morning newspapers today commented on the assumed Anglo-French proposal that Czechoslovakia surrender her predominantly Germanic regions to Chancellor Hitler in the cause of European peace.

The Times called the plan, if correctly outlined in unofficial reports, "the end of the whole system of collective security built up in the post-war treaties" but declared that eventually, of necessity, the world would make collective security a reality.

The Herald-Tribune said the two great democracies had accepted a total and "completely humiliating defeat."

Little to Gain In War.

The tabloid Daily News asked: "Well, what's the alternative," and answered:—

"The only alternative we can conceive of would be that France and England and possibly Russia (though Russian participation seems a little vague) would go to war against Germany and Italy to compel the Sudeten Germans to remain in Czechoslovakia, where they don't want to remain. This alternative doesn't mean that such a war would be a successful one. More likely, it would be long and bloody, with more killed and wounded than the total population of Czechoslovakia. If successful it would only mean that those who were left alive of the Sudeten German would be back under the rule of those who were left alive of the

"It has been said that the chief point in the art of statesmanship is the art of wise compromise; you can't get everything you want. This would seem to be one of the times when, wise compromise is essential."

Force the World's Key Factor.

The Times said the plan, if correct, meant the end of collective security as now known because "a demonstration will have been given before the eyes of all the world and in a manner which leaves no possible room for doubt, that force alone is the determining factor in the relationship as a reality. It was a practical necessity under the conditions which prevail today, with the fate of every nation tied inextricably to the fate of every other nation, and the world "will know no peace and no real respite from alarm until the dream is realized.

"Many must be thinking to-day that the most tragic mistake is the present surrender. It is surrender to evil made by the democratic powers to save themselves from what they consider a greater evil. Yet the American people, having refused to assume any obligation to

Nine Indian Princes Ready To Fight For Great Britain

Emulating a similar move last week by the Maharajah of Bikaner, the princes tonight communicated to the Marquess of Linlithgow, Viceroy of India, their readiness to fight for Britain.

Included among them were the Maharajah of Dungarpur, the Maharao of Kotah, the Maharawat of Partabgarh and the Nawab of Palanpur.

Fair Wedding Said No Worse Than Big Church Affair

LEAMINGTON, Ont., Sept. 20. —(CP).—A public wedding planned as part of the Leamington district fair program was no different to highly-publicized society weddings, Merrick R. Nutting, Leamington, said to-day in reply to criticism of Rev. J. E. Griffith, local United church minister. Mr. Griffith contended Sunday such a wedding, to be held in front of the grandstand Sept. 27, was materializing a sacred institution for monetary gain and publicity.

Nutting, arranging the wedding ceremony, replied to Mr. Griffith on behalf of the Fair Board. He noted the ceremony would be performed by an ordained minister.

"From the point of publicity, the Fair directors do not see the difference between a wedding, performed publicly on a stage at a fair, and a society wedding, publicized for weeks and held in a church crowded to capacity with curiosity seekers who have thronged the streets by the church to see what the bride wore," Nutting said.

"We admit the hope of profit from this wedding, but is it not true that many churches go into various forms of the theatrical business such as minstrel shows, bazaars, pageants, plays, to raise money and help the pastor in his work."

Polish, Hungarian Chiefs Call On Hitler, Ask Minority Rights Too

Nazis Officials Already Talk Of 3-Way Split And Claim Each Day Of Delay Will Send Hitler's Price Higher

PRAGUE, Sept. 20 (AP).—The Czechoslovak Government announced tonight it had delivered its reply to Great Britain and France on their proposals to end the European crisis and that it considered the way was left open to further "diplomatic negotiations."

The following communique was issued:

"The Czechoslovak government communicated this evening to the British and French Ministers in Prague a note in which is set forth its attitude to proposals brought forward by the British and French Governments.

"The attitude adopted makes possible further diplomatic negotiations in the spirit of conciliation which the Czechoslovak Government has always shown."

The communique was issued as thousands of Czechoslovak troops were ordered on the alert in the Sudeten area to deal with incursions from across the German border such as were reported earlier today.

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany, Sept. 20 (AP).—Envoys of Hungary and Poland were received by Chancellor Hitler in his retreat on Obersalzberg to discuss the Czechoslovak crisis.

The Hungarian chief of staff, Field Marshal Kresztesficher sat with Premier Bela Imredi and Foreign Minister Koloman von Kanya during their talk with Hitler and the German Foreign Minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop "regarding the untenable condition in Czechoslovakia."

Poland's views were presented by Joseph Lipski, Polish Ambassador to Berlin, at another conference.

800,000 Total Involved

It was officially announced that the Hungarian statesmen had told Hitler they would stand firm for the right of self-determination for the 700,000 Hungarians in Czechoslovakia. It was understood the Polish ambassador discussed plans for dealing with the Polish minority of about 100,000.

The fact that Imredi and Von Kanya were accompanied by the chief of staff added to the ominous character of their sudden flight from Budapest to Obersalzberg, where only last Thursday the fuehrer received Prime Minister Chamberlain.

A communique said:—

"The Hungarian Minister President Imredi, Foreign Minister Von Kanya, the general staff chief, Field Marshal Fresztes-Fischer, and State Secretary Von Pataky visited the fuehrer and Reich chancellor in the presence of Foreign Minister Von Ribbentrop at Obersalzberg.

"The visit served for an interchange of views regarding the untenable condition in Czechoslovakia.

"Whereas the fuehrer and Reichschancellor dealt with the German problem, the Hungarian ministers explained thoroughly the equally steadfast and immutable demand of the entire Hungarian people for the right of self-determination of their oppressed co-nationals in Czechoslovakia."

BERLIN, Sept. 20.—(AP).— The controlled German press took the stand amid reports of clashes along the German-Czechoslovak border today that partition of Czechoslovakia is now the only solution of the Sudeten-German Czechoslovak crisis.

Only a few days ago the press limited itself to discussion of possible methods of lopping off the Sudeten region of Czechoslovakia.

In German eyes to-day, however, Sudetenland is already Germany's indubitable heritage, the region west of the Olas river is Poland's, and Eastern Czechoslovakia, centring around Bratislava, is Hungary's.

There was virtually no discussion of what should happen to the Carpatho-Russians in extreme Eastern Czechoslovakia or to the Slovaks in Slovakia.

A foreign office spokesman declared that every day a solution is put off, Chancellor Hitler's price will be higher and added that every German killed during border incidents is being chalked up against the Czechs.

Informed quarters discredited reports, which recur almost daily, that Hitler had set a deadline for his demands.

"Why should Hitler set any date when things are going his way," one Nazi editor reported.

Customs Houses Raided.

PRAGUE, Sept. 20 (A.P.).—Three attacks on Czechoslovak frontier customs houses by bands of men who were said to have crossed the border from Germany armed with machine guns, hand grenades, and pistols were reported to-day by the Czechoslovak Government.

The customs house at Klein-Aups, near Aussig, was reported burned afted being wrecked by a barrage of hand grenades. Two Czech officials were wounded.

At Ebersdorf near Friedland, government reports said, men who

Moscow Assails Peace Plan As Step To War

MOSCOW, Sept. 20.—(AP).—Unqualified condemnation of the Anglo-French plan for the partition of Czechoslovakia was heard to-day in Moscow. The Soviet press denounced the project as perfidious, hypocritical, and a new step toward a world war disguised as a contribution to peace.

Pravda, Communist organ, said Chancellor Hitler first tried to capture the Sudeten territory through an armed revolt led by Konrad Henlein, Sudeten German party leader, and when that failed turned to Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain, who "obligingly hastened" to Berchtesgaden to help the Fuehrer.

"Hand In Glove."

It was not thought necessary, Pravda said, to discuss fundamentals at Berchtesgaden last Thursday since Hitler and Chamberlain were hand in glove.

Instead, the newspaper said, "great attention was paid to a procedure such as:

"Is it necessary to annex the whole Sudeten area immediately or piece by piece—under the banner of a plebiscite or without a plebiscite—whether it would be better to deprive Czechoslovakia of its independence through neutralization or through some form of such suppressive agreement with Fascist Germany."

Mine Wall Crash at The Pas Kills One, Injures Three

THE PAS, Man., Sept. 20 (C.P.). —Roy Brayford, 30, was killed instantly and there fellow underground workers were injured, one critically, about midnight last night when 200 tons of overhanging wall crashed in the second level of the Sherritt-Gordon Mine, Sherridon, 50 miles north of here.

Bob Groff, prominent Winnipeg paddler, was one of the injured. He was taken to St. Anthony Hospital here. Nels Strand, 28, was also hurt, but the name of the third injured man was not learned immediately.

Groff during the international regatta held at Sugar Island in the St. Lawrence River this summer won the senior single blade and senior double blade events. He was a member of a Winnipeg Canoe Club squad which took part in the Dominion paddling championships at Gamanoque, Ont., and was a paddler in the Winnipeg craft which won the war canoe honors.

24-Ounce Baby Girl Holding Own In Kitchener Hospital

Kitchener, Ont., Sept. 20 (CP) A 24-OUNCE BABY girl born over the week-end to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Ives was reported doing "very nicely" in Kitchener-Waterloo hospital today. Kitchener doctors regarded the fact she remained alive as nothing short of miraculous.

"Almost phenomenal," said one medical man of the mite who weighs two ounces less than Marie, smallest of the Dionne quintuplets, did when she was first weighed for the first time a week after birth in 1934.

Jewelry Recovered

ROME, Sept. 20.—(CP-Havas).—The jewelry valued at $300,000 lost last May 1 in the plane crash in which 19 persons were killed while returning from the Tirana wedding of Albania's King Zog was recovered yesterday at Naples. The treasure turned up in the possession of two persons who had purchased them for almost nothing from peasants who found them near the scene of the crash.

Cornwall Paper Wins Contest

A framed association certificate was presented today to the Standard-Freeholder for the best front-page makeup, while the Kitchener paper received a similar award for general excellence.

Motorman Saves Dog Gets Bitten For His Trouble

New York, Sept. 20 (AP) A southbound subway train jolted to an abrupt stop yesterday, and Motorman Daniel Healy climbed down from his cab to rescue a lost and dirty white dog on the tracks. For his pains he was bitten on both hands. Meanwhile hundreds of passengers waited, wondering what caused the delay.

British, French Labor May Force Defence

By J. F. Sanderson
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Sept. 20 (C.P. Cable).—A cleavage in public opinion over the Anglo-French peace plan involving dismemberment of Czechoslovakia began to be apparent today.

The National Council of Labor has called a meeting of the International Federation of Trade Unions and of the Socialist International, at which French delegates will be present. It is understood the purpose of the meeting is to determine whether the British and French labor movements are prepared to apply the full pressure of their political and industrial forces against their governments in an effort to force them to defend Czechoslovakia against Germany.

Meanwhile, the voice of Viscount Cecil of Chelwood, the champion of peace and collective security, has been raised. In a letter to The Daily Telegraph, he says:

"The submission to Hitler means the extinction of Czechoslovak independence. It means a breach of our treaty pledges on the subject. It means a great increase in the prestige of the Nazi Government and a corresponding diminution of that of this country. Above all, it means acceptance of the view that the only thing that counts in international affairs is brutal force and the hope of substituting for it reason and justice may be definitely abandoned."

Sir Archibald Sinclair will make a statement on the Liberal Party's attitude at a meeting to-morrow.

What Pledge of Peace?

Writing in the News-Chronicle, A. J. Cummings, who attended the Ottawa Imperial Conference, said that so intense is the horror of war in the country "that the British people would acquiesce, however, reluctantly, in the surrender to Nazi ambitions and the surgical operation on Hitler's latest victim — if they could be persuaded it would preserve peace, that it would work, and that it would lead to a general settlement in Europe."

"But," asks Mr. Cummings, "what hope can the western powers give us that the surrender will accomplish its ultimate purpose?"

No Hesitating On War Boasts Duce

Says Its Time World Got Acquainted With Warlike Italy

UDINE, Italy, Sept. 20 (AP) — Premier Mussolini declared tonight it was time "the world became acquainted with this new, warlike and determined Italy."

This statement followed a comparison of Italy of today with the Italy of 16 years ago, when he last spoke in Udine on the eve of the Fascist march on Rome to assume power.

"The last time I was here we started the march on Rome," Il Duce declared.

"Then we started the march from Rome, but it has not yet been finished.

"Nobody will stop us!"

Il Duce lauded the martial and moral strength of Fascist Italy.

"If tomorrow this people should be called again to another task it would not hesitate for a minute," the premier declared.

"Subito!"—"Immediately" — the crowd roared back.

Plan To Control Narcotics In Prison, Bared

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 20. — (C. P.). —Details of a plan to "control" the narcotic situation at Kingston Penitentiary were on Supreme Court records here today following evidence of convict H E. Wilson, who faces a charge of gross indecency. Testifying yesterday on his own behalf Wilson told of the narcotic control proposal he said was made to him.

Wilson said convict F. Smith, head orderly in the prison hospital, told him that if he co-operated they and another convict could control the narcotic situation in the big prison. He said Smith knew of an inner compartment in the hospital basement where certain supplies of drugs were kept. The plan was for them to rob this compartment, sell the drugs through a "guard friend" and have morphine smuggled into the prison in return.

Telling of communications he sent to the warden about unfavorable conditions in the prison hospital, Wilson explained "I wasn't a stool pigeon but I felt conditions in the hospital would militate unfavorably against inmates and officials at the hospital if they continued."

After sending a second document to the warden, he said Smith remarked to him: "There's a rat in this hospital. If I knew who he was I'd put the gas pipe to him."

Legion Chaplain Sees Plan Betrayal Of War Dead

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Sept. 20.— (CP).—Reported terms of the Franco-British plan for dismemberment of Czechoslovakia constitute "betrayol of our comrades who sleep in Flanders and elsewhere," Rev. Allan Ferry, Dominion chaplain of the Imperial section of the Canadian Legion, said in a statement issued here to-day.

The statement said:

"Imperials throughout Canada are humiliated and sorrowful at the surrender of the British government to the threats of the German dictator. We can not forge that hundreds of thousands of our comrades sacrificed their all to make the world safe for democracy as to-day where democracy itself is being sacrificed to the dictator nations. Veterans will be forgiven if they find themselves asking: "Was it all in vain?'

"No group of men more earnestly desire peace, but at the same time no group of men knows how costly a peace at any price can ultimately be.

"To see the torch thrown to us from falling hands thus cast to the ground to be trampled under the feet of ruthless bullies without protest would be to permit ourselves to be a party to the betrayal of ur comrades who sleep in Flanders and elsewhere.

"We can not believe that the will of the majority of the British people is being portrayed in the action of the Chamberlain government in this matter.

"An alleged 10-year peace purchased at the price of honor, an honor preserved through the blood and broken bodies of our comrades in the last war, is a peace we can not be proud of. Would that we had not seen Britain come to such a day."

Nazi Troops Bolster Free Corps

Regulars Volunteer To Aid Refugees In Border Tangles

BERLIN, Sept. 20 —(AP)— The German official News Agency today reported a steady series of Czechoslovak frontier clashes between Sudeten Germans and Czechoslovak detachments. The reports were issued by the news agency with the regularity of clockwork.

They told of incident after incident in which Czech frontier detachments fired on deserting Sudeten soldiers and also endangered civilian fugitives.

In one of the engagements, 17 German frontier guards were said to have been wounded. All the incidents occurred in the mountains on the Silesian side of the German-Czech frontier.

German strategy seemed to be to let Sudeten deserters and Konrad Henlein's "free corps" men fight it out with Czechoslovak frontier forces without involving the regular German army.

However, this correspondent learned from reliable sources that, for instance, members of the 57th infantry regiment, stationed at Spandau, near Berlin, have been asked to "volunteer" for "free corps" service.

Similarly, detachments of Berlin S. S. —Nazi black-uniformed elite guard troops—have been shipped southeast for "volunteer service in the 'free corps.'"

Famous Missionary Coming To City

Peterborough city and presoytery are to be honored soon by a visit from the famous missionaries, Rev. W. G. Davis and Mrs. Davis, of Taonan, Manchuria. Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Davis are to conduct services in St. Paul's Presbyterian church, Sunday, October 2, and the following week will make a tour of Presbyterian churches in the Peterborough Presbytery. It is seven years since Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Davis were in Peterborough. At that time they were designated as missionaries to Manchuria from St. Paul's Presbyterian church. Rev. Mr. Davis was selected by the late Rev. Jonathan Goforth to be his successor in the Manchurian field and has been filling that post since the late Mr. Goforth left Manchuria about three years ago.

Taonan is in Western Manchuria not far from Mongolia, Russia and China. It thus is in the centre of one of the most critical world international situations. Both Mr. and Mrs. Davis and their two children left Manchuria about the first of June for their year's furlough. They thus should be able to give an intimate picture of conditions in that country which is under the control of Japan. Their ministry in Manchuria has been outstandingly successful, a large number of new churches and mission stations having been opened by them during the past few years in heathen centres where previously there were no Christians. Letters received from them by friends in Peterborough show that they have many thrilling experiences to relate.

Employees Return At Briggs Works

DETROIT, Sept. 20—(AP).—Employees of the Briggs Manufacturing Company, who struck Wednesday, turned to work to-day under the terms of a settlement reached Saturday.

The strike affected 18,900 workers in the Briggs Mack avenue plant, and several Chrysler Corporation divisions, including Plymouth, which receives automobile bodies or parts from Briggs. All of them will return to work as soon as the re-opened Briggs plant can build up the depleted stock of bodies.

Under the terms of the settlement, ratified Saturday night by members of the United Automobile Workers, these dismissed Briggs employees will be reinstated and production on the gun welding line will be reduced from 50 to 45 units an hour, with fewer men working on the line.

U.A.W. pickets continued to march to-day before the gates of the McCord Radiator and Manufacturing Company's plants in Detroit and Wyandotte deepite a "truce" reported Saturday in a strike which began Aug. 2.

Driver's License Is Suspended Six Months Following Accident

As an aftermath of an accident at the outskirts of Lakefield on the evening of September 4 in which a car was overturned and a girl passenger had her leg broken, Jack Gardner was arraigned before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning on a charge of reckless driving laid under the Criminal Code.

Gardner pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $10 and $4.75 costs.

"There will be an order issued prohibiting you from driving an automobile anywhere in Canada for the next six months," Magistrate Langley added.

The accused told the court that he had been on a fishing trip and on the way back picked up a number of girls who were hitch-hiking. He blamed the weight in the car and the road conditions for the accident, claiming that he was not driving very fast when the crack-up occurred.

"There was no suspicion of drunkenness in this case," Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry stated. "The accused was driving a borrowed car and it was in very poor mechanical condition, not fit to be on the road. It may have been the steering gear that contributed to the accident."

"In that case," commented the magistrate, "the accused should have been doubly careful."

strengthen the structure we helped to build, the structure of which the keystone and symbol was Czechoslovakia, the state born in Pittsburgh and sponsored by our government, have no right to urge on others the terrible risks and responsibilities we do not share."

War or Humiliation

The Herald-Tribune said it was apparent that the European situation had reached a climax which could issue only in a general war or a humiliating diplomatic defeat.

"But probably few Americans supposed that the two great democracies, commanding an overwhelming superiority of resources and of armed power, could accept so total and so completely humiliating a defeat as was recorded in the reported conclusions reached. . . .

"One man, with the brute boldness which only the absolute autocrat can wield, issued his orders, and in the crisis the democratic statesmen obeyed. . . .

"Though the ambiguous and muddled fiascos of the Hore-Laval plan and the non-intervention farce should, perhaps, have foreshadowed the almost identical result in the present crisis, there is no denying that it has come as a profound shock. . . .

"When it comes to the crisis the dictator who is able and willing to condemn his people to the fires of war cannot be opposed by democratic statesmen who are not. Nor can those who run no risks criticize the latter for their yielding."

Hitler Wants More

LODON, Sept. 20—(CP Cable).—Anxiety over possible further demands by Chancellor Hitler even if he gets what he wants in Czechoslovakia was voiced today by the Yorkshire Post (Conservative). The attitude of other provincial newspapers varied, some urging that Czechslovakia accept the Anglo-French plan as the best solution of an unpleasant situation.

The Yorkshire Post said: "The people of this country will surely require very convincing evidence to persuade them that we and France, as a result of these concessions, are not in a short time to be presented by the dictators with still further and even more immediately embarassing demands which we shall be even less well placed to resist. We cannot forget Herr Hitler's definite policy is to proceed on the assumption he will always get exactly what he demands, because, unlike the democracies, he is always prepared to take the risk of war."

The Western Mail of Cardiff (Conservative) declared "the cause of peace requires of them (the Czechs) a sacrifice in pestige as well as in territory and unless they accept it gracefully as inevitable they can scarcely expect to receive help in any other policy from the powers that have hitherto stood beside them."

The paper added that if the dispute developed into a world war the "sacrifice of victors and vanquished alike would be infinitely greater and more terrible than any that Czechoslovakia is asked to make now."

Grim Price for Peace

The Liverpool Post (Liberal) regarded the dismemberment proposals dubiously, declaring: "It looks too much like a victory for ruthless dictatorship for our comfort and there cannot but be widespread feeling that even if we have no commitments we have in some way let a little country down. Most people, for all their thankfulness that war may be avoided, will feel we are paying a grim price for peace."

The Manchester Guardian (Liberal) remarked that outright cession of the Sudeten territory to Germany would mean a more thoroughgoing surrender to Hitler than a plebiscite, adding that "in the meantime Czechoslovakia is left to take a decision which, in either event, must be for her the most bitter, since it lies between ruthless war and a dark, uncertain future."

The Belfast Telegraph (Conservative) warned that to tamper with the terms of the treaty of Versailles "after nearly 20 years is to incur the possibility of opening the flood gates to a sea of new perils" and concluded that "war, once begun in Czechoslovakia, would inevitably affect the greater part of Europe and all circumstances must be carefully considered by the governments concerned before any irrevocable action is taken."

The Irish press said that "if the peace is to be a lasting one the statesmen of Europe must make up their minds to deal fairly and squarely, not merely with the Czech problem but with all minority problems—the root and cause of the strife and discontent which divide their peoples."

The Leeds Mercury (Conservative) asserted "any proposal to hand the Sudeten areas to Germany means Britain and France have yielded to a monstrous threat of force; once again they have allowed blatant aggression to triumpn.

Pledges Worthless in Pinch.

The Birmingham Gazette (Liberal): "Whatever may be the final outcome there is a plain moral in this painful case of Czechoslovakia, that private, self-regarding pacts of mutual assistance made outside the league are worthless at the pinch. France bound herself to Czechoslovakia, Soviet Russia bound herself to both, and Britain has morally pleadged herself to France. This policy of pure self-interest looks like breaking down before our eyes."

The Manchester Daily Dispatch (Independent): "We hope and pray that the Czech government will act to avert bloodshed and untold suffering and that the way may thereby be opened to a more complete European settlement that will lift the crushing burden of armaments from our shoulders and enable all nations to march side by side to universal betterment."

The Times (Independent) said it could not really be in the interests of Czechoslovakia to keep in the state a Sudeten German minority which cordially disliked the republic.

The Times continued:

"It cannot really be in the interests of (the Czechoslovakia) republic, one would suppose, to keep the Sudeten Germans as subjects of a state which for the most part they cordially dislike.

A Stronger Nation?

"The hope of those who lay these (assumed) proposals before the Czechoslovak government will certainly be that they would leave Czechoslovakia, though smaller in size, stronger by being made more nearly homgeneous.

"It is obvious that no country can regard with equanimity the prospective loss of over 2,000,000 inhabitants which is what the departure of the minorities would approximately involve for Czechoslovakia. Yet the remaining 12,000,000 or 13,000,000 of Czechs, Slovaks and others would still form a state with a more numerous population than that of Switzerland, Belgium, Holland or Denmark.

"It would still be a well organized and well armed country, supported by an international guarantee of independence which is understood to be a part of the present plan."

Team Of Dogs

summer and blocked traffic all along Broadway, rode to the top of the Empire State Building with all his dogs. "Yes, sir, it's the tallest building in the world and we made it," he reminisced last night. And now he's on his way back to his lonely home in the North, satisfied with his trip, but longing to get away from all the crowds.

Peterborough district holds a peculiar interest for King Taylor, for his father was raised in this district. He was Bill Taylor, son of "Wild Bill" Taylor of pugilistic fame, and was a lumberman in this district. He used to spend his summers in this city, going to the bush in winter months, before he moved to the West. This is the first time King Taylor has been in this district.

Covered 7,000 Miles.

Taylor has covered more than 7,000 miles with his dogs since he started out the first day of 1938, and he hopes to be back at Churchill Basin by the end of the year. He has traversed frozen land south from Churchill Basin to Regina, then to Winnipeg, Lake of the Woods, Port Arthur, Nipigon, Schrieber, White River, Chapleau, Sudbury, and North Bay, heading south to Toronto from that point. From Toronto he went to Boston and New York, is now en route home. Spring overtook the outfit and the picturesque dog sled had to be adapted for summer travel. He mounted it on teddy-wagon wheels, mushed on just as successfully as before. Not a dog has suffered on the trip, although he has worn out two sets of rubber tires.

Taylor is staying in Peterborough to-day because he is taking his return trip in easy stages waiting for winter weather. "As soon as the snow hits the ground, that's when I start to travel," he said. On wheels he travels anywhere from thirty to fifty miles a day, but on sleds he steps the distance up to a hundred or more miles.

Run 40 Miles a Day.

Powerfully built, he can run 40 miles a day behind a dog team over snow, he said, and can pack three hundred pounds a quarter of a mile without stopping. "You've got to be tough to live in the North," he said. "If you're not, you'll go crazy." He never smokes or drinks liquor. As a matter of fact he doesn't even drink tea or coffee, but hot water. "You see, we can't get them where I live, and so it's best not to acquire a craving for them," is the way he explains the matter. He has seen men go stark staring mad from their lonely life, claims "if you can stand the life for the first year, you have an even chance of remaining sane."

King Taylor's home lies in the barren lands of the North a thousand miles from Churchill on the edge of the Arctic Circle. He has no house in which to live, but an ice igloo whose temperature is sometimes seventy degrees below zero. "You never know there what comfort means," he told. "You lie huddled up in an Arctic robe of elderdown. When you climb out of that you are dressed in seal skin boots, caribou pants and coat, a wolverine parka if you are lucky, white polar bear gauntlets, and an otter cap."

Neighbors Are Trappers.

All his neighbors are trappers, but Taylor is a guide for fur buyers, often takes them on trips as long as a thousand miles, buying furs and loading them on his sled to carry back. Most teams have seven dogs, but his has only four because he runs behind a good deal of the time and makes the load lighter. The dogs are all part husky, one is part wolf. The lead dog, also named "King," weighs close to 150 pounds, is a victor of a hundred canine battles.

A person must be almost self-sustaining in the North, Taylor said. His nearest hamlet of any size is Le Pas, Manitoba, and that is 2,000 miles away. Occasionally — once every other year or so — he makes the trip. For the most part, though, he lives on caribou meat and fish. Caribou range the barren lands in herds of thousands upon thousands. "I have seen herds that would cover a bigger area than the entire city of Peterborough," he related. Fish are plentiful, but it is difficult to know where the lakes are a good deal of the time because all is covered with snow. A good deal of the time they cannot be reached, so thick is the ice over the lakes.

Winter lasts about nine or ten months a year, and it never gets very warm at any time, he said. Usually he travels down to what he terms the Near North during the spring, catches and dries fish for his return because dried fish weighs much less, and he can carry more of them for the dogs. He has a cabin near Churchill, stays there some of the year.

Shot Polar Bear

It is a hard country Taylor tells of. He has scars on his face and body from encounters with nature in which he was not careful enough. Once he shot a polar bear and it left him with a souvenir. "I shot him and he dropped down behind a bluff," said Taylor. "I thought he was dead and went too close. He swiped at me with one of those huge claws and you can see what he did." He pointed to a jagged scar that ripped his lower eyelid and extended across his cheek both above and below his eye. On his arm he has another ugly scar, result of getting too close to a timber wolf.

There are no snowshoes in the Far North, according to Taylor. You find them only in the Near North where the snow is soft, he said. Where he travels the snow's crust is tremendously hard and dogs and men travel across it without ever breaking through. Dogs are hitched to the sled with Arctic harness, in fan style, as opposed to the style used in the Near North. He has been trapped by blizzards that have lasted a week and ten days. "You can't put your nose out of doors while they are raging," he said. "Once I ran out of food and neither the dogs nor I had anything to eat for four days. Many a man has died of starvation during such storms, but I was lucky. It let up soon enough, and I went out and chopped a hole through the ice and caught some fish. A day later I found a caribou track and shot enough to last me for a long time."

There are still men living in the North who can remember the first year that the pure black Siberian wolf, which has now high market value, was seen in history. "They crossed the Barren Straits about sixty years ago and are increasing in number every year," he said. "I know an old Indian they say is 104 years old, who often tells how his tribe first saw the strange newcomer and how they talked of it all through the North." The Indians of the Far North are a different race from those of the south, are industrious trappers and very cleanly, live the same life they did hundreds of years ago before white men were ever seen on this continent, he said.

King Taylor was born thirty years ago in Portage La Prairie, "hit out" for the North and adventure when he was 17 years old. He kept going steadily further north until he settled eight years ago at the Churchill Watershed. And he wouldn't trade the North for all the South can offer.

Reported Terms Divide British Press

By Guy Rhoades
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Sept. 20.—(CP Cable).—London morning papers today greeted with mixed feelings the reported Anglo-French decision to partition Czechoslovakia as a means of barring the god of war from Europe's door.

The Daily Telegraph, Conservative and usually pro-government, said if the reported plan proved to be substantially true, "it does not appear that proposals of the kind suggested will commend themselves universally—either in this country or in the Empire."

The newspaper suggested there already had been created a sense of misgiving which would best be dispelled by "immediate" publication of the proposed terms.

It added:

"A policy which does not command approval is worse than useless; and persistence of an ill-formed judgment might easily have the effect of consolidating a prejudice which would be hard to remove even if in the end it proved to be wholly unwarranted. . . .

"Unless negotiation is to be defeated before it has had a fair chance, it is imperative that the technique of menace pursued by the Sudeten extremists should be abandoned and that the controlled German press should cease from provocation.

"If the implication is, as it would be natural to infer, that Germany desires to have Czechoslovakia at her mercy whatever solution is found of the Sudeten question then clearly negotiation would be a waste of time."

The Fear Of Hitler

The Daily Herald (Labor) said:

"If it were desired to examine the case for secession, the proper course was far different from this (assumed decision of the British and French governments.)

"The proper course first of all would have been to say so weeks or months or even years ago, and to say so on the pure grounds of justice and peace, not under the direct force of threat and in fear of Herr Hitler.

"The proper course at this late

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 20 (C.P.). — Winnipeg wheat futures declined more than two cents for the second consecutive session to-day due to lack of export demand to counteract lower outside markets. At the final bell prices were 1⅝ to 1¾ cents lower, October at 62¼, November 62¾, December 61¾ and May 65.

Trading almost ceased in the late stages with brokers apparently waiting developments in the European political situation. General selling flurries struck the marekt at the open on Liverpool reports of an improved European situation.

Only a small overnight Canadian wheat export trade could be confirmed and outside interest in Winnipeg futures was small.

Liverpool finished ⅞ to 2¼d lower.

Bright spot in cash wheat dealings was the fair demand which developed for Nos. 3 and 4 Northern, boxes sold for 13 13-16c.

End Of French Prestige

The government organ Izvestia printed an analysis of the new situation by its Geneva correspondent, who wrote of the "liquidation of French influence in Europe."

The newspaper observed that while it would be hard to find any historical precedent for "the trip of the British Prime Minister to Berchtesgaden to worship the head of another state" and still harder to find anything "quite as raw as the Anglo-French decision to dismember Czechoslovakia," the British willingness to bargain with Chancellor Hitler was not in itself surprising.

"Nothing else was to be expected from England," Izvestia continued, "but for France such abject capitulation represents a danger more obvious, more tangible and more terrible."

Different For France

After all, the paper argued, Great Britain was not tied to Czechoslovakia by a treaty of mutual assistance.

France, it is said, is an ally of Czechoslovakia, "yet the French government not only advises Prague to commit suicide but also through its newspapers intimates that in case Czechoslovakia refuses to commit suicide it will be abandoned to its fate.

"One can imagine what Yugoslavia, Rumania and others will think of French promises now."

crossed the border shortly before dawn occupied the customs house for a time and broke into and took possession of the post office.

Czechoslovak officials then returned the fire and a detachment of Czechoslovak gendarmerie finally dislodged the attackers from the two Ebersdorf building.

Six government officials were reported wounded and Czechoslovak officers said several of the invaders were hurt and dragged back across the boundary by their comrades.

Plan Unacceptable.

These reports came as the Prague Government confronted with Anglo-British proposals to cede the Sudetenland to Germany, stalled for time in its struggle to maintain the life of the 20-year-old state.

The cabinet was reported to have found "unacceptable" the plan of the western democracies to partition the republic, but to be prepared to make use of the proposals in future negotiations.

After reports of the border clashes Prague promptly imposed martial law on three more Sudeten districts, including much of the territory north of Aussig, Sudeten party centre.

Although the border fighting brought new worries to the Prague Government, its first concern remained formulation of an answer to the Anglo-French proposals, but the reply was not known this afternoon.

The cabinet went into session at Kolowrat Palace at 11.30 a.m. (6.30 a.m., EDT.), with President Eduard Benes absent, but what was taking place in the council chamber remained a secret.

Because the president was not attending it was believed the government was not ready to draft its final conclusions.

Much Felicited On Golden Wedding Day

Mr. and Mrs. John Warren of Bobcaygeon were showered with congratulations on Monday in honor of their golden weding. From as far west as Ann Arbour, Mich., friends came to do honor to the couple who have spent their lives in Verulam Township.

Mrs. Warren, who celebrated her eighty-second birthday in July, spent the morning visiting the old farm where she went as a bride fifty years ago. Mr. Warren, also an octogenarian, is hale and hearty and is one of the oldest motorists in the district.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren received their guests in the drawing room, which was decked with gladioli and Autumn flowers. Tea was served in the dining room from a table laid with lace cloth made gay with flowers and candles in silver containers. Nieces of the honored couple poured tea and assisted in the dining room.

Mrs. Warren is a daughter of the late Thomas and Mary Taylor, Bobcaygeon. Her brothers, John, G. Gilbert and Joe Taylor, were among the guests.

The Sapphire For September

The colors of the sapphire suit well a perfect day in September, the month for which it is the birthstone. This gem, which most of us think of in the varying hues of blue, may almost run the gamut of the spectra. All of the numerous colors constituting the gem varieties of the mineral are known as sapphire with the exception of red. The red variety is ruby. Sapphires other than blue are all known as fancy sapphires.

The sapphire is said to be the symbol of truth and constancy. Tradition tells us that it was upon a sapphire that the ten commandments were engraved. The Persians believed that the earth rested on a great sapphire of which the reflection gave color to the sky. It is known as the celestial stone.

Star sapphires, together with the star rubies, are known as astorias, and has superstitions of their own. As the stone is moved a living star appears. The three cross-bars which form this star of six rays, represent faith, hope and charity. Oriental tradition reveals it as a guiding gem, warding off ill omen and bringing good fortune to its owner even after the gem has passed from his possession. Sir Richard Burton, famous explorer of the last century, and translator of the Arabian Nights, owned a large star sapphire which he considered his talisman because it brought good horses and prompt attention wherever he went. The reward for such attention was a view of the stone. The Orientals believed that good luck was sure to follow.

Sapphires are most beautiful and durable stones, because they are exceptionally brilliant, very hard, and do not fracture easily.

Picnic parties in Wales who leave litter are being arrested.

Enquiry Column

Conducted by Mrs. MARY MOORE

QUESTION: We have a large vegetable garden and as I find a lot of the vegetables spoil in the cellar, I have canned the carrots, green and yellow beans, and beets.

The first thing I do when I look at the paper is to turn to the cookery page and read your interesting recipes. But so far I have not found one about sweet peppers.

As I have the privilege of using a canning equipment where I use the tin cans, is it possible to can sweet peppers, green or red? If so would you kindly let me know how it is done and if the canned pepper could be used in a salad in the winter? As cold water is used would you let me know the length of time needed to boil the cans?

To settle a dispute among the gardeners would you let me know if sweet peppers are the same as the canned pimientoes we buy in the stores?

I seem to have a lot of questions to ask but the most important one just now is could I can a mixture of vegetables in the one can to be used in a stock soup in the winter? We have carrots, beans, turnips, parsnips, onions, tomatoes, leeks, celery, but I do not know which ones to group together or if onion or leek should be used.... Hope my letter is not too long—Mrs. F. McC.

ANSWER: Your letter is interesting. Write whenever you need help for anything.

Sweet Peppers Canned Without Water

Remove the seeds and stems from sweet peppers. Pack dry in smallest sized can (or jar if glass is used), cutting peppers in flat pieces to fit bottom of can. Put on top and sterilize in hot water bath 2 hours. The processing brings out a thick liquor. Seal and cool quickly after removing from hot water bath (When only part of can of peppers is used, cover remainder with cooking oil or melted paraffin.)

Sweet Peppers or Pimientoes Canned With Water

Remove seeds and stems from washed pimientoes. Plunge into boiling water and simmer at low heat for 5 minutes (not longer) to slightly soften them and remove some of the strong flavor. Without peeling or allowing the pepper to cool pack them into small cans (or undersize jars where glass is used), fill with fresh boiling water to overflow cans (adding no salt), seal cans and boil for 30 minutes to sterilize. Keep glass jars of pimientoes in cool dark place.

Green peppers or pimientoes canned in the above way can be used in salads in winter. Count boiling time after cold water in which cans were placed, has come to boiling point.

Sweet red peppers as we grow them in Canada are not the same as the cans of pimientoes that we buy that are canned in Spain or Italy. They are real pimientoes, which look like small hothouse tomatoes, but are brighter red and much firmer. They have a thick layer of flesh and have been successfully grown in this country. I am sure you could buy the seed in Canadian seed stores.

Cans of mixed vegetables for soups or children are not uncommonly canned. All the vegetables you mention could be used, but use a smaller proportion of parsnips than the other vegetables such as carrots. If you use both onions and leeks use only half a part of each. Supposing you use 1 pint of all the other vegetables and ½ pint of leeks, ½ pint onions, ½ pint parsnips. Cut vegetables in desired shapes, parboil all vegetables together in boiling water 15 minutes, then pour into cans and fill cans to overflowing with water in which they were parboiled, then add 1 teaspoon salt for each quart of vegetables, seal and boil 3 hours. Cool quickly.

We hope these are the things you want and that we can help you again.

QUESTION: Would you repeat Green Grape Conserve which appeared in the paper last year? I have taken many of your recipes but neglected to take the above—E. M.

ANSWER: Thank you for your letter.

Green Grape Conserve

Three pints green grapes (skins and seeded pulp), 3 pints sugar, 2 oranges. Juice from these and grated rind from one half of one of them, ½ lb. raisins, 1 cup English Walnut Meats. Wash the grapes, remove from stems, slip off skins. Bring pulp to boiling point when seeds will separate out, then put through strainer. Add this strained pulp to the seeds. Mix all ingredients, bring to boiling point and simmer over low heat until thick enough to spread when cold. Pour into sterile jam jars and cover with paraffin.

CORRECTION: The cookery page of two week's ago contained the "Pickle Chapter" and among the recipes was one entitled "Green Tomato Pickle (sweet)". This gave all the ingredients but the tomatoes. This recipe requires 1 peck of green tomatoes. Will those of you that are interested in pickle making insert this correction in your file copy of the pickle page!

DOROTHY DIX

One of Divorce's Greatest Tragedies Is That It Has No Power To Turn a Woman Into a Girl Again, So Don't Rush Into Marriage While You Are Still Young

DEAR MISS DIX—I am 20 years old, have two children, and after four years of married life I find myself longing for parties, dances and the attentions of young fellows, as any girl of my age does. My husband loves me dearly and is good to me, though we have never been able to afford nice things or to go to places of amusement. I busy myself with my housework, but my mind is always on the pleasures I have missed, and I envy my girl friends and wish I were one of them. What shall I do? Make the best of my bargain and try ever so hard to REALLY love my husband? Or get a divorce and be a girl again?

LONESOME.

ANSWER:

What we've done, we've done and we can't undo it. You have a husband and children and you cannot do away with them and be a girl again. You cannot blot them out of your memory, or tear them out of your heart. No matter where you went or what you did, you would be thinking of them. Your babies' cries would come to you over the loudest music. Your thought of your husband's loneliness without you would kill the gayety of the wildest party.

One of the greatest tragedies of divorce is that it has no power to turn a married woman into a girl again, as so many women seem to think it has. A woman who is unhappily married, or tired of her husband, or weary of the drudgery of taking care of a family, thinks that if she could only get a divorce she would be sweet and 20 again, a spoiled daughter in her father's house, with everybody giving her the best of everything and trying to see that she has a good time. She thinks that she would be light-hearted, with no worries or responsibilities and lots of beaux and dates and pretty clothes and everything that makes girlhood an enchanting time of life.

She forgets that she is perhaps middle-aged, that she has lost her beauty, that she has children, that she has been mistress of her own house for ten or fifteen years. All she thinks of is getting rid of her husband and returning to her status quo before she married.

So she gets her divorce and takes her children and goes back to Father and Mother, where she finds she is a more or less unwelcome guest. The old people do not want to be bothered with her children. They do not want to divide their small income with her. And she finds that her old set is broken up and changed; that no one feels called upon to give parties and try to amuse her; that she has lost her attraction for men, and that she is a thousand times worse off than she was even with an unsatisfactory husband.

So don't try going back and attempting to be a girl again. It can't be done. All that you can do is to go on as bravely as you can and make yourself happy in the life you chose for yourself. Tell your husband of your craving for amusement. Tell him how your feet ache to dance and how you long for a glimpse of the bright lights now and then and see if you cannot arrange to step out a little.

It is too late for you to change your life, but I hope other girls of 16 who are thinking of rushing into a too-early marriage will be warned by your experience. For it is the law of nature that we must all have some playtime and this longing for it comes to every boy and girl who marry too young. Most of the philandering husbands are men who married when they were mere boys and who had to work so hard to support the families they had assumed before they were ready for them that they had no time in their youth to amuse themselves or to play about with girls. Most of the flirtatious wives who get into messy affairs with gigolos and men they pick up in motion-picture houses or tea dances are girls who married in their teens and were tied down with babies and housework when they should have been flirting around and having dates with boys.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am 35, the son of a family that dates its ancestry to Plymouth, 1630. We are an egotistical lot, overeducated, cold-blooded and wealthy. I want to marry a professional dancer whose parents were Polish immigrants. My family is rocked by the idea and I shall probably be disowned. However, I am not concerned about that and I want to go through with it, because I imagine I shall never get married if I don't take this opportunity. Nevertheless, I shall likely follow your advice.

C. V. S.

ANSWER:

You likely won't follow my advice. I never knew anybody who took any one else's advice about getting married and probably it is just as well, because marriage is principally a matter of taste and the important person to be pleased is the one who is selecting a life partner.

My opinion is, however, that there will be small chance for happiness in a marriage between a man of your heredity and background and a girl with hers, since the main factor in any marriage is congeniality, and there could be little of that between two people whose traditions and rearing have been so different.

You would find that your every point of view and taste and habit clashed. You would be ashamed of her and nothing is more deadly in marriage than that. Love can stand almost anything except having our friends lift their eyebrows at our choice of a mate. Marry in your own class is good, sound advice.

• • • • • • •

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—The man I love and I have been reared since childhood together. His father was my father's half-brother. Our mothers were no relation. Dick and I would like to get married, but Mother thinks we are too closely related. Just what relation are we, and is this relationship too close to insure us normal, happy children if we do marry?

ANN AND DICK.

ANSWER:

You are not even quite first cousins, as your fathers were half-brothers. The most scientific opinion about cousins marrying is that it only doubles the strain for good or ill and has no more effect than it would if two people not related married. Thus if two very healthy people married, their children would probably be very strong and healthy. But if two sickly people married, their children would probably be very delicate and frail.

Mrs. O. Rhynas Addresses Hospital Auxiliary

"Keep on telling the Gospel of Hospitalization, we cannot do without it," urged Mrs. O. W. Rhynas of Burlington in an inspiring address before the Hospital Women's Auxiliary Monday evening.

She warmly congratulated the president, Mrs S. J. Graham, and the members of the Auxliairy on the fine work accomplished by this association during the first year of its inception, and likened its achievements to those of a full-grown organization.

In a few brief words, Mrs. E. M. Leeson, superintendent of Nicholls' Hospital, expressed her appreciation of the work done by the Auxiliary, stressing at the same time the great need for more hospital accommodation if the needs of Peterborough and district were to be properly taken care of.

Greetings from the Nicholls' Hospital Board of Governors were conveyed by Mr. E. F. Mason, chairman of the Board of Trustees. In tracing a brief history of the development of Nicholls Hospital, he pointed out the inadequacy of the Hospital at the present time to fulfill present day needs.

The annual meeting, which was held in St. John's Parish Hall, was opened with prayer by the rector, Canon W. P. Robertson, with the president, Mrs. Graham, presiding.

Reports were as follows: The treasurer's, given by Mrs. W. Tinker, which recorded a total savings account for Hospital improvement of $1,016.25; a current account of $50.00; and a Life Membership account of $752.30.

The Life Membership report, given by Mrs. F. M. Dela Fosse, showed a fine enrollment of 50 life members during the first year. A concise summary of the year's work was given by the secretary, Mrs. J. J. Turner; the corresponding secretary's report by Miss Evelyn Morrow; the visiting committee by Mrs. J. Comstock. It was reported by Mrs. R. Ross for the Sewing Committee that 947 articles had been sewed, thus relieving some of the pressure in the sewing department at the Hospital. Reporting for the Samaritan Cupboard, Mrs. J. Wharry stated that this well-stocked cupboard had met the needs of many patients who might otherwise have been insufficiently clothed.

The Auxiliary is planning an extensive campaign for new members and renewals during September and October, and hopes to raise the membership from 2,000 to 3,000. The membership fee of 25c is its only method of raising funds for the year's program, and the savings account is set aside as a fund for Hospital Improvement.

Elections were as follows: Honorary Presidents, Mrs. F. M. Dela Fosse, Mrs. H. A. Morrow, Mrs. R. M. Waddell.

Board Members: Mrs. W. R. L. Blackwell, Mrs. C. S. Browne, Mrs. Eva Breckenridge, Mrs. W. T. Belleghem, Mrs. J. Comstock, Mrs. D. T. Diplock, Mrs. J. Detcher, Mrs. S. J. Graham, Mrs. J. P. Halcrow, Mrs. W. C. Hughes, Mrs. J. K. Hughes.

Mrs. W. H. Hill, Mrs. J. W. Kelly, Mrs. I. T. Lillico, Mrs. J. Low, Mrs. E. V. Morphet, Mrs. M. McIntyre, Mrs. A. W. McPherson, Miss Evelyn Morrow, Mrs. F. C. Neal, Mrs. R. Ross, Mrs. A. Rosborough, Mrs. L. W. Scott, Mrs. W. Stevens, Mrs. W. Tinker, Mrs. J. J. Turner, Mrs. Ford Turner, Mrs. C. L. Upper, Mrs. C. Warrander, Mrs. J. G. Wharry.

He Is Kept Informed

Premier King has already received a number of messages telling him what he should do in the present world-wide situation. There is recorded a number of resolutions which have been passed telling him he should at once send word to Britain announcing that the people of Canada are prepared to stand solidly behind the Empire in case there is no amicable settlement of the present trouble in Czechoslovakia.

Mr. King has stated his position several times and has announced he is ready and waiting for events to reach the stage where he considers it advisable to call together the parliament of Canada and then submit to parliament the recommendations of the Government. And that is the logical and proper course for this country to follow if the supremacy of parliament is to remain as a recognized factor in this country.

We do not think it is exaggerating to say that Premier King is the best informed man in Canada on what is taking place in Europe today. That is on account of the office which he holds. He is constantly in receipt of advices from the British government, and there would be information there of such an intimate nature that much of it would never be disclosed or given out for publication. So it is undoubtedly a fact that the Prime Minister of this country is constantly receiving information which makes him a better informed individual than those who are offering advice based on lesser knowledge or information.

A Challenge To Ottawa

It does look as though the people of this country will have to settle the question of where our supreme seat of government actually is—in the provinces or at Ottawa.

This is not merely an academic question or one which might be dusted off for a dress debate, but it is an actual hard fact where the issue is being forced by several of our provinces, and now in a pointed way by Premier Aberhart of Alberta.

Premier Hepburn of Ontario is opposed to Prime Minister King and not at any time has he taken the trouble to disguise that fact. Rather does he bring it to the front on every possible occasion. Premier Duplessis of Quebec works closely with Premier Hepburn. The latest move comes from Premier Aberhart in connection with the Rowell Commission which was named by the Ottawa government to secure information from all provinces with a view to rebuilding the British North America Act.

When the Commission sat in Edmonton the Alberta government snubbed it; would give no information and would produce no witnesses. Since then the Alberta government has prepared its own memorandum.

The real move is here: Premier Aberhart has suggested to the other provincial premiers that the provinces arrange to have a meeting to see what shall be done about it, but the Federal government is to be left out in the cold. Plainly Ottawa is to be snubbed.

The Ottawa government originated the plan, named the commissioners, became responsible for financing the inquiry—and now Premier Aberhart boldly proposes to take the matter out of the hands of the central government entirely. The meaning of the whole thing is plain as a pikestaff; it is an open challenge to the central government at Ottawa and designed to produce a situation where our lesser forms of government would dominate the greater. We do not see how the government at Ottawa can ignore the situation nor do we see how Ottawa can prevent the provincial premiers coming together if they desire so to do. But back of that is the plain fact that Ottawa cannot allow a work such as it undertook through the Rowell Commission to be taken out of its hands and without its permission and handled by a group of provincial premiers.

They Used To Go West

Of course we travel much more now than was once the case. Cars account for that and it is not at all unusual to hear one say now that "this year we were through the Maritimes," a land which used to be rather neglected as far as Ontario travel was concerned.

In another way, though, we are not seeing as much of our country as we used to. In the days when it was necessary to call for harvest help in the Canadian West, and when it was possible to get to Winnipeg for $10 on a harvesters' excursion our young men went out there by the thousands and they had a fairly good chance to see the prairie country for themselves and know a good deal about it. They got some knowledge of its extent and of the manner in which work was carried on there.

When these thousands of young men came back late in the fall they had a feeling that they knew something about the West and they brought that feeling along with them as well as perhaps $50 which they had saved from their earnings. Today that movement from East to West and back again is out and done for because the West seems able to attend to its own harvest and the West of today has become a section of the Dominion which our young men have never seen and about which they know little or nothing at all.

Advertising Did It

Walter Hawkins, municipal clerk of Port Stanley on Lake Erie probably has more to do in summer months than at other times for Port Stanley is quite a holiday resort. A village clerk is supposed to know everything about the place, and he is more readily located than members of the council.

During the summer a resident looking along the beach found a set of teeth and there was not a person near at the time who looked as though he or she owned them. So the individual slipped them in his pocket and made his way to the office of Walter Hawkins, the village clerk. Whether he lodged them beside the ink well or put them in the vault or the top drawer of his desk we know not, but Mr. Hawkins started right then looking at the lost advertisements in all the papers which came his way and in due season he learned that a gentleman in Detroit had left his teeth behind after being in Port Stanley.

So that's what a few lines put in a newspaper can do. The fact that the teeth were in the office of the village clerk in Port Stanley mean little enough until it was known that they belonged to a gentleman in Detroit. So the little ad in the paper was the thing which brought those two loose ends together and put the teeth back where they belonged and where they could serve their purpose.

Horse In Its 42nd Year

A horse which was in its 42nd year has died on the farm of Walter Carruthers, who lives about three miles from Wingham in Huron county. Statistics on such matters give 30 years as about the age to which an average horse can attain, and most of them go before that time. This is the first horse of which we have heard which entered its 42nd year.

This particular horse had a strange mission in life, and it was never on pasture, its feed being mainly hay and rolled oats. Thirty-one years ago Walter Carruthers had a bad fall at a barn raising and his spine was so badly injured he was told he would spend the rest of his days in bed. After staying there for some months he purchased this horse and had a buggy so fixed that he could sit in it, but he could not drive. After a few trips to Wingham three miles distant the horse could make the trip without guidance. In time it knew enough to observe the stop sign at the highway. Almost every day since the horse and its owner have made that trip—31 years of it, and without a serious mishap. One does not need to think it over long to realize just how much Walter Carruthers will miss a friend such as his horse proved to be.

Where The Trouble Began

There is nothing official to show what disposition Britain favors for the settlement of the Sudeten issue in Czechoslovakia, and there is nothing yet to show what the French favor. And yet there are plenty of critics, many of them in United States, who are certain that Britain and France are going to "sell the Czechs down the river" as the price of keeping peace in central Europe.

If one looks at the situation in the way of cold analysis it is not difficult to come to the conclusion that the trouble today began with the carving of territory which was done at the time the Treaty of Versailles was made. In order to create a new nation people were placed inside a new national fence who had nothing in common, and this in turn soon brought to the front that very old question of minority rights. That feeling was made even more pronounced by the desire of the majority Czechs to dominate the situation. No matter which way one looks at it, and allowing that Germany has stirred the situation to its depths with a view to her own advantage, there is that ever-present condition in Czechoslovakia which can at any time become a source of trouble. Whether there is a cure for the situation is the something which the best brains of Britain and France are seeking at the moment. This paper believes it a fair statement to make — that the present trouble in Czechoslovakia had its start when the wrong people were herded together to form a new nation.

Running Without Profit

The Canadian National Railways has been running a round-trip train from Ottawa to Madawaska, Ont., and application has been made to the Board of Transport Commissioners for permission to abandon it. Permission was granted, but the stipulation was made that the train which now ran as far as Barry's Bay would have to continue and give service to Madawaska. So the railway received part of the concession they were asking, but will be under obligation to provide lesser service on this line.

The interesting feature in the proceedings was information provided by the railway showing that the operation of the Madawaska line was resulting in an annual loss of $40,000 a year. Certainly if there were nothing else to be considered apart from the finances the railroad would seem to be acting wisely in cutting off the service. That is what would be done in any ordinary business transaction. But in this case it is different. The Commissioners have a good deal to say about what the railway can or cannot do, they insisted on some sort of service to Madawaska, and we presume there will be a loss on that too.

In that way our railways are not in the independent position where they can govern their service according to the gain they can make of it; they are obligated to run trains where it does not pay. The total of this unprofitable service which they are forced to maintain we do not know, but the figure might well be formidable enough. Unfortunately we never seem to think of that when we are complaining that the railway is losing money.

NOTE AND COMMENT

It is a fortunate thing that it is not the man who estimates the attendance at the Lindsay Fair who makes out the income tax levies.

Girl in Petrolia 20 years of age said her hair turned grey when she was studying Latin. Unusual, but we have no reason to doubt it.

Thirty schools in Alberta are closed because of lack of teachers, we are told. The real explanation is not scarcity of teachers but lack of money with which to pay them.

Although there will be no Liberal candidate in the Parkdale by-election the C.C.F. will enter a standard-bearer. That of course is their privilege — ours is to help pay the cost.

One of the finest things yet stated in favor of the Home Loan plan is that so far it has provided 12,700,000 hours of work for those who were in need of it.

A transient in Montreal was arrested half a dozen times because he looked like an insane man who had escaped. The bright spot in the proceedings for him was that he was also released half a dozen times.

We have had several reports and pictures in recent days of bass weighing from 5 1-2 to 6 pounds being caught in our lakes. Such fish we think must have been pretty smart to have held out until so late in the season.

Woodstock reports it had 157 applications for one place on the Collegiate staff. Possibly all those people were of a fine type who wanted to do their teaching in a place where it was most needed.

Dr. George Stevenson, superintendent of the Ontario Hospital at London, was suspended pending an investigation, and Dr. J. R. McGeoch, his assistant, was named acting superintendent. The next move is that Dr. McGeoch is also suspended. Just how long will it before the supply of superintendents and acting superintendents runs out?

Judge A. R. Slipp, presiding in court at Fredericton, said a brand of Canadian wine was being sold in New Brunswick which should bear on the bottle the sign of skull and crossbones. He has recommended several times it should be banned because of the accidents it has caused but nothing has been done. And that leads to the short question in one word—Why?

KNOCKER

(By A. R. K.)

¶ Sylvanus Pipe talked quite a lot, let fly most everything he thought, and he was rather rough; his plaint was councillors we had, he mostly thought them pretty bad, they didn't know enough.

¶ Now take the man we have for reeve, a man he never could believe, he didn't know a thing; the only way to save his head, would be to come on him in bed, and tie it with a string.

¶ When members of the council spoke, Sylvanus thought it was a joke, they didn't know their law; Sylvanus would repeat their points, and pick out all the loosened joints, and have a great guffaw.

¶ The village clerk likewise was wrong, Sylvanus stuck in him a prong, and laughed at all he'd do; if he sat on the council there, he'd make of him a short affair, the clerk would then be through.

¶ Some person told Sylvanus Pipe, the time to change such things was ripe, it did no good to grieve; Sylvanus should get in the boat, and ask the people for their vote, and so he ran for reeve.

¶ Sylvanus campaigned and he knocked, and decent men he straightway socked, and well nigh broke his health; and when they counted up the score, Sylvanus had but one, no more—he'd voted for himself.

What's Wrong With Children ?

(By the Bureau of Statistics, Ottawa)

IT WILL be admitted that Canadian children of today, generally speaking, are not subjected to the same stern corporal punishment for wrong doing that used to be the lot of Canadian youth. The change has been quite pronounced in the last quarter of a century. We have seen a schoolmaster, the chap who belongs to the one profession outstanding among all those that try the patience—we have seen a schoolmaster hauled into court for giving a hiding to a young devil of a boy who had created an unendurable situation. A clever lawyer made the poor schoolmaster look like a savage monster. We have seen community feuds worked up over such a trivial incident. Public opinion seems to be against corporal punishment except in extreme cases. A great many school teachers have themselves taken that stand.

So if we assume that the birch rod is simply a symbolic term for punishment or discipline, we shall understand clearly what criminal statistics reveal. You can substitute or "spare the rod and spoil the child" something like this: "He that neglects discipline will ruin his child; he that withholdeth discipline is an enemy of his boy or girl."

Our Criminal Statistics Branch makes this very positive when it says: "While reasons for Juvenile Crime have never been compiled, due to the fact that this kind of information is difficult to get, as it is not given at all in the returns of Magistrates, and very scantily covered by some Juvenile Courts, still the lack of discipline at home is a big, perhaps the outstanding reason for Juvenile Crime.

"In one Maritime City, out of 97 cases for which the reason for a Juvenile being arrested was given, 73 cases, or roughly 75 per cent, were attributed to lack of discipline at home. In another Maritime city, lack of parental control was shown as the underlying reason for delinquency in 100 per cent of all given cases.

"In a group of five Ontario cities, reasons for 240 delinquencies were given, out of which 130 were attributed to lack of parental control.

"One Ontario City shows that 58 out of 62 delinquencies were stated by the authorities as being due to lack of discipline at home."

Pity the poor children—especially the child in the small family. The small family to very many people, has become the dominant view of domestic happiness. The one-child family enables parents to have more leisure for pleasure-seeking social activities. The mother, in these more regimented days of domestic duties, can leave her home more frequently than the mothers of a generation ago, with their larger families, were able to do. The constant outing becomes a fixed habit. The child is neglected—often left in the care of unskilful and irresponsible domestic help, and more often left alone. The child runs the streets, in touch with influences that are not good.

✧ ✧ ✧

PARENTAL responsibilities have been passed on, to some extent, to the courts, and particularly to the juvenile courts. It has been found that the establishment of juvenile courts, more especially in the cities, leads almost invariably to a decline in the number of juveniles brought before the courts and convicted. The records show that 8,425 children were found guilty of various offences in 1930 and six years later the number had dropped to 7,210. That was a betterment of over one thousand. Of course a great many more than that were before the courts.

Before the establishment of Juvenile Courts, juveniles were tried in the regular manner, sentenced to reformatories, etc., but a large number were given suspended and other sentences, which just put them back into the homes or under the same influences which caused them to stray into crime in the first place.

In England many years ago, the Criminal Law showed but little tenderness towards children. Up to the age of seven, a child was presumed incapable of felonious intent but a youngster of eight years who had "with malice, revenge, craft and cunning" set fire to a barn, was convicted of felony and duly hanged. Even as recently as 1833 a boy of nine years was sentenced to death for stealing an article of the value of four cents.

Children were in all respects treated by the criminal law as adults. Thrown into gaol to await trial they came in contact with hardened criminals. If finally declared innocent, there could have been little innocence left after a prison experience. The use of the rod was such an obsession in olden times that Royal families kept a "whipping boy" who carried out the abominable duty. Read "The Fortunes of Nigel."

SPOILING HOTELS.

(The Canadian Baptist)

HERE is a fair sample of what the new system means: In a small Ontario town there was, in dry days, one excellent Inn. Came the booze era. Then four more "hotels" sprang up overnight—in the old shop buildings and others of similar age. No one could imagine for a moment that the travelling trade of the town had suddenly increased so that five public houses were needed. The four new ones began. One has since faded away; the others remain. In the town it is said that in two of these no one could get a meal or a bed. As places for travel accommodation they are a delusion. The honest hotel man has secured a license to sell drink but he loathes all that is associated with that trade.

It is evident, too, that some hotels that at one time gave splendid travelling service have surrendered to the lure of the quick and easier money of the beverage room. Their places are deteriorating, their dining rooms becoming second class and their rooms poor things indeed; it means that they care little for the traveller but a great deal for the drinker.

There is no doubt but the beverage room is playing havoc with the legitimate trade of the hotels in many places, especially in the smaller ones.

ACTION!

• The Man Who Is Behind Hitler

(By F. D. R., in Brantford Expositor)

IT IS generally recognized that the man most closely identified with Hitler is Field Marshal Goering.

More than anyone else he shares the designs and ambitions of the Dictator, who places much dependence upon him. The understanding between the two is said to be perfect, according to an article in a French publication summarized by the Digest Magazine.

Goering belongs to a prominent family, and at the time of his birth his father, who had been a cavalry officer, held a diplomatic post in the United States.

As a youth he attended cadet schools in the Fatherland and in the Great War he was a well known pilot and was finally given command of the famous Squadron C.

The war over, Goering was at a loose end like so many other demobilized pilots and ultimately in 1918 he first saw Hitler in Munich in a demonstration against demands of the Allies.

After listening to Hitler's speech on that occasion, he offered him his services. They were accepted and he was placed at the head of the Storm Troopers.

This was the commencement of a staunch relationship between the two, still further strengthened when Hitler, Ludendorff and Goering and their supporters were fired upon in the streets of Munich.

Hitler escaped but was arrested a few days afterwards and Goering, seriously wounded, was carried by friends on a stretcher through the Bavarian Alps and he finally located in Austria.

His extradition was demanded and then he fled, penniless to Italy and finally to Switzerland where he failed to find employment and he and his wife pawned their last possessions.

It was not until 1926 that an amnesty enabled him to return to Germany and then he earned a precarious living at various jobs. He finally joined up again with Hitler and made speeches during propaganda tours.

Ten years ago he was one of twelve National-Socialists elected to the Reichstag. Prosperity was again smiling upon him and his house became a centre of political activity.

As Hitler rose, Goering rose with him, obtaining many high positions in which he has displayed much harshness and he is also credited with the creation of the secret police known as the Gestapo, under whose ruthless methods all political parties have been suppressed other than Nazi.

Of immense conceit, his love of uniforms and decorations has made him the butt of much joking and he likes to make displays by giving great banquets and chartering special trains with much frequency.

He is credited with violent hatreds and a love of power and display. Many of the actions of the Fuehrer are attributed to his initiative and ambition.

It is further related that in order to have his adviser near, Hitler has built for him a villa located close to his own resort at Berchtesgaden.

The opinion is further expressed that without each other's mutual stimulation, neither Hitler nor Goering would make such daring decisions as have recently disturbed the peace of Europe.

Goering's position in the State, as well as his close association with the Fuehrer, makes him a great power in the land and it is generally felt that, in the event of anything happening to the present Dictator, he would be his logical successor.

Although he is sometimes the subject of good humored ridicule, his compatriots are said to like him for the ruthlessness towards enemies, his vitriolic speeches, and his insistence upon the discipline that appeals to the Teutonic mind.

• Wrong People Were Put Together

TO THE EDITOR of the New York Sun: Sir,—Two years ago Judge Pierre Crabites, an American of international repute, wrote a life of Eduard Benes, president of Czechoslovakia. It is vital at the present moment.

To summarize Chapter 14: Prague is not the capital of a "homogeneous" country; th official census of 1930 shows a total population of 14,479,505, divided as follows: Czechoslovaks, 9,688,943; Germans, 3,231,718; Magyars (Hungarians), 692,121; Ruthenes, 569,063; Poles, 81,741; Jews, 186,474; scattered, 48,465.

Judge Crabites admits that these figures do not mean a thing. He quotes the Statistical Yearbook of Czechoslovakia as giving the number of Jews as 356,830, and Montgomery Grahame in 1928 placing the number of Magyars as 3,500,000.

The figures given by the Statesman's Yearbook (1938) are: Czechoslovaks, 9,688,770; Germans, 3,231,688; Hungarians, 691,923; Russians, 549,169; Poles, 186,642; Jewish and others, 49,636.

The point Judge Crabites makes is not the accuracy of the statistics but the fact that from the day of the Revolution (October 23, 1918), the Germans—as we now say, Sudeten Germans—have claimed the right of self-determination. They had demanded union with Austria. Benes and the peacemakers in Paris refused to concede that they could be separated from Czechoslovakia. Judge Crabites continues: "These men of the Sudetenland felt it in their heart of hearts that they were racially, culturally and morally superior to the Slavs....Their numerical inferiority kept them out of office. Their representatives in Parliament did not vote with the Slav majority."

There are fifteen parties in Parliament and the government is a coalition group. Its principal supporters are the Peasant party with 45 votes and the Social Democratic Labor party with 38 votes. In the elections of 1935 the Pan-Germans won 45 seats, under the leadership of Konrad Henlein, an obstructionist whose power is as great as that of Parnell in the House of Commons. When it is remembered that the Slovaks and the Czechs do not see eye to eye or race to race, it is clear that the task ahead of President Benes is difficult. The lesson of history is against holding a people who do not want to stay with you. The Egyptians had to let the Israelites go, and England had to let the Irish go. The peacemakers in Paris seemingly knew as little about race and geography as did General Franchet d'Esperey, who led the allied armies against Bulgaria and who—to quote Judge Crabites — "confused Czechs and Slovaks with Croats and Slovenes."

Of course it is the mineral deposits of Sudetenland that Hitler is after.

• Should Make the Taxes Hurt

NEARLY seventy per cent of the income tax of Canada comes from people with incomes of $10,000 or over, notes The Financial Post, which paper reprints some pertinent remarks made at Vancouver recently by Sir Edward Beatty. It was a plea to make people tax conscious, just as they are in the Old Land. Sir Edward said:

"We shall never cure unemployment in Canada until private enterprise revives, and private enterprise will never revive until taxation is lessened.

"The way to make taxation less of a burden is to lower it. The way to lower it is to make people realize they are paying it.

"If there is any greater delusion than that the poor man pays no taxes because the tax collector only goes to the rich man, I do not know it. It would be an actual benefit to the people in the lower income brackets if no income in Canada were free of taxation. It would be a benefit because it would bring home to the people of this country the fact that they are paying taxes."

Painless taxes result in public indifference. If every family in Canada could show a budget at the end of the year with the amount contributed in the eight per cent sales tax alone, it is doubtful if any government could get away with the impost. That eight per cent is a direct charge on wages, an objection reasonably put forth by Toronto labor men, and the spending power which comes from the payrolls of Canada is reduced by eight per cent or pretty close to it. The majority of workers can only purchase essentials these days; none are exempt from the Dominion tribute.

The theory of Sir Edward Beatty to make taxes "hurt" in order to get them lowered seems sound. There is a case in point right in Ontario at the present time. The agitation is growing into crescendo for relief from the municipal burden. The home owner is up in arms and the construction industry, even under Dominion palliative, is in the doldrums. Perhaps instead of only 217,000 people contributing over $60,000,000 in income taxation, if there were a million more who had to contribute something, based on earnings, there would develop an all round national tax consciousness which would profoundly react on government economy.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

BRETHREN, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.

Let us, therefore, as many as be perfect, be thus minded: and if in any thing ye be otherwise minded, God shall reveal even this unto you.

Nevertheless, whereto we have already attained, let us walk by the same rule, let us mind the same thing....

For our conversation is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ:

Who shall change our vile body that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself.—Phil. iii, 13-16, 20, 21.

ALTOGETHER TOO HASTY.

(London Sunday Dispatch)

A WOMAN in Japan heard a neighbor say, "What a smell!" She thought this was a reflection on her cooking and killed herself.

It turned out that the neighbor's remark was made because a boy was breaking bad eggs against a wall.

There's a warning not to jump to conclusions. We all know we shouldn't but we're all liable to do it.

Next time I am tempted to jump to a conclusion I shall think of the woman, the neighbor and eggs. Will you?

Sambo's Prayer.

An old Negro servant was seen by his master cooking a fine turkey. The master, having his suspicious as to how the turkey was obtained, asked the Negro how he got it. The servant explained that he had prayed for it, and the master had to accept the statement.

A few days later, however, he told the servant that he had put his method of getting a turkey to the test — he had prayed for a turkey — and it had failed. How did the servant explain that?

This old Negro was ready with his reply. His master had not prayed the right way evidently. For instance, if he (the servant) were to pray "Lord send Sambo a turkey," he got no turkey, but if he were to pray "Lord, send Sambo to get a turkey," he got one every time.

35 Buildings In St. Thomas Hospital Growing Into Regular Village

By William H. Hogg
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Sept. 20 (C.P.). — Scores of workmen toiled today at their task of rearing on flat Western Ontario farmlands one of the most modern plants on the continent for the treatment of mental patients. Forming a village of steel and stone, the group of buildings is going up in Yarmouth Township, two miles south of here.

Thirty-five buildings in all—many of them huge structures costing thousands of dollars—will make up the newest link in Ontario's chain of mental institutions.

Into these buildings, according to a proposal of a senior Government official, will be taken 1,500 patients from the Ontario Hospital at London if the latter institution, as also is proposed, is abandoned.

The proposal was made at London last Thursday at the opening of a Royal Commission inquiry into the operation of Ontario's mental institutions. R. A. McAllister, Deputy-Minister of Public Works, told Chairman Clifford Magone and his fellow-commissioners that the big London plant is obsolete and should be abandoned.

There will be room and to spare for the London patients in the extensive Elgin County institution. Started late last summer, it is expected to cost somewhere around $8,000,000 when the final unit of the present plan is completed. Men on the job say three buildings—the men's and women's dormitories and the huge dining hall that stands between them—will be ready for occupancy in four months.

Footings are being poured for an impressive administration building; men's and women's active treatment buildings; a reception building to include a staff hospital, isolation and out-patient facilities; and a fifth structure to be used for surgical and X-ray treatments.

Additions To Come.

Other buildings listed on plans prepared by government architects include clinics and laboratories; infirmary; workshops, assembly hall, stores and bakery, laundry, residences for superintendent, officers, farmer and staff; garage, cow stable, milk house, piggery, slaughter house, horse stable, hennery and root house.

The hospital is being built within a mile of the farm of Premier Mitchell Hepburn who has taken a personal interest in the progress of the work. It is being carried on under the joint direction of the health and public works departments.

Little more than a year ago, three typical Ontario farms occupied most of the 400 acres that form the hospital site. These were purchased from James Todd, Bob Hepburn and Mrs. Dale, owner of the John Pressey farm. Other properties were bought from George Cross, Mrs. Dan Parish and Hugh Cassidy.

Queenston Stone is being used in the reinforced-steel and concrete buildings and they are at once utilitarian and artistic. Tunnels will connect them and landscaping is planned to make the site a beauty spot.

No expense apparently has been spared in making the individual units fits the purpose they will serve. Even the barred windows are done in attractive metal design. Modern block glass is used at stairway turns and for some partitions. Washrooms are tiled and contain the latest in sanitary facilities.

The big job is helping solve unemployment in Elgin and adjacent Middlesex as unskilled workmen from these counties are given the preference. In addition many craftsmen are being employed.

Marmora Churches Hold Thanksgiving

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, Sept. 20.—Harvest thanksgiving services were held in the Anglican parish of Marmora on Sunday with Rev. G. A. Gordier, B.A., incumbent of Bancroft, officiating throughout the day. At St. Paul's, the interior was richy adorned with autumnal flowers and leaves and these with vegetables and fruits in fine display were truly representative of the glories of harvest.

Good congregations at matins and evensong listened attentively to the impressive messages brought by the preacher of the day who in the morning chose as his text Rev. 14-15: "Thrust in the sickle and reap; for the time is come for thee to reap; for the harvest of the earth is ripe," while in the evening he discoursed on the good characteristics of the life of King Josiah.

At the evensong a trio comprising Mesdames P. Gray and C. Nichol and W. J. Cottrell rendered "To Thee O Lord, Our Hearts We Raise."

At Holy Trinity which was also beautifully decorated, the Thanksgiving service was held at 3 p.m. with Mrs. L. R. Rundle officiating at the organ and members of St. Paul's choir assisting.

The Stars Say . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, September 21.

According to the lunar transits, this should be a day of very expansive interests, with enlarged prospects of increasing the fortunes by fresh opportunities, increased prestige and by the substantial co-operation of those of influence and authority. It would be well to cultivate these, both in business and social contact, since employment, capital, political or diplomatic or fraternal relations may depend upon their unqualified approval. But use discretion and finesse in your approaches rather than direct action.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves on the threshold of a year of splendid opportunities for increasing the fortunes, enlarging the scope of their activities and expanding their personal, business and social prestige. Beneficial conditions in employment, especially where political, diplomatic or fraternal associations are concerned, seem to beget openings to be taken advantage of by finesse or tact.

A child born on this day may be splendidly endowed with all those qualities and factors making for conspicuous success in life, with promise of reaching high station and probably public acclaim. It may have a just, noble and proud nature.

Cavan Institute To Send Aid West

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAVAN, Sept. 20.—Mrs. Lavergne Fallis was hostess on Thursday afternoon for the September meeting of the Cavan Women's Institute when fifteen members responded to the roll call naming something which she kept in her medicine cupboard. There was discussion concerning relief, and especially one case where help had been asked, by a family in Saskatchewan.

Mesdames Carr, Matchett and Staples were appointed a committee to purchase and send a pair of flannelette blankets. The treasurer's report showed that sixteen dollars had been realized by the corn roast recently held at Mrs. Lloyd Sutton's home, and that thirteen dollars was the balance on hand.

A sale table of ten cent articles added one dollar and fifteen cents to the funds at the close of the meeting. Mrs. R. A. Suton who was appointed to take the buymanship course at Millbrook, found herself unable to take it. After discussion Mrs. Melville Carr was appointed in her place. The matter of sending a delegate to the W.I. convention in Toronto in November was left over until the October meeting.

Mrs. R. Matchett, convenor of the hostess group, introduced the guest speaker, Mr. Hodgers, superintendent of the Children's Shelter in Port Hope.

In his opening remarks, Mr. Hodgers told the ladies that he did not like the name "shelter," and that they had named the home, "Hillcrest Lodge."

His address was interesting and informative, as he outlined the work which is done by the fifty-two societies in Ontario, which for forty-five years have been working to benefit unfortunate and neglected children. The head office for these societies is at Queen's Park, Toronto, under the social and welfare department.

Many of his hearers were surprised to hear how far-reaching the work is, and the many calls of different kinds received at his office, often from the provincial police, asking for investigations into moral conditions in homes in different parts of the county.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Hodgers. Mrs. Hodgers accompanied him and they were guests of the Institute at the tea hour. Lunch was served by Mrs. R. Matchett's group. Several visitors were present.

TWO WORLDS

By MAUD McCURDY WELCH

CHAPTER 46

A minute later Noel was letting herself down from the window. She was caught in a pair of burly arms, but they did not belong to Nick.

INSTEAD OF Nick, who was supposed to be waiting at the window to catch Noel as she dropped, it was Bill.

"Jus' what I tho't," the bullet-headed man ejaculated, as he still held Noel's arm in his powerful grasp.

"Let me go," Noel cried, trying vainly to wrench her hand from his grip.

"I'll let you go when I get youse back in de house," he exclaimed firmly. The next minute he had lifted her to his huge shoulder and was carrying her back into the house, back up the stirs to the room where she had been a captive.

Where could Nick be? Why had he failed her, Noel asked herself the questions desperately.

The two men who had been on guard outside the door stared at Bill in open-mouthed astonishment. "Jumped outen the window," Bill explained. "But I was layin' for her."

"A darn good thing you was," one of the men commented.

Back in the garish room, Noel threw herself on the couch, and beat with desperate fists against the pillows, fighting back the tears. She wouldn't give way. She wouldn't! But she was much nearer the breaking point than she knew.

Suddenly she realized that the blond you man had come quietly back into the room. He didn't even glance at her.

Noel sat up. "I'm sure you were trying to help me," she began "and I'm gratsful."

"Please don't talk," he said in a hoarse whisper.

Noel sensed a note of unsteadiness in his voice. She now knew without doubt that he was on her side. This gave her a little ray of hope. If he had tried to help her once, wouldn't he try to again? But for the present she decided to do as he had told her so many times. Keep silent.

The night wore on. Noel sat still as long as she could. Then she rose and defiantly went to the window. The stars were giving way to the first faint steaks of dawn.

She expected to be commanded to come away from the window, but instead, when she turned back the young man was looking at her, a surprising warm in his eyes. She came back and stood near him.

"What is your name?" she asked. "You see, if—if I get out of this situation, I'll want to know it."

"I can't think why," he said, his voice growing sullen again

"I can think of a dozen reasons," Noel said. Then added, "But of course if you won't tell me your name—"

"Listen," the blond young man began, but he was interrupted by the abrupt opening of the door. The gray-haired man came in followed by Bill. "Let herself down de windo'," Bill was murmuring. "woulda been gone by now—but I been awaitin' for hours."

"That's enough, Bill," the other man ordered. He looked at the blond young man, his face grim and threatening. "You'll get yours, Vincent. You'll lose your life just because of a pretty face. Well—men have done that before, and probably will again." He shrugged and turned to Noel. "This is your last chance to write that note. Are you ready?"

"You wanted me to write the note to my uncle?" she asked.

He nodded grimly. "And be quick about it."

My uncle is in Chicago. It would take much longer to write him. Besides, my money is here."

"In your name?" the man questioned.

She nodded.

"Then all you'd have to do is to write a check?"

Noel nodded again. She was going to write the check. Nick had failed her. There wasn't anything else she could do now but give in, although Nick had warned her that they wouldn't release her even then.

"What bank?" came the quick question. She told him and a check was brought immediately. "Write it out for 50,000 and be quick about it," came the curt command.

Fifty thousand! That would take about all Noel had. She had planned to do so much with that money. She took the pen, drew the check near and began writing.

She was filling in the amount when the door was thrown open and a voice cried: "Hands up!"

It was Nick. He was standing there with a revolver in both hands, one leveled at each man.

"You double-crossing, lying—"

"Shut up!" Nick held the guns steadily, while he gave instructions to the blond young man, barking them out in his tight-lipped voice. "Tie them up—roll them over in the corner—do a good job and do it quick." Then he told Noel to go downstairs and get into the red car standing in the driveway.

Noel lost no time in obeying. Outside the door, the two men who had been on guard were lying securely bound. Noel hardly saw them.

Ten minutes later, Nick and the blond young man joined Noel in the car. Nick took the wheel, driving slowly at first, because there didn't seem to be a road, just a sort of rough lane through a corn field. It seemed to Noel that they were heading right into a barbed-wire fence. She watched in alarm.

Just before they reached the fence Nick got out of the car, and did something mysterious to a tall post, inside the field, which had numerous wires at the top. Suddenly the part of the fence standing directly in front of the car slid to the ground. Nick drove the car over it. Noel saw that this part of the fence was evidently controlled by an electric switch. No one ever would have suspected that it was a gate.

Nick didn't take time to close the fence again, but began driving rapidly and soon the car was on a highway.

When they reached a part of the road where there was some scattered traffic, Nick slowed up the car, ordered the young man to get out, first warning him to keep his mouth closed.

He stepped lightly from the slow moving car, raised his hand in salute. Then Nick was driving rapidly again.

He was an expert driver. The car simply ate up the miles. But when they were at last on the outskirts of the city, he had to slow down again. It certainly wouldn't do to get arrested for speeding.

This gave Noel a chance to ask some of the questions she had pondered over for so long. First she asked the name of the blond young man who had helped them. She knew part of his name, but that wouldn't enable her to find him and reward him as she expected to do.

Nick told her that his name was Ray Vincent. Then demanded brusquely: "What's it to you?"

Noel ignored his question. "What about the Garwoods? Why was I under suspicion?"

Nick was silent a moment. Then said: "Suppose you might as well know now since you're not going to—" he broke off then, and resumed after a moment. "You see, the real Fay Garwood is dead. The woman in her house is Agnes Barnes, who was Mrs. Garwood's maid. It was easy enough for Agnes to step into Fay Garwood's shoes when she died in a little foreign town where she was unknown, and where she was buried under the name of her maid." Nick stopped then and gave his attention to the wheel. Noel saw that they were now leaving the city behind. "Where are you going?" she exclaimed in alarm.

Nick shrugged and went on with his story. "When Agnes and Hichens used all the cash Mrs. Garwood had on hand, a considerable amount, they came over here to plan some way to get more money. They were handicapped until you came along and they found to their joy that your handwriting was virtually identical with the real Fay Garwood's."

Noel was almost stunned by Nick's revelations. But she didn't have time to give them much thought now. She was too anxious over Nick's intentions. "I insist on knowing why you didn't stop in town," she said firmly.

I'll be a hunted man from now on," Nick told her. "Have to get out of the country at once. And I'm taking you with me."

Goodnight Story

By MAX TRELL

Poor Knarf! He felt very disappointed. It was a rainy day and he had gone out into the meadow to do a good deed. He wanted to invite all the creatures who were out in the rain to come and stay under the back steps of the house, where it was nice and dry.

But none of them would come. The frog liked the rain, and the beetle thought rainy days were the best days of all.

"Nobody wants to come under the steps and keep dry," the shadow boy told himself in a sad voice. "I guess I'll go back home." From the garden wall he could see into the playroom where the two children—Frank and Dinah—were sitting by the window with their faces pressed against the glass. They were just watching the rain, wishing it would stop so they could get out and play.

Wings Are Wet.

Knarf was just starting down the garden patch, which was dotted with rain-puddles, when all at once he heard a faint little voice saying:

"I know a place where it's dry."

"Oh! How wet my wings are! I'll never be able to fly again." Knarf looked under the hedge. And there, clinging to the underside of a leaf, was a butterfly. The rain was dripping on it through a hole in the leaf and its beautiful yellow and black wings were damp and wrinkled.

"Just see how wet my wings are," it said to Knarf. "If only I could find a dry spot to stand in."

He Knows Place.

"I know a place where it's dry. It's under the back steps of the house." Then Knarf picked up the butterfly and put it carefully under his coat and ran with it as fast as he could until he reached the place under the steps. Then he opened his coat and put it on a little dry stone.

Little by little her wings dried. Then all at once the rain stopped and the sun came out. The rain drops on the leaves shone like diamonds. "My wings are dry!" the butterfly cried joyfully. "Thank you! You've saved my life!" Then she waved good-bye to Knarf and flew out into the sunshine. And when the children saw her they smiled to each other. "The storm is over," they said. "We just saw a butterfly! Now we can go out and play!"

8 Of a Toll In Scotia

HALIFAX, Sept. 20—(CP).—The highest death toll in many months was recorded in Nova Scotia to-day after a week-end during which eight persons met death either through drowning or as the result of highway accidents.

Ontario's First Horse Car

In 1861, Toronto citizens enthusiastically greeted Ontario's first horse car. Not until more than a quarter century later however, did the first electric trams in the province rumble through the streets of Windsor and St. Catharines.

Long before these important events, in 1847, the Canada Life issued its first policy. It was then the only Canadian life insurance company — a distinction which it held for almost twenty years.

For ninety-one years, through war and epidemic, through twelve major depressions, the Canada Life has met its obligations promptly and in full. Among the strongest of co-operative organizations, today its policyholders have well over $800,000,000 of insurance.

New Product Launched With Banquet

The "Big Apple Loaf," a bread product as new as the Big Apple dance, made its debut in Peterborough last night at the Empress Hotel when a large loaf of bread in which reposed a large red apple was unveiled before 72 heads and employees of the Purity Bread Company, Ltd., as the opening shot in a district wide campaign.

Large District Represented.

Fred Ford, manager of the Peterborough branch in this city was host at the banquet, and extended a warm welcome to the visiting representatives from Toronto, Kingston, Lindsay as well as the entire staff of the local organization. Earl Vanstone, manager at Lindsay, and Vincent Doyle, Kingston manager, were among the guests, along with William Britton, production manager, W. E. Gordon, general manager of the company, Dr. Stanley, bacteriologist and Miss Dorothy Batchelor, B.H.Sc., all of Toronto. Al Bush and Ted Judd of Toronto office were also introduced.

Mr. Gordon lauded the employees for the fine way they have met competition during the past few months and added that the rules of the company stressed they must compete only on the highest levels of competition. "We want you to be proud you are associated with the House of Purity," he stated. In a straight from the shoulder type of speech he voiced faith in their ability to deliver and congratulated them on the record for business since the year started.

He desribed in detail the program which had been planned and voiced his faith in its ultimate success, and gave a brief outline of the company's aims, which includes the introduction of group insurance for the employees.

Mr. Gordon introduced Dr. Stanley who was formerly associated with Dr. Charles Gordon, famous as the man who introduced Marquis wheat to Canada. Dr. Stanley explained the part the laboratory plays in bread making to-day. He told of the careful selection of ingredients, of the constant lookout for possible contamination and the ever present task of incorporating in each loaf the health giving vitamins for which the Purity bread is noted.

Donald McKinnon, advertising manager of the company, gave a detailed account of the advertising campaign which was underway to acquaint the public with the new bread and introduced Don Henshaw, of A. McKim, Ltd., oldest firm of advertising counsellors in Canada.

Mr. Henshaw, recognized as one of the most virile speakers in Canada, enthralled his audience with an address that sparkled with humour, pathos and which pictured the lives of three men all of whom attained their objectives but by different means and in vastly different ways. He put new confidence and gave inspiration to the employees who heard the talk.

A highlight of the evening's entertainment was an exhibition of the "Big Apple" by Eileen Britton and her partner Curly Elford, both of Toronto and later the three district managers were given a lesson in the modern dance while the audience roared its approval. Later Miss Britton, who is a professional entertainer, gave solo exhibition of acrobatic dancing, that was particularly difficult and remarkably well done.

The Smarties, a vocal trio who are heard daily over the radio, sang "The Old Apple Tree in the Orchard" and the "Little Yellow Basket." They are Vida Guthrie, Doris Scott and Doris Ward, with the first named at the piano. Harold Barton, an employee of the company in Peterborough, gave a xylophone solo and imitations on a snare drum.

stage would have been to keep Czechoslovakia in consultation all the way through—she is after all a member of the League of Nations as well as an ally of France—and then to have secured the opinion of the League upon any proposal . . .

"It (the assumed decision) may avert the present danger. But Europe will have to find some better foundation for peace than policies devised as this one has been."

The Daily Express (Independent) held that the "danger of war over the loyalties of 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans and their distressed areas where unemployment prevails is past . . . It seems likely that Czechoslovakia acquiescence to an act of partition will be forthcoming"

It added:

"Let it be said that no responsibility whatever rests with Great Britain for this unhappy ending to a state that set out with such high expectations.

"We have no guarantee to respect or protect Czech territory. We were asked in explicit terms for such a pledge. Definitely and positively, we refused to give it."

The Daily Mail (Independent):

"Unanimous acceptance by the French Government of Mr. Chamberlain's peace plan shows Great Britain and France once again are in complete agreement at a critical moment in European history.

"Together they have concerted practical measures to save the world from war. These measures will be firmly supported by both countries whose governments enjoy the confidence of the people.

"The statesmen who have averted disaster deserve lasting honor. Britain feels deep gratitude for the steadfast common sense of Mr. Chamberlain who has done so much to maintain peace . . .

"Prague can accept the Anglo-French plan and by ceding part of Sudetenland to Germany can peacefully be transformed into a settled Czech state with its security guaranteed by the powers."

(storm troops) men also were being recruited for "free corps" duty.

In other words, Chancellor Hitler is restraining Germany's armed forces from officially taking part in border exchanges—at least as long as his second meeting with Prime Minister Chamberlain has not yet been held.

Standing by Sudetens

By strengthening the free corps with seasoned armed men, however, Germany is standing by the Sudeten refugees.

Each report emphasized Czech detachments kept firing even after the fugitives reached German soil, and thus were guilty of border violation.

The agency, in a Schmiedeberg dispatch, said the Sudeten Germans wore Czech uniforms and carried Czech weapons. They were trying to reach German soil together with civilian fugitives.

The dispatch said a Czech frontier detachment fired indiscriminately at the fugitives, among them many women and children coming chiefly from Gross-Aupa and Klein-Aupa.

The fugitives threw themselves to the ground to escape rifle and machine-gun fire which came presumably from Czech customs sheds.

They tried to reach the border, crawling.

When the shooting was resumed at 5:15 a.m., deserting Sudeten German soldiers from the Trautenau infantry regiment opened fire and threw several hand grenades into a customs shed. The shed burned to the ground.

Fifteen Czech soldiers, according to the agency, had been lying next to the customs shed with two machine-guns and retreated in the direction of Neuhaeusel, leaving behind them in the burning shed one gendarme killed by hand grenades.

No harm resulted to the customs officials. Three women and two children, Sudeten fugitives, were injured by machine-gun fire.

INCREASED ATTENDANCE

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 20. — A report from C. S. Haig, principal of the Public School here indicates that there has been an increase in the number of students registered in the senior classes this year. According to the principal the number of pupils have increased from 425 in 1937 to 440 with forty-five pupils in the entrance class alone.

Hitler Has Put New Life In German Nation

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 20. — Miss Hazel Atkinson, member of the Public school teaching staff in Campbellford, who toured eleven European countries this summer, gave an interesting account of conditions as she saw them to Rotarians at their weekly luncheon here Monday. In a swift easy manner which commanded the rapt attention of her listeners she carried them through central Europe into the countries which form the focal point of the present crisis.

Although on arrival in Europe during the early summer there was actually less talk of war than was seen in the Canadian newspapers, there was an underlying feeling that "something was materializing." While in Switzerland the sight of hundreds of motor cars filled with soldiers showed that they, too, were taking no chances on developments.

Tourists Go To Germany.

Of all the countries visited, the speaker dealt most carefully with Germany where it was stated tourists were attracted by a strong publicity bureau which sold the German Reichmark for twenty-three cents in neighboring foreign countries while the same mark would cost forty cents in Canadian money on entering the country. This bargain was purely to encourage people to travel in Germany where they were met at the border and asked to declare every cent of money they carried both on entering and leaving, thus providing an accurate check for the authorities and incidentally preventing money from being smuggled out of the country.

It was in Nuremburg that the guide took special pains to draw attention to Jewish people entering their Synagogue. 'You can see by this that we allow them freedom of religion' stated the guide, who proceeded to explain Germany's purge by saying that in Nuremburg eighty per cent of the lawyers were ews and that all the top ranking positions had formerly been swinging in their direction to the exclusion of Germans.

Sounded Hitler's Praises.

Asked what she thought of Hitler, a German woman's face lighted up as she spoke his praises telling how the formerly oppressed Germans were now free, that those who had been starving had plenty to eat and that there was work for all.

In Vienna, where the people seemed extremely sad but were nevertheless courteous and friendly, the guide went to great pains to explain that the Danube was not as blue as it should be owing to the large amount of mud carried into it by recent rains.

Berlin, the German capital, was seething with activity as old buildings were being torn down to make way for more modern ones. Many monuments are being removed to facilitate the widening of roads and this will in turn facilitate troop movements from one end of the country to the other. At the Berlin airport which is fast being expanded, one hundred and thirty-four planes arrive and leave daily. Among the buildings under construction is a beer garden which will ultimately accommodate from forty to fifty thousand people.

Rotarian T. E. Hall moved the thanks of the club to the speaker for her interesting address. It was announced that the meeting next Monday would be held in the evening when the District Governor would be present.

The service was conducted by Rev. E. C. Moore, assisted by Canon J. D. Paterson of Peterborough, in Holy Trinity Anglican Church.

Although in failing health for some time, and in her seventy-second year, her only word of complaint was that she could not attend church service as often as she would like. Seek To Close Trout Season On October 1

Executive members of the Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association meeting Monday night re-affirmed their stand on an earlier closing of the season on lake trout in the waters of the Kawartha chain. They hope to convince the Department of Game and Fisheries that the closed season should start on October 1 instead of the fifteenth as at present.

Under existing legislation there is a closed season on lake trout from October 15th to November 15th, both days inclusive, the law being passed because the trout spawn during this period. Very often however in a year when the cold weather comes early, the fish spawn earlier and the closed season comes too late to give any protection. The trout come inshore, on shallows and rocky shoals to spawn, the male first cleaning a spot to be followed by the females who may be seen by the thousands. At this period they are easily caught.

Protect Lake Trout.

The attitude of the members is that the lake trout deserve as much protection as the lunge, and they feel that a closed season starting not later than October 5th, and preferably on October 1st would give the protection necessary and would be effective regardless of the weather conditions prevailing. The fish are given indirect protection by the fact that fishing through the ice is forbidden and no person is allowed to fish trout in waters inhabited by bass and lunge during the closed season for that specie.

In reply to a letter from the Department of Game and Fisheries which asked for the Association's opinion on whether the breeding areas in the Kawarthas closed during the past two years, should be kept closed for another term, a resolution was passed unanimously endorsing such a plan. They added however that there may be one possible exception, and that being the sanctuary near Sandy Creek in Buckhorn Lake. In this case the local game overseer, Irven J. Lyons will be asked to investigate and if found to be working a hardship or inconvenience on any person, a change will be made to correct the same.

Improved Fishing.

The meeting was unanimous that the setting up of these protected areas had greatly improved the fishing in the Kawarthas particularly in Stoney Lake, where reports indicate bass fishing is better than it has been in several years.

A resolution was passed commending the Dept. of Game and Fisheries for its reported intention of discontinuing issuance of licenses to transient fur buyers north of the French and Mattawa Rivers and requested that these licenses be discontinued entirely in this province.

The president, Fred Maahall, was authorized to appoint a committee to redraft the Constitution and the by-laws of the Association.

A suggestion that the Association hold a shooting match was discussed freely but nothing definite was done and the Entertainment Committee was asked to report on the feasibility of such a plan. It was hoped to have rifle shooting, shotgun competition and possibly some skeet shooting. Refreshments would be served on the grounds.

Amateur Contest Is Being Planned

The Peterborough Lion's Club is making plans to repeat this year its spectacular success of last spring, the Amateur Contest, as a means of raising funds to carry on its charitable work.

The date for the projected concert has not yet been determined, but club officials are confident the show will be even better than last year. Another project they will sponsor this year will be a performance of Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Gondoliers," to be presented by the Eaton Operatic Society. Again no date has been set.

The club received its financial statement with satisfaction, noting a balance to their credit for the fiscal year of $114.76. Total gross receipts were $3,045.64, while disbursements were 2,930.88.

U.S. Grabs Gold Bricks Life Savings Of 2 Immigrants

Buffalo, N.Y., Sept. 20 (AP)

A FEDERAL JUDGE ordered an Italian woman and her son to forfeit their life savings, two gold bricks valued at $1,250, to the government.

Judge Harold Burke ordered the gold bricks belonging to Mrs. Virginia Venturoli and her son, Robert, 21, forfeited yesterday because Mrs. Venturoli did not declare the bricks when she came through the United States customs from Italy.

Hastings Boys Spent Summer Tobacco Farm

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Sept. 20.—Six industrious local youths have returned from Delhi, Norfolk country, where they spent practically two months working at the tobacco harvest. The boys are: Kitchener Smith, Gus Faux, Elmer Faux, Vernon Phillips, Paul Coughlan and Jack Coughlan. They left here July 20 and each one had a job arranged before their arrival at Delhi.

Three Dollars a Day.

On the average they worked a ten hour day and each received $3 per day for the entire harvest. They slept in a bunkhouse provided for them and cooked their own meals. Smith and Phillips have completed their second year in tobacco fields but the others were beginners.

The boys were accompanied by their employer, Frank Hall, to Hastings.

Employed 15 Men.

Mr. Hall said he was owner of an average sized tobacco farm and employed fifteen men for the harvest annually. "The Hastings boys are the finest lot I ever had on my farm. They are way above the average," he remarked in a distinct southern accept. Most of the boys intend to return to Delhi with Mr. Hall and expect to get work in the factory for the winter, he said.

Mr. Hall briefly outlined the growing and harvesting of tobacco during the summer season. Hot beds are prepared the end of March and the seed is sown up till the tenth of April and transplanted to the fields about May 24. The ground has previously been prepared with 1,000 lbs. commercial fertilizer per acre and poison for cut worms. The tobacco is cultivated and hoed till it reaches about knee length when topping begins. This is a process of removing the top of the plant to prevent it from going to seed. In about a week the suckers must be removed. This is a small plant which robs the tobacco of growth.

The bottom or sand leaves are first removed when pulling starts. Three leaves at a time are removed for about five pullings before the plant has been stripped.

The leaves are hung in kilns, strung on laths for about four days while the curing process is carried out. It is then removed from the kilns to a barn where it rests until the tobacco companies begin buying about Oct. 1. It is then baled and shipped to the purchaser.

Mr. Hall said he had about 40,000 lbs. of tobacco this year and expects to get 30c or better per pound for his entire stock.

Child Injured Crossing Street

Adele Gardiner, aged 8, of Sophia street was knocked down and received cuts and bruises today at noon when she was struck by a bicycle on Hunter street hill as she came home from school. Stanley McBride the rider of the bicycle was thrown off his machine falling heavily on his shoulder and injured his right wrist.

McBride, an employee of the Westclox was riding down the hill from work when the Gardiner girl with two other school children darted from behind a car parked on the north side of Hunter street to cross the paved road in the centre of the hill. McBride swerved sharply to the right and succeeded in missing two of the girls but struck the other. He had the girl taken to a doctor in Pat Hayden's car and reported the accident to police.

The incident serves to illustrate the need for dismissing school children five minutes before the factory whistles blow in order that they may be well on their way home by twelve and would escape all heavy traffic. At the present time the pupils from King George School and Westclox employees are coming down the hill at the same time, and at Hunter and Mark streets pupils from the Immaculate Conception School have to cross Hunter street while being menaced by a steady stream of cars from both the Westclox and from the downtown factories.

Cacti Bloom

Two rare century cacti blossomed at the same hour Monday night in two Peterborough homes. Neither owner was aware the other's plant was in flower until late at night. At LEFT is Shirley Hetherington looking at her mother's plant, larger of the two that bloomed. Owner is Mrs. W. R. Hetherington, R.R. No. 2, Peterborough. At RIGHT, Mrs. A. C. Simmons, 250 Euclid Avenue, watches the beautiful flower unfurl. The plants bloom only once in several years, always at night, close again at midnight, and the bloom is dead in the morning.

Nurses and M.O.H. Deny Epidemic Of Impetigo In City Schools

A rumor that impetigo was rampant in many of the Public and Separate schools of the city has been denied by school nurses and the Medical Officer of Health, Dr. G. Murray Fraser.

Miss Jory of the Public School Health staff in answer to the rumour said there are a number of cases of impetigo in several schools but only the usual amount that is to be expected following the summer vacation period. Within a few weeks it will be all cleared up, she added. Miss Helen Gainey, Separate school nurse, voiced the same statement and said the rumor that there was an epidemic was ridiculous. She said a few parents neglected to keep their children at home when they were sent after the disease had been spotted and this interfered somewhat with a quick clean-up. She estimated the total number of cases in the four Catholic schools at from 15 to 18.

Dr. Fraser stated all pupils sent home from school had to obtain a certificate from the Department of Health before they could return as a final check on the disease, and he further added he had only seen seven or eight so far this year. The disease which usually breaks out on the face, knees and arms is not particularly dangerous, but is very contagious and rather difficult to check.

Salesman Offers To Sell Farms Through U.S. Radio Station

A smart looking, smooth talking gentleman who calls himself the "Lone Cowboy," has come out of the south with a proposition to farmers that has all the earmarks of a first-class racket.

This man claims he can sell Canadian farms to wealthy Americans for twice their value and all he asks is one hundred dollars for putting the deal across. He says he broadcast over a small Pittsburgh radio station and the one hundred dollars will cover a broadcast every night for four weeks, in which he will extoll the beauties of the farms which he has to sell.

He claims farms in this locality are particularly desirable. They are close to the lakes, close to golf courses, and within a stone's throw of a large city, in short they have requirement that a wealthy American could wish for, if he were looking for a summer home with privacy. Many men exist and he contacts them through his radio broadcast.

Obtained One Cheque.

He obtained a cheque for one hundred dollars from a well-known Smith township farmer, but this man has no radio and does not know whether the broadcast went on the air or not. He believes he has been the victim of a smooth racket and passed the information along so that other farmers will think twice before they hand out their hard earned money to a complete stranger. It is known that the young man contacted several farmers along Highway 28 in North Monaghan township with the same proposition.

He was driving a late model car which was in beautiful condition, and explained to several farmers that this car had been given him as a gift by a farmer who was so pleased with the price when his farm was sold to an American. A large diamond which he wears is also a gift from a satisfied customer, according to the salesman. The farmers whom he interviewed remembers that this young man told them he had 116 farms listed since he started selling them and of the lot, 104 had already been disposed of at neat profits to the owners. He is believed to be still working in the district, and if his proposition is bona-fide he should have little hesitation in giving farmers all the details, including the name of the radio station, hour of broadcast, prove his identity and answer any other pertinent questions.

Restricting the speed of vehicles on Monaghan Road and Park street to 30 miles an hour and the erection of the proper signs at the intersections affected was approved by bylaw.

The clerk was instructed to sell 150 cords of wood from the wood yard and a special meeting of the council was called for Saturday morning at 9.30 to inspect a woodlot near Stoney Lake.

Next year the taxes will be collected in two instalments and for this purpose the 1938 assessment roll will be used. The township assessor has also been instructed to make a check on the new building in the township and the lots sold and have some of the assessments equalized.

Return From the Tobacco Harvest

These five ambitious Hastings youths have returned from Delhi, Norfolk County, accompanied by their employer, Frank Hall, where they spent the past two months working in the tobacco fields. Each worked full time during the harvest and received on an average of $3 per day. They slept in a bunkhouse and cooked their own meals. All agree the work was not hard and were very much satisfied with their earnings. LEFT to RIGHT: Gus Faux, Paul Coughlan, Kitchener Smith, Elmer Faux, Vernon Phillips and Frank Hall.

STILL GOING NORTH

The rather unpleasant weather recently may be driving some of our own people who had planned to stay through September home from the lake region but tourists are still moving northward. An Ohio party with a canoe tied to the top of the car was seen heading for the lake district Monday.

100 PER CENT

Attending the Peterborough Rotary Club Monday night, Governor Harry Rockwell, head of the 169th Rotary district announced that he had been present at a 100 per cent meeting yesterday, the first time in his Rotary connection that he had had that experience. The good showing was made by the Lindsay Club which he visited.

A REAL MUSKIE

Ford Campbell continues to land the big ones and doesn't go far from his home to perform the feat. This morning he battled a 26 pound muskie to a finish while casting from a canoe in the Otonabee just below the street Railway wharf. He was using a plug bait manufactured by Red Edgar on Sherbrooke street. Two weeks ago Campbell caught a lunge weighing 28½ pounds in the same stretch of water.

CAR IS STOLEN

An automobile belonging to H. Vincent, Douro street, was stolen on Brock street Monday night, a few minutes after its owner had parked it there and up to noon today no trace of the missing machine had been found, although the theft was reported by local police to the departments of other centres in the district shortly after the car disappeared.

HOLD WEINER ROAST

The members of St. John's Teen Age group held a very enjoyable weiner roast at the home of Mrs. George Groombridge, Rogers street, Monday evening. It had been intended to hold the affair out-of-doors but the rain drove the members of the party indoors where the evening passed pleasantly in games, dancing and music.

DRIVING THEM IN

Wet and cool weather is having the result of causing an increased demand for over-night shelter at the police station. During the warm months there were very few applications for lodging but recently the knights of the road are not so anxious to sleep outside preferring the police station where they are warm and dry, even if the beds are not noted for their softness.

SCARLET FEVER CASES

Another case of scarlet fever developed here Monday and the child patient was taken to the Queen Mary Isolation Hospital. This is the fourth case to be taken care of in that institution in the last few weeks. One of the first three patients has already been discharged and another will go home this week.

A LITTLE AWKWARD

A Port Hope woman called at the police station Monday to protest against a "ticket" that had been left in her car for double-parking on George street, claiming that she had only left her machine there momentarily. The awkward part of the situation came however when she was asked for her driving license and discovered after a search that she had left it at home in another purse.

AGED WOMAN INJURED.

Mrs. Lenahan, age 88, an inmate at the House of Providence, received a fractured hip recently and is confined to St. Joseph's Hospital. The elderly lady had retired for the night when she suddenly decided she would get out of bed, but her actions attracted one of the Sisters who found her sitting on the side of the bed. A few minutes later the Sister returned to see if the woman was sleeping, but found she had evidently fallen from the sitting position to the floor, receiving her injury.

WRECKING BUILDING.

The old building at the south-east corner of Aylmer and Charlotte streets, until recently a service station is falling before the axes of the wrecking crew. The building was built more than a century ago, and the property was purchased about 85 years ago by Robert Tanner who had a cobbler's shop there. Later F. L. Robinson had a carriage shop there and the Robinson home stood where Ivan Lillico's new garage and show rooms is built. The corner was known for years as the Robinson corner. With the demolition of the old building it will present an entirely different appearance.

Chamberlain's Visit To Hitler Called Act Of Sublime Courage

"It was an act of sublime courage", declared District Governor Harry Rockwell, head of the 169th District of Rotary International during his address to the Peterborough Rotary Club on Monday night on the occasion of his official visit, and his remark was in reference to the efforts made by Premier Chamberlain in seeking to avert a world war.

"I wish to pay tribute", said Governor Rockwell "to the prime minister of this Empire for endeavoring to reach an understanding. It was a very gracious act that a man who occupies the greatest position in all the world so far as diplomatic service is concerned should consent to confer with an individual who a short time ago was a paper hanger in Austria. Whatever the ultimate outcome may be we are grateful that he had the courage to perform that service that has postponed, perhaps permanently, a great tragedy."

Governor Rockwell who is the president of the State Teachers' College at Buffalo, N.Y., was introduced by President James Dutton and his address on the aims and objects of Rotary was thoroughly appreciated. He began by telling Rotarians something about their own district which he said contained 32 Canadian and 22 American clubs and was one of the 15 Rotary districts which contained more than 50 clubs. It was also one of the most far-flung stretching in length 750 miles from Erie, Pa., to the towns in Northern Ontario.

Like A Fairy Tale

The story of the growth of Rotary read like a fairy tale, the speaker said. The great social idea started by Paul Harris in Chicago in February, 1905 has gone round the world and captured the imagination and the hearts of men everywhere. By 1910 the movement became international when the Winnipeg club was organized, the next year the Rotary spread to London, Eng., there were 100 clubs in 1914, 2000 in 1925 and today there were 4800 with a total membership of 198,500. Every country in the world had Rotary clubs, except Russia where Rotary did not care to go and Germany where the movement had been barred recently. England had 458 clubs, Denmark 35, Cuba 40 and Chile, 71.

"That little country in Central Europe which is struggling for its very existence today—Czechoslovakia", said Governor Rockwell "has contributed 47 clubs to the Rotary movent".

"Rotary" he added" is the only organization in the world that has gone through the depression with the curve of growth never showing a fall", Characterizing Rotary as the world's greatest producer of friendship the speaker stressed the fact that the international aspect of the movement was bound to achieve a certain international goodwill that was lacking in the world today.

The Four Objects.

Governor Rockwell, describing the four objects of Rotary and emphasizing their importance, pointed out that club service was the impressional side of the movement and vocation, community and international services were the expressional side. He complimented the Canadian clubs in the district upon the very splendid community service they were rendering.

Rotarian W. R. Morris moved a vote of thanks to the Governor for his inspirational address.

There was a large attendance of members and visitors, the latter including Rotarian Dr. Gordon of Kemptville and Dr. Gordon of Peterborough, Rotarian Fred Dunn and Fred Dunn Jr. of Regina, Sask., and Rotarian L. A. Wilkinson of Montreal.

John Smith had charge of the musical program with George Nicholls at the piano and among the community songs was the Rotary Club's own number sung to the tune of the Maine Stein Song, with appropriate words by Rotarian R. W. Frank. The soloist of the evening was Griffin Young who sang in splendid voice and with much expression the stirring number, "I Love Life" and in response to the applause sang the "Sweetheart" song from "Maytime" equally effectively.

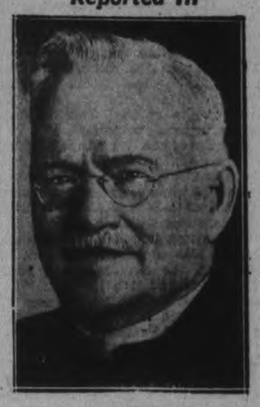
Cleary Acquitted In Marmora Court

Leo Cleary who lives near Hastings was acquitted yesterday at Marmora by Police Magistrate Lloyd upon a charge of reckless driving, arising out of the death of Stanley Jackson on the 13th of August, on the Provincial Highway in the Township of Marmora.

The late Stanley Jackson was working on the road when Cleary blew his horn. Jackson moved to one side of the road, but came back on to the road and Cleary was unable to avoid striking him with his automobile, resulting in fatal injuries to Jackson.

Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K. C. of Belleville prosecuted and the Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C. defended Cleary.

Reported Ill



Rev. Dr. T. Albert Moore, former Moderator of the United Church of Canada, was taken ill while visiting St. John, N.B., and rushed to the hospital. His condition was reported as "causing some concern."

Century Cacti Bloom In City On Same Night

One of the most unusual coincidences that could have happened occurred among Peterborough's flowers last night. Rare century cacti bloom only once in several years, sometimes not once in many, many years. The blossom opens early in the evening, unfolding with great beauty, closes up by midnight, dies before morning.

Last night two plants in this city, possibly the only ones in Peterborough, opened at the same hour. One was owned by Mrs. W. R. Hetherington, R.R. No. 2, Peterborough, the other by A. C. Simmons, 250 Euclid avenue. Dozens of neighbors watched the pure white, cone-shaped flowers unfurl, smelled the pungent perfume they throw off from time to time. As delicate as fine lace, they were of startling beauty. Their owners said the sight was worth all the trouble of raising the plants, worth all the long time they grow without blossom.

Mrs. Hetherington's plant had two flowers, gives promise of blooming again within a few days. She had had the plant eight years, and it had bloomed three times. It is the taller plant of the two, reaching a height of more than six feet. Dozens of neighbors sat about the living room of her home last night and watched the plant gradually open out.

Mr. Simmons' plant is much smaller, has only one blossom. He has had it only two years ,and this is the first time it has flowered

Loyalty Motion Read To Lodge

On Monday night members of the Sons of England, Lansdowne Lodge No. 25 heard a resolution which was presented at the meeting of the Supreme Lodge during the month of August, and it was read last night by George Benton.

The resolution was moved by Supreme Counsellor Brother Canon Baynes-Reed and seconded by Brother W. E. Miller and read as follows:—Resolved that we, members of the Sons of England Benevolent Society representing 18,000 members from every province in Canada, meeting in biennial session in Niagara Falls, Ontario, pledge our unswerving loyalty to the Crown and the Throne, and again place on record our sincere belief that the Union Jack be maintained as the flag and the emblem of Canada.

YARRAM, Australia — (CP). — When members of the Yarram Golf Club take to the links, it is not unusual to see kangaroos browsing quietly on a fairway. Koalas and, occasionally, emus are seen.

NEWARK FACES ELIMINATION IN INTERNATIONAL PLAYOFFS

Newark's Bears Pin Hopes On Joe Beggs

(By The Canadian Press.)

Newark's powerful Bears, trailing by two games and but a single game from elimination, tonight will send Joe Beggs to the mound—weather permitting—against Rochester Red Wings' desperate effort to remain in the running of the International League baseball playoffs.

Chances of the Red Wings winding up their semi-final playoff with the champion Bears were given pause last night when early evening showers at Rochester resulted in the third postponement within a week.

The Wings, who hold a commanding 3-1 lead in games, will seek to close out the Bruins in the fifth game to-night. Bob Bowman, who limited Johnny Neun's grizzlies to four hits and a single run in six innings of the second game, a Rochester victory, will be Manager Ray Blades' pitching nomination.

A Rochester victory would send the Wings into a best-of-seven series with the Buffalo Bisons for the Governor's Cup, the $4,000 prize purse that accompanies it, and the right to meet the survivor of the American Association playoffs in the little world series. Buffalo has already eliminated Syracuse.

Should Newark win, the clubs will move to the Ruppert Stadium at Newark for the continuation of the semi-final series. One or two games would be played there, the series to end when one club has won four games.

Cobb After 400 m.p.h. Will Try Next Year

DETROIT, Sept. 20—(AP).—A 400-mile-an-hour land speed record within four years is predicted by John Cobb, the English sportsman whose own 350.4 record on Utah's salt flats lasted only a day.

"It's all a matter of engineering," said Cobb, a luncheon guest here yesterday. "When we get to the point where we can reduce weight and boost engine power further, 400 miles an hour will not be too difficult."

The London fur dealer expressed confidence of regaining the record next year by driving his automobile 400 miles an hour to best the 357.44 established by Capt. George Eyston. Cobb will fly to New York today and leave on the Queen Mary tomorrow.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20—(AP)—Branch Rickey told a close friend he didn't have a thing to do with Frankie Frisch getting the old heave-ho out of St. Louis. That will be good news to Frankie's legion of friends, most of whom admire Rickey too . . . don't suppose the Pirates ever figured a guy named Jupiter Pluvius would win the pennant for them. But that's just about what has happened . . .

Joe McCarthy tossed a party for his players when rain clinched the rag for 'em out in St. Louis and presented each with a cigarette lighter . . . Everyone is conceding the pennant to the Pirates, but just to make sure we have asked Colonel Leonard Hicks to stick aside a good room for us at Chicago . . .

The Cubs are the only major league team which pays off on the road . . . Joe McCarthy finally has got around to admitting his 1938 Yankees are the best ball club ever assembled, but his old pal, Tony Lazzeri says (in print) that the Yanks can be licked and that the Cubs can do it . . . Burt Shotton has the call on Ray Blades of Rochester as the next manager of the Cardinals because Blades is related to Vice-President Branch Rickey by marriage and Rickey doesn't want to push him ahead too fast . . . Some of the experts swear Don Budge is wavering about turning pro, but don't you believe it . . . Joe Louis is going to build up a stable of prize fighters . . .

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

LAST NIGT the Riverview A.C. resumed boxing classes at their improved clubrooms at 337 George St. north. Training every night will be from 7.00 to 8.30 in preparation for indoor mitt cards every two weeks this fall and winter. First one will be an all-star card in 3 weeks. This club lays claim to three local titles, lightweight, welter and middle, in the persons of Nick Orlando, Len Minicola and Dutch McIlmoyle. Maybe trying to stir up something like that going on now in Prague—pronounced to rhyme with frog or grog—they even challenge the Peterborough A.C. or the new C.G.E.A.C. (my gosh what a mouthful of alphabet soup!) to dispute these claims or to do something about 'em. We merely quote them and decline to fight for anyone or against anyone locals or Sudetens.

THOSE BOLD BAD BROOKLINS will be at home tonight to the Petes in a lacrosse entertainment but just who will be entertained deponent saith not. Aside from the fanatics. It is an important O. L.A. group playdown scrap and we really mean scrap when these clubs clash. Return fray will be Friday here and may the tougher team win. After slapping over the wishy-washy Woodbridge bunch in easy fashion the Petes may feel cocky but are likely to get their cockiness knocked into three cocked hats by the battling Brooklins — but of course we hope not.

Long Way For a Game

AND THE BASEBALLIC PETES meander down to Niagara Falls—or Niffles, to use the h'English pronounciation—tomorrow for a twilight game. An O.B.A. quarter- or semi-final we dunno. Return tussle will be on the lot next Otonabee River next Saturday, a two-in-three serial. It is so long since the Petes have played ball that the management is uncertain how many pitchers he has ,so we can't hazard a guess as to which flinger will start in Bill Gaynon's villa. In the workouts with Oshawa, there were four gees on deck—and didn't we predict Whitehill would pitch ball if given a chance?—and if all are available, it might well be McNally in the Big Rcar burg and Kitchen back here. Too doggone bad this series wasn't arranged two weeks or so ago, as the Falls is quite a honeymoon centre, we're told!

THE TIME HAS COME, the Walrus said, to speak of many things—of wintry nights and dim rink lights, and what import season brings. Two of last year's Belleville Redmen have moved to Timmins, Winky Wilson and Ken Murphy. The latter was a powerful defenceman and Wilson an ace forward. We may lose Honey Tompkins to a farm club of Canadiens, and Lalonde also gets a trial with the Flying Frenchmen, having obtained leave of absence from the Trenton Airport. Walt Gerow still has his invite from the Black Hawks for a tryout. Local club is worrying about the coming season and bestirring itself while there is yet time. We've lost Barnes and 'tis doubtful if Doug Brennan will lineup with the locals this semester. Not likely any more losses but nothing much in the way of reinforcements from graduated juniors. But we suppose something will be done about teams and groups ere Xmas shopping starts.

No Tag Days For Orfuns

A GUY ASKED US to run the Orfuns' schedule again, saying the summer publication of it hadn't been saved by many football fans. No wonder, when it was then hotter than a bride's bis——well, anyway, hot. First game is Thanksgiving Day, Oct. 10th (which is less than three weeks off) when Sarnia is at Toronto and the Petes in Montreal. Oct. 15th sees Beaches here and the Nats at Sarnia. Then on the 22nd Sarnia comes here and Mo'real moves to Toronto. On the 29th, Sarnia goes to Montreal while the Petes motor to the Beaches' gridiron. The Montrealers visit us on Nov. 5th with the Balmy boys in Sarnia. It endeth on Nov. 12th—and a cold day it was—with the Beaches playing in Montreal and the Orfuns maybe cinching a playoff berth at Sarnia. Paste this schedule up by the picture of Great-Uncle Cornelius, who has scads of it, and you can't go wrong.

• • • • • •

NOT COUNTING the fence for nimble-footed folk, there are three entrances at the Exhibition Grounds of which the Orfuns' executive is well aware. The officials have decided to use the Lock St. entrance only for cars. The George St. or main gate will be used for those with reserved seats or general admission tickets. While the gate under the stand is for players, officials and pressmen only. Those who have not car space reserved for the season on the south side of the gridiron may park their buggies at a nominal fee at the east end of the grounds between the main gate and the Lock St. entrance. We're not just sure yet what the admission prices will be at grid games here this autumn.

Dear Santa: A Kicker!

WHERE the Montreal Nationals in Ottawa Saturday looked good in kicking and backfield work but not too hot along the line, the Orfuns in Cobourg gave promise of a strong line but was wobbly in the rear division and didn't have the hoofing. Both senior squads looked fair tackling. With a modest simper we will break down and confess to being no coaching expert in football, but nevertheless we believe the Orfuns require a steady distance punter to put them on anywhere equal footing with the Beaches, Imps and Nats. Our halves should shake themselves into a good offensive threat before long and the line, lacking the beef of Sarnia, might hold its own with the potent presence of Coach Bill Irwin. The reserve strength is a question mark which time will answer. But we need a booter who can jolt grunts out of the pigskin when he lays on the leather. This is senior rugby and a good big man is still better than a good little guy.

A GLANCE at the Evening Review of Niagara Falls shows the winery squad rubbed out Hamilton in O.B.A. playdowns by a 6-0 score, with Schoolboy Mussel giving up four hits and fanning 10. He is one of the two twirlers imported from the States this year. The club also carries a couple of pro puckists in Kaminsky and Kalbfleisch. They pulled a triple play on the Hamiltonians when the latter got all twisted up on the base-paths like dim-witted witnesses in police court. The Falls got 15 hits, one a double, and had a dozen gees stranded, besides booting three themselves. This will not be the first ball trip to the Cataract City tomorrow for Bill Calladine, Les Burton or Bun Kingdon—as they played in O.B.A.A. juvenile finals there back in '32. Bill and Bun, with Eddie Starr, also played hockey for the Petes in O.H.A. senior "B" semi-finals last winter in the Falls—but let's not go into that again.

HITHER AND YAWN: Seems the T.A.B.A. gents got their way by dragging out their playoffs till the C.O.B.L. winner was sent in against someone else....Press dispatches here and there indicate that our rugbyists did not impress with their close win in Cobourg over the week-end....But the game will teach the locals a lot and they'll be tougher henceforth...All entries for junior and intermediate six-man football should be sent at once to R. H. Bailey, 12 Glen Manor Drive, Toronto; rule books may be had from him....Our thanks to folks for their good wishes, and to those who sent along condolences....Point Anne softballers have asked the O.S.A. to check up on the eligibility of Lefty Wallace, who played for Oshawa here 'gainst them....Keene plays the next O.S.A. intermediate "C" semi-final in Collingwood Sat'day, after taking a 16-2 win last week-end....Sarnia Imps, cut to 29 players, drill till Thursday in preparation for meeting Ottawa....The Nats have an exhibition fray with Queen's in Montreal....Likely be too late now to arrange a playoff between E.O.B.A. and O.B.A. winners....How are the P.C.I. squads shaping up these days?....Rugby uniforms should arrive soon in nifty burnt orange and black design ....Station CJP signing off.

Before the Axe Fell

There's no evidence of the friction that existed between them in this picture of Branch Rickey, LEFT, the man who runs the St. Louis Chain Gang, and Frankie Frisch, deposed manager of the Cardinals. But they were always on opposite sides of the fence regarding the team.

Hawks Ex-Pilot Dies Suddenly

CHICAGO, Sept. 20.—(AP)—Attorney Thomas J. Shaughnessy, 45, former manager of the Black Hawks hockey team died suddenly of a heart attack today.

Shaughnessy who also coached the old Chicago Shamrock hockey team, was stricken while leaving a downtown club.

His widow, Marguerite, said her husband played football on the same team with Knute Rockne before graduating from Notre Dame University at South Bend. Shaughnessy is survived also by three children.

Veteran Tricolor Fan Watches Team Practice For 49th Successive Year

Kingston, Sept. 20.

ALFIE PEARCE, who has been following the Queen's rugby teams for nearly half a century, was on hand at the stadium this afternoon when Queen's students turned out to practice. "This is the forty-ninth consecutive year that I have been on hand for the practice," said Alfie, who is now in his sixty-eighth year. "I remember," said Alfie, "the first practice of the Queen's football team forty-nine years ago, on the campus which was then located where the Grant Hall now stands. Those were the days that students had to provide their own equipment. I remember the late Guy Curtis, who was known from one end of the Dominion to the other, coming out on the field with one black stocking and the other one bearing Queen's colors. If I can remember correctly, the only members of that team still living are Dr. A. E. Ross, Kingston; Senator H. H. Horsey, Ottawa; Dr. Williams, Stew Rayside and a player named Weatherside."

Feuds Finish Frankie Frisch Same As Mickey Cochrane

By Bill Braucher
(Central Press Canadian Sports Writer.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Frankie Frisch's departure from the Cards was not unlike that of Mickey Cochrane from the Tigers. Resentment and feuds were the inside story in both instances.

Cochrane could not get used to taking orders from Walter Briggs, Jr., son of the owner of the Bengals. The veteran could not understand why he should have to please a youngster without baseball background or knowledge. He ignored young Briggs, and the result was that the Tiger front office started doing things (such as suspending Poffenberger) without Mick's knowledge.

Frisch and Branch Rickey, the brains of the Cardinals' chain store system, failed to agree on certain baseball values and were temperamentally incompatible. Rickey likes to move players around like chessmen. The little Fordham Flash always was "one of the boys", though he did maintain respectable discipline over the Gas House Gang insofar as possible. Frisch is a ball players type of manager. Newspapermen all like him, too, for his sincerity and lack of pretence.

Results the Thing

Rickey thought Frisch should have done more with the material given to him, to work with this year. Production is Rickey's gauge of success, and a man is his friend only as long as he can show tangible and financial results.

Before the present season started, Rickey called in the newspaperboys and told them this was the best Cardinal team he ever had seen, except for pitching. That put Frankie smack on the spot. As the team sagged the axe came closer and closer to Frisch's ears. In fact, Frisch would not have been signed for this season at all if Owner Sam Breadon hadn't signed him while Rickey was away.

The feud between the two men even extended to positions on the diamond. Rickey wanted Don Gutteridge at shortstop. Frisch didn't. Rickey suggested his second base choice to Frisch. Frisch disagreed. Gutteridge finally had to be taken away from shortstop, where his work hindered more than helped the team, and stationed at third.

They Come and Go

The Cards have had a succession of second sackers—Stu Martin, Butcher, Brown — none of them equal to the job. As we look at the Cardinals now, we'll have to say that Rickey must have been spoofing when he made the remark in the spring about the "best Cardinal team."

Rickey, for all of his acumen, has made mistakes which hurt the Cardinals. For one thing he let Bob Klinger escape the chain , and Klinger is the man who put Pittsburgh on top of the National league. Still another cerebral fielder's choice that didn't turn out so hot was his bringing in Enos Slaughter from Columbus and letting Johnny Rizzo of the same team go to the Pirates. Rizzo has hit far better and driven in many more runs than slaughter.

Frisch's summary dismissal might be accounted a front office error as well. Rickey makes no friends by kicking Frankie out so ruthlessly, with the season only a few more days to go. The canning of the once great little second baseman in that fashion reflects sordidly on the sportsmanship of the Cards' front office.

Mrs. Phillips To Meet Medalist

By Charles Dunkley
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 20 (AP).—Mud, driving rain and a cold penetrating wind are no barriers to courageous women golfers seeking the United States golf championship.

Into the first 18-hole rounds of match play over rain-drenched fairways today slid a qualifying field of 64 in 32 matches at Westmoreland Country Club. The field was led by two women from the opposite sides of the continent, Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page, of Chapel Hill, N.C., the defending champion, and Dorothy Traung of San Francisco, runner-up in 1934. They finished a deadlock for medal honors in the qualifying test yesterday with cards of 80, one over par.

Mrs. Eric Phillips, of Lambton Mills, Toronto, one of the two Canadians entered, survived the qualifying round. But her stay in the tournament looked like a short one. The luck of the draw brought her against the qualifying medalist, Mrs. Page, in today's first round.

The other Canadian, Miss Kay Farrell of Vancouver, shot a 97 and did not qualify.

30 Students Out At Queen's Practice

KINGSTON, Sept. 20—Ted Reeve, coach of the Queen's football teams had about thirty students out to practice Monday afternoon at the George Richardson Stadium. Reeve realizes that he has quite a problem on his hands to get a first-class team on account of so many of the regular players of the senior team graduating. He is not downhearted as he realizes that there are some good prospects among the students who played on the intermediate team last year. Among those who attended practice Monday were: Art Stollery, Captain Sprague, Carson, Conlin, Patouski, Kerr, K. Wilson and Johnston (Belleville) as well as a bunch of second and third team players.

Ted Edwards, who last year played with Ottawa Rough Riders and a brother of Johnny Edwards has arrived at the University but is not eligible for the first team. Joe Turner of Calgary is expected this week. It was hoped that Walter Hilton of Belleville would be available but word was received on Monday that he was returning to Western University at London.

Stars At Short

A "ballplayer's ballplayer," the kind who doesn't break into print every day in the week ,is Cecil Travis, above, hard-hitting shortstop is completing his fifth year with the Senators and will probably wind up among the league's leading four or five batters.

Fear Rain Hard On Budge's Razor Edge

By Gayle Talbot
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

FOREST HILLS, Sept. 20.—(AP).—Of the tennis players who have been waiting since last Saturday for the rain to subside so that the United States championship might stagger to a finish, Don Budge has the biggest beef coming.

Don, only two brief jumps away from his grand slam of the world's four great tournaments, just has brought his matchless game to its absolute peak when the skies came apart. The critics, after watching him mow down Harrp Hopman of Australia in the quarter-finals, nodded their heads sagely and agreed the big fellow was in.

But now Budge still has to get past cocky Sidney Wood, Jr., in the semi-finals and probably, Jack Bromwich of Australia, in the final, if and when there is a bright day. No one can say whether Don has been able to keep his razor edge through the deluge.

"I don't think the interruption will bother me much," Don smiled. "I can play just as bad tennis when I haven't practised as when I've been on the court every day."

One of the country's more notable jitterbugs, Budge spends most of his evenings where the bands swing loudest and ice cream sodas run riot. Always there is a delightful companion on one arm.

Wood, who at 26 suddenly has flashed a game like he never owned before, might find the delay his ally against Budge. Never long on stamina, the rest should enable him to sail into the champion at top speed and maintain his volleying game.

Bromwich and Gene Mako, the other semi-finalists, have been battling on more or less even terms at the bridge table the past few days, but Bromwich is expected to have easier going when he gets Gene out on the grass.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB. MARTIN

All games scheduled for last night will be played tonight.

The Board of Directors have just announced that the annual meeting of the men's section will be held in the club house Monday, October 3rd. So all bowlers are asked to govern themselves accordingly.

If the weather warms up a little bit we will hold a 15c mixed tournament tomorrow evening. Draw from the board at 7.30 p.m.

As we have less than two weeks to finish all of our bowling we would advise the boys to get busy and finish all their games.

BRINTON ATHLETIC CLUB DECLARED 1938 SOCCER CHAMPIONS

Browns Wallop Yanks Soundly 13-1 Holding Champs to 6 Hits; Four Doubleheaders Rained Out

By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

Like the famous ill wind, Pittsburgh Pirates would have you believe it's an ill rain that helps no one's pennant prospects.

The entire National League program of four doubleheaders was rained right off the 1938 program yesterday and that, in its way, was somewhat more important than any of the three games played in the American League.

While the league-leading Pirates were deprived of a chance to improve their record at the expense of the Phillies, they marked up two games that can't be lost and two apiece that their rivals, the Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds, can't win. They now have 14 to go and Chicago and Cincinnati 13 apiece.

Thus the standing of the pennant contenders looks like this:

Club	W	L	PC	GB	TP
Pittsburgh ..	81	57	.587	—	14
Chicago	78	61	.561	3½	13
Cincinnati ..	76	62	.551	5	13
New York ...	75	64	.540	6½	13

If any of these three rivals should succeed in winning all its 13 games—and nothing appeared more unlikely in view of the clubs' recent record—the Pirates would need only eight victories to dispose of the Giants, 10 to eliminate the Reds or 11 to remain ahead of the Cubs.

In other words, the nearer they come to the end of the season, whether they play or not, the bigger that 3½ game lead looks. And to make it more formidable, after the four-game series with Brooklyn that opens today, the Bucs play their remaining games against Cincinnati and Chicago. For practical purposes, every one of those games counts double in increasing or decreasing a lead.

Yanks Lose 13-1

On the ball field, yesterday's outstanding development was one of the most thorough lickings the champion Yankees have taken all season.

After clinching the pennant Sunday, with the aid of the weather, the Yanks dropped a 13-1 decision to St. Louis Browns. Lou Gehrig played only an inning to preserve his consecutive game record and the rest of the regulars might as well have left with him. They got only six hits off Howard Mills while the Browns nicked Wes Ferrell for four runs in the first two innings then cut loose with eight in the fifth.

Cleveland Indians, still trying for second place, picked up a half game on the idle Boston Red Sox when they made four hits good for a 4-3 victory over the Athletics. Jeff Heath's homer accounted for three runs, Washington walloped Detroit 12-2 behind Pete Appleton's five hit flinging and Hank Greenberg's chances of beating Babe Ruth's home run record were further weakened when he was held to a single.

Tickets Go On Sale For World Series

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 20.—(AP).—The Pittsburgh Baseball Club announced to-day it would accept applications, accompanied by bank draft, certified cheque, or money order—by mail only—for world series tickets.

Officials said the word permitting the start of the sale was given by Commissioner K. M. Landis, who also granted the same permission to the Chicago, Cincinnati and New York National League Clubs.

Shooting From Ambush

Making their way through dense foliage officials of the U.S. national rifle and pistol meet at Camp Perry, Ohio, discovered that Hugh J. Flokner was one of the entrants. Peer closely at the picture and you may locate him yourself. He turned out to be quite a character at the meet and his shooting was hampered not a bit by the shrubbery.

C.G.E. Second With Deloro In Third Place

The Peterborough Brinton Athletic soccer club was declared Monday night, at the meeting of the Peterborough and District Football Association, league winners for the season 1938, and is entitled to the Spalding Soccer Trophy which is emblematic of the league championship. The standing of the league is as follows:

	P.	W.	L.	Pts.
Brinton	12	10	2	20
C. G. E.	11	8	3	16
Deloro	10	4	6	8
C. C. F.	10	0	11	0

Two points for a win and one for a draw.

Saturday soccer bill is the final of the J. J. Duffus, M.P., Injured Players' Cup between the Canadian General and the Brinton Athletic. Kick-off at 2.30 prompt. Referee, S. L. Hanlon. Linesmen: William Downer and Stan Wilson. If the game is a draw at the end of the 90 minutes, another game will be played.

Players Signed.

Thomas Foster, Jr., Jack Downer, Jr., and William Jones signed for the Brinton Athletic. All players participating in the cup ties must be registered the full seven days exclusive of Sunday.

Deloro club has verbally stated that they will not take part in any more games this season because they cannot get away from business so as to play a game in Peterborough, but desire that the Politicians fulfill their game in Deloro, and the city club has been scheduled to play on Saturday, provided that they can make arrangements, otherwise they must notify Deloro according to the rules.

If the Duffus Cup final is played to a finish on Saturday, the following Saturday a game will be played for the St. John Ambulance Brigade between the Canadian General and the Brinton Athletic on King Edward Park. Tickets will be sold and the full proceeds will be handed over to the ambulance men.

McMahon Goal Trims Ex-Mates As St. Kitts Beat Terriers By 10-7, Evening the Series

ORILLIA, Ont., Sept. 20.—(CP).—Orillia Terriers regretted the loss of Wandy McMahon to St. Catharines Athletics more than ever today as they realized how close they had been to taking a stranglehold on another Ontario Lacrosse Association Senior championship.

Provincial champions and Dominion finalists last year, the Terriers owed much of their success to McMahon's scoring ability. They knew they had lost strength this season when McMahon moved to St. Catharines and he has been a power in the Athletics' attack in their march to the top of the league standing.

But he supplied the most telling stroke last night when he scored St. Catharines' winning goal in a 10-7 victory that levelled the best-of-five final series at a game apiece.

The third contest will be played at St. Catharines Wednesday and the fourth here Friday.

Bowlers End Year In Social Evening

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Sept. 20—The initial season of the Millbrook Lawn Bowling Club, which has been most successful, was concluded on Friday evening with an enjoyable social evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Campbell, through whose efforts and initiative the club was organized and enabled to carry on.

Forty or more guests were present, and the first part of the evening was spent in playing Five Hundred, the prize winners being: H. D. Bigelow, with the consolation going to Dr. M. E. Hobbs; and in the lucky draw list, Gladys Williamson, D. K. Chiles and J. R. Eakins.

Prizes were presented to the winning rink in the men's team, R. I. Fallis, skip, and the other members including H. D. Bigelow and Walter Barringer. Owing to so much bad weather, and so many being away on vacation through the summer, the mixed and ladies' finals are yet to be decided.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation to Mr. and Mrs. Campbell of a handsome floor lamp fitted with the three-way indirect lighting, Rev. A. L. Sisco reading the address, and J. R. Eakins offering the gift. Appreciation of Mr. and Mrs. Campbell's having started the lawn bowling again in the village, providing pleasant summer recreation, and giving untiringly of their effort and interest in donating their own grounds for the bowling greens, were specially stressed.

Mr. Campbell made suitable reply on behalf of his wife and himself, and the ladies assisted the hostess in serving a dainty lunch before the guests left for home.

Cologne, Germany, will have a World Traffic Exhibition in 1940.

Eagles Debating Joliat or Lepine?

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—(CP).—Decision as to whether Aurel Joliat or Pete Lepine, both long time stars with Montreal Canadiens of the National League, will coach New Haven's International - American League Eagles this season rested today with Maurice Podoloff, Eagles' president.

Announcement that either the silver-thatched Lepine or Joliat, known as the mighty atom, would coach the minor league team came last night from Cecil Hart, manager of Canadiens, after a conference with Podoloff and J. Ernest Savard, president of the Habitant club. It was not said whether Lepine or Joliat would sign in the capacity of playing coach.

Hart said Podloff spoke to both veterans personally and will announce his choice later. The man picked would succeed Billy Coutu, who also used to play as a defenceman a decade ago with Canadiens. Podoloff left for home after the conference, at which plans were completed for a renewal and broadening of a working agreement between the N.H.L. and Inter.-Amer. team.

Keene Winners In Playdowns

(Examiner Correspondence.)

KEENE, Sept. 20.—Keene defeated Collingwood 16 to 2, here Saturday in the first game of the O.S.A. intermediate "C" semi-final series. Return tilt will be at Collingwood on Saturday next. A big crowd saw Keene start off strong when Wood doubled and tallied on Gall's single in the first. They added four in the third, aided by Whalen's triple and two walks. Collingwood got two in the fourth on bunched hits. Keene put over a pair in the fourth, one in the fifth and sixth, and ran wild to get half a dozen in the seventh, their last coming in the eighth.

The winners played heads-up ball throughout with Whaley, Ibey and Gall the big hitters, though all hammered the apple hard. Ibey, Brown and Wood shone in the field. Westbrooke led losers at bat with two, as Kirby starred defensively, with Oliver and Cockton going well. Don McCarthy on the Keene mound hurled neat ball to fan 11 and walk one as he gave up eight hits. Goodchild started for the visitors but gave way to Dunn in the seventh, the latter going better. Their support was shaky in spots.

A Swan Passes

NIAGARA GALLS, Ont., Sept. 20 (C.P.). — Death of a whistling swan in the Oakes Garden Theatre pool near the Falls has caused some concern to game authorities. Only two are left now of a flock of four rescued from the river last winter. The first swan died early in the summer from wounds received when it was washed over the Falls.

IN MEMORIAM

GANDY.—In sad but loving memory of my dear grandson, Freddy Gandy, who went to be with Jesus, September 19, 1936.

At early morn, when all was still,
God gave his great command,
And called the son we loved away
Into a Better Land.
There was no one heard the footsteps
Of the angel drawing near,
Who called from us to Heaven,
Our son, Freddy dear.
When the evening shades are falling,
And we are sitting all alone,
To our hearts there comes a longing:
If we only had him home!
Then we sit and wonder
If we are doing just what's right
To wish back our dead Freddy
God called away in night.
Oftime our thoughts do wander
To a grave not far away,
Where we laid our dear son, Freddy,
Two years ago yesterday.
We do not forget you, nor do we intend;
We think of you often and will to the end.
Gone and forgotten by some you may be,
But dear to your grandma you ever will be, while you, dear Freddy, rest in sleep,
Your loving memory I will always keep.

—Sadly missed by his grandmother, Mrs. Shearing, Armour Road.

GANDY.—In loving memory of our son, who died September 19, 1936.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach;
Sweet to remember him who once was here,
And who, though absent, is just as dear.

—Ever remembered by Mother and Dad.

LOGAN. — In loving memory of James W. Logan, who went to rest September 20, 1934.

Sweet memories will linger forever,
Time cannot change them, it's true:
Years that may come cannot sever
Our loving remembrance of you.

—Always remembered by his son and daughter-in-law, George and Geraldine.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

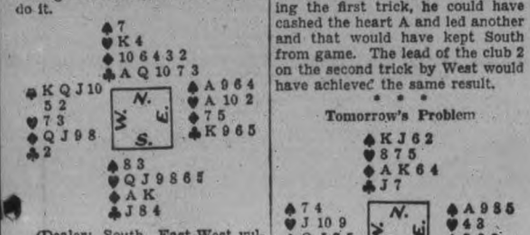
WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

USE YOUR KNOWLEDGE

MANY a contract can be defeated by any one of several different lines of defense, yet is made, anyway. Such fortune for the declarer is usually due to the difficulty of his opponents in trying to infer the composition of each other's hands. Whenever either can cut down the amount of guesswork by using knowledge his partner may not manage to deduce, it is his duty to do it.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

After two passes, North bid 1-Club on this deal and East overcalled with 1-Spade. South put in a bid of 2-Hearts, West 2-Spades, North 3-Clubs, South 3-Hearts and North 4-Hearts.

When the spade K was led and the trick held, West switched to the diamond 8, which South took with the K. He then ruffed the spade 8 and led a heart to East's A. East returned a diamond to South's A. The outstanding trumps were drawn and the club J offered. East won and that was the last trick for his side.

When West led the spade K, East hoped, as he played low, that West would lead a trump to prevent South from ruffing a spade. It was not necessary for him to put the guess up to West. By overtaking the first trick, he could have cashed the heart A and led another and that would have kept South from game. The lead of the club 2 on the second trick by West would have achieved the same result.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

What is the best defense against South's 4-Heart contract after the lead of the diamond 5?

Breezier, Smaller

ITHACA, N.Y., Sept. 20—(AP)—The weekly newspaper of the future was pictured today as a "kind of local magazine" with a "swiftly-running" style. L. Roberts Oaks, editor of the Fredonia, N.Y., Censor, told the Cornell University newspaper institute that the local papers would become "breezier and smaller" as the years go on. "The weekly of the future," he said, "will have a strong editorial page which will be more strictly pointed at local readers."

EXTEND INQUIRY

TORONTO—Hon. Harold Kirby, Ontario Minister of Health, said today the Royal Commission now investigating the Ontario Hospital at London would inquire later into similar mental institutions in and near Toronto.

THE GUMPS

'At Home' Held By W.M.S. Of Springville

(Examiner Correspondence.)

SPRINGVILLE, Sept. 20.—A delightful gathering was held at the Springville United Church on Wednesday, when the W.M.S. of the church was "at home" to the former members and friends of the Society.

About seventy-five ladies were present and the program was held in the auditorium of the church.

Mrs. Albert Hunter, president of the Society, occupied the chair and Mrs. Ira Robson, a former organist of the church, acted as pianist for the day.

The meeting opened by singing "Lead Kindly Light," after which Mrs. L. Whittington read the scripture lesson, which was taken from Psalm 23.

Mrs. Hunter gave a very inspiring address, which gave her listeners many rich thoughts to take away with them. She chose for her subject, "Guidance," and likened our own lives to a journey. "How many of us," she asked, "are using God's word as a guide along the way?" She said she wondered how many if put to the test could say that the Bible was read in their homes at some time during each day.

The president welcomed the guests. She spoke briefly about the Springville W.M.S. from its infancy. Mrs. Bothwell, Sr. who was at the meeting at which the Society was first organized told of that occasion. She said there were only five ladies present. Those present who had started to Springville church as children were asked to stand and then those who came there as brides.

Mrs. Hunter asked if any of the guests would like to say a few words and Miss E. Preston, Mrs. A. E. Sanderson and Miss M. Colin responded by mentioning some incidents which they remembered particularly from the time that Springville was their home church. This was followed by the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds."

Mrs. (Rev.) Brown then gave a very helpful paper on "Remembrance." As an introduction to this she told of a visit she had made last summer to the church of her childhood. She said she should remember not only the things in the past which we like to remember but those that would serve as a foundation on which to build for the future.

Doreen Bowls, a tiny tot in a frilly dress gave a recitation, "Little Hands," which was enjoyed very much.

This was followed by a duet by Mrs. Grandy and Miss Southam, "Long, Long Ago."

Memorial Service

A memorial service for those members who have now passed on to their reward was then held. The thought left with those present was to think of the women whose names were to be read as just having gone around a bend in the road, to be joined later by those who are following in the path of life.

Those remembered at this time were: Mrs. (Rev.) Marsh, Mrs. Wesley Whitfield, Mrs. K. Fowler, Mrs. John McIntosh, Mrs. Warem, Miss Margaret Laing, Mrs. David Bateer, Mrs. George Reynolds, Mrs. Robert Colin, Mrs. James Herron, Mrs. J. Johnston, Mrs. William Whittington, Mrs. William Robson, Mrs. Robert Sanderson, Mrs. L. Morrow, Mrs. Harry Seymour, Mrs. Heasman, Mrs. E. Sanderson.

This service was concluded by the singing of "Abide With Me"

Mrs. Jack Whitfield then read the poem, "The Little Church," by Edgar Guest.

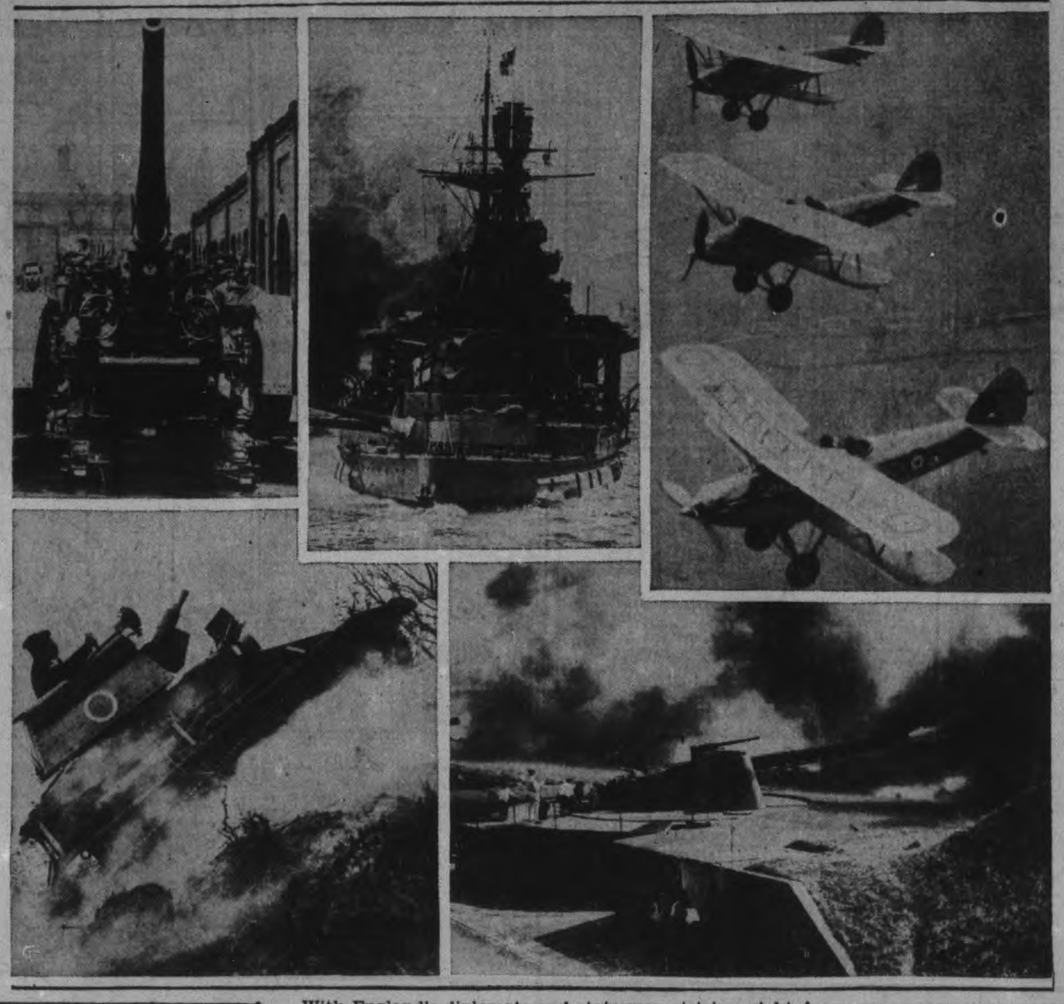
All present were then invited by Mrs. Hunter to go to the basement, where she said a "round table" had been prepared. She explained that there was to be no head or foot to this table.

The basement and tables were very attractively decorated with autumn flowers and the junior girls assisting in serving were: Velma Sweeting, Dorothy Cathcart, Laura Neals, Mamie Cathcart, Peggy MacNeal, Opal Johnston and Mina Dunford.

At the conclusion of the sumptuous supper, Mrs. A. E. Sanderson voiced the appreciation of the guests to the Society for such an enjoyable afternoon. She said it had been a real pleasure to all present to see so many old friends and to enjoy the meeting and social time with them. She said they would all carry to their homes renewed memories of the pleasant times which centre around Springville United Church.

The guests present included: Mrs. C. Laing, Mrs. J. Wilson, Mrs. L. Mulligan, Miss Jennie Cathcart, Mrs. V. Whittington, Mrs. I. Robson, Mrs. W. White, Mrs. Goodfellow, Mrs. H. Millard, Miss E. Preston, Mrs. C. Preston, Mrs. A. Patterson, Mrs. J F Clarke, Mrs A. M. Laing, Mrs. G. Baird, Mrs. H. Baptie, Mrs A. E. Sanderson, Miss L. Robson, Miss M. Colin, Miss O. Young, all of Peterborough Mrs. O. Pue, Mrs. E. Johnston, Mrs. F. Whitfield, Fraserville; Mrs O. Gibbs, Plainville; Miss V. Storey, Toronto; Mrs. J. Grandy, Brooklyn; Mrs. J. Sanderson, Mrs. F. McIndoo, Fairmount; Mrs. W. Standing, New York; Mrs. W. J. Rowan, Mrs. T. A. Bowles, Mrs. R. Robertson, Cavan; Mrs. J. H. McGill, Centreville; Mrs. W. Cooke, Birdsalls; Mrs. (Dr.) Latta, Kingston.

Britain's Forces Anxiously Waiting Outcome Of Peace Negotiations



With England's diplomats and statesmen striving night and day to preserve the peace of Europe, the British army, navy and air force are silently awaiting the outcome of the dispute between Germany and Czechoslovakia. Upon the decision of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and his Cabinet rests the momentous decision of whether Britain's armed forces may have to enter Europe in defence of the tiny democracy should Chancellor Hitler decide on a course of armed intervention in the Czech-Sudeten dispute. Warships of Britain's home fleet are stationed in the North Sea at present, while mechanical divisions of England's armed forces are standing by, ready for instant duty if needed. Long range coastal guns will play a big part in defending the British coast against any attacks while anti-aircraft guns will strive to protect London from enemy aircraft.

Chicago Poisoning Victims Now 85

CHICAGO, Sept. 20—(AP).—The number of persons stricken in an outbreak of food poisoning in Chicago and suburban Elmwood Park rose to 85 today as health authorities directed bacteriological tests to find the source of the mysterious epidemic.

Forty-five of the victims, representing at least 16 families, were under treatment on Chicago's northwest side, adjacent to Elmwood Park, where one man died last Friday and five members of his family were stricken. Since then the number of cases in the suburb has mounted to 40.

Dr. Herman Bundesen, president of the Chicago Board of Health, said his investigators found that all but one of the Chicago victims had eaten tainted pastry. Only one Chicago and five Elmwood Park victims are in the hospital.

MILLBROOK

Jessie Armstrong Honored By Friends

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, Sept. 20.—A most enjoyable social gathering, in honor of Miss Jessie Armstrong, a bride-to-be of this month, was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Thorndyke on Wednesday at 8 p.m., when over fifty guests, including a number from Peterborough, were entertained, the hostess being assisted in receiving by her daughter, Miss Ruth Thorndyke, and by Miss Bernice Smith.

Games and contests filled the first part of the evening happily, the winner of the prize for the numbers competition being Miss Lillian Ellis, of Peterborough, and of the door prize, for which the guest of honor made the draw, Mrs. Christina Schwede, of Louisiana, U.S.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation to the popular bride-elect of a handsomely-upholstered occasional chair, Miss Bernice Smith reading the address, and Miss Ruth Thorndyke offering the gift. A list of all the names of the girl friends of the bride-to-be and others who had contributed to the gift was included with the address when it was handed to her.

Taken by surprise, Miss Armstrong found it difficult to make reply, but expressed her appreciation in a few well-chosen words, and all joined in singing 'For She's A Jolly Good Fellow," after which Mrs. J. R. Eakins was asked to speak, mentioning among other things that Jessie had been a member of the class of 'teen age girls which she had taught a few years ago in Grace Presbyterian Sunday School, "and out of the sixteen, this will make eight who have since married."

For the service of refreshments, the table was lovely with lace cloth, and a color scheme of pink and green carried out in the central bowl of green crystal filled with rosy-tinted petunias, the tall pink tapers burning in green crystal holders, and in other details. Mrs. J. R. Eakins poured tea, and assisting with the service of the guests, besides the hostesses of the evening, were Anna Rowland, Mrs. W. H. Armstrong and Mrs. Mervan Kinsman.

The marriage of the guest of the evening to Mr. J. Ernest Powell of Millbrook takes place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr and Mrs. John Armstrong, Eighth Line, Cavan, on Saturday, September 24.

Aberhart Credit Plan Working In 10 Days

CALGARY, Sept. 20 — (CP). — First steps to set up credit houses in Alberta will be taken within the next 10 days, Premier Aberhart said yesterday. He said also a scheme will be instituted making it possible for farmers to obtain a bonus on the sale of a part of their grain and cattle.

In his address at the Calgary Prophetic Bible Institute, Mr. Aberhart said Albertains would stand by Great Britain 'if war is forced upon her but there should be equality of sacrifice." In event of war, he said, there should be conscription of wealth as well as conscription of "our glorious youth."

The premier gave no details of the new credit plan or the system to bonus farmers but said sale of Alberta-made goods would be aided.

"We shall have our branch credit houses set-up and they will be handled on a similar basis to a credit union set-up."

'We are determined to lower the cost of living," he said. "We are determined to give our Alberta producers an advantage that will give them greater prosperity."

Belgium expects an increase in employment the rest of this year.

Hastings United Church Marks Its Seventy-Fifth Anniversary

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Sept. 20.—Commemorating seventy-five years of active service the congregation of Trinity United Church is this week looking forward to an eventful and successful period, concluding on Sunday, September 26.

On Sunday the church was filled at the morning and evening service. This event in the church life marks the wonderful progress both spiritual and congregational, that has been made by the Wesleyan Methodist church during three quarters of a century.

The church was made beautiful with bouquets of asters, gladiolas and dahlias. One large basket contained 75 white carnations in loving memory of loved ones departed.

Morning Service

The surpliced choir of 19 voices entered the church marching up the aisle chanting the processional hymn, "Praise Him, Praise the Everlasting King," with Miss C. Doxsee at the organ. As guest soloists Miss Ruth McCredie of Campbellford sang "Crossing the Bar" and Mrs. Harold Buchanan of Toronto sang, "What Will You Do For Jesus."

Rev. F. W. Newell, pastor of the church, extended a warm welcome at each service to the many friends and spoke of the labor of love those interested had, in gathering the pictures of nineteen of the twenty-six former ministers, that were on display at the entrance of the church. He also had on his pulpit a small bound hymnery used in the church 75 years ago and owned by the late Joseph Carter.

The pastor introduced the guest speaker, a former pastor (1927 to 1929) the Rev. A. C. Hie, now of Earlscourt United Church, Toronto.

His sermon, full of thought-provoking material, was delivered with vigor and his text was taken from Revelation VII: "He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit said unto the churches." He spoke on "The Challenge of the Church Today."

"The conditions of our own country now have placed the church on trial today and we cannot build up our young people like we did 25 years ago. Some think more of business than of morals. The sports leaders commercialize the Lord's Day so the challenge of the church is to preserve the sanctity of the Lord's Day."

Evening Service

At the evening service the Norwood Male Quartette, Messrs. M. Godin, J. Godin, McNeely and Stewart sang, "The Lord's My Shepherd." Miss Ruth McCredie sang "Pilgrims of the Night" and Mrs. Harold Thompson, "Lord, I Come to Thee."

Rev. Perrie of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, who was present, anounced the second hymn and following the reading of the scripture from II Kings, 4th chapter, by the pastor, the Rev. A. C. Hie again delivered an impressive sermon. The subject of his discourse was "The Capacity for Religion," making references to the passages read on "The woman with her vessels of oil." He urged that this 75th anniversary be the time when we are the chosen vessels of the Lord, for one christian life that has a capacity for Jesus Christ can lead a community to God.

Does YOUR System Make Excess Acid?

Acid Indigestion, Colds, Headaches, Bilious Attacks, Constipation

OFTEN START THIS WAY

Some people are what are known as acid-makers. They can't help it—and often they don't know it. The results of an excess of acid may seem just like ordinary stomach trouble — but they can't be put right by ordinary stomach remedies! Excess acid may be the reason why you wake up flat, sour, bleary-eyed, bilious — and the reason why fierce purgatives only leave you in the grip of a weakening habit and the same old symptoms.

But there's one thing that acid can't face. That's the neutralizing power of Vange Salts, the alkaline remedy with the natural mineral spa action. A teaspoonful in warm water surges through your system just like the medicinal spring water far away in England where Vange Salts come from. Excess acid is neutralized quickly, painlessly. Your blood is purified of poisons. Your sore stomach walls are soothed. And that mass of hard, poisonous waste matter lying in your intestines is softened gently, naturally, and passed out of your body. Then do you feel good! It's marvellous! But the most marvellous thing is that Vange Salts are only 60 cents a tin! At your druggist now—but if you're wise, on your bathroom shelf tonight!

CZECHS SURRENDER TO ANGLO-FRENCH PRESSURE

Hitler's Army Starts Its Move

Large Scale Action Seen In Austria And Eastern Border

BERLIN, Sept. 21 (AP).—A continuous stream of motor trucks rumbled through Berlin and eastern sections of Germany today, taking troops to an undisclosed destination.

Germany apparently was getting ready for the final act in the Czech drama.

The movement in Berlin, where trucks requisitioned from commercial firms were used to carry soldiers, was typical of what was reported throughout Germany, especially in the eastern sections, including Austria, which surround Czechoslovakia's western end.

Chancellor Hitler hastened to Godesberg, where he is to assume the role of protector of Czechoslovakia's German, Hungarian and Polish minorities in a second meeting with Prime Minister Chamberlain tomorrow.

In German eyes it makes no difference whether the Prague government consents or opposes partition of Czechoslovakia.

Polish, Hungarian Backing.

Reinforced by Polish and Hungarian assurances that those countries were prepared to fight for annexataion of their minorities in Czechoslovaika, Germany left the little republic but two choices: Cap-

2 Gale Stowaways Like British Jail

NEW YORK, Sept. 21 (AP)—Four weeks at hard labor in a British jail provided a lot of fun, reported two young Yale graduates of last year who stowed away on the Queen Mary six weeks ago and got back today. They are George and Malcolm Murrill, 25 and 23, sons of a Murrill, Richmond, Va., school principal.

The "four weeks at hard labor" pronounced by the authorities turned out to be work in the jail library for Malcolm and drawing engineering plans for a new jail for George, who is a mural artist for the University of Virginia Medical School.

"Most of the guards were graduates in psychology," Malcolm said.

"They carry clubs but I never saw one used. We had trouble talking to the other prisoners—our Virginia accent just didn't gee for a whole.

"Our prison was near an air field. We heard hundreds of planes, and they gave each prisoner a gas mask."

Peace Plan Seen As Trap For Britain

By Guy Rhoades
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Sept. 21 (CP Cable).—London morning papers, seeking to estimate the chances of success for proposals sponsored by Great Britain and France to solve the Czechoslovak crisis, today displayed increasing doubt whether they would work.

Coupled with the demand of the Daily Herald (Labor) for a speedy session of parliament was the view expressed by several papers that the reported offer to guarantee the frontiers of a new state was far out of line with the existing British policy of avoiding European commitments.

Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express (Independent) declared the cost for Great Britain of a settlement was "going to be high." His Evening Standard yesterday said no such pledge should be given "unless and until every Dominion has been fully consulted and has unequivocally endorsed it."

Strange Bedfellows.

"We are asked to guarantee the entire new frontier of a Czech state.

"Three other partners are to be joined with us in that undertaking—France, Germany and Italy.

Paris Pushes Prague To Give Up

Popular Indignation Rises At Plan To Appease Hitler

PARIS, Sept. 21.—(CP-Havas).—The French government made new representations to Prague this afternoon, demanding an immediate reply from the Czechoslovak government on the proposals to cede the Sudeten German areas to the Reich.

The French minister at Prague, Victor De Lacroix, was instructed to stress to the Prague government the dangers inherent in any further delay.

Early this afternoon, no reply had yet been received from Prague to the urgent communications during the night from Paris and London asking for a yes-or-no answer to the Anglo-French proposals drafted last Sunday.

It was believed here that Czechoslovak government heads, although well aware of the threat of German invasion, were delaying taking a definite stand, in the hope that Paris, if not London, would change its attitude in favor of collective resistance to Germany.

The French government, certain Chancellor Hitler will start his troops moving unless Czechoslovakia capitulated, therefore advised its minister in Prague to warn the Czechoslovak government again of the consequences which would result from a negative reply.

There was no doubt whatsoever here that the German army will march against Czechoslovakia if the direct negotiations between Hitler and Prime Minister Chamberlain break down because Prague refuses to yield.

Litvinoff Calls For Parley

GENEVA, Sept. 21 (AP)—Maxim Litvinoff, Russian Foreign Commissar, today accused Great Britain and France of avoiding "a problematical war today in return for a certain and large-scale war tomorrow."

Addressing the League of Nations assembly, Russia's spokesman said the price of the two western democracies were considering paying to prevent war over Czechoslovakia was "satisfying the appetites of insatiable aggressors by the destruction and mutilation of sovereign states."

Litvinoff declared "our war department is ready immediately to participate in conference with representatives of the French and Czechoslovak war departments in order to discuss measures appropriate to the movement."

"Independently of this, we consider it desirable that the question be raised at the League of Nations if only as yet under article XI, with the object of first mobilizing public opinion and secondly of ascertaining the position of other nations whose passive aid might be extremely valuable."

France, Czechs Notified

He said this Russian stand was framed and sent to the Czechoslovak government two days ago and to France a few days before the league assembly met Sept. 12.

Litvinoff said that at that time his government added:

"We intend to fulfil our engagements under our treaty with Czechoslovakia and together with France to give assistance to Czechoslovakia by means open to us."

"It is necessary, however, to exhaust all means of averting armed conflict and we consider that one such method is by immediate consultation between the great powers of Europe and other interested nations in order if possible to decide on terms of collective representation."

He said it was not Moscow's fault if no effect had been given to its proposals.

"To avoid problematic war today and receive in return certain and large scale war tomorrow—moreover at the price of satisfying the appetites of insatiable aggression and of destruction and mutilation of sovereign states—is not to act in the spirit of the covenant of the league.

Litvinoff disclosed that immediately after German absorption of Austria the Moscow government had approached other European great powers "with a proposal for immediate collective deliberation on the possible consequences of the event."

Moscow, he said, had desired to adopt collective measures.

He said that to Russia's regret this proposal "did not receive its just appreciation" and added that if it had been carried out it might have saved the world from alarm over the fate of Czechoslovakia.

Mothered By a Cow "The Calf" Wins First Race

Toronto, Sept. 21 (CP)

RACE FOLLOWERS at Thorncliffe track here were surprised last Friday when a two-year-old gelding called The Calf romped home to take the second race and pay $47.25 but they were more amazed today to learn the story behind the juvenile. The Calf was raised by a cow.

Trainer H. Brown of Mrs. R. E. Webster's stable today released a picture which told the story of The Calf. When the suckling was born, the mother, Pottery, died. Mrs. Webster then put the suckling in with a cow. Friday's race was the first for The Calf.

Football Star Is Killed In Explosion

SARNIA, Ont., Sept. 21 (C.P.).—Ormond Beach, 27, star half-back of Sarnia Imperials, former Canadian football champions, was killed early to-day when a spherical tank at the No. 2 plant of Imperial Oil Limited exploded. Beach was employed by the company.

It was understood Beach was on top of the tank, testing one of the gauges, when the explosion occurred shortly after midnight. No one else was injured. Company officials declined to give further details of the accident.

Weighed 260 Pounds.

Beach, a 260-pound giant, came to Sarnia in 1933 after graduating from Kansas University where he starred on the gridiron.

Beach earned recognition in Canada as a great all-around halfback, and was named on virtually every all-Eastern team picked in the last four years. Last season he was selected the outstanding player in the Ontario Rugby Football Union after Imperials had won the O.R.F.U. title for the seventh consecutive time.

Without a peer as a defensive back, Beach also was an offensive star for Sarnia. He was an accurate forward passer and a dynamic plunger.

A Greatly Feared Team.

As long as the Imperials had Beach and Hugh (Bummer) Stirling on the backfield they were one of the most feared football forces in the country. They captured the Canadian championship in 1934, defeating Regina Roughriders in the final, and again in 1936.

Beach was in training for the 1938 season, working partly nights on his job with Imperial Oil. The force of the explosion threw the massive football player 400 feet. Residents in Sarnia and Port Huron, Mich., across the St. Clair River, felt the blast, cause of which was not immediately announced.

Premier Gets Hitler's Right Reply

May Draft New Europe With Dictator In Germany Tomorrow

LONDON, Sept. 21 (AP) — The Czechoslovak legation said tonight it had been notified that the government in Prague accepted the Anglo-French proposal for meeting Chancellor Hitler's demands on Czechoslovakia.

Informed British sources said the London foreign office had not received official word from its minister in Prague but that it was understood unofficially that Czechoslovakia's acceptance was unconditional.

The Prague minister's acceptance of the plan which means loss of their Sudeten regions armed Prime Minister Chamberlain with final authority for redrawing the map of Europe tomorrow in his conference with Chancellor Hitler at Godesberg on the Rhine.

Mr. Chamberlain gained approval of the full cabinet for his proposals this afternoon and they will be placed before the German Fuehrer as Britain's plan for preventing future wars.

LONDON, Sept. 21 (CP Cable)—Prime Minister Chamberlain will board a plane at 10 a.m. (5 am. EDT) tomorrow at Heston airdrome, from where he will travel to Godesburg for his second conference with Chancellor Hitler of Germany on the Czechoslovakia problem.

Announcement of the prime minister's plans was made today. He will stop at Cologne, Germany, for luncheon en route. He is expected to arrive at Godesberg at 3 p.m. (10 a.m. EDT).

Accompanying Mr. Chamberlain will be Sir Horace Wilson, a diplomatic adviser; William Strang, chief of the central European department of the foreign office; Sir William Malkin, legal adviser to the foreign office; and G. P. Humphreys-Davies, one of the prime minister's private secretaries.

Sir Archibald Sinclair, Liberal leader, declared in an address to the National Liberal Club today that "we have merely submitted to Herr Hitler's demands and our submission has been extorted not by a sudden conversion to justice in his case but by a threat of war."

Demanding publication of British-French peace plan, Sir Archibald said: "It's high time the British public knew exactly what is going on and what is being done in their name."

The cabinet met for one hour and 55 minutes in a session devoted to a final survey of the situation before Prime Minister Chamberlain's departure tomorrow to meet Hitler in Godesberg.

The prime minister arranged two other meetings, one with the King and the other with Clement Attlee, leader of the opposition, and Arthur Greenwood, deputy Labor

Retreat Is Path To Confusion Eden Predicts

STRATFORD-ON-AVON, England, Sept. 21 (A.P.). — Anthony Eden, former Foreign Secretary, declared to-night "the conviction is growing that continued retreat can only lead to ever-widening confusion."

Mr. Eden, who left Prime Minister Chamberlain's Cabinet just seven months ago yesterday in a protest against dealing with Premier Mussolini of Italy, told the audience at an English-speaking Union dinner:

"The British people know that a stand must be made. They pray that it be not made too late."

In what was interpreted as a reference to the German-Czechoslovak dispute in which Mr. Chamberlain intervened, the former Foreign Secretary declared:

"There are some people who believe that if immediate issues can somehow be resolved without resort to force the ambitions of all Powers of Europe then will have been largely met and the crisis is over.

"I can find no justification for such hopes, which seem to me ill-founded."

Steadily Closer.

"The truth is that each recurrent crisis brings us nearer to war. We slither even closer to the abyss. During the last weeks it must have seemed to many that we have been upon the very brink."

He recalled "several warnings I have felt obliged to give against optimistic forecasts as to the international outlook" and said:

"I told you such optimism was unfounded. I wish my forebodings could have been falsified, but unhappily the international situation now is far worse than it was six months ago and it is still steadily deteriorating."

O'Connor Defeat Roosevelt Victory

WASHINGTON, Sept. 21.—(AP).—Defeat of Representative John O'Connor for Democratic renomination in New York gave President Roosevelt to-day his first and only victory in his personal campaign against four Democratic legislators.

Mr. Roosevelt's sole triumph was not complete, however, because O'Connor will be on the November ballot, having won the Republican nomination by 1,000 votes over Allen Dulles.

The President tried and failed previously to prevent the return of three Democratic senators whom he classes as Conservatives—Senators George of Georgia, Smith of South Carolina and Tydings of Maryland.

O'Connor lost the Democratic nomination for the seat he has held since 1923 to James H. Fay, new deal supporter who narrowly missed defeating him four years ago. The complete vote gave Fay 8,352 and O'Connor 7,799. O'Connor is chairman of the powerful House of Representatives Rules committee.

Meet Hitler's Peace Terms As Prague Mobs Shout "Rather War"

Cries 'We Want Dictatorship' Fill Streets, Feelings Turn From Calm To Tense As Demonstrations Break For First Time

PRAGUE, Sept. 21 (AP).—The Czechoslovak Government announced officially at 7.25 p.m. (2.25 p.m., E.D.T.) today its acceptance of the British-French plan for meeting the peace terms of Chancellor Hitler.

The news of the capitulation came to Czechoslovaks by radio broadcasts carried through loudspeakers in the crowded streets of Prague.

"Czechoslovakia was threatened with violence. Destruction of the state was threatened," said the statement.

It declared that the changes to be worked out in the Sudeten-German region to be ceded to Germany still were the subject of negotiations.

At the moment, it said, nothing in the structure of the nation and its administrative machinery was changed.

"Existing laws prevail, all officials retain their positions," it continued. "Normal functions of the state carry on."

PRAGUE, Sept. 21 (AP).—The Propaganda Ministry disclosed informally tonight that Czechoslovakia had accepted the British-French plan for meeting Chancellor Hitler's peace terms.

An official of the Ministry said at 6.15 p.m. that the government had yielded to the pressure of London and Paris.

The British and French Legations were notified of this decision in notes delivered late this afternoon.

An official announcement from the Premier's office was expected later tonight.

Crowds in the main streets were in an excited mood and the authorities were worried about the reaction of the Czechs to the definite news that the republic faced loss of considerable territory.

In the streets there were shouts of "Rather war" and "We want a dictatorship."

A crowd estimated at more than 5,000 persons started a noisy demonstration in the main thoroughfares of th ecapital.

They cried:

"Long live the army!" "Long live Czechoslovakia."

Thousands of persons crowded into the entrances of buildings and in windows of hotels and business establishments to cheer the marchers.

Officers are Cheered

Taxicabs bearing Czech army officers were applauded heartily by marchers and spectators.

The line of demonstrators grew longer with each block and the crowds in the streets increased rapidly.

The propaganda ministry's disclosure came after it had been announced officially that foreign minister Kamil Krofta would receive the British and French envoys this afternoon.

Reinforced Czech police lined the capital's thoroughfares alert for any

When Is Hitler To Be Halted Asks Rumania

By Maurice Negre
(Copyright, 1938, by the Havas News Agency.)

BUCHAREST, Sept. 21. — (CP-Havas).—Rumania—the first nation exposed to Germany after Czechoslovakia—would like to know what strategic line Great Britain and France have decided to take to resist the Reich's "drive to the east" and when they intend to say a firm "No!" to Germany.

Only then will Bucharest be able to formulate its policy, high Rumanian circles indicated today.

Soviet aid apparently presents risks Rumania would not like to run at the moment. Italy, in the eyes of observers here, has become a German vassal. The real answer to the inevitable "drang nach osten" that will follow in the wake of a dismembered Czechoslovakia will still be up to Paris and London.

800,000 German Populations

Rumania, as the first nation exposed to Germany after Czechoslovakia, should be the first nation, it is pointed out here, to be alarmed. She has a German minority of 800,000 in Transylvania carefully controlled by Berlin. Efforts are being made to create trouble among Rumania's Hungarian minority of 1,500,000.

United Church 8th Council Rallies 300 Delegates

TORONTO, Sept. 21.—(CP).—The General Council of the United Church of Canada meets here today for the first time since the historic union sessions of 1925. Nearly 300 ministerial and non-ministerial commissioners gathered for the eighth biennial general council which opens with a service of holy communion in Trinity United church.

Business sessions are scheduled to start to-night when a successor to Rt. Rev. Peter Bryce, the retiring moderator, will be elected. A heavy agenda faces the council and its work is not expected to be concluded until the latter part of next week.

Two prominent churchmen have been nominated for the moderatorship, highest office in the church. Rev. Dr. Robert Laird has been treasurer of the church since the consummation of union and the other nominee is Rev. Dr. J. W. Woodside, minister of Chalmers United church, Ottawa.

Dr. Bryce, former secretary of the missionary and maintenance fund, last week assumed the pastorate of Metropolitan church, one of the largest churches in the downtown district of Toronto.

Dr. Moore To Be Missed.

One of the church's leaders, Very Rev. T. Albert Moore, former Moderator and for years general secretary, will be missed at the Council meetings. The veteran churchman who directed the work of the Council from 1925 until his retirement two years ago, suffered a heart attack in Saint John a few days ago and is in a serious condition.

The knotty question of pastoral terms is one of the most important matters down for deliberation. Under the constitution there is no limit to the length of time a minister may serve in one pastorate. In some quarters the adoption of the old Methodist itinerant system under which a minister was required to move every three or four years, is regarded as desirable.

Reporting on the matter to the General Council, the Committee for the Settlement of Ministers states its belief the time is not opportune to amend the basis of union to provide for a time limit.

Other matters to be discussed by the Council include equalization of ministerial salaries, length of the Moderator's term of office, merging of church publications, and national unemployment.

False Alarm Ringers Turn In Seven Win 2-Hour Chase

Toronto Sept. 21 (CP)

POLICE AND FIREMEN were led early to-day on a hectic, two-hour chase through downtown and central Toronto in a vain attempt to capture three men they believed turned in seven successive false alarms.

The men were interrupted police said, as they prepared to sound the eighth alarm.

Despatcher Mel Manning of the fire department said so far as he knew it was a record for successive false alarms.

To Withdraw Foreigners

GENEVA, Sept. 21—(AP).—Dr. Juan Negrin, Premier of Government Spain, announced to-day his government had decided on the immediate total withdrawal of all foreign volunteers fighting with government armies.

Negrin asked the League of Nations to appoint an international committee which would go to Spain to verify complete withdrawal.

4 Nabbed In Colborne Crash For Double Robbery

COBOURG, Ont., Sept. 21 (CP)—Four Toronto men were arrested on theft charges today after their automobile crashed into a ditch near Colborne. Police charged they tried to break into a store at Trenton last night, stole gas at Colborne and broke into a store at Newtonville.

The men were arrested after police chased them from Trenton in the Belleville district. At Colborne the car went out of control when it came upon a parked truck on a hill. The car was wrecked but the men escaped uninjured.

A. L. Mennie a provincial officer and Constables Gavin Reid and E. Motterhead caught three of the men in Colborne and Constable F. Atkinson the other at Brighton. Police said they found a quantity of cigarettes in the wrecked car and charged they came from the Newtonville break-in.

Clothes Burned Off Lad Saves His Home

ERIN, Ont., Sept. 21.—(CP). — Plucky Clifford McCulloch, 19, a living torch but a real fire fighter, is in critical condition to-day after saving his Erin home almost at the expense of his life.

Drenched with flaming gasoline as he tried to kindle a kitchen fire yesterday, the youth dashed in agony from his home and hurled himself into Credit river.

With his clothes burned off his body, he ran back to the house and extinguished the flames, spreading to the rest of the building.

Writhing with pain, McCulloch crawled upstairs and sat up in bed three hours until his parents returned home and removed him to hospital at Guelph.

Combine Charged In Tobacco Price

OTTAWA, Sept. 21 (C.P.).—Existence of a price maintenance combine in the Canadian tobacco industry is charged in a report by F. A. McGregor, Commissioner of the Combines Investigation Act, made public to-day. The report has been presented to Labor Minister Rogers.

The Commissioner investigated the wholesale distribution of manufactured tobacco products after an application for an inquiry had been received from certain Alberta dealers.

The Commissioner finds, however, that agreements sponsored by the Imperial Tobacco Company have had the result of "substantially eliminating price competition in the wholesale and retail distribution of practically all tobacco products throughout Canada, since agreements of this nature have been put into effect by this company not only in Alberta but throughout the Dominion."

The Commissioner reports: "A combine within the meaning of the Combines Investigation Act exists in the distribution of tobacco products and the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited, and the Northern Alberta Tobacco and Confectionery Jobbers' Association have been parties and privy to and have knowingly assisted in the formation and operation of this combine."

Racer Breaks At 360 M.P.H. So Eyston Gives Up

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah, Sept. 21. — (AP) — Captain George Eyston abandoned further attempts this year to raise his own land speed record of 357 miles per hour after his giant racer "Thunderbolt" was damaged today in a careening five-mile run.

The covering over the two right rear wheels of the car fouled and the machine lurched through the measured mile at 349.58 miles per hour, sliding on the back corner of its metal shell like a bobsled.

Eyston said he would return to England on the liner Queen Mary Oct. 2.

"I had a very bad time," the retired British army captain said. "The car broke down just as I entered the mile.

"I was then going well over 360 miles per hour. It dragged all the way through but I kept her under throttle.

"Too much damage has been done to repair the car here. I can't attempt further runs. Whether I'll be back again next year depends on conditions."

Eyston's departure from the flats ended the 1938 high speed racing season.

His challenger, John Cobb, who by speeding 350.2 miles per hour on Sept. 15, broke the 345.49 miles per hour record Eyston set on Aug. 27, left from New York today for England.

Anglo-French Envoys Use Strong Terms Demanding Prague Give In; Fear Czech Army May Try Dictatorship

(By J. F. Sanderson, Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, Sept. 21 (CP Cable).—The Czech Government will give London and Paris an unconditional acceptance of the Anglo-French plan to cede a portion of Sudetenland to Germany, it was reported here today in usually well-informed circles.

The Czech Government yesterday sent a note setting out objections to the peace plan and offering to submit the whole question to The Hague Tribunal.

That was interpreted here as stalling for time, with the result that London and Paris sent an urgent demand for an unequivocal reply.

It was stated early today the British Legation in Prague had advised the Foreign Office that the Czech Government would give an unequivocal acceptance of the peace plan.

No formal acceptance, however, has been received here.

Waiting Full Decision

The best explanation available in London of this situation was that the Prague cabinet at its early morning session had decided on acceptance and so informed the British legation.

But acceptance could not be definite until it had been endorsed by a meeting of the party leaders forming the government coalition and of the Czechoslovak general staff.

In Prague Czechoslovakia officials said the note replying to the Anglo-French plan would be handed to the British and French ministers this afternoon.

Sources close to the government here said that the Anglo-French representatives early this morning calling on the Prague government to modify its original polite rejection of the proposals did not go beyond "advice."

But in diplomatic circles there was agreement that these representations were of an extremely strong nature.

Meanwhile there were disquieting reports of possible internal trouble in Czechoslovakia if President Eduard Benes and Premier Milan Hodza capitulate to the international pressure upon them.

Already there are rumors that the Czechoslovak general staff would be so enraged by surrender as to attempt to establish a military dictatorship.

Will Hitler Give Pledge?

Acceptance by the Czechs will clear the way for Prime Minister Chamberlain to confer with Chancellor Hitler at Godesberg tomorrow.

But it does not remove one of the biggest question marks of the whole long, complicated diplomatic manoeuvring—will Mr. Chamberlain be able to persuade Hitler to join other nations in giving a territorial guarantee to the redelineated Czech state?

So far as can be learned here, Hitler has never committed himself to join Great Britain, France and other major powers in the territorial guarantee which is one of the terms of the Anglo-French plan.

There is a growing belief in some quarters here that Hitler—having gained the Sudeten areas as he demanded—may overplay his hand, reach for the moon, and refuse to give a territorial guarantee. On the other hand he may be content with "rescuing" his fellow Germans, who, he has claimed, were being persecuted by the Czech majority.

To persuade Hitler to join the other powers in a guarantee may be Mr. Chamberlain's biggest task at Godesberg. Only in that way can the Fuehrer demonstrate to the world his objective was to repatriate the Sudeten Germans and not to break up the Czech state.

Talks With Baldwin.

Prime Minister Chamberlain, after conferring with key ministers throughout the morning, had lunch with Earl Baldwin.

Observers interpreted the meeting as a sign that Mr. Chamberlain at

Charles Gibson Has Harvested Two Crops Of Potatoes

TO PUNDITS who define Canada as a land where only one crop a year can be grown Charles Gibson of 131 Morrow street gives vigorous denial and backs up his claim with proof.

In his garden plot Mr. Gibson is harvesting his second crop of potatoes. A second crop of new potatoes in middle September is something few might believe but Mr. Gibson brought some into the Examiner office to back up his claim.

He planted his first crop of potatoes on the third day of April and began to dig them up on the 13th of June a few hills at a time. As he emptied each hill he planted some old seed potatoes which he had left over from the earlier planting in the same ground. Now he is digging the hills for the second time this year has found his second crop to be as large as the first one.

New Commissioner Reaches New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 21. — (CP) —Sir Gerald Campbell, newly-appointed High Commissioner of the United Kingdom at Ottawa arrived in New York from England aboard the liner Queen Mary yesterday and said the British people were "hardening very rapidly behind Prime Minister Chamberlain in favor of his policies."

Sir Gerald said that when he left London the "tension was very great."

"We thought we were leaving the country under a black cloud," he said. "The country was prepared for any eventuality."

Sir Gerald, formerly British Consul General in New York, planned to stay here until October 5, cleaning up his business and then go to Ottawa.

Union Agent Shot To Climax Dispute

Twelve bullets pierced Schading's body.

Schading has been the cause of a bitter inter-union dispute for more than a year between the electrical workers and the sign hangers. Recently he has been at odds with teamsters union for servicing electric phonographs. The union is an affiliate of the American Federation of Labour.

Four Saved, Three Die In B.C. Mine "Bump"

FERNIE, B.C., Sept. 21.—(CP).—Rescue workers brought four men alive last night from the number one east mine of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company at Coal Creek, five miles from here, but one of the rescued was believed injured fatally in the "bump" which claimed lives of three other miners.

Bumps attributed to pressure in coal mines take the form of upheavals or avalanches from the coal face.

The dead: Wirliam Brown, 63; bratticeman, married; William Green, 50, mine mechanic, married; Thomas Manning, 50, miner, married.

Critcally injured: Thomas Biddulph, 52, badly crushed body.

Rescued: Luigi Schianni, Joe Pallone and James Roberts, all miners. Pallone was taken out on a stretcher but is not believed to be seriously hurt.

Roberts was unharmed when found by rescue workers who cut through the upheaved tunnel floor, and he joined the rescuers to find Schianni and Pallone who were caught in a "cave." Schianni walked out.

The area of the mine damaged is not extensive but is at a critical point so far as the workings are concerned and the mine will be closed down for some time. It was the only mine still operating in Fernie and 150 men who had been getting four and five days' work a week will be out of employment.

Yield Or Die Czechs Are Warned

Paris Hears Prague Will Accept Anglo-France Plan

PARIS, Sept. 21.—(AP).—A foreign office spokesman said to-day that "the first information reaching official circles is that Czechoslovakia's response to the Anglo-French proposals for partitioning the little republic "is affirmative."

Earlier sources close to the foreign ministry had indicated France and Great Britain had warned Czechoslovakia she faced extinction if she did not yield to Chancellor Hitler's demands.

While reports of Prague's capitulation reached Paris, Leftist members of parliament began meeting to raise an outcry against "abandonment of our democratic ally."

Communist members of the Chamber of Deputies gathered and decided to ask a meeting of all deputies of the Popular Front—the Coalition of Leftist parties hitherto supporting the government—for this afternoon.

The purpose of the proposed meeting was to send a delegation to Prague to "assure the Czech people and authorities of the French people's will to remain faithful to their engagements."

MORE ABOUT—
Peace Plan

"Strange bedfellows indeed."

The Express declared its belief parliament should not be summoned immediately, taking the line of Prime Minister Chamberlain's letter to Clement Attlee, Opposition leader, that the Prime Minister "has enough to do."

The Herald on the other hand demanded an immediate parliamentary session, saying: "There was a good case for assenting to that demand when it was first made (by the Labor party) 12 days ago. And now the case is overwhelming."

It said it was clear "the cabinet has gone far beyond handling the crisis within the lines of general policy to which it could reasonably be said that parliament has given prior approval."

The Anglo-French plan calls for partition of an independent nation which is a league member and "does so under the threat of external aggression," the Herald continued.

"It further proposes that Britain shall undertake to guarantee the integrity of any new Czech frontier. The first proposal should not have been made in complete independence of parliament. The second cannot."

A Change in Frontiers

Lord Rothermere's Daily Mail (Independent) urged the Prague government to give weightiest consideration to the Franco-French plan, declaring: "If war were to be brought over Czechoslovakia one thing certain is that Europe would never consent to reconstitute the country on anything like its present lines. It is against the verdict of history that frontiers should remain eternal."

The Mail attacked the attitude of labor in describing the settlement as a shameful betrayal and Mr. Attlee's mention in his letter to Mr. Chamberlain of "a grave departure from declared British policy."

"What do the socialists want?" the paper asked. "Do they want a world conflict? If they desire Britain to fight for any and every nation in any and every quarrel, why have they consistently denied her the right to arm for her own defence."

War would have been a "shameful betrayal" the Mail went on, and Mr. Chamberlain's loyalty to his principles, the nation and "the unswerving British policy of seeking peace has earned the gratitude of the world."

Another Duce Demand

TREVISO, Italy, Sept. 21—(AP). —Premier Mussolini, in his fourth speech this week on the critical European situation, re-emphasized his demand that the solution of the crisis in Czechoslovakia not be limited to the Sudeten Germans but be "integral."

He advocated that the rights of the Hungarian, Slovak, Polish, Ruthenian and Rumanian minorities in Czechoslovakia also be satisfied.

"If Czechoslovakia is facing a situation which we may call delicate it is because it was—we say was, having in mind that a solution has been reached—not merely Czechoslovakia but Czecho-Germano-Magyar - Polish-Ruthene-Slovakia," Il Duce asserted as the crowd roared with delight at his sally.

"At this moment the British prime minister, who took the political initiative, is directing the ship of peace into port."

His mention of Czechoslovakia and a passing reference to the French brought prolonged jeers from the crowd.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 21 — (CP). — Lack of aggressive overseas demand for Canadian wheat to offset selling flurries to-day caused Winnipeg wheat futures to close 1½ to 1¾ cents lower, October 60¾; November 60⅞, December 60¼, and May 63⅝ to ⅝ cents.

Prices slumped around two cents for the third successive session. Busines failed to develop on a large scale due to tendency of traders to await European political developments.

After opening firm, futures gradually fell off despite export of 400,000 bushels of Canadian wheat.

Liverpool closed 1d higher to ¼d lower.

We Noticed

...that Sun Flowers are making a hit in the "made up" flower world—we noticed three adorning the waist of a filmy frock in black tulle, and they were strikingly effective.

❖ ❖ ❖

...in the skirt news we learn that they are wider, either flared, or designed with gathered front fullness—although some slim, straight skirts are seen too. Many bodices are slender and fitted, while others are softly draped and a few are bloused.

❖ ❖ ❖

...we've remarked before on the importance of sleeves this year. The 1938 editions include the wide armholed Angel, the bishop, and the sleeve with the full top, and tight forearm. Necklines generally are high, though "V" and square necks are seen too.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

"Youth has a certain melancholy and sadness, while Age is valiantly cheerful....A chief lesson of youth should be to learn to enjoy solitude—a source of peace and happiness... In my years of youth I was delighted when the doorbell rang, for I thought, now IT (the great romantic adventure) had come. But in later years my feeling on the same occasion had something rather akin to terror—I thought, there it comes!"

—Schopenhauer.

Dear Friends:

Once again I have heard the old, old cry, "I wish I were young again, Roberta. I wish I could live my years over once more. How different everything would be. I would do this and I would certainly not do the other."

Well, frankly, I would not want to go through it all again. The hopes and the fears, the uncertainty, for youth is very uncertain. The reaching out for my desires and, before I knew how to go about it to get them, the frequent disappointments.

One thing I learned early, and that was that we cannot go over the ground but once. My girl friend and I were having our last vacation from school, and as we walked along I said, "Let us enjoy it to the fullest so that when we look back we shall have no regrets as the older ones seem to have now."

And so, we went up to the Highlands of Scotland where Rob Roy used to live, forgetting all about work or school, revelling in the bits of romance that came our way. (And how we clothed these youths all inexperienced as we were, with the clothes and the manners and the chivalry of our favorite heroes in history.)

One day we got lost on the hills, not a very pleasant experience for the mists come swirling down so suddenly. We became so hungry that we pulled a turnip out of a field, peeled it as best we could, and oh, how sweet it tasted.

Everything was as a lark, we awoke at the crack of dawn, and out we went, afraid we would miss something. The world was ours, we were not afraid, we could and would conquer as we went along.

But work in an office seemed like prison, our boy friends did not live up to our conception of them, we lacked the confidence which experience alone can give, and life did not seem at all as we had pictured it to be.

Our elders seemed sadly lacking in understanding, cynical, blase, and that made us more unsure than ever. We feared not knowing what we feared.

We looked for adventure and found sex, or selfishness, yet we kept thinking "next time my knight will come along" as I suppose the boys expected to see their "Ladye Faire."

We looked at life through a golden haze, and when we found drab rainy days, down we went to the depths. What is so silly to the beholders as two who are madly in love? But we couldn't see it like that, then.

To be alone was the height of grief. None wanted us for the time so there must be something definitely wrong with us. Solitude was not to be borne, we could not stand our own company. We wanted strong lusty life without knowing how to handle it when it came.

And we though, never could we get tired of dancing the whole night through, never would our ardor cool fr life and living at the highest tempo. As Coleridge says: "Naught cared this body for wind or weather, When youth and I lived in 't together."

Heigho and lackaday. Now I've got myself wondering if I would like to be young again.

Men, Through Vanity, Want To Be The Big IT In Every Household, Hence Seem To Prefer Shy Types of Wives, But This Rarely Lasts After The Honeymoon

"I WANT a CLINGING VINE for a wife," says a man to me. "One who will lean on me, and depend on me, and look up to me and think I hung the moon. I don't want one of these independent young women who can stand on her own feet, and hold down as good a job as I can and maybe tell me where I get off.

"I want a wife who will flatter me, cajole me, make me feel that I am about seven feet high and strong as Joe Louis, and that she is a poor, weak, helpless, little creature that I have to take care of. I want a wife who will think I am Solomon and the Supreme Court rolled into one, who will ask my advice and opinion about everything she does and begin every sentence with 'John says.'"

All right, brother, I hope you get her, though clinging-vine wives are getting to be a rare specimen of flora in these days when most girls learn their way about as soon as they are out of the cradle, and by the time they are old enough to marry not only know where they are going but are on their way. However, every man is entitled to his own taste, especially in a wife, and I suppose those who crave chocolate creams would never be satisfied with roast beef, no matter how much better it was for them.

But before you marry a brainless and spineless woman, take a nice, long walk in a forest and note how many promising young saplings have been crushed to earth by the weight of the vines upon them, and how many sturdy oaks are being slowly killed by the vines that are entwined so tightly about them that their very lives are being choked out of them. It may suggest to you what happens to the man who has a wife who is a burden and not a prop to him.

There are three reasons why the clinging-vine woman always appeals to men. The first is, of course, masculine vanity. Above everything else a man desires to feel superior to his wife. He wants to be bigger physically, stronger mentally, and to have her regard him as an oracle. He wants to be the head of the house, the purse-bearer, and to have his wife in every way subservient to himself.

This is why intelligent men so often marry Dumb Doras; why cultivated men marry illiterate wives. It is why practically every married woman who achieves success in business or a profession loses her husband. And it is why when a rich woman marries a poor man it almost invariably ends in disaster, no matter how generous and open-handed she is.

Women rejoice in their husbands' triumphs. They glory in being known as the wives of famous men. But men writhe under being known as their wives' husbands, and the most deadly insult you can offer one is to call him Mr. Mamie Jones. Nor can they stand being dependent upon their wives and eating their wives' bread. The minute a man feels himself inferior to his wife he flees for compensation to some woman before whom he can strut and pose as a godling.

The second reason that the clinging-vine woman appeals to men is because they have an unfounded belief that the less sense and character a woman has, the easier she will be to manage. They have an idea that the inefficient woman, who never learns how to manage her own affairs and who is so weak she wreaths herself about any one who will support her, is plastic clay that they can mold to their hearts' desires. It is only after they have tried to change the clinging vine into something human that they find that it can't be done.

The woman with intelligence and character and backbone can always be reasoned with, and she can be depended upon to rise to a situation and meet it bravely and wisely, but a floppy fool is hopeless. All she can do is just be a burden on her husband, hinder his growth, sap his strength and pull him down to her level.

The third reason why the clinging-vine woman appeals to men is that she touches the core of chivalry that lies in every fine man's heart. She is weak and he is strong. She is helpless and he is capable. She is defenceless in a hard world and all that is fine and generous and tender in his nature makes him want to protect her, and it gives her the hold upon him that a little child has upon a grown person.

But, alas, the clinging vine's allure seldom lasts beyond the honeymoon, for a man finds that what he really wants in a wife is not a parasite, but a working partner.

DISTRICT COUNCIL

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 21.—A.Y.P.A. members gathered here for a general meeting of the district council on Tuesday evening when the Christ Church, Campbellford, Association were hostess to nearly one hundred. After a brief welcome to the gathering, President R. C. Ramsden handed over the duties of chairman to Miss Clemena Long of Peterborough, who outlined the seventh Ontario provincial conference to be held there from October 20th to 23rd.

Stressing the theme of the conference "Fourfold Living for Christ and the Church," which is to be outlined in an address by Mr. Leonard Mills at the session held in the Legion Hall on Friday, October 21, Miss Long named over a long list of the speakers and agenda which will conclude with a banquet on Saturday evening at which it is hoped that close to 500 members will be present.

Miss Queenie Hope then took the chair and before introducing a brief program of community singing and games, gave an account of the work being done by the Children's Aid. She suggested that there was only one way in which to prevent these young people from drifting and that was creating in them an interest in the work of the church. Referring to eleven young people who were on suspended sentence and who reported each week to an official of the Children's Aid Society, she asked "is there a place for these young people in our A.Y.P.A." Miss Hope left the gathering with this thought and was followed by Charles Coleman of Peterborough who provided a period of impromptu entertainment following which lunch was served.

Dr. C. M. Scott Brings Greetings To H. & S. Meeting

The September meeting of the King George Home and School Association was held Tuesday evening in the kindergarten rooms.

Mrs. Max Swanston was in the president's chair, and welcomed the forty-eight entrance graduates, their parents and friends. The secretary, Mrs. F. Barrie, presented the minutes of the last meeting, and, in the absence of Mrs. D. Miller, gave the treasurer's report. Letters of appreciation from Mrs. J. M. Gemmell and Mrs. A. S. Couper in appreciation of their appointment as honorary presidents of the association were read. A motion was made by Mrs. Blaikiock and seconded by Mrs. Powell that a paper collection be held later in the fall.

The banner for the room having the largest attendance of parents at the meeting went to Miss Moore's class. The roll call was given, and was followed by a piano solo by Miss Dorothie Powell.

An address by Mr. George Groombridge on behalf of the parents of the graduating pupils stressed the importance of self-reliance in home and school training, and his illustrations were drawn from Scout and Cub teachings. A recitation entitled "Then and Now," by Bob Graham, followed Mr. Groombridge's address.

The two valedictorians, Miss Ruth Sage and Miss Norma Andrus, spoke next, expressing the appreciation of their classes to their teachers, Mr. G. Northey and Mr. F. Kerr, for guidance during the past year. A solo, "Nymphs and Shepherds," sung by Master Leslie Groombridge, accompanied by Miss Doreen Groombridge, followed.

Greetings to the graduates were brought by Dr. C. M. Scott, speaking on behalf of the School Board. Dr. Scott spoke in an interesting manner of the educational system in India, and told of some of the experiences he had encountered during his sixteen years' residence in the country. Dr. Scott's address was followed by a piano solo by Douglas Butcher.

Mr. K. S. Wightman, chief inspector of Public Schools in Peterborough, briefly addressed the meeting, extending best wishes to the graduates on their promotion to the Collegiate.

A vote of thanks to the artists and speakers was tendered by Mr. G. Groombridge and seconded by Mr. F. Kerr.

Following the singing of the National Anthem, refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Morgan Cullen, convenor of the social committee.

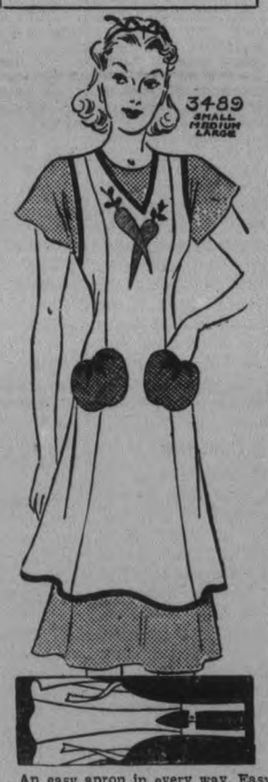
Fashions



An easy apron in every way. Easy to look at....easy to slip into....easy to wear....easy to sew....easy to launder. Compliments will fly about when you wear it. The colorful vegetable applique is so delightful against the white muslin apron with its vivid binds. The amusing pockets are useful, too, for the one hundred and one things you pick up about the house. It's a joy to sew, for it cuts in one-piece from shoulder to hem. The shaped gores are quickly joined on the sewing machine. Bias binds finish the edges. Note the small diagram ... the cross strap at back, that prevents it from slipping off the shoulders. If you choose a printed cotton, the vegetable applique is effective in a monotone cotton.

Style No. 3489 is designed for sizes small, medium and large. The medium size requires 2½ yards of 35-inch material with 5 yards of binding; ¼ yard of 20-inch for carrot, and ¼ yard of 18-inch for tomato appliques.

A Partridge Auction

CHICOUTIMI, Que., Sept. 21.—(CP).—A bird in the hand was worth more than two in the bush to the Catholic church at St. Bruno, a small village not far from here. After High mass last Sunday a partridge flew into the passageway of the church and was auctioned at the church door and the proceeds turned over to a church fund.

Double Wedding Takes Place At George Street

An interesting double wedding ceremony took place at three o'clock this (Wednesday) afternoon in George Street United Church, when Phyllis Bertha Bebee, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Bebee, 122 Hilliard Street, became the bride of Elmo James Nesbitt, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Nesbitt of Oshawa, and Miss Margaret Jane Mackenzie, only daughter of Mrs. J. Mackenzie and the late Mr. Mackenzie of this city, was united in marriage to Mr. Clarence Nelson Bebee, of Kirkland Lake, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Bebee, and brother of Miss Phyllis Bebee.

The ceremony was performed by the pastor of the church, Rev. M. C. Parr.

A profusion of brown-eyed susans, delphiniums and asters were used for the effective church decorations, and wedding music throughout the ceremony was played by Mrs. C. Renaud.

Miss Bebee was given in marriage by her father, and wore a gown of navy blue sheer, a navy hat with shoulder-length veil, navy accessories, and carried a bouquet of Briarcliffe roses and Bouvardia.

Miss Mackenzie was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. John Mackenzie, and she also wore a navy blue ensemble, and carried a bridal bouquet of Briarcliffe roses and Bouvardia.

The ushers were Mr. Lorne Bebee and Mr. Bernard Butcher.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bebee, 122 Hilliard Street, where Mrs. Bebee and Mrs. Mackenzie received. They both wore navy blue ensembles, and corsages of roses.

Later the happy young couples left by motor on their wedding trips. Mr. and Mrs. Nesbitt for points in the Eastern states, the bride wearing for travelling a rust suit with a green topper and accessories of brown, and Mr. and Mrs. Bebee for Western points, Mrs. Bebee wearing a rust suit with brown topper, and brown accessories.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c

DOES BOTTLE BOTHER BABY?

IF SO Mrs. Robert E. Brandon, of Markham, Ontario, has this message for you: "As so often happens to bottle-fed babies, stomach trouble and constipation were so troublesome we despaired of ever raising our first baby. A neighbour recommended Baby's Own Tablets and they proved so satisfactory we have never been without them for over thirteen years, with the result we have five extra sturdy children. So far they have missed all the so-called children's diseases and four of the five were bottle fed."

And Mrs. M. Butchart, of Toronto says this: "Baby's Own Tablets are excellent for bottle-fed babies as they assist in digesting foods which cause indigestion."

Baby's Own Tablets are equally effective in diarrhoea, simple croup, colic, colds, simple fever and teething troubles.

Sweet-tasting, easy to take, safe for the most delicate baby. Analyst's certificate in every box.

Never be without Baby's Own Tablets—sickness so often strikes in the night. Your money back if you are not satisfied. 25 cents.

The War Feeling

If the Examiner can interpret public feeling correctly, we believe it is divided in two camps, and the strange thing is that there are many people who are living in those two camps. And they are the same people. This way: They do not desire to see war coming, and at the same time they do not relish peace for which they think too great a price has been paid.

We have no accurate way of knowing how clearly and logically people think during a time of world crisis; there are many who are ready to fall in with any suggestion made or with any idea which may be advanced. There are people talking today about securing peace at too great a price who stop not at all to consider the price paid for war if peace is not forthcoming.

If there is anything which causes a feeling of something akin to revulsion it is to hear men talking war who know for certain they are not going to participate in that war.

The world has had a demonstration within recent days, the full significance of which may not at the moment be appreciated. It is just this—that nations are not as quick on the trigger as they used to be. There was not the same readiness in recent days to make international alignments as there was in 1914. There was far more of that feeling to find some other way to settle a dispute.

We are told that making changes in the boundary of Czechoslovakia would be dangerous because it would be tampering with something which was part of the Treaty of Versailles. If the Treaty of Versailles contained anything which was basically wrong then the fact that it was or is in the treaty does not make it basically right. And the world knows by this time that the Treaty of Versailles contained a number of items which should never have been written into it.

If there is weakness in the proposed settlement whereby Germany will gain the Sudeten area it is in the fact that strength dominates the situation. Premier Mussolini of Italy saw fit to make another speech in which he invited the world to come along and get a taste of Italy's strength. Hitler's addresses are couched in similar language. And yet the national cemetery of the world is fairly well filled with reminders that nations which were built upon might have perished from the same agency.

Premier Chamberlain could have had war months ago had he been minded to accept the veiled and at times open challenges which were thrust in his direction. He said the British people wanted peace and we believe he meant it. He resorted to negotiations when the situation looked as though it had been wrung dry of hope. He took his political life in his hands and did a thing which had never been done before—he went direct to Hitler. And the world applauded and said he had done a right thing.

The result was that France came into the negotiations and the French leaders agreed that there could be a solution, but there would have to be a price paid for peace. Just as there would have to be a price paid for war. It is apparently true the conclusion was that square miles of territory was not worth as much as square miles covered with dead men.

If we were prepared to trust and approve of Chamberlain during his negotiations we can see no reason for deserting him now. This war sick world has room for a man of whom it can be said—he desired peace.

Better Leave It Alone

It did look for a time after President Roosevelt delivered his momentous address at Kingston that everything which could be said about it had been attended to. It was threshed out from the point of the Monroe Doctrine to the feeling of one good neighbor for another.

It has remained for Sir Alfred Morine, a former cabinet minister from Newfoundland, to give it a new setting. He was speaking in Toronto and he advanced the belief that military aid from United States would place Canada directly under the control of Washington. He is reported this way:

> "As much as we desire to live in peace and harmony with our neighbors to the south, I'm sure most Canadians do not want to give up their British institutions for American ones."

And that we consider was a rather poor sort of address. If Sir Alfred had read carefully the Roosevelt address he would have noticed that before making his reference to Canada the President addressed this land as being in the sisterhood of the British Empire. Not by a long pull at a vivid imagination could his remarks be so interpreted that they would mean United States had any wish or desire to dominate this country. And President Roosevelt is also sensible enough to know that the people of this country have no longings to become part of United States.

Sir Alfred Morine has muffed the thing by trying to make President Roosevelt say something which he never uttered.

Internal Financing

J. David Stern, publisher of the New York Post, needed money to pay off the existing indebtedness of his paper, and he is getting it from the people who work for the Post. Five hundred of the Post staff are leaving ten per cent. of their earnings with the paper on which they draw 2 per cent. interest. Members of the mechanical, reportorial and advertising departments are taking $2,000,000 first preferred stock in the Post. The publisher's announcement says that the co-operation of the employees has resulted in placing the paper in a strong financial position, with nothing standing against the company except long-term funded indebtedness.

We believe there would be a rather wholesome feeling in that office. When there are 500 people in the place who know they have an interest in the way things are going there is apt to be a keen regard for the utmost in good effort and if any of these people see anything which can be turned to the advantage of the paper they are going to do it. Not entirely a new method, but a good one which leaves the door open between the front office and the rest of the establishment.

Back For "Sentence"

Harry Clarke from Saskatchewan arrived in Toronto two weeks ago, and since then has faced the problem of existence alone and in his own way. He is 17 years of age and is an orphan.

His place of residence has been uncertain. There have been times when he has slept on the floor of vacant buildings, and on other nights he has made his bed on the grass or park benches. It seems that Toronto had rather overlooked the coming of Harry Clarke and had not made much provision for his entertainment.

His case became common property when he appeared in police court and the charge was that he had stolen four milk tickets, and it is fair enough to believe he stole the tickets because he wanted to drink the milk which they would secure.

At last reports the lad was in charge of the Salvation Army—a good place—and it was also intimated he would be called back to court for sentence.

As a rule our courts are pretty sensible places and we are certain there will be no harsh treatment for Harry Clarke. One is moved to ask when the word "sentence" is used just why this lad should be sentenced at all? Has he sinned to a greater degree than he has been sinned against? He was born into the world and in our country, and he committed no offence because his parents died before he reached the age where he could for himself solve the riddle or problem of existence. Was he offending when he sought a place to sleep at night in vacant buildings? And to what extent was he offending when he found that he had to take milk tickets which belonged elsewhere in order that he might keep body and soul tethered one to the other? Look at the thing from any human angle and one is inclined to come to the conclusion that such a boy has been facing an unequal struggle. So why should we "sentence" him and if so—to what?

Harder To Make a Fortune

Representative Wright Patman of Texas has prepared a bill which he will submit to the next session of the U.S. Congress, the purpose of which is to place special taxation against chain stores. One of the immediate results has been the placing of large advertisements in many papers by John A. Hartford, president of the A. & P., and his brother, George L. Hartford, chairman of the board. Apart from the interests of the 85,600 employees of the stores, the statement discusses the position of the brothers Hartford, and maintains they could well afford to close up shop and live comfortably enough.

That part of the statement is correct, for undoubtedly the brothers have sufficient to see them through. But the most interesting part of the situation follows: Out of any money earned annually from the business by George L. Hartford 82 per cent. is paid to the government in taxes, and in the case of John A. Hartford is worked out at 83 per cent. They are apparently in the upper brackets of the income tax division where an income of a million means between $820,000 or $830,000 for the government.

Neither of these brothers has any children, and their statement concludes by saying: "Any monies left out of their earnings would accrue to their estates, and in the event of their death inheritance taxes would probably amount to two-thirds of their accrued earnings, leaving 6 cents on the dollar as a motive for continued personal service."

Somewhat apart from the nature of the measure which the man from Texas desires to introduce to place heavier taxes on chain stores is the other matter of the way in which present income tax and future inheritance tax is bearing down on large fortunes. It does look as though the day of great amounts of money passing from one generation to the next in certain families had come to an end for the very ample reason that the government takes so much during the years of earnings, and then if in spite of such taxation there remains a considerable amount in an estate the government again repeats the operation and takes the major portion of the estate.

Where the Money Goes

A number of transients appeared in police court here, and the charge was that they had been drinking wine in what is termed an illegal place. Possibly one man has as much right to drink wine as another, but the law sets certain regulations, and it is necessary to abide by the rules.

The notable feature of this story is that these transients had been able to go and purchase wine. None of them is working and it means they had been making the rounds of the city looking for cash, and after securing it they had gone and spent it for a jug of wine.

When the money was collected which could be used for purchasing the jug of wine it would be on the expressed desire to purchase "a few groceries." That phrase has taken the place of the old one about a "cup of coffee." It is better than asking for the price of "a meal." One transient admitted to the Examiner that the suggestion about buying a "few groceries" when appealing for money was about the best one in use today, and he added that if it was necessary to repeat the request or enlarge upon it then it was mentioned they wanted "just a loaf of bread and a can of beans." Our informant explained that made a person think of plain living and it was hard to resist such an appeal.

Transients generally work or travel three together. In the down-town area when one goes in and asks for a handout it is generally noticed there are two others waiting for him on the nearest corner. They never suggest they are soliciting funds so they may go and purchase a bottle of wine, but that is what takes place often enough, and that is where the money frequently goes which has been handed out under the belief that it is going to "buy a few groceries."

NOTE AND COMMENT

It has been stated that conceit was invented for those who lacked breeding.

One hopeful thing about the present world situation is that nations are not at all keen to declare they are ready to go to war.

They do do it sometimes, it seems. A coroner's jury in Toronto has found a driver negligent in connection with a motor death.

Four dogs which belong in the Arctic circle arrived in Peterborough the other day and our dog catchers left them alone.

We read that weekly papers in United States were going to be made breezier and smaller. The trick would be to make it breezy without allowing it to get windy.

Lawrence Rudy of Kansas City is six years old and started to school in first grade. He weighs 120 pounds and had trouble getting into his seat. Once in though this lad will not be inclined to wiggle around much.

There have been several stories telling of 50 bushels of wheat to the acre in Alberta, but the actual result is shown in a despatch from Edmonton saying the average for Northern Alberta is 19 bushels.

Florida is a great place in winter time, but just now the people there are most interested in noting the path the annual hurricane is likely to take. And that of course can hardly be rated as a tourist attraction.

There are 1,300 employees of the income tax division of the Department of Revenue and 700 of them have recently received increases in pay. Perhaps with the increase will come a tendency to look upon their victims with more leniency.

CURED

(By A. R. K.)

¶ My Neighbor A stopped in a while, he never takes the time to smile, for he is quiet indeed; he told me I was looking thin, there was no color in my skin, and I was going to seed.

¶ He said that I was looking old, as though I might be catching cold, I didn't have much pep; some sickness I had cause to fear, this was a risky time of year, I better watch my step.

¶ When Neighbor A went out the door, I didn't feel quite right no more, I thought I felt an ache; I'd get down town then right straight off, before I'd start to wheeze and cough, and get some pills to take.

¶ 'Twas then I met with Neighbor B, a cheerful man as one can see, he whacked me on the back; he said that I was looking fine, and like a ram rod held my spine, I was not soft or slack.

¶ He said I was a healthy guy, for he could see it in my eye, could note it in my stride; as Neighbor B talked on to me, I felt as happy as could be, and glowed beneath my hide.

¶ So by the time I got down town, I wasn't sickly nor run down, I felt like merry spring; I found that there was lots to do, so I dug in to get it through—and worked like anything.

Sudeten Never Was In Germany

SUDETEN may be a new name to diplomats and politicians, but it is an old one to geographers, so old, in fact, that its original meaning is unknown, according to a bulletin issued at the headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

The geographic term Sudeten properly applies only to a short range of mountains along the northern border of Czechoslovakia," the bulletin explained. German-speaking people of this region, however, organized a political party whose program of autonomy has been recently adopted by most of the 3,500,000 German-speaking inhabitants of Czechoslovakia.

Common usage, therefore, has spread the name Sudeten to all German-speaking people around the western end of the Czech republic. By a sort of spontaneous agreement this border rim has come to be known as the Sudeten area. Prague, capital of the country, lies in the centre of this western lobe.

Although it is within the narrow border rim that the Sudetens are strongest, they also constitute between 30 and 50 per cent of the population around some cities of the interior.

❖ ❖ ❖

EXCEPT for a very few square miles, none of the region now known as the Sudeten area was ever a part of Germany. Before the World War all of this territory was a part of Austria-Hungary, except the small Hultschin (Hlucin) district of 110 square miles which Czechoslovakia obtained from Germany under the 1919 Treaty of Versailles. Of the Hultschin district's 48,000 inhabitants 82 per cent were Czechoslovak and 16 per cent German.

The frontier that the Sudetens dominate is largely a natural one, being defined almost throughout its sinuous length by wooded mountain ranges. While not as high nor as rugged as our Appalachians, these ranges command the rich central plain, many urban industrial centres, and most of the roads and railroads, into the country from the north, west and southwest. The border and numerous passes through it from Germany are reported to be well fortified by Czechs.

Throughout Czechoslovakia's rim of Sudetens, strongly Germanic patches alternate with areas in which half or two-thirds or all the people are Czechs, such as the area just east of Budweis (Budejovice). The principal areas in which Germans comprise 90 per cent of the population, such as the region around Carlsbad (Karlovy Vary), from eight extensive patches and two small ones distributed along the border, with intervening fingers where the Czechs are more numerous.

❖ ❖ ❖

PRESENT PROBLEMS give rise to the question of how so many people of German speech and customs found their way inside Czechoslovakian borders. The majority of them are the result of four centuries of infiltration, fostered by the common allegiance of ancient Bohemia (modern Czechoslovakia) and northern Germany to the Hapsburg dynasty. Prague was then the capital to which Berlin was subject. German colonization was encouraged by German nobles in the province of Bohemia, where Czechs were governed as a subject people.

At the breakdown of Hapsburg authority in the Austro-Hungarian Empire during the World War, the Czechs declared their independence. To the original province of Bohemia the Versailles Treaty added a small section of Germany's Silesia, about 110 miles square, in the northern mountains around Hultschin.

Pre-war German inhabitants remaining in the cities after the governing and governed reversed places still influence Carlsbad, Pilsen (Plzen), and Brun (Brno) so strongly that their German names may be more familiar to outsiders than the Czech names for the same places.

In the border rim where the two nationalities are so closely intermingled, farming and grazing lands are mainly occupied by Czechs, while Germans are most numerous in the industrial areas. Textile mills are especially numerous, for spinning cotton and wool. Also important among the industrial activities of the Sudeten areas are leather, paint, soap, rug and glass manufacture. Glass making, in the form of beads, mainly for export to the Orient, is the basis for one of the interesting home industries.

The Sudeten German element in Czechoslovakia is one of a half-dozen islands of German-speaking population isolated throughout Europe by the post-war flood of new nations. Germans form minorities in Italy, Yugoslavia, Hungary, Rumania, Lithuania and Poland.

ITALY'S SHAME.

(New York World-Telegram)

ITALY'S EXPULSION from her soil of all Jews who have entered the country since 1916 is unworthy of the civilization of which she is and rightfully, a proud member.

Had she contented herself with merely raising the bars against future Jewish immigration she would have had some ground, at least, on which to stand. She could have argued, with some reason, that she lacks foodstuff and raw materials for her native-born. She might even have pleaded inability to assimilate more than a certain proportion of a present date. Certainly we Americans could hardly have criticized her on that score, for we ourselves have excluded the Japanese and other Orientals on similar grounds.

But Italy has not done that. Some ten or fifteen thousand Jews, with official consent, have come to make their homes in that country since the World War. Now they have been given six months in which to clear out.

What a sad commentary on civilization and on Christianity.

MUST BE TERRIBLE.

• What People Do In Other Lands

ROLLER SKATES have been patented in Belgium which give promise of making the world safe for skatocracy. The skates have brakes, applied much like those of motor cars, when you shift your weight to the heel. They have ratchets to prevent them from rolling backward and a geared mechanism which steers when you lean to one side. They are shaped like tricycles, the braking wheel being behind the heel. The two front wheels which steer are a few inches in front of the toe. Nothing is left for the skater except to rub liniment on the bruises.

Miners, by reason of their occupation, are almost totally deprived of sunlight, except those on the night shift who may wander the world in the daytime, unless they need sleep. To remedy this lack, a German mining company has installed sun lamps in a special room in one of its mines. As fifteen minutes exposure under a strong lamp is equal in effect to several hours of basking on the beach, miners lose little time from their work, while improving their health.

A German research worker who invented a camera that can take exposures at one-ten millionth of a second, is now biting his nails because he cannot find movements fast enough to make use of such speed. May we suggest that in his search for something to justify the lightning camera, he try snapping the difference between the time we drive up to the curb and the appearance of a policeman saying, "You can't park here."

Sweden has a perfect ticket seller who never makes a mistake in giving change. He is R. R. Robot, installed at the Central Station in Stockholm where he issues train tickets upon the insertion of coins within the designated slots. One of his unusual features is a built-in camera which automatically snaps a photo of any person who places a false coin in the slot or attempts to raise change from the machine. This helps police to make a later arrest.

A German department store has taken seriously the notion that a smiling saleslady will sell more than a miss who greets the customers with frozen dignity. Smiling lessons are given twice a week, with motion pictures to show which muscles enter into the business of spreading cheer from ear to ear. After a stiff lesson the young ladies massage each others facial muscles and limber up their good humor. Before they are hired, they must show that they have the talent for looking pleasant.

A young Britisher, out of work but not out of ideas, noticed the impatience evident among the standees in lines at London theatres. On opening nights and at the popular shows he takes his place at an early hour near the head of the line. Each time he wears a sandwich board reading, "Who wants to buy my place in line." Many late comers are willing to part with a fee to avoid waiting, and frequently he is able to sell his place several times in the same evening.

Top hats are coming back into popularity in London and the men folk are glad of it. There is nothing like a tall hat to put a woman in her place. Columnists are recalling that when a topper first appeared on the English scene in 1796, one John Hetherington appeared on the highway "bearing upon his head what he called a silk hat—a tall structure having a shining lustre and calculated to frighten timid people.... Several women fainted, children screamed and a younger son of Cordwainer Thomas was thrown down by the crowd which had collected and had his right arm broken."

Upon arrest for obstructing the steet, Mr. Hetherington claimed that he had not violated any law but was exercising his right "to appear in a headdress of his own devising."

• Living for 12 Months On $31.85

(Calgary Herald)

ATABER, ALBERTA, farmer who evidently keeps in close touch with affairs, political and otherwise, recently asked Premier William Aberhart a quite pertinent question. He sent his letter by registered mail and later handed a copy of it to the Lethbridge Herald, which printed it. Here it is:

Taber, Alta., Aug. 23, 1938.

The Hon. William Aberhart,
Premier of Alberta.

Dear Mr. Aberhart: I am a farmer in the Taber distict, and have approximately 100 acres of crop. Fifty acres is cut and yielded about six bushels per acre, the other 50 acres will probably yield less than this amount, giving me a maximum yield of 600 bushels. Your Department of Agriculture has filed a motion of lien with all the elevators for the amount advanced to me for seed grain for last year as well as this year, a total of $147.51. The market price of wheat today is 49 cents a bushel, if it grades No. 1. The total value at the most is $294.00. After deducting the cost of combining at $1.25 per acre, I will have left $179, and after deducting your liens from this amount, I will have the sum of $31.85 to support me, my wife, and four children, from now until next Fall, and will have no seed, unless your Government is generous enough to furnish me with seed again.

Three years ago you told me and other citizens that we could not exist on less than $25 per month per adult with addition for children. Will you please let me know how you expect me to live for the next 12 months on $31.85?

• One-Man Rule Is Growing

(Kingston Whig-Standard)

THE CIRCUMSTANCES of Prime Minister Chamberlain's dramatic dash to Germany indicates to the world that in the international relations of Europe one-man diplomacy holds sway. In other ways relations between nations depend nowadays upon direct communications between the heads of governments.

In British politics the new era of one-man diplomacy became apparent when the Anglo-Italian agreement was prepared. That transaction became known to the world through the direct contact between Mr. Chamberlain and Signor Mussolini. The public is accustomed to the personal intervention of dictators in diplomatic affairs. In the arrangement now being negotiated by Mr. Chamberlain and Herr Hitler, and in the Anglo-Italian agreement already mentioned, democracies are undoubtedly taking a hand.

It would be inaccurate to say, says a London cable to the New York Times discussing this matter, that Europe is ruled by a four-power pact, but it is right to say that the affairs of the continent are in large measure decided by agreement or dissension among actors like Mr. Chamberlain, M. Daladier, Herr Hitler and Premier Mussolini.

BOLD PROPHESY.

(Minneapolis Journal).

NO war in Europe this year or next, says Lord Beaverbrook, the British publisher, speaking with finality and almost with an assumption of infallibility in a statement that will be read around the world. The world will say amen. So cocksure a prophecy evokes wonder that Beaverbrook with a reputation for dependability remaining from past forcasts, should go so far out on a limb that may break under him. For there are things going on to keep the world in fear that European war may be precipitated at any time.

I AM THE LORD, and there is none else, there is no God beside me: I girded thee, though thou hast not known me:

That they may know from the rising of the sun, and from the west, that there is none beside me. I am the Lord, and there is none else...

Drop down, ye heavens, from above, and let the skies pour down righteousness: let the earth open, and let them bring forth salvation, and let righteousness spring up together; I the Lord have created it...

Thus saith the Lord, the Holy One of Israel, and his Maker, Ask me of things to come concerning my sons, and concerning the work of my hands command ye me.

We are flattered but humble.

When we think of it, there's Vancouver Island seceding, Alberta demanding autonomy, Mitch Hepburn thumbing his nose at Ottawa, Quebec ready to fight on the St. Lawrence waterway issue, the West and East at loggerheads, the Maritimes hollering their heads of about sectional oppression and even our own Doukhobor minority protesting with fire and dynamite....

What sort of example does Dr. Haataja think we'd set those comparatively innocuous Europeans?

Roseneath Anglican Church Observes 75th Anniversary

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATAH, Sept. 21. — St. James' Anglican Church, Roseneath, on Sunday, September 18, observed its seventy-fifth anniversary with two services.

This little white church, rearing its steeple among the tall trees surrounding it, is one of the landmarks of the county. It is situated about one mile north-east of the village on highway 45. The hill on which it stands has been long known as the "English Church Hill."

In 1825 the forefathers of the Drope and Coyle families came to Canada from Ireland. In 1863 these families, along with the Nichols, McCrackens, Webbs and other staunch Anglicans, built the church on land belonging to the farm of the late William Nichol.

In 1925, just one hundred years following the landing of the Drope and Coyle families, a bronze plaque was placed. It bears this inscription: "This bell is erected by the Drope-Coyle families to the glory of God and in loving memory of pioneer forefathers, who came to Canada from Ireland in 1825."

The bell referred to calls the worshippers to service each Sunday.

The appointments in the church are classed among the best in country churches.

Organ Donated

The organ was donated to the church in 1925 by the late Edward Weir and his son, Willis, in memory of his wife and daughter, Effie.

The lectern was presented in 1925 also by Miss Lizzie Coyle in memory of her parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. John Coyle.

Immediately behind the altar is a beautiful stained glass window, donated by the congregation in memory of a former incumbent, the late Rev. John McCleary, who entered in higher service in 1886.

The drapes on altar, pulpit, lectern and reading desk are of brocaded green satin trimmed with gold fringe.

On the eastern wall is a bronze tablet erected to the memory of Sergeant Heber Nichol, killed in action September 2, 1918, by his parents, the late Frank Nichol and Mrs. Nichol.

The baptismal font was presented a number of years ago by the late Frank Nichol and Mrs. Nichol.

Out from the doors of this church have gone ministers and teachers and the soldier who gave his all for King and country.

The late William Drope, who for many years owned a boarding school for boys at Grimsby, where he was head-master, was one of its sons, as was Rev. J. N. Blodgett, Toronto, field secretary for Wycliffe College.

Cemetery Surrounds Church

Surrounding the church is the cemetery, one of the most attractive and well-kept burial plots in the country. Its lawns are like green velvet, and two flower beds flaunt the gay colors of autumn flowers.

At the rear of the church below the stained glass window is the grave of and the monument erected to the memory of the late Rev. John McCleary.

On Sunday the morning service was taken by the rector, Rev. William Stocks, who dwelt on the effort and accomplishment of the pioneer forefathers.

Rev. A. J. Jackson, M.A., of St. Hilda's Church, Toronto, was the guest speaker at the evening service. Mr. Jackson took no text, but in a conversational tone carried on a discourse as he spoke of the spirit of the pioneers, their crude means of conveyance, their desire for worship, and made comparison with present-day people, and to the existing spirit of commercialism.

The choir of St. George's Church, Hastings, assisted with the music.

Beautiful autumn flowers were banked outside the altar rail.

Goodnight Story

By MAX TRELL

Knarf and Hanid, the shadows with the turned-about names, went on a very strange journey. I'll tell you how it began.

They had gone to pay a visit to their friend, Mother Hubbard, who lived just outside the village of Gooseville. When they got to her house, they found she was out.

"She must have gone to market to buy her dog, Tray, a bone," Knarf said. "He's always hungry."

"But Tray is gone, too!" Hanid said. "No, something must be the matter. I wonder where they can be."

They ran down the road until they came to a very crooked house. It was the house where the very crooked man lived. They knocked on the door. They didn't think anyone would be home there, either. To their surprise, they heard the crooked man saying: "Come in! Come in!"

They opened the door and went inside. They found the crooked old man sitting on the floor with his legs all tangled up in a knot. "Quick! Untangle me!" he cried. "Oh! Did you hear what happened?"

"What happened?"

Simple Simon in Well.

"First untangle me and I'll tell you."

So they got his legs untangled, and he said: "Simple Simon has fallen into the well!"

"Into the well!"

"Yes. He jumped right in, fishing-pole and all. I'm glad you happened along. Otherwise, I'd be here yet. But we must go to the well. Perhaps it isn't too late."

Then they all ran as fast as they could across the meadow.

Then they all ran as fast as they could across the meadow and finally they came to the house where Simple Simon lived with his mother. Then they darted around the house.

"Look!" Hanid cried, pointing to the well. "There's everybody!" Sure enough, everyone in Mother Gooseville was crowded around the well. And at that moment, a great shout went up.

Serrars' coat was found in the shore weeds and a packsack of Buckley's was picked up a few feet away.

TWO WORLDS

By MAUD McCURDY WELCH

CHAPTER 47

Noel was so astonished by Nick's unexpected words, when he told her he was taking her out of the country with him, that for a moment she couldn't speak.

"Of course I intend to marry you," Nick went on in his tight voice. 'That can be arranged on shipboard. I think we had better go to the Riviera."

"You're mad—utterly mad," Noel exclaimed.

"Yes—about you. If I hadn't been, do you suppose I'd have done what I did? And now that I have you, do you think for one minute I'm going to let you go to that young doctor? Not me. Not Nick Luigi," he repeated.

"This is the twentieth century. A man can't force a girl to marry him. That time has long ago passed."

"Times may have changed, but men haven't," Nick said briefly. "There's a hundred different ways I could manage it. I could take you on the ship on a stretcher, pretend you were ill with the aid of something to insure your being quiet. I could keep you in your cabin until the ship docked. Could either have a ceremony performed on the boat, or let it be understood that you were my wife. That I was taking you to Europe to some specialist."

"Nick, you wouldn't dare try a thing like that. You wouldn't dare!" Noel exclaimed furiously.

"Oh, wouldn't I?" he retorted. "I've gotten by with other things a lot more difficult," he went on. "There's no danger of a slip-up. None at all. However, you are right in one thing," he admitted, "the day of the racketeer is over. The government has become too smart for us. I'm anxious to settle down in one of the beauty spots of the world. I've got my pile, to say nothing of what you've got. We could have a very enjoyable life together."

"That's what you think;" Noel returned with spirit. She kept saying over and over to herself that Nick couldn't get away with this. If he slowed down again, she had made up her mind to leap from the car.

But the speedometer showed 55, now and then 60. If they were not close to town, he would have driven faster than that, Noel thought. But there might be some danger of a speed office. "There are women," Nick began, glancing once at Noel's face, "who have found me interesting and not exactly hard to look at."

"I can believe that," Noel replied indifferently.

"I put my life in danger for you—don't you owe me something for that?"

"You're asking too much, Anything reasonable—" Noel let the sentence hang in mid-air.

"I'm only asking what I mean to have," Nick said grimly. Then he added. "You probably haven't realized it, but we're on our way to New Orleans. There's a fruit boat sailing at midnight. I believe we can make it."

Noel sat perfectly still. She knew nothing on earth would induce her to get on a boat at New Orleans, even if Nick succeeded in getting her there.

Nick was driving faster now. The speedometer jumped up to 60—65—70. Even with Nick's skillful handling of the wheel, Noel knew they were going at a most dangerous speed.

There was little chance of making him hear her now, but Noel did beg him to slow down. The speedometer registered 75. Noel thought Nick might have read her thoughts and knew that she had been thinking of leaping from the car. Perhaps that was why he was going at such a terrible speed, so she wouldn't dare risk it.

The car wasn't a very heavy one. Noel did not know the make of it, but there were times when it actually seemed to bounce in the air.

Gradually, it came to Noel why Nick didn't dare slacken his speed. Over the roar of the motor and the rush of the wind, she could hear a car behind them. It was evidently in pursuit. Nick didn't dare slow up!

Even at that, Noel thought their pursuers were gaining. She could hear the sound of the car more plainly now. It had a strange sound—not like an automobile. And yet what could it be, she wondered.

Nick said between tight lips, "If those ruffians catch us, they won't stop at anything."

A sick shudder passed over Noel. Were their pursuers the men Nick had left tied up in the house?

"I've taken money," Nick was saying above the roar of the car, "any way I could get it. But I never shed blood. Been squeamish about that. But these men are killers."

The pursuing car was still gaining. Noel carefully moved around so she could look through the glass at the rear. But all she could see was an immense cloud of dust, caused no doubt by Nick's car.

Then all at once something came hurtling through the dust, snorting, spluttering, charging like a thing possessed of demons. At last Noel could see what it was—a motorcycle. Then it couldn't be the men Nick had left behind tied up with ropes!

Noel glanced at Nick. His jaw was set grimly, he was hanging on to the wheel with all his strength and yet he must have known that his game was up.

And the next thing the motorcycle had roared past them in a whirling cloud of dust. Noel's heart sank as it disappeared. She had though it was a motorcycle policeman, that she would be rescued. Now—what?

Then she came to the realization that Nick was slowing up. At last he brought the car to a complete stop. There was the motorcycle standing directly in the path of the car. A figure leaped from it in cap and goggles—ran over to the car just as Nick jumped out.

"Look out!" Noel screamed. "He has a gun."

A strange thing happened then. Noel had expected to hear a shot. Instead, she saw the revolver suddenly fly up in the air to land a few feet from where the two men now stood locked in a desperate grip.

It was the work of a minute for Noel to run and pick up the gun, removing it to a safe distance against a tree, concealing it under some leaves. She didn't intend for Nick to find it, and she knew he had given the other one to Vincent.

The two men were fighting desperately, dealing each other vicious blows right and left. But it was Nick who was losing under the onslaught of such terrific blows He might even be killed, Noel thought. She didn't want that. She couldn't bear it. "Let him go," she cried frenziedly. "He hasn't harmed me. Stop—stop, I say!"

It seemed several minutes before her voice penetrated the mind of the man who was fighting Nick with such superhuman strength. His arms fell suddenly away. Nick staggered backward, reeled groggily for a moment, then regaining his balance, he limped painfully to his car.

Noel glanced at Nick's assailant. Then a cry came from her lips, "Julian, oh, Julian!"

He had taken off the goggles and cap and stood there, panting a little. In another minute he had a protecting arm around Noel.

"It seems that your friend is a better fighter than a doctor," Nick said wryly, as he leaned against the car. "He would have killed me if you hadn't stopped him."

"Nick, please go to Italy, or wherever you were going," Noel's voice was pleading.

Nick glanced questioningly at Julian, then climbed painfully into his car. "We're even, I guess," he said to Noel. For a moment his eyes lingered on her. Then he drove off.

"I suppose I did go after him like a maniac," Julian said.

"You were wonderful," Noel exclaimed. She picked up the gun, then asked how he had managed to throw it out of Nick's hand.

"Jiu jitsu," he said with a smile. Then added. "Come on, I'm taking you home. And this time you're going."

Plague Of Fleas

CHAPLIN, Sask., Sept. 21.—(CP). —Farmers of this district 50 miles west of Moose Jaw accepted years of drought and driftin soil, infestations of grasshoppers and other pests with mild complaining— but this time they're annoyed. This time it is fleas, millions of 'em. What caused the plague of fleas no one here knows, but the scratching population will pass them on willingly.

Young Woman Is Assaulted By Man Who Refuses To Leave Lunch Room

WARSAW, Sept. 21—A young woman in charge of a lunch room at this village had her glasses smashed and her face cut last evening when it is alleged a young man struck her in the face with his fist after she had attempted to have him leave the shop so she could lock up for the evening.

At nine o'clock the young woman asked several young men to leave, explaining that her mother was ill and she wished to attend her. All left except this young man, who stood near the door and refused to budge, despite repeated requests of the girl. At last with her patience exhausted, the young woman slapped the youth across the face, and he allegedly returned the favor with a punch which broke the glasses and cut her face. She was taken to Dr. Donald Munro, who stated there was no glass in the cuts and her eyes escaped injury. It is reported the young man has offered to pay six dollars towards the repairing or replacing of the glasses.

The incident has not been reported to the police and no charges have been laid.

Lorneville Barn Destroyed By Fire

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Sept. 21.—The large barn on the farm of Peter Morrison, of Lorneville, containing the season's crop and farm implements, was totally destroyed by fire last night. Mrs. Morrison was awakened by the reflection of the flames about 11.30 o'clock. A general alarm was rung and hundreds gathered to check the flames. The blaze had advanced too far to save anything in the barn. The cause of the fire is a mystery. There was some insurance on the barn, but the contents are a total loss.

C.N.R. Railway Detective R. Morden, of Lindsay, has been called upon to investigate a break-in at the railway station at Uxbridge. The burglars jimmied the door, but little of value was taken. The Shell gas station was also entered by cutting a hole in the glass door. Cigarettes and a quantity of money was stolen. The McColl-Frontenac service station was next visited. A small safe was removed from the building and was later found in a deep ditch on No. 7 Highway, near Saintfield.

Sunday Schools Of Otonabee Hold Convention

HIAWATHA, Sept. 21 (Special).—Sunday School teachers and scholars attending the annual convention of the Sunday Schools of Otonabee township in Hiawatha Tuesday afternoon and evening were urged by the Rev. G. Kelly of Lakefield to have patience with the children who are passing through that bewildering period known as adolescence.

He explained to the audience which filled the little frame church at Hiawatha that they have probably been annoyed and amazed at the radical religious views and sometimes indifference of the younger people, but went on to add that the youth of today cannot help but be puzzled and discouraged when they hear God's holy name reviled, the Bible condemned as a book of contradictions and, the moral standard which they were taught as right, tossed aside. 'Do not chide these children as being unrepentant sinners, have patience with them, it is your duty and responsibility to act as a steadying influence and steer them along the path of righteousness."

Written 2,000 Years Ago

"Those who wrote the Bible more than 2,000 years ago, knew nothing of the problems which exist today," said Mr. Kelly and he added it is the task of the Sunday School teacher to "get the kernel of eternal truth from the Book" and convey it to their classes. "The conception of God as given to the world by Jesus Christ is the standard to follow."

Rev. Mr. Kelly was the speaker on the evening program which followed supper and started with community singing of hymns led by the speaker. The worship period was conducted by the Rev. J. S. Ferguson of Keene.

George Paudash, chief of the Kiawatha Indians, was elected president of the Sunday School Association by the unanimous acceptance of the nominating committee report and other officers named were as follows: Honorary president, David Edwards; vice-president, Mrs. Donald Rose; secretary-treasurer, W. W. Dawson; alternate secretary, Thomas Gall; work secretary, Jean Wilson; young people's work, Marion Beatty; adult work, Rev. J. S. Ferguson; home department, Mrs. E. Kent; missionary department, Mrs. B. Reid; temperance, G. Gall; teacher training, Rev. E. W. Rowland. The report of the committee was read by Miss Jean Armstrong, retiring president, and other members of the committee were George Paudash, Mrs. B. Reid, Marion Beatty, Rev. J. McIntosh, Mrs. D. Rose and Gertie Thompson. Rev. J. S. Ferguson installed the new officers. Mrs. A. Bruce of Coldsprings and Delbert Howard, Keene, both sang solos during the evening.

At the start of the convention a warm welcome was tendered the visitors on behalf of the Hiawatha congregation by Chief George Paudash, with Mrs. Donald Rose responding. The secretary-treasurer's report, read by David Edwards, showed the association to be in a healthy financial condition.

Work Is Reviewed.

Miss Jean Armstrong, president during the past year, reviewed the fine work that had been accomplished and lauded the teachers and parents for the splendid spirit of cooperation which had prevailed during the entire term. Like the other speakers at the convention, Miss Armstrong spoke of the changing times and said in part: "Let us beware of condemning the leaders of change in our time. Down through the ages these leaders who were persecuted in their own generation were worshipped in the next. Jesus upset the religious thought of his time, so did Luther, Wesley and all other men who have left their mark in religious history."

"Today one needs an open mind. We must be ready to give a hearing to the new. The questioning youth serves several good purposes. He makes us prove our own faith; our thinking is clarified; he sweeps aside the things we cannot prove; the things which can be shaken and establishes a firmer religious foundation for himself.

"Then let us welcome the thinking youth. He may be God's medium for sweeping aside that which can be shaken."

In closing Miss Armstrong thanked all of the Sunday School teachers in the township for their fine work and ready assistance during her term of office.

Discussion Period.

Rev. J. McIntosh of Norwood conducted the discussion period which dealth with the problems confronting the Sunday School teachers today. The speaker of the afternoon was the Rev. T. S. Gault, minister of St. George's Anglican church, Peterborough. He chose as his topic "Worship." It was decided to hold next year's convention at Bethel church.

Rev. H. Lander of Gore's Landing, who has charge of the Hiawatha circuit, expressed regret that David Edwards, secretary-treasurer for the past twenty years, was retiring. He paid tribute to the sterling qualities of Mr. Edwards and voiced approval of the move making him Honorary president of the Association.

Rev. J. S. Ferguson added words of gratitude and appreciation for the fine record of service and remarked on the great amount of time and energy which Mr. Edwards had given to the worth while task. He voiced a vote of thanks which was seconded by Frank Kitney.

Mr. Kitney extended the thanks of the Association to Chief George Paudash and to the women who served so splendid a meal.

Mr. Edwards in accepting the vote of thanks pledged himself to assist the association or its members at any time, and in calling attention to the passing of the years, remarked that one of the banner members, David Armstrong, who had attended the convention last year, had since died and the audience joined him in a minute of silent prayer.

Sunday School represented with the number of delegates from each were as follows: Kiawatha, 5; Bethel, 4; Zion, 5; Indian River, 1; Coldsprings, 13; Stewart Hall, 10; and Keene, 12.

itulation or annihilation by force.

The phrase "Germany can not wait longer and will not wait longer" appeared with regularity in German morning newspapers, indicating Propaganda Minister Paul Goebbels himself may have created it.

If the Maerkische Volkszeitung, a newspaper close to Franz Von Papen, former chancellor, is correctly informed, Hitler's final decision will be taken to-morrow night.

"By to-morrow evening," the newspaper said, "Hitler will have brought about clarification of all questions in Godesberg.

"A final decision can be taken then."

One of Hitler's famous weeklends, charged with dramatic action, loomed as a certainty.

To Germany, it no longer is a question of whether big slices of the Czechoslovak state shall be lopped off, but whether Czechoslovakia shall be permitted to continue its existence.

Chamberlain's Job?

Mr. Chamberlain, according to German opinion, has the task of ending Czechoslovakia's independence.

"Chamberlain's task," said the newspaper Essener National-Zeitung, organ of Field Marshal Herman Goering, "is one of European dimensions.

"To use a phrase of the fuehrer's, the question at issue is removal of a cancer which poisons the entire organism of Europe."

The newspaper reminded Mr. Chamberlain that Germany could have done the job alone, saying:—

"There can be no doubt that Germany was both determined and capable of exterminating and rendering harmless the thorn in her flesh which Czechoslovakia, that mother ship for Soviet airplanes, constituted."

In the strictly controlled Nazi press, confidence was expressed that Chamberlain and Hitler would "go straight ahead in solving" the Czechoslovak crisis on the basis of the French-British scheme for splitting up the little republic.

Political circles were stirred, meanwhile, by an announcement that Mr. Chamberlain would address his contstituents in the Edgbaston Division of Birmingham on October 14. The announcement imemdiately gave rise to speculation that the 69-year-old Prime Minister, tired by 16 months of continuous crises, might be planning to retire after completing his peace negotiations with Hitler.

Frontier Fights Threaten Peace Scheme

LONDON, Sept. 21—(CP).—The Associated Press today reported the Anglo-French peace plan for Czechoslovakia was threatened by an outbreak of German-Czechoslovak frontier incidents and a reported Russian promise to help Prague resist attack.

The Associated Press added:

As border hostilities spread Great Britain was said to lack official information of the Czechoslovak government's stand on the joint British-French proposal to let Germany have the Sudeten areas.

The answer was said to be delayed both by the weight of the decision thrust upon the Czechoslovak cabinet and by Prague's diplomatic negotiations, which appeared to be mainly with Soviet Russia.

In Geneva, there were reports that Moscow was supporting Prague.

Still No Details

British officials maintained silence as to details of the British-French peace plan. Prime Minister Chamberlain is expected to fly back to Chancellor Hitler tomorrow for their second meeting, at Godesberg on the Rhine.

During the day the prime minister met with the "inner cabinet" which consists of Mr. Chamberlain, foreign secretary Viscount Halifax, home secretary Sir Samuel Hoare, and Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer.

Despite the apparent decision of the British and French governments to stand aloof, there was obvious concern at the possibility that their plan might fail to prevent an explosion.

The British Labor party demanded through Clement Attlee, leader of the opposition, that parliament be summoned immediately. Attlee wrote the prime minister:

"In view of the nature of the reported proposals submitted to the government of Czechoslovakia, which demand dismemberment of a sovereign state at the dictation of the rule of Germany and involve this country in giving a guarantee of future of continental frontiers, I feel strongly that before Britain is committed to this grave departure from declared British policy parliament should be consulted without further delay.

"I accordingly ask you to take steps for its immediate assembly."

Poles, Hungary Lay Claims

Poland and Hungary, meanwhile, were disclosed to have lodged claims with Great Britain for their own minorities in Czechoslovakia before the British and French ministers yesterday adopted their plan for giving the Sudeten areas to Germany.

Winston Churchill said recently that a "serious disturbance among the Hungarian population in the Rumanian province of Transylvania might offer a pretext for the entry of German troops at Hungarian invitation, or without it. Then all the possibilities of the oil and food of Rumania would be open."

Committee Is Named To Meet Police Commission On Police Station Addition

A committee composed of Ald. Dutton, McCannan and Gordon will confer with the Police Commission, it was decided at a meeting of the Legal Committee, with Ald. Gordon presiding, Tuesday night, to discuss the proposed improvements in the headquarters of the local police department.

This matter which came to the fore during the recent police investigation, had already been discussed by the Police Commission and was brought before the Legal Committee last night through the instrumentality of a letter from Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry, K. C., pointing out the need of better facilities. The crown attorney particularly stressed the fact that at present there was no place for witnesses waiting to be called but in the corridors or at the top of the stairs and there was no room available where witnesses could be examined by him.

Ald. Gordon agreed that there was need of better accommodation and the same opinion was expressed by other members of the committee.

"As soon as you get inside the front door you can see the place is over-crowded," said Mayor Hamilton.

That Storage Room.

Ald. Stocker, referring to the question of storage facilities questioned the need of a store room in view of the fact as he expressed it that liquor had to be turned over to the authorities immediately.

"Are we required to provide accommodation for the public in the court room," asked Ald. McCannan. "If we are not there is some room there that might be used."

It was pointed out that the proceedings in the court were open to the public.

Ald. Gordon submitted that all that was necessary would be to provide a room for the magistrate and crown attorney and another for witnesses.

City Clerk Armstrong pointed out that the Police Commission had passed a resolution asking for the council to appoint a committee to confer with them on the subject of alterations and finally it was decided to appoint a committee of three members to consult with the Commission. After something definite has been decided upon the proposition will be taken up with the members of the City Trust Commission.

In regard to the question of eating-house licenses it was decided to write to other municipalities and secure copies of their by-laws dealing with eating-houses.

LOOK OUT BELOW

Housewives living in top floor apartments on the main streets have little regard for the poor men who walk along the street below. This morning a bare-headed Beau Brummel was swinging jauntily down Water street when a collection of lint, dust and fuzz plopped down on top of his head, partially blinding him. Looking up he spotted a mop which was being shook vigorously through a window. The woman was not available, apparently not worrying where the collection of dust from her mop went to, so long as it was out of the house.—McG.

103 T.B. Cases Are Given Attention

Interesting data as to the fight being conducted in Peterborough against tuberculosis is supplied in the monthly report submitted to the Board of Health by Miss Zeta Kearney, the public health nurse.

Miss Kearney states that during August she visited 48 tuberculosis families and altogether dealt with 103 tuberculosis cases and contacts, diagnosing fourteen cases.

Surveys are made difficult, the report says, because of the fact that most adults object to a physical examination by a physician unless they are seriously ill. There are those who resent what they consider to be an instrusion into their private affairs and others who, while not actively antagonistic, show little inclination to supply information required to complete a survey. However, regarding the tuberculosis situation in Peterborough, one will find the following is a reasonably accurate picture upon which to base an estimate of the health of the city.

At the present time there are sixteen active cases of tuberculosis being treated in the city. Twenty-one persons are receiving sanatoria care. A total of twelve persons have been found with questionable activity. We have recently had thirteen persons return from sanatoria. There are fifty-five quiescent or arrested cases of tuberculosis. Supervision is also being given to three hundred and thirty-one tuberculosis contacts. Sixty-four persons have been referred for X-ray and found to be non-tuberculosis, Miss Kearney stated.

K. Magee and Dr. C. D. Hewett.

The operation was successful and the child is now out of danger, well on the road to recovery, Clayton McIlwain said last night.

Clean Bill Given Farmers' Market

Patrons of the Peterborough market will be gratified to learn that Sanitary Inspector Ronald MacPherson gives the local market what comes very close to being a clean bill of health in his monthly report to the board of Health.

"The produce offered for sale on the market," says the report, "was for the most part, sound, fresh and wholesome. On one occasion, however, a number of quarts of berries were condemned because of being in a state of fermentation. Some corn also infected with the corn borer was destroyed. Considering, however, the quantity of corn offered for sale during the month, the amount condemned was negligible.

"A number of vendors were displaying puff balls. These fungi, in order to be edible must be sound and not ripe. Those on display were examined carefully for their fitness. In one instance puff balls were found in an advanced stage of pollenation. The external appearance of the fungus was normal but its weight aroused suspicion and upon cutting, the inedible condition was revealed. These were destroyed immediately and the vendor warned against a repetition."

Junior Traffic Squads Suggested To Police the Streets Of City

While members of the legal committee were inclined to think there was some merit in the scheme outlined in a letter from Cameron Gorrie, boys' secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., for the formation of junior traffic squads, consisting of boys from 10 to 17 years of age, it was decided at Tuesday night's committee of the committee to secure information as to how similar movements in other cities had worked out before taking any action.

Mr. Gorrie's letter explained that the idea was to form these squads of young boys, have them instructed by police traffic officers and other persons as to safety first principles and traffic laws and use them as a force in promoting safer driving conditions in Peterborough. The plan, he said, had the approval of many leading citizens, the Ontario Safety League and other organizations and had worked out satisfactorily in other cities. There would be some incidental expenses for badges and promotions and it was hoped that a grant of $50 to cover this cost might be forthcoming from the city as it had not been provided for in the Y. M. C. A. budget for boys' work.

"The object to be sought is of some value" remarked Ald. Gordon, chairman of the committee, but they would have to be careful about not running foul of the section of the Criminal Code in regard to persons representing themselves as police officers."

Ald. Dutton said that before coming to any conclusion on the matter he would like to see some more definite information obtained and he moved, seconded by Ald. Bradburn that further data as to the working of the plan elsewhere should be secured.

Players, Fans Pay Tribute To Orm Beach

Rugby players and sports followers in general of Peterborough were stunned today by the announcement from Sarnia of the sudden, tragic death of Ormond Beach, 27-year-old star rugby player of the Sarnia Imperials who are grouped with Peterborough in the big four rugby this fall.

Bill Irwin, coach of the Petes, who has played against Beach when told of the tragedy this morning said: "That's terrible. He was one of the finest." Irwin added that Beach had earned recognition last year when he was selected as the greatest all round player in the Ontario Rugby Football Union after Sarnia had won the O.R.F.U. title for the seventh consecutive time.

Gentleman on Field

"Beach exemplified Canadian manhood at its best. He was a gentleman on the field and off. He was clean in his playing, a hard hitter and one who didn't know the meaning of the word 'quit.' He was an ideal example for any young athlete. In college he was a ten-second man."

Irwin said that he had watched Beach play Hamilton two years ago, and that the Tigers roughed him time and again, hoping he would retaliate and draw a penalty. "Beach knew he was valuable to his team on the field not on the bench, so he gritted his teeth and took it." This in Coach Irwin's opinion marked him as the finest type of player.

"I regard his passing as a great personal loss, Irwin said in closing, and Sarnia certainly will not be the same team without him."

One of Greatest Players

Ott Cranfield, of the C.G.E. Company said. "Beach was one of the greatest players I have ever watched in action. I have met and talked with him at different times and must say he was a splendid type. Every member of the local club are deeply affected by his tragic death."

Lou E. Brooks, another who is prominent in local rugby circles voices deep concern over Beach's passing. "Canadian rugby lost one of its premier performers, said Mr. Brooks. I never met a rugby player who could compare with him, in recent years, he added. The local club through Mr. Cranfield are arranging to send formal condolences to the Sarnia home of Beach and floral tributes.

Pat Hall, of Central Ontario News who has seen Beach play often remarked that his death is enough to wreck Sarnia's chances this year. "Beach was the spark plug of the team, and Canadian ruby has lost one of its top rank players in his death."

The announcement cast a pall of gloom over the rugby enthusiasts at the Peterborough Collegiate, many of whom held Beach in high regard as one whom they would emulate. In little groups the rugby players discussed his death and recounted his great deeds, and although few of them had ever seen him, they knew him as well as the baseball fan knows Babe Ruth.

Fast Time Cities Drop Hour Saturday

TORONTO, Sept. 21.—(CP). — That extra hour of sleep lost last spring by thousands of Ontario citizens when clocks in their municipalities were pushed ahead for daylight saving time will be recovered this week-end. Most places observing "fast" time will reverse clockhands an hour some time around midnight Saturday.

Daylight saving time, a method of tinkering with clocks so city workers may have longer periods of light after finishing work, was observed in 47 Ontario municipalities this year. The majority will revert to standard time this week-end.

In the parade back to the "old fashioned" time followed by most rural districts and several large Western Ontario cities will be Toronto, Ottawa, Welland, Kingston, St. Catharines and Niagara Falls. Clocks at Peterborough and Sudbury dropped an hour Labor Day. Windsor, Kitchener, Galt, Woodstock and Brantford remained on standard time throughout the summer. Hamilton went back last week-end.

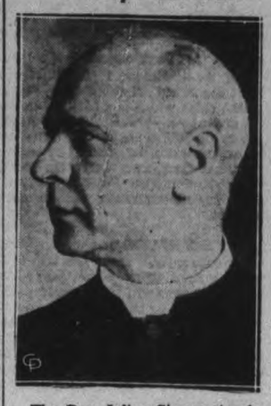
The time tinkering has always been more or less a contentious issue. Ontario Mayors' Association at the annual convention in Niagara Falls two weeks ago recommended nationalization of daylight saving time: The proposal met a mixed reception.

Children's Aid Given $25 Cheque

The Peterborough Children's Aid Society is wealthier by twenty-five dollars today because Frank J. Mitchell of Riverside, president of the Peterborough Bus Lines, was impressed with the efficiency of the local organization.

In a letter to Mayor James Hamilton, in which a cheque for $25 was enclosed, Mr. Mitchell said: "This is a donation for your Children's Aid Tag Day. I had the pleasure of visiting the Children's Aid home several times and was much impressed with the behavior of the children, good supervision, the cleanliness of the home and the courtesy of those in charge."

To Adopt Children



The Rev. Julian Sigmar, teacher at Notre Dame University, is seeking to adopt his nephew and niece, Joseph 3, and his sister Meschildis Josephine, 8, now residing in troubled Austria.

Liquor Charge Is Dismissed

A charge against James McDonald of having been in illegal possession of liquor at the head of Stoney Lake on July 8 was dismissed by Magistrate O. A. Langley at an afternoon session of the police court Monday.

Provincial Constable Don Carruthers of Belleville and County Constable Harry McLachlan gave evidence against the accused, telling of finding ten cases of beer at the home of Fred Hull, at the mouth of Jack's Creek, when they searched that place. The beer allegedly belonged to McDonald.

Defence evidence showed that the beer had been legally purchased for McDonald on a written order from the brewery warehouse here but had been left at Hull's house by mistake instead of being delivered to the cabin nearby, which the accused rented from Hull.

Magistrate Langley dismissed the charge and the beer that had been seized was returned to McDonald.

T. J. Carley, K.C., defended the accused and Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry prosecuted.

Tractors Seen At Demonstration

More than a hundred farmers from this district attended a tractor demonstration at Owen Murray's farm on the Port Hope highway yesterday afternoon.

The show was sponsored by the Massey-Harris Company, was under direction of Charles Worth, of Toronto. Its aim was to show farmers in this part of the country the ability of the new "101" model tractor which the company has for sale. Both row crop and conventional type tractors were shown, and a number of farmers climbed aboard to operate for themselves the huge 6-cylinder machines.

Blames Utilities For No New Bridge

"The people of Ashburnham can thank the Utilities Commission if there is no bridge built over the London street dam this year," Alderman G. N. Gordon said today.

He stated he had drawn the attention of the Legal Committee of the City Council to the fact that the Utilities Commission had $69,276.09 according to the auditor's report on December, 1937, in a reserve fund for contingencies and surplus. The Commission is entitled by Statute to hold $50,000 and the rest is payable to the city. Last night Alderman Gordon reiterated his demand that the amount in excess of $50,000 should be paid back to the city, and this would permit the bridge to be built over the exisiting dam.

"The Utilities Commission are sitting tight and are refusing to hand over this money that belongs to the city, so the people of Ashburnham may now go without a bridge until next year," he added.

Alderman Gordon stated it was common knowledge that many school children had formerly used the dam as a short cut to school and were now forced to either go north and across Inverlea bridge or south and over the Hunter street bridge.

Motorists Fined $5.00 For Speeding

Fines of $5 and costs were imposed in traffic court this morning by Magistrate W. A. F. Campbell upon two motorists who entered pleas of driving faster than the legal speed limit of fifty miles an hour. They were Charles Stanyon, 19 Prust street, Toronto, who admitted exceeding the limit on Highway No. 7 and H. Campbell of Peterborough who entered a plea through Chief Constable Newhall of having driven too fast near Lakefield.

Anthony Hearns of Havelock, who pleaded guilty through Traffic Officer Gordon Broughton of having driven without a license was fined $10 and costs, the latter amounting to $2.50.

Angle parking on George street cost Mrs. J. Davidson, R.R. 7, and R. Hood, Peterborough, $2 and 75 cents costs each.

Resident Head For Hospital Is Suggested

That the Board of Health should return to the former system of having a resident matron at the Queen Mary Isolation Hospital was the suggestion made at Tuesday's meeting of the board by Dr. Murray Fraser, M.O.H., who said that such a policy was the reverse of his earlier views on the subject.

However, he was satisfied now that the appointment of a resident matron, whom he was sure could be obtained for considerably less than was formerly paid, would be the more satisfactory system for a number of reasons and would be more economical than trying to secure nurses whenever their services were required.

At the suggestion of Ald. Dutton, Dr. Fraser will prepare a report showing approximately what the new plan would cost as compared with the policy that has been followed in recent years.

The board decided at Tuesday's meeting to advertise for the benefit of the producers and the public generally the fact that compulsory pasteurization comes into force in this area on October 1. The members were not quite sure whether this publicity was the responsibility of the board or of the Provincial Department of Health, but came to the conclusion that it would be well to go ahead with the advertising anyway. The local area consists of the city of Peterborough and the suburban sections of North Monaghan and Smith Townships.

Mr. Gordon's Complaint

Several communications from Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., were read. One repeated his complaints against conditions at the plant of Canada Packers, particularly as to the alleged pollution of the Otonabee River, and Mr. Gordon announced that he proposed to make the matter a political issue at the next municipal election. This letter was received, Ald. Dutton intimating that so far as he was concerned he was sure that the Board of Health had not been negligent in anyway, and that he was willing to leave the thing to the judgment of the citizens.

Another letter from Mr. Gordon attacked the manner in which the health department is being administered by Dr. Murray Fraser, and criticized the official on a number of counts. Dr. Fraser said that the charges were most unfair, and the board contented itself with receiving the communication.

Mrs. Jewell, who unsuccessfully applied for a license for an infants' boarding home some months ago, will be notified by the board that she must not keep more than one infant at her home. On the recommendation of Dr. Fraser, Mrs. Geo. Reid, 164 Aylmer street, and Mrs. M. E. Stewart, 200 Stewart street, will be granted licenses for infants' boarding homes after three months' probation and will be required to pay a license fee of $1.

BROOKLIN WINS FIRST GAME OF PLAYOFFS BY 12 GOALS TO 11

Petes Scored Five Goals In Last Period

A battling finish by the Peterborough lacrosse team during which they scored the last six goals failed to save Tuesday night's Senior "B" fixture at Brooklin and the latter took the first game of the series after a gruelling battle by 12 goals to 11. The nature of the checking can be seen in the fact that Brooklin drew eight penalties and the Petes nine for unorthodox tactics.

The second game of the round will be played here Friday night and it promises to be a thriller as the Petes have to win to tie up the series.

The Randle outfit were outscored in each of the first three periods being on the short end of a 4 to 3 count at the end of the first, getting only one goal against three by Brooklin in the second, and dropping further back in the third session when the ultimate winners found the net five times to two. That gave Brooklin what looked like a commanding lead of 12 to 6 going into the last quarter.

Scored Five Times

Then the Petes really started to go to town and sparked by Norm. Worthy and Buster Whitton, they flashed an offensive that almost pulled the game out of the fire rattling the twine behind Luke five times without a reply from Brooklin, and sending 700 fans into a frenzy of excitement as the score climbed rapidly until finally the Petes were only a goal from sewing up the whole thing with ninety seconds remaining. The time was too short to allow them to get the million dollar goal, but they gave the Brooklin crowd and players heart failure in that minute and a half.

Buster Whitton was the big noise in the scoring department for the Petes all night, registering five goals while Worthy with two was the only other visiting player to get more than one. Grice and Luther Vipond led the Brooklin attack each scoring three times. It was a sensational battle all the way and the Petes will have to flash their best lacrosse here Friday night to even up the series.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC. PERDUE

THIS COLUMN was rattled off Tuesday in the gloaming, on account of we had to be ready to leave early this a.m. for Niagara Falls with the Petes' ballsters. They were due to get away by car about 8.30 of the clock which is a scandalous hour for a respectable reporter to be up and about—practically the crack of dawn. Knowing there'd be too much Morpheus left in our eyes at that time of day, we skimped through most of our chores by candle light. The fray today will be at four, our time, and is the first of the two-in-three O.B.A. playdown serious betwixt the Falls and Petes. The return tilt will be at three Saturday in Riverside. Scores will be wired back today every three innings.

* * * * * * *

ALL THE PETES, we expect, with the exception of Al Clark and Bun Kingdon, will make the trip of 180 or so miles. The club couldn't get the right train connection, so decided to motor. Several officers and a few fans will likely accompany the squad. Winner of the series will probably go into Ontario semi-finals, if not the finals. Hamilton umps are listed for the joust this aft with Toronto arbiters to act here this week-end. Admish here is half a slug, stands free, owing to heavy expenses on this trip and as the O.B.A. puts the snatch on 15 per cent up to $300 and then 25 p.c. If the weather is right, another huge flock of fans will be on deck to see a ball game in Peter Robinson's borough come Saturday.

The Bold Bad Brooklins

OWING TO THE TIME this pillar was posted, we haven't the dope on last night's O.L.A. playoff battle in Brooklin—it'll be published elsewhere in tonight's gazette. Regardless of the result, folks here can stick aside a few shekels for Friday when the second scrap will be dished up at eight bells in the George St. arena. We don't have to inform the big local following of lacrosse how exciting these Brooklin-Petes' fights have been this season. They know how well the teams are matched and how they turn it on every minute, with no love lost between the opponents. Every tilt to date has been a humdinger with a honey flavor—and with elimination staring one or the other club smack in the mug here Friday, well this one ought to be a ding-hummer!

* * * * * * *

A FEW of the 1937-38 Colts might make a place with the Petes in O.H.A. senior "B" company, but the prospects appear better for several of the intermediate Bees to step up — or so it seems to this corner. It is perhaps early to worry about hockey, but the deadline date for imports is Oct. 15th—less than a month off—and we know the Hockey Club is bestirring itself somewhat. If memory serves us rightly, Herb Payne's intermediate team in intermediate "B" company last year carried these players: Clarke, Cadd, Magee, Ellis, Brown, Gardner, Heal, Coughlin, Burton, Creighton and Archibald. Now, there are several puckists in this group who are at least as good as several members of last winter's senior "B" squad—a team that only lost out by a goal in Provincial semi-finals to the Falls, and then merely because they were afraid of hurting the robust Falls' defencemen. Or something. Yeah, we'll bet a 10-cent-bag of peanuts some of those Bees will be buzzing along with the Petes the next cold spell.

* * * * * * *

Brrrr, But It's Cold

IT STRIKES US that the biggest headache the puck executive will have is to line up a respectable senior "B" grouping this autumn. With Lindsay ready to return to junior competition in this direction, a decent junior setup should be arranged. And the local club will not operate an intermediate "B" outfit this year. As Oshawa will again go senior "A", that prospect is shot to smithereens. Belleville is doubtful. We may get Trenton Airport back, but Kingston is a question mark. We really need a team or two from Toronto. Till there is artificial ice here the Petes can't put a senior "A" team into the hockey wars. Ah, wurra, wurra.

HERE YE, HEAR YE, five-pin bowlers with averages of 200 or more: A meeting has been called for next Monday e'en at eight in the K. of C. alleys to form a bowling loop of experts who will roll Monday nights on these alleys for prizes and fun, but especially prizes. Quite a few have expressed interest already and no doubt a classy circuit can be organized, consisting of the better bowlers in town knocking the wooden milk bottles seven ways for Sunday. Only on Mondays. Some 30 members of the Lions Club Boys Band were guests at the K. of C. alleys the other night and had a large night of it bouncing the frozen turnips down the one-way streets.

Sets Style In Strategy

BIG SQUADS are turning out for practices with the P.C.I. junior and senior school teams, and Coaches Bamforth and David are getting the boys rapidly into shape for a big grid season. The senior school champs lost a number of stars from last year, chaps like Kelly, Curtin, Turner, Al Clark, Thornton, Gee Clark and Creighton. But they have some good regulars left, a newcomer in Harle who should help, and plenty of young prospects. We imagine Coach Bamforth will again have his gang winging high with a flock of trick plays which other schools will be using a year later. The boys haven't been drilling at Riverside as yet, since the diamond is being kept in shape for baseball.

WE PASS THIS ALONG to the Orfuns' officers as maybe being worth giving a try. Just a few hours before Ottawa Rough Riders were to tangle with Montreal Nationals last Saturday, they sat down to training table and were served plates of honey, dry toast and weak tea. Thinking it was a gag, before the steaks or chops with spuds were passed, they lapped it up—and were then informed it was all they could have till after the game. The very rough Rough Riders, many of whom do a hard day's work as well as play hard football, felt about it as a hungry tiger would feel if you took his hunk of meat away from him! They burned up (though honey provides more tissue to burn up) and rodé savagely through the Nats, no doubt thinking each opponent was a juicy T-bone steak! Orfuns might try it, but not on trips when the press is along.

UP AND DOWN Sports' Rialto: Prexy Vern Dawson and Secretary Jim Dorris will be on hand today in the Falls when the Petes resume their baseball battles... Oshawa scribe fears the locals' "fighting pitch" may be dulled after their layoff... Hope the Bright's ball team there have more sportsmanship than did the Cataract City puckists last winter; that was a bitter series... No expense is being spared on the senior rugby uniforms here this autumn... All the grid stars are fast starters, knowing where they are going before they get the ball, or have you noticed?... Plenty of femme fencers in the new C.G.E. Athletic Club, and they fence with foils... Should be oodles of action shortly around the "Y" as the gym athletes and cagers and handballers get going... Average age of the Canadian Corps vets who lost out in O.B.A. senior playdowns was 44—a marvellous comeback for those former diamond greats... Our old rasslin' pal, Alex Kasaboski, is now headlining cards in Windsor... This business of writing a column a day in advance isn't so hot; ya don't get a crack at the latest dope... And this'll do till the Falls' story is covered.

Here They Come—There They Go.

If ever two horses appeared to be really travelling these two do. Not that they only appear that way... they really were scorching the turf at New York's Belmont Park track as they finished their stretch drive in the Jerome Handicap. Cravat (No. 6), with Canadian Alfie Robertson up, was the winner, with Can't Wait, the other horse that's furnishing all the action for the camera, second.

Football World Mourns Great Halfback

MONTREAL, Sept. 21.—(CP). — Fred Porter, president of Montreal Nationals of the Ontario Rugby Football Union, expressed regret today when informed of the death of Ormond Beach, star backfielder with Sarnia Imperials of the same league. Beach was killed in an explosion at Sarnia, Ont.

"Imperials certainly will feel his loss, as he was one of the greatest football players in Canada to-day, sad Mr. Porter. "He was a clean cut young fellow and it is a great shock to me to learn of his death."

The news of Beach's death literally left stunned men who had played against him.

One of the Greatest.

Johnny Ferraro, former Cornell University star now with the Nationals, said: "I'm speechless. He was one of the greatest football players in Canada, and always conducted himself like a gentleman on and off the field."

"I can't believe it," said Ernie Hempey, Nationals lineman who played two seasons with Toronto Balmy Beach of the O.R.F.U. "It just doesn't seem possible. Why he was so big he could easily have smashed down a good many of his opponents if he had wanted but was so good natured he wouldn't harm anybody."

Great Backfielder.

Jim McCaffrey, vice-president of Ottawa Rough Riders of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union, paid tribute to Ormond Beach today and said "he was the most outstanding football player in Canada."

"The whole Rider team and executive was shocked to hear of Ormond Beach's death," McCaffrey said. "He was a great backfielder and a real sportsman."

Man Among Men

Ormond Beach was described by John DeGruchy, president of the Ontario Rugby Football Union as "a man among men." The head of the Union, which Imperials dominated with their powerful play, summed up the feeling of football men, saddened by the sudden death of the big Imperial star.

"The greatest tribute you could give is the fact that he was awarded the Imperial trophy," said DeGruchy. "It represents the highest ideals in Canadian football. Personally I had occasion to talk to him from time to time and found him ideal as a player and a man.

"The last I saw him was at a dinner where he expressed himself delighted with treatment he got from Canadians. He not only liked Canadians but he was becoming a Canadian in every sense of the word. He came to Canada four years ago and proved himself on and off the field as one of those men we can't afford to lose. He was a man among men."

Harold Bailey, O.R.F.U. secretary, thought the "happiest thing" he could say about Beach was the Kansas University graduate won the O.R.F.U. team trophy before he was killed.

No Unsportsmanlike Playing

"I don't ever remember Beach getting a penalty for unsportsmanlike playing," Bailey said. "I never heard an opponent say a mean thing about him. He hit them hard and stopped them cold but did it the right way. He was one of the very finest men."

Almost unable to believe the news, Coach Alex Ponton of Toronto Balmy Beach team said: "The only thing I can say is he was one of the finest fellows I ever met on and off the field."

"That's terrible," said W. C. Foulds, a past president of the Canadian Rugby Union, when informed of the fatal accident. "He was a very fine player, a very fine gentleman. He was a credit to himself and the game. I feel very badly about his loss."

Most Popular Player.

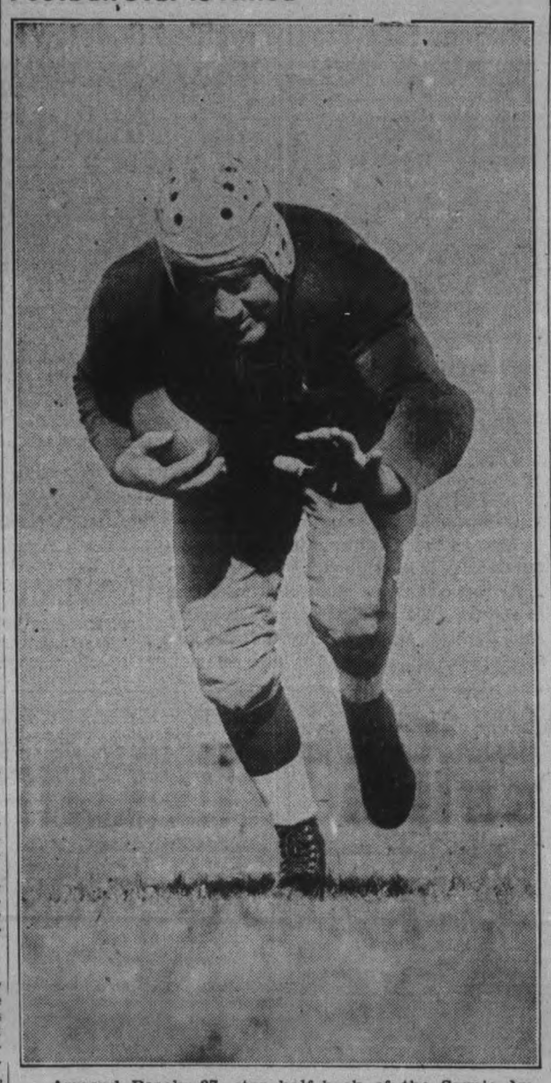
Big Orm was not only one of the greatest players in Canada but he was also one of the most popular. Endowned with tremendous size and strength, he never took advantage of his power in an unfair way, yet his crushing tackles and mighty plowing through the opposing teams brought victory after victory to the Imperials. Most of the American football imports have been a credit to the game and to their country but here again Beach was outstanding.

There was such an invincible hugeness about the man that it is almost impossible to realize that he is gone. But let it be said Orm Beach was an opponent you could be proud to play against and must have been a grand teammate.

Golf Notes

C.L.G.U. day again saw a large entry for the two spoons awarded for the best net 18 holes and the best score on the par 5 holes on the first nine. The best net was won by Mrs. C. V. Elliott whose score of 86 was just good enough to win for the second time in a row. Miss L. Lyle took the other spoon, her total on the par fives being 27. These two ladies have both won two spoons to date.

Football Star Is Killed



Armond Beach, 27, star half-back of the Sarnia Imperials, who was killed today when a spherical tank at No. 2 plant of the Imperial Oil, Limited, exploded. Beach was Canada's No. 1 half-back and has been on virtually every Eastern All-Star team picked in the last four years.

King George Boys Defeat Queen Alexandra In Soccer 1-0

King George won the first Public School Soccer League game on Tuesday afternoon from Queen Alexandra by the score of 1-0. Woodgate of Queen Alexandra scored through his own goal in an endeavor to prevent Barrie's shot going into the corner of the net. The boys play the "man" instead of the "ball."

First Half.

There was no choice in the selection of goals, but the weather was ideal for the first soccer game. Gaskill set the ball rolling to send his right winger away to the King George goal, where the full backs, Harry Withers and Don Ralph, demonstrated defensive tactics that held the Queen Alex forwards from getting within shooting range. Time and again, the East City boys would work inside the defence to test the ability of G. Palmer in the north-end goal. A break-away by K. Withers and H. Foster terminated in Barrie sending a drive for the corner of the upright. Woodgate, at left full back, met the ball with a steady punt, but it took a peculiar turn to go into goal. King George 1, Queen Alexandra 0.

Second Half.

On resuming, the Queen Alexandra forwards penetrated the King George territory, but found the halves closing in on them to allow the full backs to punt clear upfield. Cornwall, at inside left, and a good left-footer, always was in the picture through his aggressiveness on the attack that caused many anxious moments in the Queen Alexandra area. At this point Woodgate went up on the forwards' line in an attempt to get the equalizer, but found his progress blocked on any excursion towards the winners' goal. At the last moment, Gaskill dribbled his way upfield, sent a long pass out to the left winger, who worked a fruitless flag kick off Withers. Woodgate sent the ball past. King George 1, Queen Alexandra 0.

Queen Alexandra — G. Palmer, goal; A. Woodgate and C. Seal, full backs; D. Hume, B. Torrance and J. Tighe, halves; M. Richardson, E. McEwen, J. Gaskill, M. Harvey, and M. Coones, forwards; sub., N. Jewell.

Referee—David Buchan.

OLD-TIME HURLER DEAD

BEAVER DAM, Wis., Sept. 21.—Emerson (Pink) Hawley, 66, former major league baseball pitcher, died today. He was the pitching end of the "pink and blue" battery famous in Wisconsin's baseball history nearly half a century ago. His twin brother, Blue, died in 1891.

By HERB. MARTIN

We start off this column this morning by offering congratulations to J. J. Howden on the occasion of his recent marriage. "J.J." is one of our most popular and highly esteemed members. And then we offer congratulations to Cecil Perdue on the occasion of his marriage. "Cec" is the chap who looks after the sporting pages of this daily journal. The best of wishes of every member of our club is extended to these two couples.

Another schedule was completed last night when Rev. G. Easton, in a one-sided game, defeated C. Mowry in the final of the leads and seconds, and that settles that for this season.

And then in a game that was just about as one-sided as the other game, Sloan's rink eliminated Freeman from the skips and vice-skips schedule. Sloane will now meet Gimblett in the final game to-morrow night.

There will be the usual mixed tournament this evening—15c fee.

Beggs' Victory Over Wings Keeps Bears In

NEWARK, N.J., Sept. 21—(AP).—Unless it rains, of course, Newark Bears will attempt tonight to draw even in their semi-final playoff series with the Rochester Red Wings for the International baseball league governor's cup.

Rochester still needs one victory to eliminate the league champions and then face Buffalo in another four-out-of seven series for the right to meet the winner of the American Association playoffs in the "Little World Series."

Joe Beggs turned back the Red Wings, 3-0, with five hits last night to keep Newark in the running and bring the playoff status to three-to-two. The two teams entrained for Newark for tonight's scheduled contest at Ruppert Stadium.

Beggs was in good form, allowing only one Red Wing to reach third-base.

Pit Lepine Coaches New Haven Eagles

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 21.—(AP)—Alfred (Pit) Lepine, veteran centre of Montreal Canadiens, was named coach of New Haven Eagles of the International American Hockey League tonight by Nathan Podoloff, General Manager.

The Canadiens will maintain a farm club here this season. Lepine succeeds Billy Coutu.

Outlaws Beat Elgin 9-5 In Second Game

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, Sept. 21.—The Outlaws won their second straight game over Elgin in the finals for the town softball league championship. They need just one more victory to take the best 3 out of 5 game series. The 9 to 5 score did not indicate the play as both teams were very evenly matched.

The Outlaws opened the scoring in the first innings with 2 runs. Radford tripled and scored on Walsh's triple. Walsh scored on Stickles' single. J. Preston scored Elgin's first run when he sent a long homer to deep right. The Outlaws got 2 more in the third on a single, a walk and Dit Clapper's triple to centre, and 2 in the fourth on 3 hits in a row. Elgin got one back in their half of the fourth when Fleming singled and scored on R. Richardson's double.

The Outlaws scored again in the sixth when Puffer was safe on a 2 base error and scored on Phillips' single. Elgin came to within 2 of tieing the score in the last of the sixth when they sent 3 across on 2 singles, E. Preston's double and R. Richardson's triple. The Outlaws put the game away in the seventh when they scored twice on a single an error and McKee's triple. Elgin went out in order in ther half to wind up the game.

Radford, Outlaws' centre fielder, was the leading batter of the game with a triple and 2 singles in 4 times at bat. R. Richardson with a triple and a double in 3 times up topped the Elgin clouters.

McKee turned in another nice game on the mound for the Outlaws when he limited Elgin to 9 hits. He struck out 3 and walked none.

J. Richardson pitched for Elgin and allowed 11 hits. He struck out one and passed one. R. Scott, Elgin outfielder, made the fielding feature of the game when he took Dit Clapper's long liner to deep centre in the fifth.

The teams:

Elgin—E. Preston, 2b; G. Richardson, 3b; Fleming, lf; R. Richardson, ss; Grady, lf; J. Preston, c; R. Scott, cf; J. Richardson, p; M. Scott 1b.

NEW YORK YANKEES SUFFER THEIR FIFTH STRAIGHT LOSS

Red Sox Nip Browns 12-8 and 7-2. Yanks' 5th Straight Loss 5-4 To White Sox Is New Record

Even the Yankees' record losing streak can't stir up much interest since the New Yorkers clinched the pennant. The fans won't be excited about the National Baseball League race until the teams come out from under their umbrellas and play a few games. But in the meantime Boston Red Sox and Cleveland Indians are stirring up quite a lively pair of private battles.

Second place in the American League is their main stake and their leading representatives at the home plate, Jimmy Foxx and Earl Averill, are quite in the thick of the fight for the batting crown.

In addition to whatever prestige is involved, there's cash money in the scrap for all concerned. The difference between second and third place runs about $200 per man when their shares of the world series pool are split up and, of course, a batting champion is in a favorable position in salary negotiations.

The Red Sox, returning to action yesterday after having had two straight doubleheaders washed out, regained a little lost ground by walloping St. Louis Browns in both ends of a bargain bill 12-8 and 7-2. The Indians took a single game from Washington 9-1. That left Boston one game ahead with about a dozen still to go. And the difference is where it counts most—the Indians have lost two more.

A Good Record

The only other game played saw the Yankees establish a new record for Joe McCarthys managerial regime by losing their fifth straight game, a 5-4 decision to Chicago White Sox. It was the first time since McCarthy took charge in 1931 they had dropped so many in a row.

The entire National League program again was rained out along with the Athletics-Detroit game in the American. It didn't make much difference in the senior circuit race this time, for the teams still can play the games off in doubleheaders if the rain stops today.

Pittsburgh Pirates, still have a 3½ game lead over Chicago Cubs and ought to be ready for a little action after two days of rest.

High spots of yesterday's games were the two seven-run innings the Red Sox staged. Trailing 7-5 going into the last inning of the opener, they belted Jim Walkup and Ed Cole for seven runs. Then they repeated the feat in the sixth of the eight-inning nightcap as Foxx belted his 46th homer and a triple in the same inning. Hal Trosky smacked out three singles, Bruce Campbell drove in three runs and Denny Galehouse pitched a steady nine-hit game to give Cleveland its easy triumph.

The Yankees hitting was nothing to cheer about as Monte Stratton held them to eight blows, and Bump Hadley was bumped for 11 hits, four of them good for three runs in the seventh, before he retired from the mound.

FOOD BY PARACHUTE

While searching for fresh means of access to the interior of New Guinea, a patrol is sending fortnightly reports by wireless and has received tons of food and other supplies dropped by parachute.

May Top Jockeys

After 10 years in the saddle, in which he has become one of the continent's outstanding jockeys, Johnny Longden, above, an Albertan boy, may wind up the year as the leading rider in United States. With Johnny Adams out with a broken leg, his chief rival for the honors is expected to be apprentice Sammy Williams. Two years ago Johnny lost out to Basil James, also an apprentice, in the race for top honors.

Brewers Tumbled By Saints 5 to 4

ST. PAUL, Sept. 21—(AP).—St. Paul's American Association champions returned home today still in the running for the Shaughnessy playoff championship and a chance at "Little World Series" honors.

The Saints stopped the rush of the Milwaukee Brewers and their ace pitcher, Whitlow Wyatt, last night by winning the fifth game of the series, 5-4. It was St. Paul's second triumph.

The clubs meet again tonight. Kansas City already has disposed of Indianapolis in the other semi-final.

LIFE MEMBER AT 90

Patty Berg Tops Golf Round Now Favorite

CHICAGO, Sept. 21.—(AP).—The prize ring had its "killers"—notably Jack Dempsey. Now women's golf has one in harmless looking Patty Berg of Minneapolis.

Mrs. Berg, with her red hair and freckled face, and just 20 years old, looks tame enough until she starts swinging her clubs. Then she is ruthless. In a mighty blast of just 42 shots at Westmoreland Country Club yesterday, Patty smothered Mrs. Myron Davy of Washington, D.C., 10 and 8, in as crushing a defeat as any United States' women's national tournament has ever produced. She won 10 straight holes.

That overwhelming victory overshadowed everything in the first round flight, including the defeat of the six-time former champion, Glenna Vare. It overshadowed the performance of Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page of Chapel Hill, N.C., the defending champion in eliminating the Canadian titleholder, Mrs. Eric Phillips of Lambton Mills, Ont. Mrs. Vare was swept to the sidelines by 18-year-old Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga.

As the field of 32 survivors got away on the second and third flights of two 18 hole rounds to-day, the Minneapolis red head, and Mrs. Page, 31-year-old housewife, were ranking favorites to wind up as finalists for the championship Saturday.

Production of food products in Norway is much greater than a year ago.

Year's Best Two-Year-Old Scoring Seventh Win

Ridden by Nova Scotian Jockey Nick Wall in the toughest race of his young career, El Chico, unbeaten two-year-old and one of 1938's outstanding horses, is seen winning the junior Champion Stakes at Aqueduct, N.Y. In covering the six and a half furlongs in 1:18, El Chico marked up his seventh straight win and brought his total earnings for the year to $85,100. In this race Voliont, on the rail, finished second and Johnstown, the other horse shown, third.

New Dear Wins At Barrie Fair

BARRIE, Sept. 21—Toronto and Mitchell horses captured the big end of the prize money in the first day's harness racing at Barrie Exhibition yesterday. Due to recent rains, the track was rather heavy.

Jane Axworthy, bay mare owned and driven by C. Chapman, Toronto, captured first honors in the 2:27 trot or pace, taking first in all three heats. June Harvester was second and Terry Grattan third.

New Dear, bay gelding, owned by E. W. Fawn, Mitchell, and driven by W. Hawkes, took three firsts in the 2:22 trot or pace; Peter J. was second and Dixie Harvester, third. The races were witnessed by a large crowd.

The free-for-all and road races confined to roadsters in harness, are carded for Wednesday afternoon, and the farmer's trot and pony race for ponies under thirteen hands are scheduled for Thursday afternoon.

Charge Is Reduced

GUELPH, Ont., Sept. 21—(CP)—The grand jury at the fall assizes today reduced a murder charge against Wilfred Goll, Carlsruhe farmhand, to one of manslaughter. Goll was charged in connection with the death of William Copeland, Harrison district farmer.

Copeland died in hospital from head wounds the crown claims Goll inflicted with a pair of old horseshoes during an argument over the filling of a milkpail.

Turnesa's 'Mary Ann' Is Being Returned

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 21—(AP).—Bill Turnesas "Mary Ann, charmed putter which he lost in the excitement of winning the United States amateur golf championship, speeded to Turnesa's home in Elmsford, N.Y., today aboard a mail train.

An unidentified man telephoned a Pittsburgh newspaper last night and admitted he had picked up the putter after it had fallen out of Turnesa's bag at the conclusion of Turnesa's title match with Pat Abbott last Saturday at Oakmont. The caller added that the club was on its way to the amateur champion.

Roy Kent Joins Sarnia Imps

SARNIA, Sept. 21—Roy Kent, who played end wing for Bill Storen's University of Western Ontario Mustangs in the senior intercollegiate rugby series last year, turned out with the Imperials this afternoon, and Art Massucci is ready for Saturday's opening exhibition with the Ottawa Rough Riders in the Dominion Capital. The addition of Kent and the recall of Gord Eveland, rookie snap, brings the squad back to its old strength of twenty-nine.

Auk Beattie, husky Wallaceburg end, was released last night, and Ellsworth Pierce, 200-pound middle, returned unexpectedly to his home in Windsor.

Massucci's setup at present finds him at least two deep in every position. Ralph Burr and Eveland will do the snapping with Henry Living, who will alternate the centre of the line and middle wing.

Trip Trepanier, the lightweight Frenchman from Windsor, has succeeded Gordon Paterson at inside wing on the first string, where he teams up with Pat Butler. Mike Clawson and Fat Parsons, the veteran middles, are still first-stringers, and the end-wing starters are Ken Stevenson and Ike Norris.

Arnie McWatters, nursing a charley horse, turned over the quarterbacking chores to Jim Shanks and George Hungerford. McWatters will probably be behind the line on Saturday.

Tony Golab, husky Windsor Collegiate graduate, is working on the halfline and at end wing. He will play both positions.

The regular halfline combination, for the start, at least, will be Stirling, Beach, Hedgewick and Moroz.

Daily workouts will be held this week until Thursday. The team leaves Friday afternoon for Ottawa.

People Are Happier

MONTREAL, Sept. 21 — (CP). — People of Western Canada are "in a happier state of mind than it has been our fortune to meet for a number of years," Sir Edward Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said on his return over the weekend from an inspection tour of western lines.

"The psychological effect of a wheat crop more nearly approaching normal has been very great, and one cannot but feel that westerners generally believe the bad years are well over and they are looking to the future with something of their old optimism." he said.

Lad Goes Free

EDMONTON, Sept. 21—(CP). — Lack of a reform school in Alberta resulted in an Alberta Appeal Court decision here yesterday ordering release of Charles Atkinson, 17, of Westlock, Alta., from penitentiary, where he has been in custody since June 16, when he was sentenced to two years for arson.

Golf Tourney With Pot Of $22,000 Real 108-Hole Marathon Draws 275, Four From Canada

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—(AP)—After some 20 years of day dreaming about a perfect golf tournament, Mr. William (Corn) Wallace has come up with an "angel" who's making it come to pass. A millionaire named George Murphy is offering the professionals their biggest chance at a cash box since Baron Long and his free-spending pals stopped giving money away in $25,000 chunks at Agua Caliente, Mexico.

"Corn" Wallace's idea of a real tournament contrasts sharply with the United States Golf Association his ex-employer. The U.S.G.A. figures the title is recompense enough for the pros in the United States Open and to some it is. Wallace's idea of a championship is a marathon duel with plenty of folding money at the end of the trail for the contestants, extra dollars for super-special shots, seats along the fair-ways and greens for cash customers, a stock exchange scoreboard, and a glorious week's outing for all concerned with everything on the "cuff."

275 To Compete

His millenium comes true today Two hundred and seventy-five golfers, including every playing pro in the United States who had time and enough gasoline money to make the trip and four of Canada's best, start out on a five-day, 108-hole marathon over the Fenway Club layout. Counting the maximum that can be earned with straight 325-yard drives and tee shots within the six and eight foot circles, the total purse for the shindig is $22,000. The winner will receive $5,000, the runner-up $2,000, third place $1,000.

The Canadian teachers who will be in there matching power and artistry with most of the American topnotchers are Stan Horne of Ottawa, who recently successfully defended his Canadian P.G.A. title, Wee Bobby Alston, Ottawa Scot, Bob Burns, Montreal and Jules Huot, Quebec.

The open champions of Canada and the United States—Sammy Snead and Ralph Guldahl—are in the pack.

The "Angel"

"Angel" Murphy is a thick set man with redish hair who has almost as many dollars as North America has golfers. He's a shy man who always asks his name be left out of the papers. He's a typical 85 or 90 shooter who thinks pros like Gene Sarazen, Sam Snead and Horton Smith are nuts. Not many of the real stars heard of him before this. It took "Corn" Wallace to locate him.

Always a man for comfort, Wallace has erected 3,000 grandstand seats around the fairways and greens—around the 1st, 6th and 7th greens where the pros can pick up $15 or $10 by hitting their tee shots within circles of eight and six feet about the pin, the 17th fairway where there'll be a driving contest and about the 18th where somebody's due to scramble home with first prize Sunday night.
